The Records

Texas Tech enters the game with a 5-1 record, the best six-game start since the 1998 season when the team opened 6-0. The Red Raiders' 28-0 win over Baylor last weekend marked the ninth-straight home win for Texas Tech. The streak began with a 21-19 win over Texas A&M in Jones SBC Stadium last season. Tech is 5-0 at home this season. The win over Baylor also was Tech's first shutout over a Big 12 opponent.

Nebraska is 5-0 and 2-0 in the Big 12, following a 49-20 win at Iowa State last weekend. The No. 1-ranked Huskers opened Big 12 play two weeks ago against Missouri. NU won the game 42-24. Nebraska has held the top spot in the USA/Today Coaches Poll throughout the season.

Texas Tech vs. No. 1s

The Red Raiders have played four Associated Press No. 1 teams since the poll's inception in 1936. Two of the games have been at home, while the other two were on the road. In the last game against a No. 1-ranked team, the Red Raiders dropped 42-16 decision to Nebraska Sept. 8, 1994.

Home Sweet Home

The Red Raiders have won nine straight at Jones SBC Stadium, beginning with last season's 21-19 win over Texas A&M. Tech has won all five games in Lubbock this season.

The Last Game – Texas Tech 28, Baylor 0 (Oct. 7, 2000)

Tech's shutout over the Bears marked the second of the season. The last time Texas Tech posted two shutouts in a season came in 1970. The last time Tech had two home shutouts was during the 1964 season.

The Red Raiders' 28-0 win over Baylor improved Tech's homecoming record to 42-26-3.

Senior receiver Derek Dorris caught multiple touchdown passes for the first time in his career. His two scoring receptions came in the first and third quarters.

Senior running back Ricky Williams scored two rushing touchdowns for the first time this season, bringing his season total to three.

Sophomore quarterback Kliff Kingsbury completed a string of 14-consecutive passes, breaking the old record of 11 straight, set by Charles Napper against Texas A&M in 1970. Kingsbury also tied Koy Detmer's Big 12 record of 14-straight completions.

Quarterback Kliff Kingsbury rushed four times for 42 yards against Baylor, setting a career best. The yard total pushed him back into positive yardage for the season.

Running Game Flourishes

The Red Raiders rushed for 129 yards on 27 carries against Baylor. That total is tops for the season on the ground. Texas Tech had games of 69, 71, 80, 101 and 23 entering the Baylor game. The Red Raiders also set three game highs this season against the Bears – rushing yards (129), yards per rush (4.8) and rushing touchdowns (2).

Dorris Posts Career Day

Derek Dorris caught multiple touchdown passes for the first time in his career Saturday against Baylor. He has three touchdown receptions on the season, catching his first in the season-opener against New Mexico. Dorris also tied his personal season best of three touchdowns in 1998. The senior receiver also set a personal best of nine receptions.

Williams Moves Up Career Lists

Ricky Williams rushed for 33 yards and two touchdowns against Baylor, moving up both career lists.

Rushing Touchdowns

1. James Gray (1986-89)	52
2. Byron Morris (1991-93)	37
3. Bobby Cavazos (1951-53)	32
4. Larry Isaac (1973-76)	31
5. Three tied at	29
8. Ricky Williams (1997-00)	19

Rushing Yards

1. Byron Hanspard (1994-96)	4,219
2. James Gray (1986-89)	4,066
3. Byron Morris (1991-93)	3,544
4. James Hadnot (1976-79)	2,794
5. Ricky Williams (1997-00)	2,766

Kingsbury Sets Completion Mark

Kliff Kingsbury completed 14-consecutive passes during Saturday's game against Baylor, setting the school mark. The old record of 11 straight was held by Charles Napper during the 1970 season against Texas A&M. His streak also ties Koy Detmer's (Colorado) Big 12 mark.

30-Year Wait

The Red Raiders' shutout over the Bears marked the second of the season for Texas Tech. The Red Raiders posted a 26-0 shutout over UL Lafayette in the previous home game. The two shutouts in one season are the first since the 1970 campaign when Texas Tech knocked off Kansas (23-0) and Rice (3-0). Both games were on the road. The last time Tech shutout two opponents at home came during the 1964 season.

Covering Practice

Texas Tech practices are open to both the media and the public. Photographers are welcome to shoot the first 20 minutes of drills. Red Raider players and coaches are available for interviews post-practice. Players will not be available for interviews on Thursdays or Fridays.

