Head Coach | Third Season | Illinois Benedictine, 1978

- ▶ As Head Coach of the Oakland Raiders, led team to 2002 AFC Championship and Super Bowl XXXVII
- ▶ 28 years of coaching experience, including nine in NFL, 17 in college and two in high school
- ▶ One of five coaches to reach Super Bowl and return to college ranks

"A rare find."

Those were the words used by Athletic Director Steve Pederson to describe Bill Callahan upon his hiring as Nebraska head football coach on Jan. 9, 2004.

Less than a year after guiding his NFL team to the Super Bowl, Callahan was hired to lead one of the nation's elite college football programs. Since taking control of the Nebraska program, Callahan has exhibited those rare qualities Pederson saw, working with diligence and focus to guide the Huskers' climb back to the top of the college football world.

Just the fourth head coach in the storied Cornhusker program since the start of the 1962 season, Callahan's lofty goals have not changed as he enters his third season on the Nebraska sideline. He maintains a vision of adding to Nebraska's championship legacy on both the Big 12 and national levels.

Callahan's Huskers enter the 2006 season with great momentum after finishing the 2005 season with three consecutive victories. Nebraska closed the regular season with victories over North Division rivals Kansas State and Colorado. Particularly impressive was the manner in which Nebraska dismantled the divisional champion Buffs, 30-3, on CU's home field on the day after Thanksgiving.

The momentum carried into the postseason where Callahan led his Huskers against a talented Michigan squad in the MasterCard Alamo Bowl. True to the hard-nosed attitude of their head coach, the Huskers rallied from a 10-point fourth-quarter deficit to post a 32-28 victory over the Wolverines. The win gave Nebraska an 8-4 finish and pushed the Huskers back into the national polls for the first time in two years, as NU was listed 24th in both the final Associated Press and coaches polls. It also marked the first time since 1999 Nebraska was victorious in its final three games of the season.

Nebraska's 8-4 mark in 2005 came behind a determined defensive effort and increased familiarity with the West Coast Offense. The Husker special teams also gained national recognition with their marked improvement.

The Blackshirt defense recorded a nation-leading 50 sacks, the second-highest single-season total in school history. On offense, the Huskers posted a single-season record 2,692 passing yards, with three different receivers topping 40 catches in Callahan's version of the West Coast attack.

The momentum from the conclusion of the 2005 season carried into the spring, capped by 57,415 fans flocking to Memorial Stadium for the Red-White spring game. The large crowd at the April spring game is a new tradition under Callahan. In fact, in Callahan's three seasons more than 182,000 fans have attended the Red-White game to get a glimpse of what was to come in the fall.

As a member of an elite fraternity of coaches who have led their team to a Super Bowl, Callahan's on-field coaching credentials are evident. However, since becoming the Huskers' head man, Callahan has shown all the needed qualities to develop a successful program at the collegiate level.

This past off-season, Callahan and his championship staff again produced a strong recruiting haul. The well-rounded 2006 recruiting class came a year after Callahan and his staff put together a class of prospects ranked among the nation's best by every national recruiting service. The 2005 class paid immediate dividends as 13 true freshmen hit the field last season. Two of Nebraska's heralded newcomers, place-kicker Jordan Congdon and defensive end Barry Turner, were named first-team Freshman All-Americans by ESPN.com and Rivals.com.

In his first year in Lincoln, Callahan focused on putting strong systems for success in place both on and off the field. Nebraska finished the 2004 season with a 5-6 record, but strides were made in many areas. The West Coast Offense Callahan installed accomplished the objective of a balanced attack capable of moving the ball both through the air and on the ground. Nebraska generated 52 percent of its offense through the air and 48 percent via the run, the most balanced offensive attack seen in Lincoln in nearly three decades.

Under Callahan, the Huskers are continuing to build on their tradition of success in the classroom. Callahan's first two groups of seniors have been extremely successful in reaching the No. 1 objective of college student-athletes. At the conclusion of the 2006 spring semester, 39 of the 44 members of Callahan's first two senior classes had picked up their undergraduate degrees. Four fifth-year Huskers will play as graduate students this fall, while 12 of the 20 members of the 2006 senior class are on track to earn their degree by December.

Two of the players in graduate school – fullback Dane Todd and center Kurt Mann --- continued the Huskers' long-standing tradition of Academic All-America honors in 2005. Todd and Mann were first-team ESPN the Magazine/CoSIDA Academic All-Americans last fall, helping bring Nebraska's nation-leading total of football Academic All-Americans to 85. The pair of native Nebraskans are strong candidates to join an elite group of Husker scholars who have been recognized as two-time Academic All-Americans.

Community Leaders

The football program has continued to make a strong impression in the Nebraska community under Callahan. Husker players spend hours in local communities speaking with youth and visiting Nebraska fans of all ages. Four times under Callahan the entire Husker team has taken a half-day to visit with patients at hospitals in both Lincoln and Omaha. Callahan's strong belief in community outreach and character education led to his team receiving Nebraska's annual Life Skills Team Award in 2005.

The commitment to being an active member of the community comes directly from Callahan's leadership. Shortly after being named Nebraska's head coach, Callahan established Coach Callahan Charities. The mission is to provide financial support to non-profits organized to fight breast cancer and diabetes, and provide services, support and hope to economically disadvantaged and at-risk youth and families. Past beneficiaries have included UNMC Eppley Cancer Center, Breast Cancer Foundation, Juvenile Diabetes Research Association, UNL Libraries, Special Olympics, Red Cross, Make-a-Wish, and City Impact's Backpack Buddies and Child Sponsorship programs.

Callahan and his football staff presented the third annual Football 101 for Women in early June. The event has been a rousing success in each of its first three years, drawing nearly 3,400 participants and raising a combined $140,000 for breast cancer research.

In August, Coach Callahan Charities will present the third annual 5K Fun Run/Walk for Resources. In its first two years, the event has drawn more than 1,000 combined participants and raised $23,000 for Juvenile Diabetes and the University Libraries. All told, Coach Callahan Charities has donated nearly $180,000 to charity in a little more than two years. This year, Coach Callahan Charities hosted its first Coach Callahan Golf Classic, with proceeds benefitting the general fund for Coach Callahan Charities.

Callahan has also given his time as a guest speaker and spokesperson for several local organizations. He is the Honorary Chair of the Make-A-Wish Foundation's "Share our Magic Campaign", and has been the keynote speaker at the Omaha American Heart Association Breakfast and the Nebraska Special Olympics Breakfast of Champions.

The Husker football program under Callahan has placed a strong emphasis of developing the football talents of youth in the state of Nebraska. This spring the Nebraska coaching staff and players conducted the Husker Youth Experience for the second straight year. The event is a free developmental clinic for 500 children from the state.

During the summer, the Big Red Football School again included the Husker Youth Camp, for children ages eight to 13. In its second year in 2006, the camp drew more than 400 youth, an increase of better than 150 campers. The large turnout for the Youth Experience and the Husker Youth Camp is a good representation of the respect and trust Callahan and his coaching staff have earned with parents in the state of Nebraska.

The commitment to the youth and prep programs in the state is also evident in the Huskers' annual Spring Coaches Clinic. Callahan and his staff have opened up a weekend of spring practices to hundreds of coaches each of the past three years. Callahan has also used the vast coaching connections he has developed to enhance the coaches clinic. This past year, Tampa Bay Buccaneers Head Coach Jon Gruden was the keynote speaker at the event, a year after another Super Bowl champion coach, Dick Vermeil, addressed the clinic.

While giving generously to the community, helping youth develop their football skills, and enhancing high school football in the state, Callahan has also embraced the rich traditions of the Cornhusker program, including an on-going commitment to Nebraska's unparalleled walk-on program. Since his hiring, Callahan has rewarded 12 players who came to Nebraska as walk-ons with scholarships, including 10 native Nebraskans.

The plan for a total football program that Callahan has implemented at Nebraska is the product of three decades of coaching experience and expertise. Having coached on every level during his career, Callahan is one of five coaches to take a collegiate head coaching job after previously guiding a team to the Super Bowl.

Callahan brought a wealth of experience to Nebraska from the National Football League and collegiate ranks. A natural leader, Callahan has also worked with young men at the beginning of their formative years, serving as a high school coach and teacher for two years.

A Chicago native, Callahan's arrival at Nebraska not only served as a return home to the Midwest, but also to his first love – college football. Callahan is entering his 29th year of coaching, and his 18th at the college level, while also having nine years experience in the NFL and two years in high school coaching. Highly respected throughout the coaching ranks, Callahan used his ties to quickly assemble a championship coaching staff in Lincoln.

Including Callahan, four Nebraska coaches have experience in the Super Bowl, including three as coaches and one as a player. The staff includes coaches who have won championships in seven major conferences.

The diverse background and strong ties to different areas of the country allowed Nebraska to attract a top-25 national recruiting class in 2004 despite Callahan being hired less than a month before National Signing Day. In their first full year together the staff showed its recruiting prowess, pulling together a group of 31 players that was ranked No. 1 nationally by recruiting expert Tom Lemming in 2005. The experienced and charismatic staff again put together a top-20 class in 2006.

Callahan Enjoys "Super" Start to Head Coaching Career

Callahan came to Nebraska after two years as the head coach of the Oakland Raiders in 2002 and 2003. He led the Raiders to the AFC West title and Super Bowl XXXVII in 2002 to become the fourth rookie head coach to reach the Super Bowl. He led Oakland to an 11-5 regular-season record in his first year and went 4-12 in 2003, when the Raiders were hit hard by injuries.

With their Super Bowl appearance in 2002, the Raiders set an NFL record by appearing in Super Bowls in four different decades. In the process, Callahan became the third first-year Raiders head coach to lead the team to an AFC West title and into the conference championship game, joining Art Shell (1990) and John Madden (1969).

Callahan's rookie season as head coach confirmed his leadership qualities and coaching ability and highlighted the diversity of the West Coast offensive system Callahan teaches. For the first time in franchise history, the Raiders led the NFL in passing in 2002 (279.7 ypg), and also led the league in total offense (398.8 ypg) for just the second time. Callahan was recognized for his role in the success, as he was named the NFL Coach of the Year by the Touchdown Club of Columbus and the NFL Rookie Coach of the Year by Football Digest.

Callahan's Raiders operated out of the West Coast Offense and exploited opposing defenses with a multiple attack. In fact, in a three-season span, the Oakland offense went from leading the NFL in rushing (2000) to placing first in the league in passing (2002). In 2002, the Raiders became the first team to win games in the same season while rushing at least 60 times (60 attempts on Dec. 28 vs. Kansas City, 24-0) and passing at least 60 times (65 attempts on Sept. 15 at Pittsburgh, 30-17).

The Raiders capped 2002 with an impressive run through the AFC playoffs. Oakland opened the postseason with a 30-10 victory over the New York Jets and captured the AFC crown with a 41-24 win over Tennessee, before losing to Tampa Bay in Super Bowl XXXVII.

Callahan joined the Raider organization in 1998, when Jon Gruden took over as head coach. Callahan served as Oakland's offensive coordinator for each of Gruden's four seasons as head coach, also tutoring the Raider tight ends in 1998 and the offensive line from 1999 to 2001.

Under Callahan, the Silver and Black offensive line allowed a team-record low 28 sacks in 2000, a mark that was surpassed in 2001 with just 27 sacks allowed. In addition, the Raiders led the NFL in rushing in 2000, averaging 154.4 yards per game. The Raiders won the AFC West title in each of Callahan's final two seasons as offensive coordinator.

Callahan's offensive players at Oakland made regular Pro Bowl appearances. From 1999 to 2001, Raider offensive standouts made eight Pro Bowl appearances, while five Raiders, including four offensive standouts, were named to the Pro Bowl in Callahan's first season as head coach. Oakland quarterback Rich Gannon made four straight trips to Hawaii from 1999 to 2002. He was twice named the MVP of the Pro Bowl (2000, 2001) and also earned 2002 NFL regular-season MVP honors.

Before his six-year stint with the Raiders, Callahan was an assistant coach with the Philadelphia Eagles for Head Coach Ray Rhodes. With Philadelphia, Callahan worked alongside Gruden, who was the Eagles' offensive coordinator. In his first two years with Philadelphia, the Eagles ranked second in the NFC in rushing and made the playoffs both seasons. During that time, former Husker Irving Fryar made two Pro Bowl appearances.

Callahan Boasts Extensive Collegiate Background

Although he spent nearly a decade in the National Football League, Callahan had a strong college background upon his hiring at Nebraska. He spent 15 years in the college ranks from 1980 to 1994, including 12 seasons in the Big Ten at two strong academic institutions. He was regarded as one of the game's best offensive line mentors and developed a reputation as one of college football's top recruiters. Callahan was not only ranked as one of the top 10 recruiters in the country by Lemming in 1992, he was listed as one of the top 10 recruiters of all-time by Lemming in 2001, based on Lemming's recruiting ratings over the past 20 years.

"I've dealt with hundreds of coaches over the past 22 years," Lemming said, "and whenever I've ranked coaches who combine coaching and recruiting skills, Coach Callahan always ended up in the top 10."

Callahan began his collegiate career as a graduate assistant at Illinois under Mike White, who later coached the Raiders. Callahan was promoted to a full-time position in 1981, coaching the tight ends, and stayed at Illinois through 1986, coaching the offensive line, quarterbacks and special teams. The Illini participated in three bowl games, including a trip to the Rose Bowl following the 1983 season when they won the Big Ten with a perfect 9-0 league mark.

After seven years at Illinois, Callahan coached the offensive line at Northern Arizona (1987, 1988) and served as offensive coordinator at Southern Illinois in 1989. He moved to a second Big Ten school, joining former Husker Barry Alvarez (1965 to 1967) at Wisconsin in 1990 to coach the offensive line. Seven Badger offensive linemen earned All-Big Ten honors under Callahan, including center Cory Raymer, who was a consensus All-American in 1994.

The 1993 Wisconsin team captured the school's first conference title in 31 years, defeated UCLA in the Rose Bowl and finished sixth in the final Associated Press poll. In Callahan's final year in Madison, the Badgers finished 8-3-1 and defeated Duke in the Hall of Fame Bowl, marking the first time in more than a decade that UW played in bowls in consecutive years. The Wisconsin staff Callahan served on also included Nebraska's offensive and defensive coordinators, Jay Norvell and Kevin Cosgrove.

Chicago Native Has Roots in Midwest

Callahan grew up on the south side of Chicago playing quarterback as a prepster at Mendel Catholic High School. He was a three-year starter at quarterback at NAIA Illinois Benedictine (now Benedictine University in Lisle, Ill.) from 1975 to 1977, earning honorable-mention All-America honors his last two seasons. He earned a bachelor of arts degree from Illinois Benedictine College in 1978, majoring in physical education. Callahan was inducted into his college's athletic Hall of Fame in 2005.

Callahan began his coaching career in the prep ranks. He coached at Oak Lawn High School in 1978 and then moved to De La Salle in 1979, where he also served as an instructor. Callahan and his wife, Valerie, have four children, Brian, Daniel, Cathryn and Jaclyn. Brian was a member of the UCLA football team, and is now serving as a graduate assistant coach in the Bruin program. Daniel is in his third year of school at Nebraska.

What Others Say About Coach Callahan

"It is a great responsibility for whoever has this job, and I think it is a good fit for Bill. It is a responsibility that he needs and I am excited for him. I wouldn't be where I am without him and he knows that. He helped to develop so many players during the seven years we were together. Bill is a very creative guy, very disciplined and he's got a great work ethic."

► Jon Gruden,
Tampa Bay Buccaneers Head Coach

"He's a perfect fit and I think Nebraskans ought to be flabbergasted to get him. He's energetic, enthusiastic and has a real passion for the game. His players will find out he's an unbelievable leader and a perfect fit for Nebraska."

► Rich Gannon,
former Oakland QB, 2002 NFL MVP, upon Callahan's hiring

"Coach Callahan is a great leader and motivator. He cares about his players, and the West Coast system he has in place will prepare you for the next level. Personally, he made me a more complete back and helped me grow off the field. With Coach Callahan in charge, great things are in store for Nebraska."

► Cory Ross,
NU I-back, 2002-05, Member of Baltimore Ravens

"I wanted to come to Nebraska because of Bill Callahan and his goals and values. He's perfect for this job. It's absolutely the perfect marriage. He's intelligent, decisive and disciplined. He's got great integrity."

► Jay Norvell,
University of Nebraska Offensive Coordinator

"Bill fits college football, and he fits our program. I have so much respect for him. People talk a lot in this business, but I've never heard a negative thing come out about him."

► Charlie McBride,
University of Nebraska Assistant Coach, 1977-99

"Bill and his staff have demonstrated on the field that our football program is on its way to national competitiveness. At the same time, they have demonstrated through the academic successes of our athletes that they are upholding the Nebraska tradition of academic excellence as well."

► Harvey Perlman,
University of Nebraska Chancellor

"Bill was an original member of the staff that started here at Wisconsin in 1990. He was instrumental in helping to turn our program around as our offensive line coach in the early 1990s. Bill is tenacious, hard working and meticulous. He is a tremendous coach and recruiter."

► Barry Alvarez,
Wisconsin A.D. and former head coach

"I had the privilege to coach as a graduate assistant with Coach Callahan at the University of Wisconsin. You will not find a more organized and hard working coach in all of college football. Coach Callahan was instrumental in helping turn a perennial Big Ten doormat into a Big Ten and Rose Bowl Champion. I am confident he will continue the tradition of excellence at Nebraska."

► Dave Rimington
Former Husker Center (1979-82), College Football Hall of Fame

"If you are on the defensive side of the ball right now, you are playing a little bit of a guessing game with Bill Callahan, trying to keep up with what he is going to go to next...The thing I think Bill Callahan is trying to sell to recruits is...come to Nebraska, play in this offense and get ready for the next level."

► Kirk Herbstreit
ESPN College Football analyst during Alamo Bowl telecast

"The excitement that was generated with the finish of last season and the bowl game is a clear indication of the excitement for the future. If you want to play Championship football, earn a degree from a great university, and play for the finest coach in college football, then a choice to come to Nebraska and play for Coach Callahan should be clear. Those who join Coach Callahan and his staff will experience the next Nebraska Football Championship."

► Steve Pederson
University of Nebraska Athletic Director

"Coach Callahan is very goal-oriented and knows how to achieve those goals. He is very disciplined and is a hard worker and expects the same out of his team. That should be attainable knowing how hard-working Nebraska players are. He'll do a great job with eager young men who play with passion and love for one another."

► Adam Treu,
Oakland Raiders Center, University of Nebraska 1992-96

"The key to turning any program around is that you must have absolute, fanatical belief in the people who put the program together. Steve (Pederson) is doing a wonderful job. And I am absolutely a Bill Callahan fan. Bob Devaney was able to evoke that belief. And I believe Coach Callahan can evoke that same belief. That's why I know this program is going to be a great program for years and years."

► Bob Brown,
2004 Pro Football Hall of Fame Inductee, University of Nebraska 1961-63

"Bill is a man of great character and strong values. He has been associated with some of the most successful franchises in NFL history and is a great addition to one of the most storied programs in all of college football."

► Bruce Allen,
Tampa Bay Buccaneers General Manager

"Bill Callahan is an all-around football coach – an excellent teacher, motivator and moreover, a leader of men, both coaches and players. Bill will also stress character and academic excellence in his football players and his sense of standards and discipline will be very evident to the outside community. I have spent several years working side-by-side with Bill and I have tremendous confidence in his ability to succeed."

► Mike White,
University of Illinois Head Coach, 1980-87
Los Angeles Raiders Head Coach, 1995-96

Q & A with Head Coach Bill Callahan

Head Coach Bill Callahan shares his thoughts on a variety of topics regarding the Husker program, the upcoming season, and coaching philosophies of the Nebraska staff.

Q – What can Husker fans look forward to in 2006?

“Our football team has had a successful off-season, and done the things necessary to have an outstanding football team. However, that is only part of the equation. The next step is execution on the field. We have a challenging schedule in front of us this fall, so we are going to have to be mentally and physically sharp week in and week out. I feel strongly that we have a great foundation in place for our football team, and we are prepared to take the next step forward as a football program.”

Q – Are there specific areas of focus you have stressed in the off-season?

“We are confident in what we are doing with our systems and schemes in all three phases of our football. There are some areas where we need to become more consistent. Offensively, we have to do a more consistent job of running the football, and I think we have the personnel to accomplish that. On defense, we have to generate the same type of push up front that we did last fall. We lost both of our interior starters on the defensive line, but we have outstanding players in those spots heading into the fall. Let’s face it...in college football the teams that are winning championships are the teams that are dominant up front on defense and that is where it all starts.”

Q – How important was the strong finish to the 2005 football season?

“Winning our last three games helped in many areas in the off-season. It gave us the momentum to finish recruiting in a strong manner. Our players were energized by the finish as they went through winter conditioning, then came into spring ball with a great attitude and work ethic. We operated during spring practice with a lot of confidence and a lot of trust because of how we finished. When you go on the road and win in a tough environment at Colorado, then line up and knock off Michigan in a bowl game, it can only help. Winning those types of games is a big step for our program, but we have to re-establish momentum from the start of the 2006 season.”

Q – Do you feel this team is mentally prepared to contend for a championship?

“We have talked repeatedly to our players about three key ingredients to being a successful football team. You have to have the right attitude, a commitment to preparation and you have to execute under pressure. The number one thing in any successful organization is preparation. You have to win the battle of preparation off the field during the off-season and during the week before you get on the field. You can evaluate based on talent, but what you actually do is determined by attitude.”

Q – Last year your team made drastic improvements in special teams. Did you continue the focus in that area during the spring?

“If anything, we increased our emphasis on special teams in the spring, and we will continue to do that in the fall. Last season is a perfect example of the impact special teams can have on the success of your season. We were much improved in several areas—punt returns, kickoff coverage, punt coverage, blocking kicks—and that had an impact on the success of our season. This staff is committed to having great special teams and our players quickly learn the importance of winning the battle of special teams. Championship football and outstanding special teams go hand in hand.”

Q – Last year you focused on improving your turnover margin. Were you satisfied with the progress in that area?

“We improved both in reducing our turnovers on offense and creating turnovers defensively, but we need to get better. Offensively, our number one focus is always securing the football. We have a lot of players back on defense that we think can create turnovers and be disruptive forces for opposing offenses.”

Q – Should fans expect any major changes in your offensive philosophy this season?

“We will not make drastic changes, but each year our offense evolves and adapts based on the talent and composition of our personnel. The West Coast Offense is flexible and adjustable and geared toward the talents and strengths of our players. The West Coast Offense is unique in today’s college football because it gives a player great exposure into the details of a pro system. This type of exposure can really give a player an edge in his development and assist him in his dream to play in the NFL.”

Q – How important is efficient quarterback play in your offense?

“Everything we do on offense is centered on the quarterback. Our objective is to give the quarterback confidence in his own decision-making ability and to give him the confidence he needs to function at a high level. Efficient quarterback play is tied to making fast, quick decisions and the discipline of progression reads. Another attribute of an efficient quarterback is a player that plays through and overcomes adversity. I want to believe that our quarterbacks have the leadership ability to inspire their teammates to reach a higher level.”

Q – With the importance you place on quarterback play, how confident are you heading into 2006 with an experienced quarterback in Zac Taylor?

“Zac did everything we asked of him last season. He performed efficiently in some tough conditions. In spring ball, I thought he elevated his game to the next level as a quarterback. He knows our offense in and out, and he is a leader. We are confident that he is poised for a big season, provided he continues to improve on a game-to-game basis.”

Q – Defensively, what can we expect from the Blackshirts this fall?

“Coach Cosgrove has done a great job with our defensive schemes and systems. I feel we have a comprehensive system that gives us flexibility in all situations. Our core philosophy on defense will not change much this season. We have a lot of experience returning on defense, specifically in our front seven.”

Q – You had another huge crowd at the spring game in April. What are your thoughts on Husker fans turning out in huge numbers the past three years?

“Our fans have really embraced our football program and our spring game and that is reflective of the passion of Nebraska fans. We have drawn more than 180,000 fans in three spring games which is truly remarkable. That support is very much appreciated by our staff and our players. It has a huge impact not only on our current team, but also prospective recruits. No other program in the country gets the type of support for a spring game like we do here at Nebraska. It speaks highly of the fan commitment, loyalty and passion for football. The spring game is turning into an annual event that Husker fans mark on their calendars.”

Q – Husker fans have a tradition of traveling as well as any group in the country. How does that affect your football team on the road?

“You don’t have to go back very far to see the impact our great fans can have. We had a great fan following at the Colorado game. The reception our team got when we came onto the field was unbelievable, and it was a special feeling late in the football game when there was more fans in red than in black and gold. The Alamo Bowl was unbelievable. Our fans were there the whole week and it felt like a home game when we took the field to play Michigan. I can’t imagine a football program with better support on the road, and I think that will be evident again this fall.”

Q – Your team is moving into a new facility for the 2006 season. How will this impact your program, not only from a recruiting standpoint, but also in terms of your day-to-day operations?

“I think people will be impressed by Steve Pederson’s vision and what he has accomplished in this facility. It is a modern, state-of-the-art facility in every facet. We have already seen an impact in the area of recruiting and that will only continue to grow. From an operations standpoint, everything will be more efficient. It is on the cutting edge in terms of technology. We will have great meeting areas for the staff and players and everything will be in close proximity. Our student-athletes will have a one-stop shop, with access to everything they need—the training table, locker room, weight room, Hewitt Center, athletic medicine, equipment, coaches' offices, you name it."

Q - How does your practice style help prepare the team for a game?

"Each practice is designed to give our players an exposure to situational football. As a staff, we zero in on specific scenarios that will arise on game day. We practice these situations and call this "special category" football. Our players receive a real appreciation and understanding of these situations—Red Zone, short-yardage, third down, goal line, etc. This way in practice our players can isolate their focus and energies on one area of the game that is crucial to our success."

Q - Nebraska has a reputation of being a hard-working, physically dominating team. How does this fit with your coaching style?

"My staff and I totally embrace the traditions of Nebraska football. This team will reflect the nature of Nebraskans. We will strive to be as hard-working and humble as the many successful teams that have preceded us. This is a style that I have believed in throughout my coaching career and continue here at Nebraska. We will always work hard to be a physical football team."

Q - You have said it is your intent to build a national championship team. What are the most important components of a national-championship caliber team? What will it take to achieve that goal?

"Our goal as a team is always to win the national championship. We are moving in the right direction, but there is a lot of work in front of us. Our goal as a program for the 2006 season is to win the Big 12 and return our program to national prominence. We strongly believe in our profile for a national championship team that includes character, athletic skill and academics. We can only achieve these goals with hard work and diligence."

Q - You and your staff have a reputation as strong recruiters. What makes a great recruiter?

"Number one, we have a staff that has excellent communication skills. Secondly, they care and have a genuine concern for the players they bring to the University of Nebraska. Additionally, each individual coach must have the eagerness and the energy to seek out and recruit great players. We have always followed the philosophy that players don't really care how much you know until you show them how much you care, and this staff cares deeply about its players."

Q - What do you look for in a recruit?

"We have a specific profile that a player must meet. This profile is based on a championship formula. We evaluate each recruit on character, academics and athletic skills. We are looking for players who are committed to excellence in all aspects of their lives, who want to be a part of a team concept and genuinely care about the team. Additionally, we want players who want to compete, and at Nebraska, we attract players that love competition at the highest level."

Q - You and your staff have extensive coaching experience at both levels. What does that mean for the program?

"There is no substitute for experience especially on the collegiate level. We have a good blend of experience from the professional and college ranks that allows us to function very efficiently and effectively. The players have a real edge from this perspective and it should allow us to progress more quickly. Our team has a very diverse background with players from 23 states, and we have a diverse coaching staff that fits well with the makeup of our roster."

Q - How important is it to build a recruiting class by utilizing the top players in the state of Nebraska?

"Without question it is a priority to keep the great in-state players here at Nebraska. We have a tradition of All-Americans and of our 92 first-team All-Americans, 40 of them are native Nebraskans, including two of our three Heisman Trophy winners. That alone tells you about the talent in this state."

Q - How important is maintaining the walk-on tradition at Nebraska?

"It is a vital part of reaching our championship aspirations. Since I took over this program, we have awarded 12 scholarships to walk-on players, most of those native Nebraskans. We will continue to do that. We understand the tradition and great legacy with the walk-on program here and plan to continue to build on that. We want to make sure that when a player comes to the University of Nebraska, he is going to have every opportunity to succeed to maximize his talents and abilities. I want them to understand that not every player can start, but we are committed to making each player become the best they can possibly be. I have admiration for walk-ons. At Nebraska, we treat our players in a first-class manner and walk-ons are no exception."

Q - What role do you feel the head coach plays in the personal development of a young man during his college years?

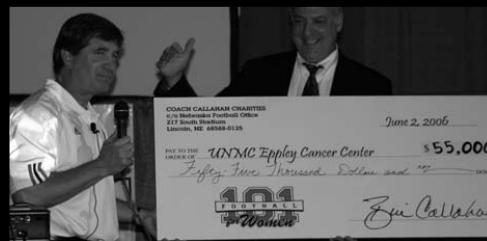

"As coaches, we definitely have an impact on a player's career and his life. College years are a very formative time in a young man's life. I look forward to helping each one of our players maximize their academic and athletic talent as well as character. Our goal is to have the players leave the program as better people and more prepared to live life."

Q - Nebraska has a strong history of academic excellence, leading the Big 12 in graduation rates nearly every year and leading the nation in Academic All-Americans. The team has had great success in the classroom under your leadership. To what do you attribute this success?

"Our number one goal as a coaching staff is to have a 100 percent graduation rate for each of our senior classes. One of the reasons I came here was because of Nebraska's strong support systems for the student-athlete. One of Nebraska's most impressive support units is its academic support system. The program that Dennis Leblanc and his staff have put together has historically made this athletic program one of the most successful in terms of graduation rates and academic honors. We have a strong obligation to this University to make sure that academics come first and that each of our student-athletes graduate. We have high expectations of our players both in the classroom and on the field and expect that success in both areas of student-athlete life."

Q - Both you and your players have made a concerted effort to making a difference in the community. Coach Callahan Charities has contributed nearly $180,000 to various causes in the past two years and your team is extremely involved off the field. Why is community involvement stressed in your program?

"We are totally committed in giving our players a unique and special experience here both on and off the field. We educate them on the importance of being well-rounded, and reaching out and giving back to their community. Our players have embraced the opportunity to spend time in the community and have represented Nebraska in a positive way. That type of commitment and dedication reveals the character of our football team and hopefully will leave a lasting impression on them."

Kevin Cosgrove

Defensive Coordinator | Linebackers | Third Season | Wisconsin-Oshkosh, 1980

- ▶ Recruited Four NFL First-Round Selections
- ▶ Helped Teams to Eight Bowl Victories

Entering his third season on the sideline with the Huskers, Kevin Cosgrove will again tutor the Husker linebackers while serving his 12th year as a defensive coordinator at the Division I level.

The Blackshirt defense boasted an impressive rise in the national rankings in its second year with Cosgrove in charge in 2005. Under his tutelage, Nebraska led the nation in sacks (50 total, 4.17 per game) and tackles for loss (10.33 per game) and finished the season ranked in the top 30 nationally in all four major categories, including pass efficiency defense (10th), scoring defense (25th), rushing defense (26th) and total defense (26th).

The 50 sacks were the second-most ever by a Blackshirt defense, including a Big 12 Conference-leading 9.5 sacks by defensive end Adam Carriker, who ranked 11th in school single-season history. An All-Big 12 first-team selection, Carriker was not the only Husker creating havoc. Middle linebacker Corey McKeon posted seven sacks and a team-best 22 tackles for loss in his first season as a starter while defensive end Barry Turner earned first-team freshman All-America honors by recording an NU freshman record six sacks. McKeon also led the team with 98 tackles and three interceptions while ranking second to Carriker (19) with 11 quarterback hurries.

While the majority of the Blackshirts' playmakers in 2005 were underclassmen, senior safety Daniel Bullocks continued his strong play by earning second-team all-conference honors. He ranked second on the team in tackles and pass breakups. Bullocks joined his twin brother, Josh, as Daniel was selected in the second round of the NFL Draft by the Detroit Lions.

Josh Bullocks (2nd round, New Orleans) was one of three Blackshirts drafted following the 2004 season, along with cornerback Fabian Washington (1st, Oakland) and linebacker Barrett Ruud (2nd, Tampa Bay), who finished his career under Cosgrove as the all-time leading tackler in Nebraska history. Josh Bullocks and Washington were both underclassmen.

While Cosgrove implemented his aggressive defensive philosophy, the trio helped Nebraska rank 11th nationally in rushing defense, allowing just 104.0 rushing yards per game including a Big 12-low 2.9 yards per rush in 2004.

Before joining the Huskers, Cosgrove served under Barry Alvarez as defensive coordinator at Wisconsin for nine years. Cosgrove was a member of Alvarez's original staff at Wisconsin and coached the Badger linebackers for 14 years overall (1990-2003). Cosgrove spent 22 years coaching in the Big Ten Conference and has coached with Callahan 14 years total, including five years at Wisconsin, seven at Illinois and two at Nebraska.

Cosgrove also coached with several current Husker staff members at Wisconsin, including Nebraska offensive coordinator Jay Norvell (1989-94), cornerbacks coach Phil Elmastian (1997-99) and safeties coach Bill Busch (1994).

Cosgrove helped Wisconsin to three Big Ten titles and nine bowl appearances (7-2 record), including three Rose Bowl wins. Four times Cosgrove's linebackers – Pete Monty in 1996, Nick Greisen in 2000 and 2001 and Ruud in 2004 – led the earned in tackles. Monty owns the Badgers' career tackle record, while Greisen earned first-team All-Big Ten honors.

Wisconsin won the Big Ten title in 1993 and defeated UCLA in the Rose Bowl 21-16. The Badgers then won back-to-back Big Ten titles in 1998 and 1999, before defeating UCLA, 38-31, and Stanford, 17-9, in the Rose Bowl, respectively. In 1998, Wisconsin posted a school-record 11 wins and ranked among the top 10 nationally in all four major defensive categories.

Cosgrove has recruited many outstanding athletes during his career, and was named to recruiting analyst Tom Lemming's "other big-time recruiting names," just outside of the top-10 list. Among the top recruits he brought to UW were offensive tackle Aaron Gibson, a finalist for both the Lombardi Award and Outland Trophy in 1998; defensive back Jamar Fletcher, who won the Jim Thorpe Award in 2000; and defensive tackle Wendell Bryant, the Big Ten Defensive Lineman of the Year in 2000 and 2001 and a Lombardi semifinalist. Gibson (1999), Fletcher (2001) and Bryant (2002) were all first-round NFL draft picks.

Cosgrove also has worked at Illinois, Southeast Missouri State and Colorado State. He was a graduate assistant at Illinois alongside Callahan from 1980 to 1982, then was elevated to linebackers coach for the Illini from 1983 to 1987. Cosgrove recruited Jeff George, the NFL's No. 1 draft pick in 1990 by Indianapolis, to Illinois along with two-time All-American Moe Gardner. Cosgrove also gained significant experience recruiting in the Big 12 region when he was defensive coordinator at Southeast Missouri State in 1988 and linebackers coach at Colorado State in 1989.

Cosgrove graduated from Mt. Carmel High School in Chicago and first met Callahan during their prep careers. He was a teammate of Callahan's at Illinois Benedictine College in 1974, playing defensive back, but earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Wisconsin-Oshkosh in 1980.

Cosgrove and his wife, Shelly, have two sons, Clint and Connor, and a daughter, Shannon. Clint is working as a video intern in the Nebraska football office.

Jay Norvell

Offensive Coordinator | Quarterbacks | Third Season | Iowa, 1986

- Helped AFC champion Oakland Raiders lead NFL in total offense in 2002
- Mentored 10 players who have gone on to professional careers

After helping the Huskers post some of the best passing numbers in school history each of the past two years, Jay Norvell returns to the Nebraska sideline where he serves as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

Norvell was hired away from the Oakland Raiders in February of 2004, and is one of four Husker coaches – along with Callahan, John Blake and Randy Jordan – with NFL experience. Norvell used that background to guide first-year quarterback Zac Taylor to the most prolific passing season in Nebraska history in 2005.

A junior college transfer, Taylor benefitted from Norvell's knowledge as Taylor broke the Nebraska single-game records for passing yards (431), completions (36), attempts (55) and total offense (433), as well as single-season Husker marks for passing yards (2,653), completions (237) and attempts (430). Taylor, who completed passes to 14 receivers in 2005 including three with at least 40 catches, tossed 19 touchdown passes and missed tying the NU single-season touchdown record by one. He enters 2006 in line to break the Nebraska career passing yardage record despite only playing two seasons with the Huskers.

The Huskers' success under Norvell came in the second year of the West Coast Offense at Nebraska. During the first campaign, Norvell helped the Husker quarterbacks post the fifth 2,000-plus yard passing season in program history. Nebraska's 186.9 passing yards per game in 2004 were its highest in nearly three decades, since averaging 188.0 per game in 1976.

In addition to his duties coaching the quarterbacks and coordinating the offense, Norvell also directs the Huskers' Elite Quarterback Camp in the summer and oversees Nebraska's video operations.

In May 2006, Norvell was also one of 25 participants at the Expert Coaches Academy, an NCAA initiative that addresses a critical shortage in ethnic minorities in head coaching positions within college football. The academy assists coaches with career advancement, networking and exposure opportunities.

Before joining the Huskers, Norvell coached the Raider tight ends under Callahan in 2002 and 2003. A key component for Oakland, the tight ends were led by Doug Jolley who topped 30 receptions in each season, including 32 catches for 409 yards in Oakland's drive to the AFC Championship in 2002.

In 2002, the Raiders featured the most prolific offense in the National Football League, averaging nearly 390 total offense yards per game. Norvell played a key role in designing the Raiders' passing attack that averaged 279.7 yards per contest. Oakland culminated the season with two explosive offensive efforts in the playoffs, defeating the New York Jets 30-10, before gaining a 41-24 victory over the Tennessee Titans in the AFC Championship Game.

Before joining the Raiders, Norvell spent one month on Bob Stoops' Oklahoma staff in 2002 as wide receivers coach after serving in the same capacity for the Indianapolis Colts from 1998 to 2001. While with the Colts, Norvell worked with the passing game and tutored All-Pro receiver Marvin Harrison.

In Norvell's final season with the Colts, Harrison had 109 catches for 1,524 yards and 15 touchdowns. In 2002, Harrison became the only player in league history to have four consecutive 100-catch seasons. While he was coached by Norvell, Harrison had 385 receptions for 5,376 yards and 48 touchdowns.

Before his jump to the NFL with the Colts, Norvell had established himself as one of the top young assistants in college football. During his time as a college coach, Norvell has mentored 10 players that went on to professional careers.

Norvell spent the 1995 through 1997 seasons on Dan McCarney's staff at Iowa State, serving as assistant head coach and quarterbacks and receivers coach. Under Norvell, the ISU passing attack improved by nearly 100 yards per game in 1997, when wideout Ty Watley led the Big 12 with 827 receiving yards.