Practice times are always subject to change. Please contact Media Relations to confirm practice times and sites.

The Red Raiders defeated SMU (12-0) and West Texas State (48-0). And finally, the last shutout over a league opponent was a 34-0 blanking of Houston in San Antonio in 1994, when both teams were member of the Southwest Conference.

Birkholz Continues Perfection

Senior placekicker Chris Birkholz nailed all four of his extra point attempts against Baylor to improve his streak to 69 straight. He is 69-of-69 from the point after stripe during his career at Texas Tech. He is the only kicker in school history with that distinction.

Redzone Defense Steps Up

Baylor entered the Texas Tech redzone three times and came up empty on each attempt. The Bears missed a 30-yard field goal attempt, lost possession on downs and threw and interception. The second team defense thwarted Baylor's final attempt when defensive back Brian Giddens picked off a pass in the endzone.

Tech Dominates with Defense

Texas Tech's defense is limiting opponents to 232.5 yards per game of total offense, including only 110.7 yards per game on the ground. The defense ranks second nationally in passing defense, 11th in total defense. Sophomore linebacker Lawrence Flugence leads the nation in tackles with 12.8 per game, according to the NCAA individual defensive statistics released once a month.

Pulling Away

The Red Raiders are out-scoring the opposition 24.0 to 9.8 points per game. Texas Tech allowed more than 10 points only twice (16 to Utah State and 33 at Texas A&M) this season and has given up a total of 10 points in the other four games.

Offense, Defense Working Together

The Texas Tech offense is averaging 382.0 yards of total offense per game, while the defense is limiting the opposition to 232.5 yards per game. Tech is averaging 303.2 yards in the air each night out.

Kingsbury Dominates Total Offense

Kliff Kingsbury leads the team with 291.5 yards per game of total offense, which ranks 2nd in the Big 12 and ninth nationally. Ricky Williams is second with 48.3 yards.

Catching On

Tim Baker continues to prove why he is the go-to guy on offense. The 6-foot-5 receiver leads the team with 34 catches and 71.8 yards receiving per game. His 431 yards receiving this season is his single-season best, while his seven career touchdowns moves him into the career top ten list at Tech. Entering the season, Baker had 510 career receiving yards.

Give It Up

The Red Raider defense has wreaked havoc on opposing offenses this season. Texas Tech has intercepted seven passes and picked up eight fumbles on the season for 15 takeaways. Two of the fumble recoveries were returned for touchdowns.

Seniors Provide Scoring Punch

Four seniors hold the top spots on the Tech scoring charts. Chris Birkholz leads the team with 34 points on six field goals and 16 extra points. Ricky Williams follows with 30 points on three rushing and two receiving touchdowns, while Tim Baker is third with 24 points on four TD receptions. Derek Dorris is fourth with 18 points on three touchdown catches.

Passing the Opposition

The Red Raiders have out-gained each opponent this season in the air. Following a 186-yard passing performance against New Mexico, the Red Raiders haven't passed under 238 yards since. In addition to the 186 yards against New Mexico, the Red Raiders tagged Utah State for a school record 511 yards, 238 against North Texas, 240 against UL Lafayette, 322 at Texas A&M and 322 against Baylor.

Raider Defense Provides More Opportunities

Texas Tech's defense is holding opponents to 60.7 plays per game, allowing the Red Raider offense to run an average of 77.5 plays.

Head Coach Mike Leach

Mike Leach fancies himself a Rio Bravo aficionado, and short of that, at least the world's biggest fan of the 1959 western movie.

Leach, named head football coach at Texas Tech Dec. 9, 1999, loves to draw an analogy from the John Wayne movie classic when talking Red Raider football. Rio Bravo logic, if you will.

He tells the story of Sheriff John T. Chance (John Wayne), and his charges defending the town against the raucous Burdett family, despite being a collection of mostly scraggly misfits themselves. He explains how they manage to get the job done, no matter the circumstances.

Leach likes to tell of Sheriff Chance and his frontier company working together under extreme pressure. He speaks of being flexible and confident enough to remain fair, while resorting to whatever measures necessary to get the job done.

An analogy to Leach and Chance is an easy one, but a more accurate comparison is probably Leach and Colorado, a young gunslinger played by Ricky Nelson.