Norvell had worked with McCarney as an assistant at Wisconsin. Norvell was with the Badgers from 1989 to 1994, serving the final five of those years with Callahan as the offensive line coach and Kevin Cosgrove as linebackers coach. Bill Busch was also on the staff in 1994 as a graduate assistant.

Norvell helped the Badger program to a Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl berth in 1993. Wisconsin finished the season with a 10-1-1 record and a No. 6 final national ranking. In Norvell's final season at UW, the Badgers finished 8-3-1 and played in the Hall of Fame Bowl. Both Callahan (Philadelphia Eagles) and Norvell (Iowa State) left Wisconsin following the 1994 campaign. Wide receiver Lee DeRamus was Norvell's top product at Wisconsin, compiling 119 catches for 1,974 yards and 15 touchdowns from 1991 to 1993.

Norvell began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Iowa in 1986 before joining the Northern Iowa staff in 1988.

A native of Madison, Wis., Norvell played at Iowa from 1982 to 1985. He was an All-Big Ten defensive back in 1985 by leading the league with seven interceptions, and helped Iowa to a league title and a Rose Bowl appearance. At Iowa, Norvell was associated with five bowl teams, including two Rose Bowl squads (1981, 1985), a pair of Big Ten championship teams and a team that spent five weeks ranked No. 1 in 1985. Norvell earned a bachelor of arts degree from Iowa in 1986.

Norvell played one season as a member of the Chicago Bears in 1987.

Norvell and his wife, Kim, also a native of Wisconsin, have a son, Jaden.

John Blake

Defensive Line | Third Season | Oklahoma, 1986

- ▶ Former All-Big Eight selection and head coach at Oklahoma
- ▶ Owns three championship rings, including one in college and two in the NFL

Considered by many to be the nation's top recruiter, John Blake is a former head coach in the Big 12 Conference and brings a unique blend of collegiate and NFL experience to the Husker staff. Blake works directly with the Nebraska defensive linemen, including the tackles and defensive ends.

Blake's proteges on the defensive line played a major part in the resurgence of the Blackshirt defense in 2005. The Huskers finished the campaign ranked in the top 30 nationally in all four major defensive categories, including being the top-ranked unit in the country for sacks and tackles for loss.

Under Blake's guidance, defensive end Adam Carriker returns in 2006 as a preseason All-American after registering a league-high 9.5 sacks as a junior. Carriker helped the Huskers post the second-highest number of sacks (50) and tackles for loss (140) in school history, including 33.5 by Blake's defensive linemen. Carriker was the team's defensive MVP and was named to the All-Big 12 first team while also being selected for the Lombardi Award watch list in 2005.

Carriker was not the only Blake pupil to earn major accolades, as defensive end Barry Turner earned first-team freshman All-America honors after posting an NU freshman record six sacks last year. Overall, the Huskers return 34.5 of the team's 50 sacks from 2005, including 22 by Blake's defensive linemen and ends.

In the spring, a pair of Blake's pupils joined the professional ranks as Le Kevin Smith and Titus Adams were selected in the 2006 NFL Draft by the New England Patriots and New York Jets, respectively. The selection of Smith and Adams gives the Huskers a total of 11 defensive linemen selected in the past nine NFL drafts.

In 2004, Blake's defensive line helped Nebraska rank second in the league and 11th nationally in rushing defense. The Huskers allowed just 104.0 rushing yards per game, including a league-low 2.9 yards per attempt.

Since joining the Husker staff, Blake has also played a prominent role in Nebraska landing some of the best recruiting classes in the country over the past three seasons, including reeling in a top-five ranked recruiting class according to several recruiting services in 2005. His role in luring the nation's top prep athletes to Nebraska led to Blake's inclusion as a finalist for National Recruiter of the Year according to Rivals.com.

Blake came to Nebraska from Mississippi State where he served as the defensive line coach for one year. He was the director of a professional developmental camp called "A Chance To Advance Football Camp" for four years before joining MSU. Among his clients were Miami Dolphins defensive end Jason Taylor, Atlanta Falcons linebacker Keith Brooking, New Orleans Saints defensive end Darren Howard and Indianapolis Colts defensive end Dwight Freeney.

A former All-Big Eight nose guard at Oklahoma, Blake played for Coach Barry Switzer from 1979 to 1982. He coached at OU under Switzer and Gary Gibbs and also paired with Switzer in the NFL at Dallas, serving as the Cowboys' defensive line coach from 1993 to 1995.

At OU, Blake began as a student assistant working with the defensive line in 1985 and earned a national championship ring that season. The Sooners lost just two games during his first tenure on the staff as a student assistant.

Blake's first full-time assistant position was at Tulsa in 1987 and 1988, where he coached the tight ends and wide receivers. He returned to his alma mater in 1989 as the Sooners' defensive line coach, then served as Gibbs' linebackers coach from 1990 to 1992.

After being lured by Jimmy Johnson to Dallas, five players made the Pro Bowl during Blake's three seasons with the Cowboys. Blake's defensive line was considered part of one of the best defenses in the NFL during his tenure. Dallas won two Super Bowls (1993 and 1995) during Blake's term with the Cowboys, the first under Johnson and the second under Switzer. Dallas' 1994 defensive front led the league in rush defense and the entire unit was the NFL's top-ranked defense and second in the NFL in sacks.

Blake returned to his alma mater to serve as head coach of the Sooners from 1996 to 1998. In those three years, OU posted 3-8, 4-8 and 5-6 records, respectively, and Blake was responsible for recruiting the majority of the starters on Oklahoma's 2000 national championship team.

Blake earned his bachelor's degree in public relations and recreation from Oklahoma in 1986. He and his wife Freda (Tulsa, Okla.) have one son, Jourdan.

Bill Busch

Safeties | Third Season | Nebraska Wesleyan, 1988

- Former Husker graduate assistant has coached in four Division I conferences
- Helped NU rank among national leaders in punt returns and coverage, while also blocking seven kicks in 2006

A Nebraska native and a former Husker graduate assistant coach, Bill Busch returns for his third season in Lincoln where he will coach the Husker safeties and serve as Nebraska's special teams coordinator in 2006.

Last year, Busch helped the Blackshirts rank 10th nationally and second in the Big 12 Conference in pass efficiency defense. The Huskers held six opponents to less than 200 yards passing and nine to one or fewer passing touchdowns.

Nebraska's starting duo of Daniel Bullocks and Blake Tiedtke ranked second and fourth, respectively, in tackles. Bullocks joined his twin brother, Josh, as Daniel was selected by the Detroit Lions in the second round of the 2006 NFL Draft. A year earlier, Josh, who started two years at NU, was a second-round selection of the New Orleans Saints. Ironically, each Bullocks brother was taken with the 40th pick.

Busch's expertise also paid dividends for the Huskers on special teams in 2005. Nebraska blocked seven kicks on the season while the punt return tandem of Cortney Grixby and Terrance Nunn helped the Huskers rank No. 17 nationally in punt return average. Nunn was third nationally with 18.3 yards per return while Grixby gained 10.4 yards per return. Nebraska also held opponents to an average of just 18.3 yards per kickoff return on the year, down from 24.7 yards per return the previous season.

NU's special teams also recorded two important plays in the final minutes of a contest – a 40-yard Jordan Congdon field goal to beat Kansas State and a block of a Pitt field-goal attempt – that proved to be game winners.

Busch spent his first season in Lincoln working with the outside linebackers, who accounted for three of the Huskers' top six tackle totals during the 2004 season.

Off the field, Busch is responsible for preparing the officials evaluation reports, serves as the team's liaison to the Big 12 Conference officials and is the staff resident expert on rules of the game.

Busch came to NU after spending three seasons at the University of Utah where he coached the safeties in 2001 and 2002 and the defensive backs in 2003.

Utah boasted one of the top defenses in the Mountain West Conference in 2003 to help the Utes to a 10-2 record and their first outright conference title since 1957. Utah's 10 wins tied the then-school record and its No. 21 final national ranking in both polls was the school's highest since 1994. Busch's secondary allowed Utah to finish second in the Mountain West and 27th nationally in pass efficiency defense, as Utah surrendered just nine passing touchdowns in 12 games.

In 2002, Antwoine Sanders earned first-team all-league honors, a year after he was the league's defensive newcomer of the year. In 2001, Utah was 17th nationally in pass efficiency defense while going 8-4 with a Las Vegas Bowl victory over USC.

Before his three seasons at Utah, Busch spent four years at New Mexico State where he coached the defensive backs. His first full-time coaching job was at Northern Arizona where he was the secondary coach in 1995 and 1996. Busch also served as the co-defensive coordinator in 1996.

The Pender, Neb., native had previous ties to Callahan, defensive coordinator Kevin Cosgrove and offensive coordinator Jay Norvell from their days together at Wisconsin. Busch spent the 1994 season as a graduate assistant at UW and helped the Badgers to a Hall of Fame Bowl appearance.

Busch was a graduate assistant at NU from 1990 to 1993, helping with the defensive backs. Among the defensive backs Busch worked with at Nebraska were all-league players Tyrone Byrd, Barron Miles, Tyrone Williams and Mike Minter.

Busch began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Nebraska-Kearney in 1989, after playing wide receiver at Nebraska Wesleyan from 1985 to 1987. Busch earned his bachelor's degree in education from Nebraska Wesleyan in 1988 and added a master's degree from Nebraska-Kearney in 1990.

Phil Elmassian

Cornerbacks | Third Season | William & Mary, 1974

- ▶ Coached three NFL first-round picks (Lawyer Malloy, Jamar Fletcher and Fabian Washington)
- ▶ Coached teams that have won Big Ten, Pac-10, MAC and ACC Conference championships and reached 17 bowl games

A former defensive coordinator with more than 30 years of collegiate coaching experience, Phil Elmassian (pronounced Eil-MAY-shun) has a wealth of knowledge, as he has coached every defensive position except the line. Elmassian is in his third season with the Nebraska program and will again focus on guiding the Husker cornerbacks.

After working with the whole secondary in his first campaign in Lincoln, Elmassian's specialization with the cornerbacks was a beneficial move for the Huskers in 2005. The Blackshirts ended the campaign ranked 10th nationally and second in the Big 12 Conference in pass efficiency defense, and held nine opponents to one or fewer passing touchdowns.

Under Elmassian's guidance, Cortney Grixby emerged as one of the team's top cover men and posted 10 breakups to go with 46 tackles, including 38 solo stops. Elmassian also played a pivotal role in the emergence of junior college transfer Zackary Bowman, who began the season as the nickel back but earned a Blackshirt and eventually started the final five games of the season opposite Grixby. With Grixby and Bowman returning, the Huskers are in position to have one of the top outside coverage units in the league in 2006.

Elmassian came to Nebraska from Purdue where he was the defensive backs coach in 2003. Purdue ranked second in the Big Ten and 19th nationally in pass efficiency defense in 2003 and 13th nationally in total defense (302.5 ypg). Under Elmassian, senior safety Stuart Schwegert earned All-Big Ten and second-team All-America honors.

A pair of previous student-athletes – Lawyer Malloy at Washington and Jamar Fletcher at Wisconsin – earned first-team All-America honors under Elmassian's guidance. Malloy and Fletcher, along with Fabian Washington at Nebraska, were each first-round selections in the NFL Draft after playing under Elmassian.

Elmassian has experience at four Division I schools as a defensive coordinator, including West Virginia (2001), LSU (2000), Boston College (1996) and Virginia Tech (1993 to 1994). He served as defensive backs coach at Wisconsin (1997 to 1999), where he worked under Kevin Cosgrove. In addition to Purdue and Wisconsin, Elmassian was also a secondary coach at Washington (1995), Syracuse (1991 to 1992), Virginia Tech (1985 to 1986), Minnesota (1984) and East Carolina (1983).

Beginning his coaching career at William & Mary (1974 to 1975) and then Richmond (1976 to 1978), Elmassian coached the quarterbacks and running backs at both schools, before switching to defense at Ferrum College where he was defensive coordinator from 1979 to 1982. He also coached the outside linebackers and kickers at Marshall (2002) and the inside linebackers at Virginia from 1987 to 1990.

Elmassian has led four schools to championships in four conferences: Marshall to the MAC Championship in 2002; Wisconsin to the Rose Bowl and Big Ten Championship in 1998 and 1999; Washington to a Pac-10 Championship in 1995; and Virginia to the ACC Championship in 1989. Wisconsin led the nation in scoring defense in 1998 and ranked fifth in 1999. Elmassian also has helped take teams to bowl games 17 times in his career.

Elmassian played at Ferrum (Va.) College as a quarterback, then transferred to William & Mary (Va.) where he played defensive back under Lou Holtz. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education from William & Mary in 1974. He and his wife, Mary, have three children, Claire, Dylan and Olivia.

Ted Gilmore

Wide Receivers | Second Season | Wyoming, 1991

- Helped a pair of Huskers rank in school's top 10 with 40-reception seasons in 2006
- Coached five players that went on to NFL careers, including a Biletnikoff Award Winner

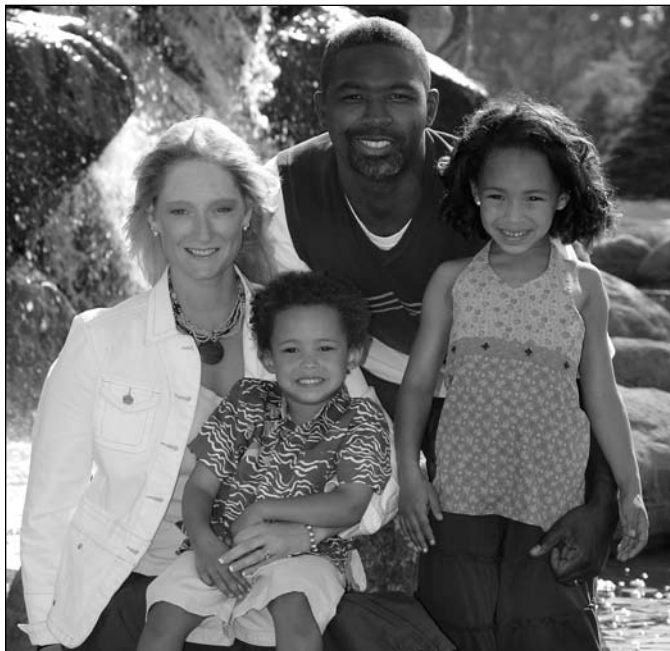

Ted Gilmore is back for his second season on the Nebraska sideline where he will serve as the Huskers' receivers coach. Gilmore, who owns eight years of Division I experience coaching receivers, came to the Husker staff from Colorado in January of 2005.

Gilmore's first campaign with the Huskers was a successful one as his pupils led the Nebraska passing game into uncharted territory. With a stable of capable receivers, the Huskers' version of the West Coast Offense picked up speed throughout the year and finished with school records for single-game (431) and single-season (2,692) passing yards, with three players each catching at least 40 passes. Before the 2005 campaign, only three players in Nebraska history had 40 receptions in a season.

This season, Gilmore returns three of his top four receivers from 2005 in Nate Swift (45 receptions), Terrence Nunn (43) and Frantz Hardy (25). The Huskers lost a versatile piece of last year's offense in I-back Cory Ross, who set a position record with 43 catches in 2005.

Despite not having a reception in the first three games of the season, Swift set Nebraska freshman records for receptions (45) and receiving yardage (641) while earning honorable-mention All-Big 12 accolades and first-team freshman All-Big 12 honors. Nunn tied Swift for the team lead with seven touchdown catches in 2005 while adding 43 receptions for 495 yards. Swift and Nunn ranked third and fourth, respectively, on the NU single-season receptions chart, trailing only Heisman winner Johnny Rodgers, who had 55 and 53 receptions in 1972 and 1971, respectively.

Gilmore came to Nebraska after spending two seasons on the coaching staff at the University of Colorado, where he also served as receivers coach. Gilmore joined the Buffs' coaching staff in 2003 and guided D.J. Hackett and Derek McCoy, who combined for 141 receptions, 1,896 yards and 18 touchdowns that season. Hackett, who set the school record with 78 receptions for 1,013 yards as a senior, was a first-team All-Big 12 selection in 2003 and was taken in the 2004 NFL Draft by the Seattle Seahawks. In 2004, Gilmore oversaw a re-tooled Colorado receiving corps that had five different wideouts catch 20 or more passes in its version of the West Coast Offense.

Before his stint in Boulder, Gilmore spent two years as the wide receivers coach for Coach Joe Tiller at Purdue. Gilmore coached the top receiving tandem in the Big Ten in 2002, when Taylor Stubblefield and John Standeford combined for 152 receptions and 2,096 yards.

Stubblefield became the NCAA career leader with 316 receptions after catching at least one pass in all 47 collegiate games. He was a Biletnikoff Award finalist and consensus All-American in 2004 after scoring a school-record 14 touchdowns. Standeford finished his career as the all-time Big Ten leader with 266 receptions and 3,788 yards and was a semifinalist for the 2003 Biletnikoff Award, while also earning two first-team academic All-America certificates.

Gilmore also had assistant coaching stints at Houston (2000), Kansas (1999) and his alma mater Wyoming (1997-98). He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant on Tiller's Wyoming staff from 1994 to 1996, working with the tight ends and wide receivers, including All-American and Biletnikoff Award winner Marcus Harris. A two-time first-team All-American, Harris was one of two All-WAC selections under Gilmore, along with Wendell Montgomery. Harris was the first receiver in NCAA history to record at least 1,400 receiving yards in three consecutive seasons. He won the Biletnikoff Award as the nation's top receiver in 1996 after setting the NCAA record with 4,518 receiving yards.

Gilmore played his final two college seasons at Wyoming, lettering as a receiver in 1988 and 1989, after transferring from Butler County (Kan.) Community College. He caught 40 passes for a team-leading 594 yards and three touchdowns as a junior, and had 32 receptions for 445 yards and two touchdowns as a senior. He earned second-team All-Western Athletic Conference honors as a senior. Gilmore earned his bachelor's degree in sociology from Wyoming in 1991.

A native of Wichita, Kan., Gilmore graduated from Wichita South High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and track. He and his wife, Jennifer, have a daughter, Taylor, and a son, T.J.

Randy Jordan

Running Backs | Third Season | North Carolina, 1993

- ▶ Nine-year NFL career
- ▶ Special teams captain of 2002 AFC Champion Oakland Raiders

Following a nine-year career in the NFL, Randy Jordan has begun to make a name for himself within the coaching ranks. After beginning his coaching career as a special teams assistant with the Oakland Raiders, Jordan followed Coach Bill Callahan to Nebraska and is now in his third season as the Huskers' running backs coach.

Jordan's creativity and enthusiasm has helped shape the I-back position into a multiple-threat weapon within Callahan's West Coast Offense. In 2006, the Huskers hope to be even more productive at the position as they return two backs – Cody Glenn and Marlon Lucky – who saw significant playing time under Jordan as true freshmen last year.

Glenn and Lucky provided a solid combination of speed and power that was an impressive complement to starting I-back Cory Ross in 2005. A perfect example of the multi-dimensional player Jordan and the Huskers like to utilize, Ross finished his career ranked ninth on the Huskers' all-time rushing chart with 2,743 yards on the ground while also ranking sixth on the NU career chart with 71 receptions, including a position record with 43 catches in 2005. Ross is the only Husker in history to rank in the top 10 for both rushing yards and receptions, and finished fourth in school history in all-purpose yards.

Jordan's guidance helped Ross join an elite group in 2004, as Ross became the 20th Husker to record 1,000 rushing yards in a season when he ranked fifth in the conference and 23rd nationally with 100.2 rushing yards per game. As a group, Nebraska's backs averaged 176.8 yards per contest in the first season of the West Coast Offense.

In addition to his coaching duties for the Huskers, Jordan serves as the community service coordinator for the players, working directly with assistant athletic director Keith Zimmer.

Jordan began his coaching career in 2003 as he joined the Raider staff in mid-season as a special teams assistant under Oakland's special teams coach Bob Casullo.

Before turning his attention to the sidelines, the 35-year-old Jordan garnered nine years of NFL experience as a running back, playing in 122 career games from 1993 to 2002. He began his playing career with the Los Angeles Raiders in 1993, before joining the expansion Jacksonville Jaguars for three seasons, beginning in 1995. Jordan scored Jacksonville's first-ever touchdown on a 71-yard reception against Cincinnati in 1995. He returned to the Raiders in 1998 and played the next five seasons for the Silver and Black.

Jordan rushed for 159 yards for the Raiders in 1998, then had a career-high 213 yards and three touchdowns during the 2000 season when Oakland reached the AFC Championship Game. Jordan also caught 27 passes for 299 yards and a touchdown in 2000. He finished his career with 574 yards rushing and seven touchdowns, while catching 58 passes for 596 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

The Manson, N.C., native also made an impression in the National Football League for his special teams play. A standout on special teams throughout his career, Jordan was named the special teams captain for Callahan's 2002 Raider squad that reached Super Bowl XXXVII. He finished his career with 801 yards on 38 career kick returns, including 553 yards on 26 returns for the Jaguars in 1996. Jordan also made 64 career tackles on special teams, including a career-best 14 in 1999. Jordan was a recipient of the NFL unsung hero award and the Ed Block Courage Award in 2001.

Jordan played in the NFL after a standout collegiate career at the University of

Dennis Wagner

Offensive Line | Third Season | Utah, 1982

- Former head coach and coordinator and two-time Nebraska Coach of the Year (1990, 1993)
- Wayne State College Hall of Fame Inductee (2005)

Quickly gaining a reputation as one of the top offensive line coaches in the country, Dennis Wagner helped continue the storied tradition of the Husker offensive line as Nebraska implemented the West Coast Offense the past two seasons.

During his initial season in Lincoln, Wagner's proteges cleared the way as the Husker offense averaged 176 yards rushing and 187 yards passing per game in its first season away from the option ground attack. In 2005, the Nebraska line made significant gains in setting up the passing game, as it helped first-year quarterback Zac Taylor set Husker single-season (2,653) and single-game (431) passing yardage records.

A two-year starter under Wagner, center Kurt Mann will be one of two full-time starters returning in 2006 along with guard Greg Austin. Three other players – Matt Slauson, Chris Patrick and Lydon Murtha – started at least two games last season as Wagner's coaching steadily prepared the young players for game action. Mann was a first-team academic All-American last season and was a second-team All-Big 12 selection. He is again a member of the watch lists for the Lombardi and Rimington awards.

Wagner came to Nebraska from Fresno State where he served as assistant head coach and offensive line coach for seven years. He quickly helped Fresno State's offensive line become one of the top units in the country as his O-line was ranked among the top 10 in 2002 by The Sporting News. His offensive linemen helped NFL No. 1 pick David Carr post record-shattering passing numbers in 2001 (4,299 yards, 42 touchdowns passing), while running back Paris Gaines rushed for more than 1,000 yards as the team averaged 501.6 yards per game.

In each of his last two years at FSU, one of his linemen earned first-team freshman All-America honors, including tackle Logan Mankins (an eventual NFL first-round selection) in 2002 and center Kyle Young in 2003. Wagner helped Head Coach Pat Hill lead the Bulldogs to bowl games in each of Wagner's last five years.

A native of Waverly, Iowa, Wagner has other Midwest and Nebraska ties as he was the head coach at Wayne (Neb.) State from 1989 to 1996, leading the Wildcats to a 44-37-1 record. He quickly turned around the Division II program which had lost 12 consecutive games just prior to his arrival and had only won two of its last 29 games. For his efforts, Wagner was inducted into the Wayne State College Hall of Fame in 2005.

Wagner was named the Nebraska Coach of the Year by the Omaha World-Herald in 1990 and 1993. In his last four seasons at Wayne State, the Wildcats finished no lower than third nationally in total offense, leading the nation with 581.5 yards per game in 1993.

Before his eight-year stint at Wayne State, Wagner coached four seasons at St. Cloud (Minn.) State from 1985 to 1988, serving as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach. He also oversaw the strength and conditioning program at SCS.

Wagner has more than two decades of coaching experience. He has also served as an offensive line coach at Luther College in 1980; served on the UNLV football staff in 1981 and 1982 where he coached the tight ends and offensive line; was the head track coach at William Penn College in 1983; and served as assistant strength coach for UNLV's PCAA and California Bowl championship team in 1984.

Wagner was a team captain his senior season at Utah, earning All-WAC honors and honorable-mention All-America honors as an offensive guard. He was a junior college transfer from Ellsworth (Iowa) Community College where he was a JUCO All-American and team captain as a center.

He and his wife, Cyndi (Newhall, Iowa), have a daughter, Whitney, and a son, Joshua. He earned his bachelor's degree in psychology from Utah in 1982 and his master's degree in athletic administration from St. Cloud State in 1987.

Shawn Watson

Tight Ends/Recruiting Coordinator | First Season | Southern Illinois, 1982

- ▶ Former head coach at Division I-AA Southern Illinois
- ▶ Served six years as offensive coordinator in Big 12 Conference

Shawn Watson enters his first season as an assistant coach with the Huskers in 2006 after joining the Husker staff in January. He will coach the Nebraska tight ends and also serve as the Huskers' recruiting coordinator.

Watson will have a talented group to work with in his debut with the Huskers, including Mackey Award candidate Matt Herian. Widely considered one of the top tight ends in the country two years ago, Herian has battled back from injury and looks to make an impact in the West Coast Offense this season. Watson will also have last year's top three tight ends returning to join Herian, who needs just eight receptions, 57 receiving yards and four receiving touchdowns to set Nebraska career records.

Watson came to Nebraska after seven seasons on the Colorado coaching staff, including the past six as the Buffs' offensive coordinator. Watson has 24 years of collegiate coaching experience, including a three-year stint as the head coach at Southern Illinois from 1994 to 1996.

Watson and Callahan have known each other since early in their respective coaching careers, when they both served on Mike White's staff at the University of Illinois, including sharing an office for two years. Callahan was an assistant with the Illini from 1980 to 1986, while Watson was on staff from 1983 to 1986. While at Illinois, Watson first served as a graduate assistant coach in 1983 and 1984, then worked with the offensive tackles and tight ends in 1985, before serving as wide receivers coach in 1986.

After his stay at Illinois, Watson went to Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, where he was an assistant coach for seven seasons. During his stint at Miami, Watson tutored the tight ends for three years, the wide receivers for two years and served as quarterbacks coach and recruiting coordinator in his final two seasons.

Education: Southern Illinois at Carbondale, bachelor's in health education, 1982; High School: Carterville (Ill.) High School Coaching Experience: 1982, Southern Illinois (graduate assistant coach); 1983-84, Illinois (graduate assistant coach); 1985, Illinois (assistant coach/tight ends and offensive tackles); 1986, Illinois (assistant coach/wide receivers); 1987-89, Miami (Ohio) University (assistant coach/tight ends); 1990-91, Miami (assistant coach/wide receivers); 1992-93 Miami (assistant coach/quarterbacks, recruiting coordinator); 1994-96, Southern Illinois (head coach); 1997-98, Northwestern (assistant coach/quarterbacks); 1999, Colorado (assistant coach/quarterbacks); 2000-2005, Colorado (assistant coach/offensive coordinator, quarterbacks).

Recruiting Emphasis: Kansas (junior colleges), Texas (Arlington, Houston, Ft. Worth and Austin)

The impressive work Watson turned in at Miami led to him being named the head coach at his alma mater, Southern Illinois. He served in that role for three seasons from 1994 to 1996. During his three years at the helm, SIU compiled an 11-22 record, and produced 20 all-conference players. Two of his standout players included Mark Gagliano, who led the nation in punting in 1996, and tight end Damon Jones, who was drafted in the fifth round by Jacksonville in the 1997 NFL Draft.

Watson left Southern Illinois to take a position as the quarterbacks coach on Gary Barnett's Northwestern staff. After two seasons in Evanston, Watson followed Barnett to Colorado, beginning with the 1999 season. After one season as quarterbacks coach, Watson was promoted to offensive coordinator before the 2000 campaign and held that position for six years.

Under Watson, Colorado's version of the West Coast Offense showed its flexibility and the ability to adapt to the Buffs' offensive talent. Colorado ranked 20th nationally in total offense in 2001, was only the third team in CU history to average both 200 yards rushing and passing. After relying on a ground-oriented attack in 2001 and 2002, the 2003 Buffs featured a prolific passing attack, ranking 18th nationally at 279.3 yards per game. Colorado's 2004 team produced a 1,000-yard rusher and a 2,000-yard passer for just the second time in school history.

In 2005, Colorado quarterback Joel Klatt re-wrote the CU record book under Watson's guidance. Klatt finished his Buff career as the holder of 44 school records, including most career pass completions, attempts and passing yards.

Watson began his collegiate playing career at Illinois in 1978, but transferred to Southern Illinois at Carbondale in 1979 and played two seasons with the Salukis as a safety. He earned a bachelor's degree from SIUC in 1982.

Watson and his wife, Anita, have a daughter, Amber, and two sons, Aaron and Adam.

Dave Kennedy

Head Strength Coach | Third Season | Nebraska, 1985

- ▶ Helped produce 21 All-Americans
- ▶ Had 18 players go on to be NFL first-round selections

One of the nation's top strength and conditioning coaches, Dave Kennedy is an integral member of the Nebraska football staff who enters his third season as the Huskers' head strength coach in 2006. He joined the staff after being lured away from the University of Pittsburgh by Nebraska Coach Bill Callahan, who had previously tried to hire Kennedy when Callahan was the head coach of the Oakland Raiders.

Kennedy has helped Nebraska continue its tenure as the preeminent strength and conditioning program in the nation. Under his watchful eye in the weight room, two Huskers – place-kicker Jordan Congdon and defensive end Barry Turner – earned first-team freshman All-America honors in 2005, while junior safety Brandon Rigoni was named the team's lifter of the year in 2005. Defensive end Adam Carriker, a potential first-round NFL draft pick in 2007, has also benefited greatly from Kennedy's programs and will be a first-team preseason All-American in 2006.

In the coming years, Kennedy's services will greatly expand with the addition of the new Tom and Nancy Osborn Athletic Complex at Memorial Stadium. Kennedy will oversee the massive transition of the strength staff as it moves into a new weight room that will house the latest in technological advances to aid the Huskers' strength training and conditioning program.

Kennedy got his start in the strength and conditioning field at Nebraska, where he earned his degree and trained under Boyd Epley. Kennedy worked his way up the ladder at Nebraska, serving as a student assistant from 1982 until he graduated with a degree in strength coaching in 1985, and then helping Epley as an assistant strength coach from 1985 to 1988.

After working on the Nebraska staff, Kennedy was hired as the head football strength coach at Ohio State in 1989. At Ohio State, Kennedy helped bring the Buckeye program to national prominence as he worked with standouts such as Eddie George, Orlando Pace, Joey Galloway, Dan Wilkinson, David Boston, Andy Katzenmoyer, Shawn Springs, Robert Smith and Mike Vrabel. The players Kennedy worked with produced 21 All-America awards while also winning the Heisman and Outland trophies as well as the Butkus, Biletnikoff, Thorpe and Lombardi awards. Seventeen of his Buckeyes went on to be first-round NFL Draft picks.

Kennedy received Ohio State's Admiral's Trophy prior to the 1993 Holiday Bowl. The Admiral's Trophy, voted on by the players, goes to the person whose dedication, hard work and spirit most inspired the team.

During his 13 years at Ohio State, Kennedy established himself as one of the premier strength coaches in the country, drawing praise from ESPN GameDay analyst Kirk Herbstreit.

"To me in this day and age of college football," Herbstreit said, "the strength coach position has become a high priority because the strength coach is with the players the most of anyone on the staff. His job is to create a winning attitude through the physical and mental development of the players. Dave Kennedy sets the bar in the college football community."

The Omaha native left Ohio State before the start of the 2002 season and joined Head Coach Walt Harris' staff at Pittsburgh. At Pittsburgh, Kennedy helped wide receiver Larry Fitzgerald develop into a Heisman Trophy runner-up and the recipient of the 2003 Walter Camp and Biletnikoff awards.

Dave and his wife, Julie, have three sons, Ben, Nick and Eric. Julie was a former Husker Hostess for the football recruiting program.

Tim Cassidy

Associate A.D. for Football | Third Season | Nebraska-Omaha, 1981

▶ Member of the Board of Directors for Coach Callahan Charities, Inc.

Widely considered one of the top football administrators in the country, Tim Cassidy enters his third season as Associate Athletic Director for Football at Nebraska. While assisting the football staff and athletic department administration, Cassidy coordinates the Huskers' day-to-day football office organization while aiding Nebraska's recruiting efforts and program administration.

Named among Tom Lemming's list of the top 10 recruiters in the nation in 1999, Cassidy helped the Nebraska football program claim one of the top rankings in the nation by most analysts for the 2005 recruiting class. In February 2006, the Huskers announced their second straight top-25 recruiting class.

Cassidy's football administrative duties include working hand-in-hand with Head Coach Bill Callahan and Athletic Director Steve Pederson on football operations. He coordinates the travel, budget and staffing for the football office; assists with scheduling; oversees and the compliance, strength training, equipment and academic support units regarding football issues; and supervises the football support staffs.

Cassidy also serves as a member of the administration's Executive Team. He has assisted with the strategic planning of the new Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex, a $50 million complex which opens in 2006 on the North end of Memorial Stadium. The new facility will house the Nebraska football team locker room and coaches offices along with a new training room, weight room and administrative offices.

Along with his administrative duties, Cassidy also serves on the board of directors for Coach Callahan Charities, Inc., which works to raise money for several worthwhile causes throughout the state of Nebraska. He has previously served as the chairman of the American Football Coaches Association Football Operations Committee.

Cassidy came back to his native Nebraska with more than 25 years experience in the collegiate football ranks.

Working in the Big 12 Conference is nothing new to Cassidy who spent 15 years at Texas A&M, including serving as recruiting coordinator from 1989 to 2004, before returning to Nebraska. In 1991, Cassidy was promoted to assistant athletic director for recruiting and in 1994, he was also named the director of football operations. He was promoted to associate athletic director for football at A&M in the fall of 2002 and served as color commentator for the football radio broadcasts in 2003.

Cassidy played an integral roll in the Aggies' campus expansion as he aided in the development of the $28 million athletic and academic complex completed on the Texas A&M campus in 2003.

Cassidy contributed to the success of Texas A&M teams that won the Southwest Conference Championship in 1985, 1986, 1991, 1992 and 1993. In 1997 and 1998, A&M won the Big 12 South, losing to Nebraska in 1997, but defeating Kansas State in 1998 in the Big 12 title game.

Cassidy first gained a national reputation as a great recruiter in his two years as the director of recruiting and high school relations at the University of Florida (1987, 1988). Cassidy also has sideline experience coaching the receivers at Morningside College in Sioux City from 1981 to 1983. He was a graduate assistant football coach at Texas A&M in 1983 and 1984 and was named the Aggies' recruiting coordinator in 1985.

Cassidy received his bachelor of science degree in physical education and health from Nebraska-Omaha in 1981 after graduating from Omaha Ryan High School. He received his master's degree in 1984 from Texas A&M in education.

A native Nebraskan, Cassidy and his wife Nancy have two sons, Ryan and Austin, and daughter Danielle. Nancy also works on campus at the school of business, serving as a lecturer in accounting.

Keith Heckendorf

Graduate Assistant | First Season
Minnesota-Mankato, 2002

Keith Heckendorf was elevated to a graduate assistant position with the Nebraska football team in January 2006 after spending the previous season as the Huskers' offensive video intern. Heckendorf will assist the offensive coaching staff.

Before joining the Nebraska football office, Heckendorf had a standout collegiate career as a quarterback at St. Cloud State University from 2000 to 2003. A native of Mosinee, Wis., Heckendorf was a two-time finalist (2002 and 2003) for the Harlon Hill Trophy, given annually to the top player in the Division II ranks, and was a consensus All-America pick each season.

Heckendorf owns numerous St. Cloud school records, including career school records for passing yards (9,695), pass completions (761), completion percentage (58.2), touchdown passes (101) and total offensive yards (9,997). As a senior, Heckendorf led the North Central Conference and ranked 10th nationally in total offense at 289.9 yards per game, while throwing for 30 touchdowns.

Heckendorf was also accomplished in the classroom during his time at St. Cloud State. He was a two-time College Division Academic All-America selection, was a 2003 National Football Foundation/College Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete and was the Division II Men's Winner of the 2003 Woody Hayes Award.

Jon Osterhout

Graduate Assistant | First Season
Sacramento State, 1995

Jon Osterhout joined the NU coaching staff as a graduate assistant in January 2006 and will work primarily with the defense, focusing on the defensive line.

Osterhout came to the Huskers with significant collegiate coaching experience after spending the past six seasons on the staff at Division I-AA Sacramento State. He served as the Hornets' defensive line coach from 2002 to 2005, after coaching the tackles and tight ends in 2000 and 2001. Osterhout also served as Sacramento State's camp director the past two years.

In Osterhout's first year as defensive line coach, the Hornets allowed 90 fewer rushing yards per game than the previous season and registered 12 sacks more than the previous year. In 2005, Sacramento State recorded 71 tackles for loss, spearheaded by a strong defensive front.

Osterhout enjoyed a standout playing career at Sacramento State from 1995 to 1999. A four-year starter on the offensive line, Osterhout was a two-time All-Big Sky Conference selection and earned first-team All-America honors as a senior.

Osterhout also served as a team captain for the Hornets and was voted the team's most inspirational player as a senior in addition to earning team MVP honors. He then signed a free agent contract with the Washington Redskins following his graduation from Sacramento State in 1999.

Osterhout is married to the former Alison Gahr.

Bryan Heard

Administrative Assistant

Bryan Heard joined the Husker football staff as an administrative assistant before the 2004 season.

In his role with the Nebraska football program, Heard helps coordinate unofficial and official visits for prospects and their families while on campus. He also assists Associate A.D for Football Tim Cassidy with in-house operations such as clinics, summer camps and team travel.

Heard came to Nebraska after working at Texas San-Antonio for one year where he was an academic athletic services intern. In that role, he advised and assisted student-athletes with registration, as well as providing academic support services to student-athletes. Prior to his stint at UTSA, Heard was at Texas A&M from May of 2002 until August of 2003, where he helped with planning and organization of the football program, including recruiting, camps, roster management, team travel and coaches video.

He began his football administrative career as an undergraduate student at Trinity (Texas) University in 2001, where he organized the scout team during practice and assisted in the recruiting process for prospective student-athletes and their families.

A 2002 graduate of Trinity, Heard received a bachelor's degree in computer science with a minor in business administration.

Tim McFadden

Administrative Assistant of Technology

Tim McFadden joined the Husker staff in April and will serve as Administrative Assistant of Technology for the football program. McFadden brings a wealth of administrative and leadership experience along with a solid background in football.

Most recently, McFadden served as assistant coach at Bossier (La.) High School the past three seasons while also serving eight years in the United States Air Force. He was also a scout for the Shreveport Bombers of the IPFL in 2000 and a student assistant at both San Diego State (1997) and Northern Arizona (1995 and 1996), where he also played two seasons.

McFadden's time in the Air Force was spent entirely in the aviation field as a navigator on the B-52. He separated as a Captain in 2006 while working as a Combat Flight Instructor. His time as navigator includes more than 400 combat hours flying in support of Operations Enduring and Iraqi Freedom. He began his military career in 1998 in Officer Training School and was a distinguished graduate of flight training school in 2000.