In the movie it was Chance who said of Colorado, "He's so good he doesn't feel he has to prove it." Those who know Leach say the same about Texas Tech's new, unassuming offensive gunslinger.

In reviewing the cast of Rio Bravo, columnist Charles Taylor said, "Their relaxation with each other, their ease with themselves, is the result of ... respect. They express it in actions, not words..." It's with that logic Leach assembled his first Texas Tech coaching staff.

A national search brought Leach and company to West Texas in December following the retirement of Red Raider coaching legend Spike Dykes, and ironically he begins collegiate head coaching career where he coached his last game as an assistant.

Leach was working the East sideline at Jones SBC Stadium as Oklahoma's offensive coordinator when Tech closed the Dykes era with a victory over the Sooners in a Big 12 South Division showdown.

In just one season at Oklahoma, Leach directed a Sooner offense that went from one of the worst in the Big 12 Conference to one of the best. Under Leach's tutelage, OU quarterback Josh Heupel was named 1999 Big 12 Offensive Newcomer of the Year.

Leach guided an Oklahoma offense that went from 11th in the Big 12 in 1998 to first in 1999, 101st in the nation to 11th. In just one year, OU total offense numbers improved from 293.3 to 427.2 yards per game.

The rise in passing and scoring offense categories is just as impressive. Oklahoma went from last to first in the Big 12 in passing offense in one year, from 107th in the country to ninth. Under Leach, the Sooners improved from 109.9 yards passing per game to 321.7 yards per game.

In 1998, Oklahoma was last in the Big 12 and 101st in the country in scoring offense at 16.7 points per game. In 1999, the Sooners improved to second in the league and eighth in the country in scoring at 36.8 points per game, an increase of just over 20 points per game.

Under Leach, the Oklahoma offense set six Big 12 Conference and 17 OU records. The Sooners were one of only two schools in the nation to have six players with 20 or more receptions in 1999.

Prior to joining Bob Stoops' Oklahoma staff, Leach served as offensive coordinator for Hal Mumme at the University of Kentucky and Valdosta (Ga.) State University.

For two years at Kentucky Leach masterminded the Kentucky "Air Raid" offense that was one of the most explosive in Southeastern Conference history. Under Leach, the Kentucky offense set six NCAA records, 41

Southeastern Conference records and 116 school records in 22 games.

Kentucky's offense produced more than 500 yards total offense in seven separate games, including a school-record 801 against Louisville in 1998.

Leach's Kentucky offense featured the talents of quarterback Tim Couch, who passed for 4,275 yards and 34 touchdowns as a senior. Kentucky receiver Craig Yeast ended the 1998 season as the top receiver in the SEC with 85 receptions for 1,311 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Named 1996 Division II Offensive Coordinator of the Year by American Football Quarterly magazine, Leach helped lead Valdosta State to a 40-17-1 record. The 1993 Blazer offense smashed 66 school records, 22 conference records and seven national records. In 1994, Valdosta State advanced to the Division II playoffs with Leach's offense shattering 80 school records, 35 conference records and seven more national marks.

Leach and Mumme first teamed up at Iowa Wesleyan College in 1989. From 1989 to 1991 he served as offensive coordinator and line coach for an offense that led the NAIA in passing yardage one season and finished second the other two. Iowa Wesleyan passed for more than 11,000 yards in Leach's three seasons and broke 26 national records.

Leach has also made coaching stops in Pori, Finland, where he served as head coach in the European Football League (1989), as well as one-year assistant stints at College of the Desert (1988) and Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo (1987).

After graduating with honors from Brigham Young in 1983, Leach earned a Master's Degree from the United States Sports Academy and his law degree from Pepperdine University, where he graduated in the top one-third of his class.

The oldest of six siblings, Leach and his wife, Sharon, are the parents of four children; Janeen, Kim, Cody and Kiersten.

An obvious proponent of the passing game, Leach resorts to further Rio Bravo logic when talking offensive philosophy.

Trapped under heavy gunfire and obviously gaining little through conventional means, the "good guys" resorted to tossing lighted sticks of dynamite toward the Burdett clan.

Translated by Leach, "they weren't getting anywhere through conventional means, shooting from behind sage brush and wagons on the ground. The logical way to win, then, was through the air."

So with his version of "Air Raider" football and an attacking defense also geared to score points, Leach has lighted the fuse at Texas Tech and a dynamic new era of Red Raider football is set to explode over West Texas and the Big 12 Conference.