McFadden earned a degree in English from Northern Arizona in 1997 and a master's in education leadership and policy from Marquette University in 2006. He married Angela Martinez in July 2006.

John Duncan

Video Coordinator

John Duncan joined the Nebraska staff before the 2005 campaign and serves as the video coordinator for football. Duncan oversees a staff of full-time and student assistants while providing all video needs to the football coaching staff. He also handles film exchange with opponents and breaks down practice and game footage.

Duncan came to the Huskers from the University of Oregon where he worked five years in the Ducks' video department as an assistant video coordinator. Duncan was in charge of video needs for men's and women's basketball, softball, soccer, lacrosse and volleyball, while also assisting with football.

Duncan received a bachelor's degree from Arizona State in 1999, where he also worked as a student assistant in the video department for three years. A native of Tacoma, Wash., Duncan has a wife, Cyndi, and a stepson, Ryan.

Dr. Lonnie Albers

Director of Athletic Medicine

Dr. Lonnie Albers has served as director of athletic medicine at Nebraska since 1995 and has been working with the athletic department since 1985. He oversees the operations of the athletic medicine and athletic training facilities and staff.

Albers practiced clinical medicine in Lincoln for more than 10 years and has 20 years of experience in urgent care. He previously served as a team physician from 1985 through 1995. Albers is responsible for the medical care of the student-athletes and maintains a pharmacy permit in order to dispense medicine to student-athletes as needed. A Hildreth, Neb. native, Albers is a certified medical review officer and administers Nebraska's drug testing programs.

Albers earned his bachelor's degree in biology and English from Nebraska in 1977 and his M.D. from the University of Nebraska Medical Center in 1980. He also is board certified in Family Practice. Albers is married to the former Jodelle Glushenko, and they have three children, Scott, Michelle and Angela.

Doak Ostergard

Associate Head Trainer, Head Football Trainer, ATC

Doak Ostergard is the Huskers' head football trainer and has served as NU's associate head trainer since 1998. Ostergard has been a full-time trainer at Nebraska since 1990.

Ostergard works primarily with the NU football team. His responsibilities include year-round preventive care, as well as immediate care for injured athletes at practices and games. Ostergard, who oversees two graduate assistants and four students on a daily basis, has also helped develop techniques that are commonly used in the reconditioning of injured athletes.

Ostergard has been granted patents for two medical devices, an ankle rehabilitator and a shoulder harness, and played a key role in the design and development of a neck roll commonly used by football players nationally.

A native of Gothenburg, Neb., Ostergard received his bachelor's degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1984, and went on to earn his master's degree from UNL in 1989. He is a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist and an active member of the National Strength Coaches Association.

Derek Clark

Assistant Athletic Trainer for Reconditioning

Derek Clark began working with the Nebraska athletic medicine staff as assistant athletic trainer for reconditioning in June 2000. Clark originally joined the NU athletic department as a graduate assistant in 1998 and worked with football and wrestling during his first two years. In his current position, Clark primarily works with the football team, managing the reconditioning of injured athletes.

Clark earned a master's degree in educational administration from Nebraska in 2000 after receiving bachelor's degrees in athletic sports medicine and health and physical education with an emphasis in sports medicine from Edinboro University in December 1997. Clark served as a student athletic trainer for four years and played football at Edinboro.

Dave Langworthy

Assistant Strength Coach

Dave Langworthy joined the Nebraska strength staff in 2004 and helps oversee the daily strength and conditioning needs of the Husker football team. He previously worked with Head Strength Coach Dave Kennedy at Pittsburgh for two years as an assistant football strength coach, and also at Ohio State from 1990 to 2001.

A native of Miami, Fla., Langworthy graduated from Florida State in 1989 with a degree in exercise physiology. He was the head men's basketball strength coach and assistant strength coach for football and baseball at FSU from 1987 to 1989.

Langworthy joined Kennedy at Ohio State in 1990, serving as assistant strength coach for football as well as head strength coach for the men's basketball team from 1990 to 1996. During that time, the Buckeyes' basketball team was a two-time conference champion. From 1990 to 2001, Langworthy served as the assistant strength coach for football.

An avid competitor, Langworthy captured the Florida state championship titles in weightlifting, freestyle wrestling and Greco-Roman wrestling and also earned the title of Southern State Powerlifting Champion. Langworthy also has a black belt in Kenpo, Chinese Kung-Fu.

James Harris

Coordinator of Sports Nutrition

James Harris has been the coordinator of sports nutrition at Nebraska since 2001, after originally joining the department as a student nutritionist in 1997. Harris was promoted to graduate assistant in 2000. His current duties include body composition/frame analysis, nutrition education, weight gain/loss, meal planning, eating disorders, supplementation and counseling for all Husker athletes.

Harris returned to Nebraska after a brief stint at Arizona State University, where he served as a graduate assistant strength coach for football. In addition to his duties with the Sun Devil program, he was also the head nutritionist at Athletes' Performance, a training center for professional athletes in Tempe, Ariz., that provided training and nutrition services for athletes from the NFL, NBA, NHL and MLB.

A native of Los Angeles, Calif., Harris received his bachelor's degree from Nebraska in 2000, and became a Registered Dietitian in 2001 before receiving his master's degree in 2004.

Harris is married to former NU softball All-American Kim Ogee, and the couple is expecting their first child in October.

Jay Terry

Equipment Manager

Jay Terry has been equipment manager at Nebraska since 2002 and has served on the Nebraska athletic department equipment staff since 1998. Terry also spent two years as a student equipment manager before serving as an assistant equipment manager for four years.

Terry maintains the Husker football locker room and is in charge of the football team's equipment needs. He coordinates the transportation of all football and support equipment to road games, and oversees Nebraska's equipment staff of two other full-time employees and student workers that handle all 23 of Nebraska's sports. Terry is also in charge of overseeing the Husker football student managers.

A native of Cozad, Neb., Terry earned a degree in communication studies from the University of Nebraska in May 2004.

Linda Leupold

Coach Callahan's Secretary

Linda Leupold moved into the football office as Coach Callahan's secretary in 2004. Her current responsibilities include handling correspondence, scheduling and autograph requests for Coach Callahan, and maintaining student-athlete eligibility and participation forms. She also assists with camps and coaches clinics.

Leupold began working at Nebraska in 1982 as a receptionist at the city campus union. In 1984, she became involved with the NU athletic department as the track and field secretary before handling the same duties with the golf, tennis and wrestling teams beginning in 1996.

Leupold's husband, Mike, also works for the University as the Assistant Director for Operations at the city campus union.

Joni Duff

Football Secretary

Joni Duff began her association with the Nebraska football office in 1980. A native of Hampton, Neb., Duff serves as a secretary to the defensive assistant coaches and handles multiple office functions. She is married to Craig Duff, and they have two sons, Alex and Nathan.

Teri Riggins

Football Secretary

Teri Riggins has served as a secretary in the football office since 1998 and began her association with the athletic department in 1996. Riggins is in her third year as the secretary to the offensive assistant coaches and assists with recruiting tasks. Previously she served as the recruiting staff assistant for six years and two seasons as the track and field office secretary.

An alumnus of the American Institute of Business in Des Moines, Iowa, Riggins and her husband, Jim, are the parents of Brenda Riggins and the late Jamie Riggins-Bayer. Teri and Jim are guardians for grandchildren Joshua, Victoria and Sampson, and have a fourth grandson, Marc.

Sarah Boehler

Recruiting Office Assistant

Sarah Boehler joined the Husker staff as a recruiting office assistant in 2005. She previously worked as a student assistant in the head coach's office from 2003 to 2005, assisting with administrative recruiting duties as well as Coach Callahan Charities, camps and clinics. A native of Holdrege, Neb., Boehler is a 2005 graduate of Nebraska.

Dennis Leblanc

Associate A.D. for Academic Programs and Student Services

Dennis Leblanc has been with the academic support program for student-athletes since 1986 and has served as an associate athletic director since 1998. He has directed the academic program since 1993.

Under Leblanc, Nebraska is the national leader in CoSIDA Academic All-Americans for football and all sports, NCAA Today's Top Eight Award honorees and recipients of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Postgraduate Scholarship.

During the past 13 years, Nebraska's academic support program for student-athletes has received outstanding reviews from The Gender Equity and Sports Management consultants from Andrus, Daniel and McCulloch, Sports Services Inc., the NCAA Certification Review Team and the Nebraska Faculty Intercollegiate Athletic Committee.

Leblanc is an active member of the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletes (N4A). In 2002, he received the prestigious Lan Hewlett Award, presented to an athletic administrator in recognition of distinguished performance in providing personal, academic and professional guidance to student-athletes. Leblanc was presented the Chancellor's Award for Exemplary Service to Students at the 2004 University of Nebraska Honors Convocation, which recognizes individuals who go beyond the performance of their assigned work, devoting extra time and effort in serving the needs of students.

Leblanc earned his undergraduate degree from Bethany College, and a master's degree from Wichita State. He and his wife, Coreen, have four children, including daughters Olivia and twins Madeleine and Mackenzie, and a son, Christian.

Keith Zimmer

Assistant A.D. for Student Life

Assistant Athletic Director for Student Life Keith Zimmer has been with the athletic department since 1988. Before being promoted to his current position in April of 2004, Zimmer most recently served as the associate director of academic programs and director of life skills.

Regarded as a national leader in the Life Skills area, Zimmer was selected as a trainer for the NCAA Life Skills program in 1997. In 1998-99, Nebraska's Life Skills program received the prestigious Program of Excellence Award. Zimmer also helps facilitate "Husker CHOICES," the NCAA Choices Alcohol Education program.

Zimmer serves as the sport counselor for softball, soccer and volleyball and assists the director with football. He also oversees the athletic department's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee.

Zimmer is a board member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports and is a two-time recipient of the Award of Excellence for his leadership and commitment to the Lincoln Public Schools and Ventures in Partnership program. With assistance from the Lincoln Public Schools Special Education Department and Golden Key National Honor Society, Zimmer directed the "School is Cool" Jam, which reached more than 100,000 elementary students in its 10-year existence. He is an honorary member of the Golden Key National Honor Society and Mortar Board and has received the Chancellor's Award for Exemplary Service to Students.

Zimmer earned his bachelor's degree at Wayne State College and his master's in education from Springfield (Mass.) College. Zimmer and his wife, Michelle, have two sons, Logan and Caden.

Huskers Seek to Continue Climb Back to Nation's Elite

Callahan's Third Nebraska Team Aiming For Top of Big 12

A surge of momentum gained with an impressive finish to the 2005 season has Nebraska prepared for bigger things in 2006. The Huskers captured their final three games last fall, capped by an impressive victory over Michigan in the Alamo Bowl, allowing Nebraska to crack the final national top 25.

Third-year coach Bill Callahan believes the finish could be a defining moment as the Huskers pursue a return to national prominence in the college football world. The strong finish provided a spark as the Huskers worked through off-season conditioning and spring practice, and that momentum carried forward into the team's summer conditioning.

Nebraska boasts 16 returning starters, including a record-setting quarterback and an outstanding receiving tandem on offense, as well as a pair of dominant defensive ends and deep and talented linebacking corps. The combination of experience, talent and momentum has Nebraska dreaming of a strong 2006 season, and another exciting finish to the year. A finish that includes a Dec. 2 visit to Arrowhead Stadium for the Big 12 Championship Game and a top bowl destination during the holiday season.

The Offense

Nebraska returns ample experience on the offensive side of the football, including eight returning starters. Nebraska lost a pair of two-year starters on the offensive line in tackle Seppo Ewvaraye and guard Brandon Koch. The biggest hole for the Huskers to fill on offense is at I-back, where Cory Ross started each of the past three seasons and finished in the top 10 at Nebraska in career rushing and receptions.

Despite the losses, the Huskers return two senior offensive linemen with extensive playing experience, a senior quarterback who shattered passing records in 2005, two tight ends with significant starting experience and a pair of receivers coming off 40-plus catch seasons in 2005.

Offensive Line Builds Depth During Spring Practice

The Nebraska offensive line returns two full-time starters from the 2005 campaign, in addition to three talented young players who earned starting experience in the second half of the season. Offensive line coach Dennis Wagner spent spring practice developing depth on the offensive front, as well as improving the versatility of several linemen who can play multiple positions.

Senior center Kurt Mann is expected to be the centerpiece of the offensive line in 2006. Mann has started all 23 games the past two seasons, but sat out spring practice following off-season shoulder surgery. At 6-4 and 290 pounds Mann is an athletic center and should provide the unit with leadership this fall. An academic All-American, Mann is also a candidate to earn national accolades on the field.

With Mann out of action throughout spring ball, NU's other senior returning starter, Greg Austin, saw significant repetitions at center. While the 6-1, 295-pound Austin could see action at center, he enters fall camp hopeful of earning a starting guard spot, after starting 10 games on the right side a year ago.

While Austin and Mann are the most experienced returnees on the offensive line, several other players saw valuable time on the field in 2005. At right tackle, sophomore Matt Slauson filled in for the injured Ewvaraye in the final three games and did an outstanding job. Slauson is physically imposing at 6-5 and 335 pounds and is expected to again fill the starting role at right tackle.

Junior Chris Patrick started the final two games of the season at left tackle and has the strength and tenacity to be an outstanding player on the offensive line. Nebraska had productive offensive efforts against Colorado and Michigan with Patrick in the lineup, and he will be a contender at tackle again this fall.

The fifth Husker with returning starting experience is sophomore Lydon Murtha, who started three games at left tackle in 2005. Murtha had an injury-plagued first two seasons in the Nebraska program, but is now healthy, and at 6-7 and 315 pounds he possesses the physical tools to be a dominant player at the position.

Two talented native Nebraskans will also figure prominently into the mix at guard in the fall. Sophomores Mike Huff and Andy Christensen are both powerful players who are poised for their first extensive action this fall. The 6-4, 305-pound Huff spent most of spring practice as Nebraska's No. 1 right guard, and is in line to earn the starting spot for the fall. Christensen was battling for a starting position in 2005 fall camp, before he was sidelined by a shoulder injury. This spring Christensen spent time at both guard and center and should earn significant playing time this fall.

Several other returnees are in position to battle for playing time this fall. Senior Newt Lingenfelter and juniors Brock Pasteur, Jordan Picou and Brett Byford all hope to push for extensive duty for the first time in their careers. All four of those players are versatile performers capable of lining up at multiple positions.

The Huskers also made a concerted effort to add depth and talent to the offensive line during last year's recruiting process. Six scholarship offensive linemen will be in their first season of action with Nebraska in 2006. Among those, junior Victory Haines and freshman Jacob Hickman got a headstart by taking part in spring practice. Other scholarship newcomers on the offensive line include junior college transfer Carl Nicks, and freshmen D.J. Jones, Keith Williams and Cruz Barrett. All of the newcomers will get an opportunity in fall camp to make a push for immediate playing time.

Experienced Receiving Corps Returns for Huskers

In year two of the West Coast Offense in 2005, Nebraska made huge gains in its passing attack. Part of that was a result of the solid quarterback play of Zac Taylor, but a strong season by the Husker receivers played an equally large role in the passing success. Nebraska expects to continue to make strides in the passing department this fall with returning starters at both receiving spots and tight end, and a total of 10 returning lettermen.

The tight end position is bolstered by the return of fifth-year senior Matt Herian. The Nebraska native missed last season with a leg injury, but participated on a limited basis in the spring, and should be ready for fall camp. At 6-5, 245, Herian possesses outstanding speed, and adds another dimension to the Husker offense.

Herian is one of several talented tight ends who figure to see extensive action this fall. Junior J.B. Phillips started 11 games last season and had 15 receptions. A powerful lead blocker, Phillips could also be used extensively in a fullback/H-back role in 2006. Fellow junior Josh Mueller provides Nebraska with a big target in the passing game at 6-5 and 265 pounds. Mueller emerged late last season, then had an excellent spring and figures to be in Nebraska's regular tight end rotation.

Sophomores Clayton Sievers and Hunter Teafatiller also earned letters as tight ends last season and could see playing time this fall. In the spring, sophomore Justin Tomerlin impressed the Nebraska coaching staff with his talents, and the 6-6, 265-pound target could become part of the rotation this fall. Redshirt freshman David Harvey and juniors Andy Sand and Sean Hill will also attempt to push for playing time at tight end.

Junior Terrence Nunn and sophomore Nate Swift are expected to return to the starting receiver positions this fall after excellent 2005 campaigns. The duo was the most productive one-two receiver tandem in school history, combining for 88 receptions and 14 touchdown catches.

Nunn enters his third season at Nebraska with 59 career receptions, and the 6-0, 185-pounder has regularly shown he is a productive and dependable target for NU quarterbacks. Nunn is a dual threat for Nebraska, as he was among the national leaders in punt return average last fall. Nunn will head into fall camp listed as Nebraska's No. 1 "Z" receiver.

Lane Kelly	Jr.	LS	Started last three seasons as NU's long snapper

Junior receiver Terrence Nunn caught 43 passes, including seven touchdowns last fall and enters 2006 in the top 15 on Nebraska's career receptions list.

Swift emerged for Nebraska at the start of Big 12 Conference play, catching five passes against Iowa State. Once in the lineup, Swift improved each week and finished the year with a freshman-record 45 receptions, including back-to-back nine-reception, 100-yard games against Missouri and Oklahoma. Swift will enter the fall listed atop the depth chart at "X" receiver.

Nunn and Swift are not the only experienced receiving threats for the Huskers. Junior Frantz Hardy started strong last fall and finished the year with 25 catches, while sophomore Todd Peterson burst onto the scene as a big-play receiver last year, averaging nearly 17 yards on his nine receptions. Senior Isaiah Fluellen has battled injuries the past two seasons, but finished spring in great health and provides Nebraska with a home-run threat in the receiving corps.

Sophomore Chris Brooks battled injuries in his first year at Nebraska, but is expected to compete for playing time this fall. Nebraska also welcomes four scholarship receivers for the 2006 season, all of whom possess outstanding size. Junior Tyrell Spain (6-3, 190) took part in spring practice and impressed the Nebraska staff with his physical tools. Newcomers Will Henry (6-5, 195), Menelik Holt (6-4, 215) and Maurice Purify (6-4, 210) all figure to get long looks during fall camp.

Talented Group of Young Backs Battle to Replace Ross

One of the largest voids to fill for the 2006 Huskers is at I-back where the versatile Cory Ross held down the starting spot each of the past three seasons. According to Callahan, Ross was a "consistent and complete" back, and Nebraska will attempt to find a back with similar qualities from a group of five players with impressive physical ability.

In the spring, sophomores Cody Glenn and Marlon Lucky got the majority of the work with the top offensive unit. Both players were extremely impressive at times and worked toward becoming more complete players. The 6-0, 230-pound Glenn has a physical running style and filled the role as Nebraska's short-yardage back in 2005, finishing his freshman campaign with 131 yards and four touchdowns.

Lucky boasts outstanding speed, good field vision and receiving skills from the I-back spot. He was the most heralded running back recruit for the Huskers in several seasons and had a solid rookie campaign, rushing for 129 yards while providing a spark in the kickoff return game.

Junior Brandon Jackson has been a key reserve for Nebraska each of the past two seasons. The 5-11, 210-pound Jackson ran for more than 300 yards as a freshman, but was limited because of injuries last season and missed spring practice because of off-season shoulder surgery. He will still push for the starting nod this fall.

Speedy sophomore Leon Jackson got his first look at I-back during spring practice and showed flashes of excellent play. Jackson originally came to Nebraska as a running back, before moving to the secondary last fall, but he returned to his original position in the spring. The final player who figures to push for significant playing time at I-back is junior Kenny Wilson. A transfer from Butler County (Kan.) Community College, Wilson was one of the nation's top junior college recruits in 2006, and boasts outstanding size (6-0, 220) and speed.

Academic All-American Dane Todd returns to his starting fullback position for 2006. The senior provides a receiving threat out of the backfield and is also a solid blocker. Junior Matt Senske had a solid spring and could provide depth behind Todd, while sophomore Thomas Lawson has the ability to line up at either I-back or fullback.

Taylor Provides Outstanding Passing, Poise and Leadership

Senior Zac Taylor returns to the quarterback spot after a record-breaking first season at Nebraska in 2005. Taylor threw for 2,653 yards and 19 touchdowns as a junior, while completing 55 percent of his passes. In the process, the 6-2, 210-pound Taylor recorded the top two passing days in school history, throwing for 431 yards against Iowa State and 392 yards in a victory at Colorado.

Taylor solidified his starting position during spring ball when he showed even better mastery of the Husker offense, as well as strong leadership skills. With a big senior season, Taylor could threaten school career records for passing yards and passing touchdowns.

Taylor will enter the season as a solid starter, but the battle for the No. 2 quarterback job will continue into the fall. Sophomores Joe Ganz and Harrison Beck emerged from spring practice in a close race for the backup position. A heralded recruit out of Florida, Beck was Taylor's backup for the latter half of the 2005 season. He appeared in two games, and led Nebraska to a game-winning drive against Kansas State in Lincoln. Injuries slowed his development during spring ball, allowing Ganz to make a push for the No. 2 spot. Ganz has outstanding decision-making ability and is a mobile player. Fellow sophomore Beau Davis, who saw game action in 2004 before redshirting last fall, also returns to the quarterback mix.

The Defense

The Huskers enter the season with outstanding experience on defense. The Blackshirt defense returns seven starters, including five of the front seven, from last year's unit that ranked in the top 30 nationally in total defense. Nebraska is faced with replacing talented players in the middle of the defense. Defensive linemen Titus Adams and Le Kevin Smith were fixtures in the interior front for the past four years and were both selected in the NFL Draft. In the secondary, strong safety Daniel Bullocks was a three-year starter, while free safety Blake Tiedtke had a productive senior season in 2005.

Bookends Carriker and Moore Anchor Front Four

A pair of talented senior defensive ends will provide the cornerstones for the Blackshirt defense in 2006. Adam Carriker returns to the base end spot after an outstanding junior campaign. Carriker racked up 9.5 sacks, 17 tackles for loss and 21 hurries last season to lead the Huskers' nation-leading sack attack. The 6-6, 295-pound Carriker earned all-conference honors in 2005, and has been mentioned on numerous preseason All-America teams heading into the fall.

Carriker is joined on the defensive front by fellow senior Jay Moore. The 6-4, 280-pound Moore also produced a dominant junior season with 14 tackles for loss, nine quarterback hurries and a team-leading three fumbles caused. In their careers, Moore and Carriker have a combined 36 starts, 19.5 sacks and 46 tackles for loss.

Nebraska has excellent depth at end behind Carriker and Moore. Sophomore Barry Turner earned first-team freshman All-America honors in 2005, excelling as a pass rusher for the Blackshirt defense with a Nebraska freshman record six sacks. Turner is extremely athletic and is expected to make an even bigger impact in 2006 after adding 15 pounds of muscle during the off-season.

Returning Defensive Personnel

Returning Starters (*-indicates letters earned)

Player	Yr.	Pos.	Worth Noting

Other Key Returnees

Lance Brandenburgh	Jr.	LB	Excelled in starting role in Alamo Bowl victory
Barry Cryer*	Sr.	DT	Athletic defensive lineman had four TFL in 2005
Ola Dagunduro*	Sr.	NT	Powerful interior player; 22 tackles, two sacks in '05
Tierre Green	Jr.	SS	Versatile player had 29 tackles, 4 PBU in 2005
Steve Octavien	Jr.	LB	Sidelined for 2005 season by leg injury in opener
Andrew Shanle	Sr.	FS	Special teams standout poised to grab starting job
Barry Turner*	So.	DE	Freshman All-American had six sacks in 2005

Behind Carriker at base end is sophomore Zach Potter, a 6-7, 280-pound product of Omaha Creighton Prep. Potter contributed on special teams last season, but was limited on defense because of injuries. Also adding depth at defensive end are juniors Tony Sullivan, Thomas Rice and Andy Poulosky.

Replacing Adams and Smith on the interior will be a chore, but one that Husker coaches believe seniors Barry Cryer and Ola Dagunduro are up to handling. Cryer is an athletic defensive tackle at 6-2 and 280 pounds, and played his best football at the end of the 2006 season, recording sacks against Colorado and Michigan. Dagunduro is one of Nebraska's strongest players, and performed well in a reserve role last season. He finished his junior year with 22 total tackles, four tackles for loss and a pair of sacks.

Sophomore Ndamukong Suh missed a large part of the 2005 season because of injury, but came back with an outstanding effort during the spring. Suh is an imposing physical presence at 6-4 and 315 pounds and enters the fall as Dagunduro's top backup at nose tackle.

The depth at defensive end allowed junior Kevin Luhrs and sophomore Ty Steinkuhler to move inside during spring practice. Both players worked at defensive tackle and made a smooth transition inside. Redshirt freshman Craig Roark has also moved to the defensive line after arriving at NU as an offensive guard.

Linebackers Expected to Be Among Nation's Best

Last season, linebackers coach and defensive coordinator Kevin Cosgrove faced the difficult assignment of shuffling his players following season-ending injuries. Cosgrove again faces a dilemma this fall, albeit a pleasant one, as he will determine how to get playing time for all of the talented members of his linebacking unit.

Leading the way is junior MIKE linebacker Corey McKeon. A native of Naperville, Ill., McKeon earned the starting job during fall camp a year ago and was Nebraska's biggest breakout player in 2005. McKeon led the team with 98 tackles, recorded an NU linebacker record 22 tackles for loss, and added seven sacks and three interceptions. The performance earned the suburban Chicago native second-team All-Big 12 honors, and he is poised for bigger honors this fall.

McKeon is backed up in the middle by talented sophomore Phillip Dillard. The Tulsa, Okla., native earned valuable reserve time last year as a true freshman and at 255 pounds, he has the strength to play in the middle.

Senior Stewart Bradley returns to the SAM linebacker spot after missing the final seven games of 2005 with a knee injury. Before his injury against Texas Tech Bradley was a dominant player. He had 26 tackles, three sacks and an interception return for a touchdown in less than half of the season, a year after he was the Huskers' second-leading tackler in 2004. The 6-4, 245-pound Bradley figures to be a playmaker for the Huskers in 2006.

Bradley will also be backed up by an experienced player in junior Lance Brandenburg. A versatile performer who has played all three linebacker spots, Brandenburg had an outstanding Alamo Bowl while filling in as a starter.

The WILL linebacker spot featured one of the best position battles of spring and fall camp in 2005, and that will not change this fall. Junior Bo Ruud spent the majority of the 2005 season as the starter, and responded with 80 tackles and 14 tackles for loss, before missing the Alamo Bowl with an injury. Ruud gained the starting job at the spot after Steve Octavien was sidelined for the year after suffering a broken leg in the first half of the season opener against Maine. Before his injury, the 6-0, 240-pound Octavien showed his ability to be a disruptive force.

Seniors Dontrell Moore and Andy Kadavy have made a significant impact primarily on special teams and will look to earn additional playing time this fall. Moore has the ability to also play defensive end, while Kadavy is a two-time defensive scout team player of the year. Redshirt freshman Nick Covey missed spring ball after an injury and hopes to see his first action in 2006, while senior Mark O'Shea and sophomore Tyler Wortman add depth.

Talented Cornerbacks to Lead Nebraska Secondary

Three players with significant starting experience at cornerback return for 2006. Junior Cortney Grixby started all 12 games at Nebraska's strong cornerback position in 2005 and earned honorable-mention All-Big 12 honors. The 5-9, 170-pound Grixby was tested often by opponents last season, but recorded 10 PBUs and an interception to help Nebraska rank among the top 15 nationally in pass efficiency defense. He has excellent coverage skills and outstanding leaping ability.

Senior Zackary Bowman emerged at mid-season as the starter opposite Grixby. Bowman was at his best during Nebraska's three-game winning streak to end the season and finished the year with two interceptions and 14 breakups, including five PBUs and an interception in the Alamo Bowl. At 6-2 and 195 pounds, Bowman has the ideal size to play cornerback at the next level.

Junior Tierre Green started at cornerback for the first half of the 2005 season, but gave way to Bowman during conference play. In the spring, Green shifted to safety and enters the fall listed as the Huskers' top strong safety, where he will be asked to replace three-year starter Daniel Bullocks. Senior Andrew Shanle has extensive backup experience over the past three years, but hopes to make the step into a starting role at free safety in 2006. The 6-1, 210-pound Shanle has excellent size and outstanding speed and has shown the ability to make big plays.

The Huskers will look to improve their depth in the secondary during fall camp with a mix of returnees with limited playing time and newcomers. Senior Brandon Rigoni has been a special teams stalwart for Nebraska for the past two years and is listed as a backup at free safety entering the fall. Junior Ben Eisenhart saw action on special teams last season, and after an outstanding spring is in line for playing duty at safety. Junior Titus Brothers is listed as a top backup at cornerback. Brothers has seen limited playing time, but has twice clinched victories on the game's final play, including his tackle against Michigan in the Alamo Bowl. Junior Bryan Wilson saw limited playing time last season and can play either cornerback or safety. Juniors Jordan Adams and Dan Erickson moved from offense this spring and provide depth, as does sophomore Matt O'Hanlon.

The Huskers also boast a talented group of newcomers who will have the opportunity to earn immediate playing time. Andre Jones comes to Nebraska after being regarded as one of the nation's top junior college prospects, while Ricky Thenarse, Corey Young and Anthony West were all prized prep recruits who could see immediate action in 2006.

Congdon Headlines Outstanding Special Teams Units

Nebraska made arguably its biggest strides in 2005 in the area of special teams. The Huskers must replace record-setting punter Sam Koch, but the majority of NU's top specialists return for this season.

Sophomore place-kicker Jordan Congdon had a remarkable 2005 season and earned freshman All-America honors for his efforts. Congdon connected on 19-of-23 field goals and after missing the first PAT of his career, made his final 31 extra-point attempts. Congdon focused this spring on improving his distance, while maintaining the great accuracy he exhibited as a freshman. He also has the ability to handle kickoff duties for the Huskers.

Several candidates auditioned this spring to replace Koch. The job remains open heading into the fall with sophomores Dan Titchener, Todd Peterson and Jake Wesch, and junior Tyler Kester all still under consideration.

Snapping the ball to the punter and place-kicker should not be a problem, as senior Lane Kelly returns for his fourth season as Nebraska's starting long snapper. Reserve quarterback Joe Ganz is the leading candidate to serve as the Huskers' holder.

The Huskers' return game was improved in 2005, and should be in good hands this fall. Nebraska returns a one-two punt return punch in juniors Cortney Grixby and Terrence Nunn. Grixby returned 32 punts last season, while Nunn averaged better than 18 yards on his 16 attempts. Three players with extensive experience as kickoff return men also return for 2006, as Tierre Green, Marlon Lucky and Brandon Jackson have all supplied Nebraska with outstanding threats in that department the past two years.

Noting the 2006 Huskers

Huskers Look for Win No. 800 in 117th Season of Storied Program

Nebraska enters its 117th season of college football in 2006 as the fourth-winningest program in terms of victories. The Huskers own a 794-31-40 all-time record in 1,155 games (.705) in 116 years of football.

This season, Nebraska hopes to become just the fourth program in college football history to record 800 all-time victories. Texas picked up its 800th win in last season's Rose Bowl, joining Michigan and Notre Dame in the exclusive club.

► Since the first season of Nebraska football in 1890, Husker teams have won 11 or more games 12 times, including seven times since 1993.

► Nebraska has won 12 or more games seven times, including three seasons with 13 wins (1971, 1994, 1997).

► Nebraska (702), Michigan (705), Alabama (728) and Notre Dame (736) were the only programs to win 700 games in the 1900s.

Nebraska—College Football's Winningest Program Since 1970

The bulk of Nebraska's football success has come since 1962 when Bob Devaney arrived from Wyoming and resurrected the Husker program. Devaney capped his career with consecutive national titles in 1970 and 1971, starting an unbelievable run of 10-plus victory seasons, conference and national championships.

In the past 36 seasons, beginning with 1970, Nebraska has posted a remarkable 360 victories, an average of exactly 10 wins per season. The Huskers' overall record in that time period is 360-80-5 for an .815 winning percentage in 445 games.

In that time span, Nebraska has easily established itself as the nation's winningest program, posting 29 more victories than second-place Michigan, followed by Oklahoma (322), Ohio State (322) and Penn State (319).

► Nebraska has won 10 games or more 24 times since 1962, including 21 times since 1970.

► The Huskers have finished the regular season undefeated and untied seven times since 1965, and played in 13 national title games (for one of the two teams) and won the national title five times since 1970.

► Nebraska was the first team in college football history to win 100 or more games in consecutive decades, ranking first in the 1980s (103-20, .837) and second in the 1990s (108-16-1, .868). Nebraska narrowly missed 100 victories in the 1970s with 98 wins, and posted a nation-leading 309 wins from 1970 to 1999.

Huskers Hope to Build High-Powered Passing Attack, Improve Running Game in 2006

Nebraska made great strides in the passing game in its second season under Bill Callahan in 2005. For the season, Nebraska set a school-record with 2,692 passing yards, an average of 224.3 yards per game. The Huskers had the top two passing days in school history with 431 yards in a double-overtime victory over Iowa State and 392 yards at Colorado.

In Big 12 games, Nebraska was among the league's best teams through the air. The Huskers averaged 265.8 yards passing per game to rank second only to national passing leader Texas Tech. The Huskers threw for more than 225 yards in six of eight conference games and Zac Taylor threw 16 touchdown passes in Big 12 play.

Callahan is hopeful Nebraska continues to become more efficient in the passing game in 2006, but has also stated the importance of a strong rushing attack this fall. The Huskers were balanced in their 2005 play selection with 444 pass attempts and 420 rushes, but Nebraska gained just 96.0 yards per game on the ground, as opposed to 224.3 per game in passing yards.

A successful rushing attack was important for the 2005 Huskers. In eight victories, Nebraska averaged 122.8 yards rushing, while gaining an average of just 42.5 yards on the ground in four losses.

Nebraska also hopes to continue its progress in terms of ball security. In 2005, the Huskers committed 24 turnovers in 12 games, including six games with one or fewer turnovers. That represented significant improvement over the 2004 campaign, when Nebraska lost 33 turnovers in 11 games.

Taylor Looks to Continue Assault on Passing Record Book

Senior quarterback Zac Taylor enters his senior season with numerous Nebraska career passing records in his sights. Last season, Taylor shattered several Nebraska game and season passing records in his first season after transferring from Butler County Community College in Kansas.

Among the top accomplishments for the 6-2, 210-pound Taylor in 2005 were:

► Taylor's 2,653 passing yards established a Nebraska single-season record, shattering the previous single-season NU record of 2,074 yards by Dave Humm in 1972. Taylor's passing total marked just the fifth time in school history a quarterback had passed for more than 2,000 yards in a single season.

► Taylor posted the top two single-game passing totals in school history with 431 yards against Iowa State and 392 yards at Colorado. All four 300-yard passing days in Nebraska history have come in Bill Callahan's two seasons as head coach.

► The 19 touchdown passes by Taylor were the most by a Husker quarterback in 16 seasons and just one shy of the school record of 20 touchdown passes by Vince Ferragamo in 1976.

► Taylor threw for two or more touchdown passes in eight of the season's final nine games, including a career-high three TD passes against Michigan in the Alamo Bowl.

► Taylor set numerous other school records, including most pass attempts (55) and completions (36) in a game vs. Iowa State, and most passing attempts (430) and completions (237) in a season.

Taylor's 2,653 passing yards entering his senior season places him 10th on the Husker career passing yardage list. If Taylor were to duplicate his 2005 passing yardage total, he would break the school career passing record of 5,035 yards set by Dave Humm from 1972 to 1974. Taylor is also in position to challenge the Nebraska record for career touchdown passes, held by Tommie Frazier who had 43 scoring strikes from 1992 to 1995.

Receiving Tandem Looks for Another Big Season

The record-setting 2005 passing season for Nebraska resulted in big receiving numbers for several Huskers, including wideouts Terrence Nunn and Nate Swift. The duo combined for 88 receptions, 1,136 receiving yards and 14 touchdowns. In the process, both Nunn and Swift finished in the top five on Nebraska's single-season receptions list.

Swift did not catch a pass in the first three games of his redshirt freshman season, but exploded at the start of conference play. He nabbed five receptions against Iowa State, then had consecutive nine-reception efforts against Missouri and Oklahoma. He finished the season with 45 receptions for 641 yards and seven touchdowns, all Husker freshman records. His 45 catches were the most by a Nebraska player in 33 seasons and the third-most ever by a Husker.

Nunn was Nebraska's most consistent receiver in 2005. The Houston native caught at least one pass in all 12 games of his sophomore season, including nine games with three or more receptions. Like Swift, Nunn also caught seven touchdown passes from Taylor, including a pair of TD receptions in the Alamo Bowl. Overall, Nunn had 43 catches to tie for fourth on the NU single-season receptions list with former teammate Cory Ross, who caught an NU running back record 43 passes in 2005.

Nunn and Swift enter the 2006 campaign poised to make big jumps on the Husker career receiving charts.

29. Nate Swift, 2005-present	45

Nunn has 59 catches in his first two seasons and ranks 15th on the NU career receptions list. He is just six catches from the top 10, 13 from the top five and 34 catches from second place on the Husker receptions list.

After just one season in a Husker uniform, Swift is tied for 29th in school history with 45 catches. The 2005 season marked the first time in school history that three players had caught 40 or more passes in the same season.

NU Hopeful Healthy Herian to Provide Another Receiving Option

Nebraska senior tight end Matt Herian returned to the practice field this spring after missing the entire 2005 season while recovering from a broken leg. Herian broke his leg against Missouri late in the 2004 season, and has not seen action since that game. The 6-5, 245-pound Herian should provide Nebraska with another major receiving threat. Like Nunn and Swift, Herian is also poised to make a dent in the Nebraska receiving record book this fall.

Herian enters his senior season with 53 career receptions, just eight shy of the school record for catches by a tight end, held by Jerry List who had 61 catches from 1970 to 1972. Herian has 1,093 career receiving yards, which is good for sixth place on the Nebraska career list, and just 57 yards shy of Tracey Wistrom's career tight end receiving yardage record of 1,150 yards. Herian needs 363 receiving yards this season to move into second place on the NU receiving yardage chart.

Herian also has a knack for getting into the end zone. His 10 touchdown receptions are four short of the Nebraska tight end record of 14. The Pierce, Neb., native is also known for his big-play ability. Herian has 13 receptions of 28 yards or more in his career and averages 20.6 yards on his 53 career catches.

Blackshirt "Sack Attack" Hopes for Encore in 2006

The Nebraska defense was a greatly improved unit in 2005, finishing in the top 30 nationally in total defense, rushing defense, scoring defense and pass efficiency defense. A major part of the success of the Blackshirt defense was the pressure it applied to opposing quarterbacks. The Huskers finished the season with 50 sacks, a figure that led the nation and ranked as the second-most sacks in school history, trailing only the 53 in 1999.

Nebraska again figures to have the ability to pressure quarterbacks this fall. Seven defensive starters return, including 2005 sack leader Adam Carriker who finished the year with 9.5 sacks from his base end position. Junior middle linebacker Corey McKeon had seven sacks a year ago, while freshman All-American defensive end Barry Turner had a Nebraska freshman record six sacks in 2005.

Overall, Nebraska returns players who accounted for 34.5 of the 50 sacks in the 2005 season. The most sacks Nebraska has recorded over the course of back-to-back seasons is 93 sacks in the 1984 (44) and 1985 (49) campaigns.

On the individual side, Carriker's 9.5 sacks ranked just outside the top 10 on Nebraska's season sack list. The 6-6, 295-pound Carriker enters his senior season with 13.5 career sacks, just one sack outside of the top 10 on the Husker career list and nine sacks from cracking the top five.

Callahan's Huskers Continue to Perform in Classroom

Nebraska has continued its tradition of excellence in the classroom under Head Coach Bill Callahan. In 2005, Nebraska juniors Kurt Mann and Dane Todd were the latest Huskers to earn CoSIDA first-team academic All-America honors.

Mann, a two-year starter at center, carried a 3.97 grade-point average in mechanized systems management before graduating in May. A native of Lincoln, Todd graduated with a perfect 4.0 grade-point average in biological sciences.

Mann and Todd were two of just nine juniors on the first-team academic All-America list, and Nebraska was one of only three schools with a pair of first-team selections. Both players are strong candidates to repeat as first-team academic All-America selections this fall. Nebraska has previously had two pairs of players earn back-to-back first-team academic All-America honors. In 1983 and 1984 defensive end Scott Strasburger and defensive lineman Rob Stuckey picked up consecutive All-America honors, while nose tackle Terry Connealy and offensive tackle Rob Zatechka earned the same recognition in 1993 and 1994.

Overall, Nebraska has had 12 players earn two first-team academic All-America selections, most recently defensive end Kyle Vanden Bosch in 1999 and 2000.

The selection of Mann and Todd gave the Husker football program 85 all-time academic All-Americans, a nation-leading total. The Husker athletic program as a whole also leads the nation with 233 academic All-America selections across all teams and all sports.

▶ Four Huskers Enter Season as Graduate Students

Kurt Mann and Dane Todd are among a group of four Husker seniors who will participate in the 2006 season as graduate students. Senior safety Andrew Shanle and senior receiver Isaiah Fluellen also picked up their degrees during UNL's spring commencement ceremonies, completing their undergraduate work in four years.

The four players will have a lot of company by the time bowl season rolls around. Among Nebraska's 20-member senior class, 12 players are scheduled to earn their degree by the conclusion of the fall semester.

▶ Huskers Pace Big 12 Conference in Academic Awards

Nebraska had a Big-12 leading 22 players named to the first-team academic All-Big 12 team last fall. Fifteen Huskers were named to the first team, while another seven players earned second-team honors.

During the fall 2005 semester, Nebraska placed 31 players on the Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll, including six student-athletes who had perfect 4.0 grade-point averages for the semester. During the spring, 38 Huskers were named to the honor roll, with six players recording 4.0 GPAs for the spring semester. The honor roll recognizes all student-athletes who earned a 3.0 grade-point average or better in the previous semester.

▶ Nebraska Honored by AFCA for Football Graduation Rate

The Husker football program was one of 29 schools from across the nation honored this spring by the American Football Coaches Association with the 2006 Academic Achievement Award.

The 29 schools that were honored achieved a graduation rate of 70 percent or better for the 2000-01 incoming freshman class. This year marked the sixth straight year Nebraska has received the honor and the 10th time since 1994 Nebraska has been recognized. Nebraska's athletic program also leads the Big 12 in exhausted eligibility graduation rate for all sports at 93 percent.

Memorial Stadium Improvements Complete for 2006 Season

Nebraska will play before a Memorial Stadium record crowd in its season opener against Louisiana Tech. That is a near certainty with the completion of the Memorial Stadium Improvement Project, which includes 6,500 new seats in the North end zone, as well as 13 suites above the new seats. The new seating will push Memorial Stadium capacity over 80,000 for the first time ever in 2006.

The improvements to Memorial Stadium also included new concession stands and restrooms in a new, large concourse on the north end. The North, East and West stadiums are now linked on the concourse level, allowing fans easier access to various areas of the stadium.

Visitors to Memorial Stadium will also quickly notice a new HuskerVision screen high atop the North end of the stadium. The screen will be one of the nation's largest, measuring more than 33 feet high by 117 feet wide. The high-definition screen was installed by Mitsubishi in June. The stadium will also include two new smaller HuskerVision screens on the southeast and southwest towers, allowing fans in all parts of the stadium a clear view of a big screen.

The facility improvements did not stop inside Memorial Stadium. The $50 million project also included...

▶ The Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex, a seven-story structure adjoining the north end of the stadium. The first level of the complex, the Charles and Romona Myers Performance Center, contains a new locker room for the football team, a new strength and conditioning complex, a world-class athletic medicine facility, and the Huskers' equipment room.

New football offices are on the second floor of the facility, with administrative offices located on the third and fourth floors, and new game-day suites, including the 48-seat Skyline Suite on the seventh floor of the facility.

▶ The Howard and Rhonda Hawks Championship Center is linked to the Osborne Athletic Complex by a skybridge. The Hawks Center gives Nebraska a second full-sized indoor practice facility, joining the Cook Pavilion. The Hawks Center also includes offices for the Nebraska soccer program, batting cages for the NU softball and baseball teams, an Olympic-sized sand volleyball court, as well as locker rooms for the Nebraska track and field team.

The Ed and Joyanne Gass Practice Facility consists of two full-sized grass practice fields, which link the Hawks Center and the Cook Pavilion, giving Nebraska one of the nation's finest practice setups.

Husker Sack Leaders

Nebraska returns 34.5 sacks from last season's total of 50 sacks, led by Adam Carriker who had 9.5 sacks as a junior.

Player, Position	2005 Sacks
Adam Carriker, DE	9.5
Corey McKeon, MLB	7
Barry Turner, DE	6
Jay Moore, DE	3
Stewart Bradley, SLB	3
Bo Ruud, WLB	2.5

NCAA Record 275 Consecutive Sellouts

In less than a month, Nebraska received nearly 15,000 requests for the 6,500 new seats in Memorial Stadium, ensuring the Huskers' on-going sellout streak.

Nebraska boasts an incredible NCAA-record 275 consecutive sellouts at Memorial Stadium, dating back to Hall of Fame Coach Bob Devaney's first year in 1962 (vs. Missouri on Nov. 3). Notre Dame is second in all-time consecutive sellouts with 183, 92 fewer than Nebraska. The Huskers are 242-33 during the 275 sellouts. The mark includes a 39-21 record against ranked teams. Nebraska is 5-0 in the five milestone sellouts during that period (50th, 100th, 150th, 200th and 250th sellouts), including a 24-7 win over No. 2 Colorado on Oct. 29, 1994 (No. 200) and a 44-13 victory over Utah State on Sept. 7, 2002 (No. 250).

The fan support at Memorial Stadium has led to a dominant home advantage for the Huskers. Nebraska has won at least six home games in 17 of the past 19 seasons and is a remarkable 154-17 at home since 1981. Eight of the losses in the span have come against teams that finished in the top eight of the final AP poll.

With seven home games on the schedule in 2006, Nebraska's sellout streak is expected to reach 282 by season's end.

Nebraska Owns Dominant Edge at Memorial Stadium

Nebraska has rewarded the loyalty of its fans with incredible success at Memorial Stadium through the years. Nebraska finished 5-2 at home in 2005, and has won at least six home games in 17 of the past 19 seasons. Nebraska is 110-10 at home in the last 17 seasons (since 1989), including a pair of losses against teams that went on to win the national championship—Colorado in 1990 and Washington in 1991.

Since 1986, only seven different schools have left Memorial Stadium with a victory. During Nebraska's run of success at home in the past 25 years, Nebraska has had three home winning streaks of 20 or more games. Nebraska had a school-record 47-game home winning streak from 1991 to 1998, a 26-game home streak from 1998 to 2002 and a 21-game win streak in the early 1980s.

Nebraska has not been shut out at home since a 12-0 loss to Kansas State in 1968 (241 games), and has posted 40 unbeaten and untied home seasons. The Huskers are 477-129-20 (.778, 626 games, 116 years) in Lincoln, 352-106-13 (.761, 471 games, 83 years) in Memorial Stadium (since 1923).

USC, Texas Highlight Six 2005 Bowl Teams on Husker Schedule

Nebraska is the only team in the country scheduled to play both of last season's national championship participants during the regular season. The Huskers will travel to Los Angeles on Sept. 16 to take on USC in a game that will be nationally televised in prime time by ABC. The Trojans have not lost a game on their home field since September of 2001. The Huskers' non-conference schedule also includes home games against Louisiana Tech, Nicholls State and Troy.

The Huskers' Big 12 slate is highlighted by an Oct. 21 visit from defending national champion Texas. Nebraska will also play host to North Division rivals Kansas, Missouri and Colorado at Memorial Stadium. The conference schedule puts Nebraska on the road at Iowa State, Kansas State, Oklahoma State and Texas A&M.

Overall, the Husker schedule includes six games against teams that played in bowl games in 2005. In addition to USC and Texas, the other 2005 bowl teams on Nebraska's schedule include Kansas (Fort Worth Bowl), Iowa State (Houston), Missouri (Independence) and Colorado (Champs Sports).

Texas, Texas A&M and Oklahoma State rotate back onto the Nebraska schedule in 2006, while the Huskers will not face Oklahoma, Texas Tech and Baylor in the 2006 and 2007 regular seasons.

Season-Opening Success

Nebraska opens the 2006 campaign on Sept. 2 at Memorial Stadium against Louisiana Tech. The Huskers have a history of opening the season in winning fashion, picking up a victory in each of their last 20 season openers. Nebraska last dropped a season opener in 1985, when Florida State escaped Lincoln with a 17-13 victory.

The Huskers' 20-game season-opening win streak leads the nation, and NU has won each of the 20 games by at least 10 points. This season will mark Louisiana Tech's second visit to Memorial Stadium for a season opener, as Nebraska posted a 56-27 win over the Bulldogs to open the 1998 season.

Huskers Make Successful Return to Bowl Season in 2005

Nebraska returned to the postseason in 2005, and made the most of its 43rd all-time bowl appearance with a 32-28 victory over Michigan in the Alamo Bowl. The Alamo Bowl was Nebraska's 36th bowl appearance in the past 37 seasons, and came after the Huskers' streak of 35 straight bowl appearances ended in 2004.

Nebraska's 43 all-time bowl appearances ranks fifth nationally, trailing Alabama, Texas, Tennessee and USC. The Huskers pushed their all-time bowl record over the .500 mark at 22-21 following the win over Michigan. Nebraska has won eight of its past 11 bowl games dating back to the 1994 season.

Huskers Among Leaders in AP National Titles

Notre Dame leads the nation by winning eight Associated Press national titles since 1936, with Oklahoma (7), Alabama (6), Miami (5), USC (5), Nebraska (4) and Minnesota (4) next in line. While the Huskers were awarded the national title by the coaches in 1997, NU finished second to Michigan in the AP poll.

In 1970, Nebraska was awarded the AP national title, but not the coaches (Texas was first, Ohio State second and NU third) as the final poll was released before the bowl games were played. In the coaches poll (since 1950), Nebraska is tied for fourth with Miami and Texas with four titles, behind Alabama and Oklahoma with six apiece, and USC with five.

Conference Crowns

Nebraska enters the 2006 campaign with the goal of reaching the Big 12 Conference Championship Game on Dec. 2 at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City, Mo. The game has been held in Kansas City on three previous occasions, but Nebraska has not been involved in those three games.

This fall Nebraska will be looking for its first appearance in the league title game since 1999. The Huskers played in three of the first four Big 12 title games, winning the title in 1997 and 1999, with both of those games played in San Antonio.

Nebraska is one of three teams to capture two or more Big 12 titles in the first decade of the conference, joining Oklahoma with three and Texas with two. Kansas State, Texas A&M and Colorado each captured one Big 12 crown in the first 10 years of Big 12 action. Texas, Oklahoma and Colorado have each made four Big 12 title game appearances, while Nebraska and Kansas State have played in the the contest three times each.

Nebraska has won 43 football conference championships overall, including eight under Coach Bob Devaney and 13 under Coach Tom Osborne. Oklahoma has won 35 conference championships to rank second behind NU among conference schools.

Huskers Look to Add to All-America Tradition in 2006

In addition to pacing all Division I schools in academic All-Americans, Nebraska owns a long tradition of being among the nation's leaders in All-Americans on the field. Nebraska's most recent first-team All-Americans came in 2003, when punter Kyle Larson and free safety Josh Bullocks were each picked as first-team All-Americans. Larson and Bullocks added to Nebraska's long list of All-Americans, beginning with tackle Vic Halligan in 1914.

The Huskers have had at least one first-team All-American in all but four (1991, 1998, 2004, 2005) of the past 36 years. Overall, Nebraska has seen 92 different players earn first-team All-America honors from at least one recognized source with 14 winning double honors for a total of 106 first-team awards. Nebraska had its most All-Americans in one season when six Huskers earned first-team honors in the 1971 national championship campaign. The offensive line is Nebraska's most honored position, with 26 players earning 31 first-team All-America certificates.

Huskers Well-Represented in National Football League

Nebraska has a long-standing tradition of placing large numbers of players in the NFL. As of the start of NFL training camps, the Huskers had 41 players listed on rosters. Included in that group are four players who were selected in the 2006 NFL Draft—safety Daniel Bullocks (2nd round, Detroit), punter Sam Koch (6th, Baltimore), defensive lineman Le Kevin Smith (6th, New England) and defensive lineman Titus Adams (7th, N.Y. Jets).

Koch's selection gives Nebraska two punters and two place-kickers in the NFL, with the combined four kickers the most of any school in the country. Nebraska's most experienced NFL veteran is Kansas City Chiefs All-Pro offensive guard Will Shields, who is entering his 14th NFL campaign in 2006.

Defensive end Adam Carriker established himself as an imposing presence on the Nebraska defensive front in 2005, and is positioned for a dominant senior season. Carriker enters the 2006 campaign as the Blackshirts' No. 1 base end, a position where his impressive combination of size, strength and agility allows him to apply pressure to the quarterback, while taking on multiple blockers.

Carriker enters his final season as a Husker in peak physical condition. He added more than 10 pounds of muscle to his 6-6 frame in Nebraska's off-season program and enters his senior year listed at 295 pounds. While adding the weight, Carriker improved his 10 and 40-yard dash times. His stature could allow Carriker to move inside to tackle on passing downs if needed.

The Kennewick, Wash., native was a factor in Nebraska leading the nation in sacks (50) and tackles for losses (124) in 2005, as he led the Huskers in sacks (9.5) and ranked second on the team in tackles for loss with 17. At season's end, Carriker was chosen as Nebraska's 2005 Defensive MVP in a vote of his teammates. On the conference level, he was a first-team All-Big 12 selection by the Dallas Morning News and the Associated Press, while earning second-team all-league honors from the Big 12 coaches and three other major newspapers in the Big 12 region.

The accolades have carried over to the preseason for Carriker. He has been named a first-team preseason All-American by Playboy, Athlon and Lindy's, while earning a spot on watch lists for the Lombardi, Bednarik, Nagurski and Lott awards.

Carriker has the opportunity to make a dent in the Husker record book this fall. His 25 career tackles for loss is just nine shy of the top 10 on Nebraska's career list and his 13.5 sacks place him just one sack outside the top 10.

Carriker's strong junior season followed injury plagued seasons in 2003 and 2004. He played in 10 games with eight starts and finished with 36 tackles, including seven tackles for loss as a sophomore. Carriker played in nine games as a backup defensive end in 2003, and showed impressive pass-rushing skills when healthy. Carriker redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Carriker is scheduled to graduate this December with a degree in business administration.

2005 (Junior)

Carriker started all 12 games at the base end spot, and finished with 9.5 sacks for 84 yards and 17 tackles for loss for 96 yards. His 9.5 sacks tied for the Big 12 Conference lead and ranked 19th nationally. He also led Nebraska with 21 quarterback hurries, 10 more than any other Husker defender. Carriker's 43 total tackles ranked seventh on the team and tied for the most among defensive linemen.

Carriker began his junior season by notching two of the Huskers' school-record tying 11 sacks in the team's 25-7 win over Maine. His sacks accounted for 13 yards in losses. He added another sack in Nebraska's next win, a 31-3 decision over Wake Forest, then produced the finest game of his career during the Huskers' 7-6 win over Pittsburgh.

Carriker proved to be a disruptive force all game against the Panthers. He tallied a career-best four tackles for loss for 26 yards and had two sacks of Pitt quarterback Tyler Palko. He made seven total tackles, while adding a quarterback hurry and a pass breakup, and earned ABC/Chevrolet Player-of-the-Game honors.

Carriker added single sacks in games against Texas Tech, Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas State, before sharing a sack with Barry Cryer in the regular-season finale at Colorado. Despite the attention from opposing defenses, Carriker continued to make an impact late in the season.

He recovered his first career fumble against Kansas and made six tackles. A week later, Carriker had a career-best five quarterback hurries in Nebraska's win over Kansas State, and added a pair of tackles for loss in the contest. He capped the regular season with a four-tackle effort at Colorado, as Nebraska posted a dominant 30-3 victory.

Carriker capped the year with one tackle in the Alamo Bowl victory over Michigan. Overall, Carriker had at least one tackle for loss in nine of 12 games and had six games with multiple tackles for loss.

2004 (Sophomore)

Carriker made a strong impression on the new Husker staff during spring practice, capped by two sacks in the spring game. After a strong offseason that included being honored as the 2004 Nebraska Lifter of the Year, Carriker was hampered for the second straight season by an ankle injury. He played in 10 games with eight starts in the 2004 campaign, and finished with 36 tackles, including seven tackles for loss and three sacks for 18 yards. Carriker added seven quarterback hurries during his sophomore season.

He opened the year as Nebraska's starter at right end and made four tackles, including a pair of sacks for 14 yards, against Western Illinois. Carriker then suffered an ankle injury against Southern Miss, forcing him to sit out the Pittsburgh game the ensuing weekend. He was slowed with the injury for much of October, accumulating just three combined tackles against Kansas, Texas Tech and Baylor.

Carriker returned to near full strength late in the season and responded in strong fashion, making 28 tackles in the season's final five games. He had a career-high nine tackles at Kansas State, followed by five tackles and a season-high four quarterback hurries in a 24-3 win over Missouri. He added six tackles and a sack at Iowa State and five tackles at No. 2 Oklahoma.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

Carriker opened the 2003 season playing extensively in passing situations before injuring his ankle against Utah State in game two. He missed the next three games, before returning to action at Missouri. Carriker registered two tackles against Iowa State, then broke out against Colorado. He had three quarterback hurries against the Buffs and ended a CU drive in the third quarter with a nine-yard sack of quarterback Joel Klatt. He finished the year with three tackles and three quarterback hurries.

2002 (Redshirt)

Carriker redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Kennewick HS)

Carriker played quarterback and rush end for Coach Warren Hull at Kennewick High School. Carriker's team did not win a game his senior year, but he still earned second-team All-Big 9 Conference honors on defense as a senior and played in the state all-star game. Carriker recorded 15 sacks, five pass breakups, four forced fumbles and 25 tackles for loss in his only season as a defensive end.

He was a three-year starter at quarterback and served as a team captain three years. He ran track one year and earned all-conference baseball honors three times as a designated hitter and first baseman. Academically, he was named to the Principal's list. Carriker attended Big Red Football School in 2001, and also visited Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State before choosing the Huskers.

Personal

Carriker was born on May 6, 1984, in Hastings, Neb., his father's hometown. Carriker moved to Kennewick, Wash., when he was three years old. Adam's brother, Darren, lives in Hastings and most of his father's family still resides in Nebraska.

Carriker is majoring in business administration and has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll three times. Carriker has volunteered his time as part of Nebraska's hospital visitations and as a speaker during American Education Week.

Senior tight end Matt Herian is expected to make a long-awaited return to the field this fall. An All-Big 12 performer in 2003 and 2004, Herian missed all of 2005 while rehabilitating from a fractured left leg suffered late in the 2004 campaign. When healthy, the 6-5, 245-pound Herian provides Nebraska's offense an NFL-caliber tight end with excellent speed, outstanding hands and big-play potential.

Herian saw limited work during spring practice as he eased back into live action, and Husker coaches expect him to be at full strength by the start of the season. He is slated to share the tight end position with juniors J.B. Phillips and Josh Mueller, who fared in admirably in Herian's absence a year ago.

The career of the Pierce, Neb., native changed against Missouri in 2004, when he suffered a broken leg while blocking on the perimeter. Herian underwent surgery and missed the rest of the season, then had a second surgery in April of 2005, pushing back his rehabilitation and forcing him to redshirt last fall. Herian's impact on the Nebraska offense was evident in the first half of 2004. Before being injured Herian had 24 receptions in eight games, including three touchdown catches.

Herian averages better than 20 yards on his 53 career receptions and has caught 10 touchdown passes. He has 13 career receptions of 25 yards or more, including nine that covered at least 40 yards. Herian needs 22 receptions to qualify for the NCAA record for average yards per reception by a tight end. The current record is 19.2 yards per catch by BYU's Clay Brown (1978 to 1980).

Herian is poised to break several NU career tight end records. He surpassed 1,000 career receiving yards in 2004, one of just three Husker tight ends to reach that mark. Herian has 1,093 career receiving yards, just 57 yards shy of Tracey Wistrom's career tight end record of 1,150 yards, while Herian's 10 touchdowns are four short of the NU record for TD catches by a tight end. With 53 career receptions, Herian is only eight catches shy of the school record for receptions by a tight end. His 53 career catches are tied for 21st among all Huskers.

Herian was the only sophomore among eight semifinalists for the 2003 Mackey Award, as he averaged 22.0 yards on 22 catches and scored three touchdowns. He began his career in strong fashion as a true freshman in 2002, averaging 43.0 yards on his seven receptions, including four touchdown catches. Herian has caught a pass in 18 of 21 games since the start of the 2003 campaign.

Herian is scheduled to graduate with his degree in history this December.

2005 (Redshirt)

Herian missed the entire season while rehabilitating from a leg injury.

2004 (Junior)

Herian had a solid junior year before the injury. Herian caught 24 passes for 308 yards and three touchdowns, with a season-long reception of 43 yards against Baylor. His 24 catches were the most by a Husker tight end in 14 seasons. Despite playing in only half of the conference games, Herian was a second-team All-Big 12 pick by the Dallas Morning News and an honorable-mention all-league selection by the coaches and the Associated Press.

The Huskers wasted no time showing Herian's potential in the West Coast Offense. In the season opener against Western Illinois, Herian caught seven passes for 98 yards and two touchdowns, with six of his catches before halftime. Both of his touchdowns came in the first half, a five-yard catch in the first quarter and a 22-yard TD grab in the second quarter.

In game two, Herian tied Nebraska's single-game record for receptions by a tight end with eight catches for 71 yards against Southern Miss. His eight catches matched Dennis Morrison who had eight catches at Colorado in 1966. Herian caught his third touchdown of the year against Southern Miss, a 13-yarder in the third quarter. His 15 combined receptions in the first two games were at that time the most by a Husker in a two-game stretch in 33 seasons.

Herian had three combined receptions in victories over Kansas and Pittsburgh as opposing defenses turn their focus toward him. He surpassed the 1,000-yard career receiving mark with three catches for 39 yards at Texas Tech. Against Baylor, Herian caught two passes for 60 yards, including the 43-yarder, and helped Nebraska surpass 300 yards passing in a game for the first time in school history.

2003 (Sophomore)

Herian started all 13 games at tight end and caught 22 passes, tying for the team lead in receptions. His 22 catches went for a team-high 484 yards, an impressive average of 22.0 yards per reception. Herian's 484 receiving yards were just 76 yards from the tight end position record of 560 yards set by Junior Miller in 1978.

His standout play also earned him honors on the conference level, as Herian was a first-team All-Big 12 selection by the league's coaches and the Dallas Morning

News and was a second-team all-league pick according to the Associated Press.

Seven of Herian's 22 receptions covered 30 yards or more, and he led the team with three touchdown catches. Herian's scores included a 21-yarder against Troy State, a 48-yarder against Texas and a 58-yard catch in the regular-season finale at Colorado.

Against Troy State, Herian hauled in three passes for 110 yards, including a Nebraska season-long 77-yard catch. The yardage total was the most by a Nebraska tight end since 1999, and the first 100-yard outing by any Husker in 20 games. The Troy State game was one of three contests in which Herian had three or more catches, including a season-high four receptions for 62 yards against Utah State.

Herian opened the year by catching at least one pass in the first six games, giving him a streak of nine straight games with a reception (ended vs. Texas A&M). Herian was Nebraska's top offensive threat at Texas with two catches for 90 yards, including his 48-yard fourth-quarter touchdown grab. He closed the regular season with the 58-yard TD catch at Colorado that gave NU a 7-0 first-quarter lead.

2002 (Freshman)

Herian first displayed his knack for big plays during a standout freshman season. He caught a 33-yard touchdown pass against Utah State on his first career reception, and went on to set a then-Husker freshman receiving yardage record with 301 yards on seven catches for an unbelievable 43.0 yards per catch. His 301 yards tied fellow freshman Ross Pilkington for the second-most receiving yards on the team, and the pair also shared the Nebraska freshman record for receiving yards.

Herian did not play in the season opener, but showed his potential in game two against Utah State. He had a 44-yard catch to set up a touchdown at Oklahoma State, then against Texas, snared a 60-yard touchdown early in the fourth quarter to pull NU to within 20-17. He had a 28-yard reception at Kansas State, then closed the regular season with two catches for 95 yards against Colorado, including an 80-yard scoring catch. The 80-yard grab tied the second-longest reception ever by a Husker tight end. He capped his freshman season with a 41-yard touchdown catch against Ole Miss in the Independence Bowl.

Before Nebraska (Pierce HS)

A member of the Omaha World-Herald's Super Six in 2001, Herian was a three-year starter at tight end for Coach Mark Brahmmer at Pierce High School. Herian caught 38 passes for 786 yards and 10 touchdowns as a senior. He added 76 tackles and three interceptions as a linebacker.

He was a three-time Class C-1 all-state selection by both the World-Herald and Lincoln Journal Star. Herian finished with 24 career touchdown catches and 2,386 receiving yards to help the Bluejays to the Class C-1 state playoffs all four years.

Herian averaged 15 points and nine rebounds per game in basketball as a senior. He twice earned all-state honors from the Omaha World-Herald. He also excelled in track and field, finishing second in the shot put and third in the 100 meters in the Class B state meet as a senior. Herian attended Nebraska football camp and turned down scholarship offers from Iowa and Iowa State.

Personal

Matt is the son of James and Diane Herian. He was born on Oct. 7, 1983, in Norfolk, Neb. Herian is majoring in history and is on track to earn his degree in December of 2006. Herian was a featured speaker at the Norfolk stop on the "Tour of Excellence" and has volunteered time with local hospital visits. Herian was married to the former Lynsey Collison, also a Pierce native, on July 15.

- ▶ Big 12 Offensive Player of the Week (10-3 vs. Iowa State)
- ▶ SI.com National Player of the Week (11-28 vs. Colorado)
- ▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team

Quarterback Zac Taylor found a home in the Husker offense in his first season in Lincoln in 2005. Taylor successfully directed Nebraska's West Coast Offense, helping Nebraska to an 8-4 record and an Alamo Bowl victory. In the process, Taylor re-wrote the Nebraska passing record book.

After a year of familiarity in Nebraska's system, Taylor will look for even bigger things in his senior year. The 6-2, 210-pounder showed great poise in the pocket last season and was an outstanding leader, traits that give the Husker coaching staff great confidence in Taylor heading into the 2006 campaign.

Taylor easily broke Nebraska's 33-year-old single-season passing record by throwing for 2,653 yards in 12 games, bettering the previous record of 2,074 yards by Dave Humm in 1972. The Norman, Okla., native also set season records for pass completions (237) and attempts (430). Taylor enters his senior year in position to break Nebraska's career passing record of 5,035 yards despite playing only two seasons in Lincoln.

Taylor also set several single-game passing records in the Big 12 opener against Iowa State. In a 27-20 double-overtime victory, Taylor established single-game records for pass attempts (55), completions (36), passing yards (431) and total offensive yards (433). His performance against the Cyclones earned Taylor Big 12 Offensive Player-of-the-Week honors.

Taylor came to Nebraska in January of 2005 and took control of the quarterback job during spring practice. He capped his first spring in Lincoln with a standout spring game effort, connecting on 20-of-27 passes for 357 yards, and three touchdowns. He spent the 2004 season at Butler County (Kan.) Community College, where he led his team to the NJCAA championship game. Taylor played at Wake Forest in 2002 and 2003, before transferring to Butler County.

In addition to his leading role on the field, Taylor is one of the best ambassadors for the Husker football program. He is a regular volunteer in the community and was named to NU's 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team. In the classroom, Taylor is scheduled to pick up his degree in communication studies this December.

2005 (Junior)

Taylor took control of the quarterback job in the spring and started all 12 games. Taylor played every snap at quarterback in the first nine-plus games, before missing the latter part of the fourth quarter against Kansas State. Taylor continued to progress throughout the season and capped the year by guiding the Huskers to three straight victories. Taylor finished the season among the top passers in the Big 12 Conference and set numerous school passing and total offensive records.

Rushing: 76-(-41)-1 TD (Pittsburgh); long-21 vs. Oklahoma

Taylor was at his best in Big 12 Conference play. After completing 42 percent of his attempts in non-league play, Taylor connected on 59.4 percent of his passes in Big 12 games. He also threw for 260.9 yards per game in Big 12 play, ranking second only to Texas Tech's Cody Hodges.

Taylor posted the top two single-game passing efforts in school history, including the 431 yards against Iowa State and torching Colorado for 392 yards in the regular-season finale. Taylor threw for more than 200 yards six times in 2005, and had two touchdown passes in seven of eight Big 12 games. He finished the season with 19 touchdown passes, the most by a Husker quarterback in 16 seasons and just one off the school single-season record.

Taylor capped the regular season with four touchdowns and no interceptions in victories over Kansas State and Colorado, then threw for a career-best three touchdown passes in the Alamo Bowl victory over Michigan. Taylor was also excellent at distributing the ball. Five Husker receivers caught 25 or more passes in 2005, and Taylor connected with a total of 14 receivers on the season.

Taylor's 2005 Game-by-Game

Maine—Taylor compiled 192 passing yards in his debut as Nebraska's starting quarterback, completing 15-of-36 attempts. He connected with wide receiver Frantz Hardy on a career-long 73-yard completion in the second quarter.

Wake Forest—Against his former team, Taylor threw his first career touchdown pass on a four-yard strike to Hardy to finish off the Huskers' opening drive of the second half. He completed 14-of-33 attempts for 114 yards with one interception.

Single-Game Bests:

- Rushing Yards—30 vs. Baylor, 2005
- Total Offense—433 vs. Iowa State, 2005 (school record)

Pittsburgh—Taylor scored the game's only touchdown on a one-yard run in the second quarter of a tough 7-6 defensive victory. Through the air, he completed 10-of-20 passes for 93 yards.

Iowa State—Taylor set single-game school records for pass attempts (55), completions (36), yardage (431) and total offense (433) in the Huskers' double-overtime win. He added two touchdown passes, including the game winner in double-overtime to I-back Cory Ross. Taylor earned Big 12 Offensive Player-of-the-Week honors for his performance.

Texas Tech—Taylor helped fuel a furious Husker comeback that fell just short with 229 yards on 21-of-35 passing and two touchdowns. He connected on a pair of scores to wide receiver Terrence Nunn just over five minutes apart to give NU a fourth-quarter lead after trailing 21-0 midway through the second quarter.

Baylor—Taylor notched another efficient game, throwing for 168 yards and two scores with no interceptions on 18-of-32 passing. He added a career-high 30 yards rushing in engineering a 23-14 Nebraska victory.

Missouri—Taylor completed 22-of-43 passes for 281 yards and two touchdowns.

Oklahoma—Against his hometown school, Taylor completed 25-of-45 attempts for 249 yards and two touchdowns.

Kansas—Taylor connected on 14-of-26 passes for 117 yards and one touchdown.

Kansas State—Taylor broke NU's 33-year-old single-season passing record with 220 yards on a 21-of-31 performance. He set the record on a 34-yard touchdown pass to Nate Swift, one of two scoring strikes to Swift during the game. He connected with eight different receivers without throwing an interception, before leaving the game with a concussion in the fourth quarter.

Colorado—Taylor put together the second-best passing day in Nebraska history with 392 yards passing against the Buffs. Taylor completed 27-of-43 passes in the game, including touchdown passes of 19 yards to Cory Ross and 21 yards to Nate Swift. He also helped Nebraska by scrambling for 16 yards in the game. His performance earned him National Player-of-the-Week honors from SI.com.

Michigan—Taylor guided Nebraska to a 32-28 victory, throwing for 167 yards and a season-high three touchdowns. Taylor capped his junior season by rallying Nebraska from a 28-17 fourth-quarter deficit, capped by a 13-yard touchdown pass to Terrence Nunn with 5:56 remaining in the game.

Before Nebraska (Norman HS/Wake Forest/Butler County CC)

Taylor had a successful 2004 season at Butler County Community College in El Dorado, Kansas, and was one of three players from the school to sign with Nebraska in 2005. Taylor passed for nearly 3,000 yards and 29 touchdowns to earn second-team NJCAA All-America honors. His leadership helped the Grizzlies to the NJCAA championship game, where they lost to Pearl River (Miss.) JC.

Taylor began his collegiate career at Wake Forest. After redshirting in 2002, Taylor served as the Demon Deacons' backup quarterback in 2003. He played in three games and completed the only pass he attempted.

Taylor passed for 1,950 yards and 16 touchdowns as a senior at Norman High. Taylor earned first-team all-district and all-conference honors in high school, where he was coached by Butch Peters. Taylor set 12 school records at Norman High, including career passing yards and career touchdowns. Taylor chose Nebraska after also visiting Memphis and Marshall.

Personal

Zac was born on May 10, 1983, and is the son of Sherwood and Julie Taylor. Sherwood played defensive back at Oklahoma, lettering from 1977 to 1979. Sherwood Taylor also served as a graduate assistant coach at Oklahoma and as a defensive backs coach at Kansas State from 1984 to 1986. Zac's younger sister, Kathryn, competes in swimming in the Special Olympics in Oklahoma.

Taylor spent part of his 2005 summer as an intern in the Huskers' Athletic Development Office, learning the administrative side of collegiate athletics. In addition to assisting with Nebraska's team hospital visits, Taylor has volunteered his time with numerous outreach activities, including being a volunteer with the Special Olympics, and serving as a speaker at Nebraska's 2006 "School is Cool" Celebration, a motivational program for all Lincoln eighth graders.

Greg Austin

#65

Offensive Line | Senior | 6-1 | 295 | Three Letters | Cypress, Texas (Cypress-Fairbanks)

- ▶ Two-Time Second-Team Academic All-Big 12 (2004, 2005)
- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2004)
- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)
- ▶ Two-Time Brook Berringer Citizenship Team (2005, 2006)

Senior Greg Austin is among Nebraska's most experienced offensive linemen heading into the 2006 campaign. A three-year letterman, Austin was Nebraska's regular starter at left guard in 2005, and has been a key contributor for three seasons despite battling injuries.

In addition to his ability to play both guard positions, Austin has experience at center, including manning the position for much of spring practice while Kurt Mann was sidelined with an injury. Austin will head into the fall as a strong contender to again man the left guard spot, but his versatility fits well with the offensive line philosophy of Head Coach Bill Callahan and offensive line mentor Dennis Wagner.

The 6-1, 295-pound Austin enjoyed his healthiest season as a Husker in 2005. Austin played in all 12 games with 10 starts at left guard, and his play helped Nebraska's offense rank among the best passing units in the Big 12. The successful 2005 season was the result of Austin's dedication and hard work following a career-threatening injury as a true freshman.

Austin worked his way into the Huskers' regular offensive line rotation in 2003, but suffered a severe knee injury midway through the season and underwent subsequent surgery. Austin recovered in time to play in all 11 games as a backup offensive guard in 2004, but he was not 100 percent during his sophomore season.

A native of the Houston area, Austin is one of Nebraska's most well-rounded student-athletes. Austin has earned second-team academic All-Big 12 honors each of the past two seasons. He is also a four-time Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll selection. He is on track to earn his degree in management in May of 2007, completing his undergraduate studies in four years. Austin is also a regular volunteer for Nebraska's community outreach activities and has been named to the Brook Berringer Citizenship Team each of the past two years.

2005 (Junior)

Austin played in all 12 games as a junior with starts at left guard in the season's first 10 games. The play of the offensive line helped an improved Nebraska offense register the two best passing games in school history—431 yards vs. Iowa State and 392 yards at Colorado. In league games, the Huskers ranked second in the conference in passing yards at nearly 270 yards per game. The work of the offensive line also aided first-year starting quarterback Zac Taylor in setting Nebraska's single-season passing record with 2,653 yards.

Austin's Career Numbers

Games Played—27 (4 in 2003, 11 in 2004, 12 in 2005)

Games Started—10 (10 in 2005)

2004 (Sophomore)

Austin played in all 11 games as a backup offensive guard and served on the Huskers' PAT and field-goal units. Austin was Nebraska's top reserve guard, rotating behind starters Brandon Koch and Jake Andersen. The play of the offensive line helped Nebraska post the first two 300-yard passing games in school history, while junior I-back Cory Ross topped the 1,000-yard rushing barrier.

2003 (Freshman)

Austin was in Nebraska's regular offensive guard rotation against Troy State, Texas A&M, Iowa State and Texas. He suffered a knee injury the week of the Kansas game and was lost for the season.

Before Nebraska (Cypress-Fairbanks HS)

Austin was one of six Texans in the 2003 recruiting class, the most Nebraska had signed from the Lone Star State in 13 years. He starred for a Cy-Fair team that was 7-4 in 2002, earned the tri-district championship and qualified for the Class 5-A (largest) state playoffs. Austin played offensive guard for Coach Ronny Peacock's squad as a senior after lining up at tackle as a junior.

Austin earned honorable-mention all-district honors in 2002, despite missing half of the season with an injury. Austin graded out at 90 percent in Cy-Fair's offensive line system. SuperPrep ranked Austin as the No. 66 prospect in the state of Texas. Austin attended Big Red Football School in 2002. He took his only visit to Nebraska.

Personal

Austin was born on Nov. 19, 1984, and is the son of Greg Sr. and Jacqueline Austin. Greg is majoring in management, and is a two-time second-team academic All-Big 12 honoree. Austin was a member of the 2005-06 Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, and will be the 2006-07 Vice-President of Nebraska's Your Degree First program. Austin has volunteered his time with the Special Olympics and as a visitor to several local hospitals and elementary schools, earning him recognition on the Brook Berringer Citizenship Team.

Zackary Bowman #14

Cornerback | Senior | 6-2 | 195 | One Letter | Anchorage, Alaska (New Mexico Military/Bartlett)

Cornerback Zackary Bowman made great progress during his first season at Nebraska and finished 2005

in excellent fashion by starting the final five games at cornerback. Bowman expects to continue the strong finish to his junior season in an impressive 2006 campaign.

The 6-2, 195-pound Bowman has great speed, clocking a 4.36 40-yard dash in winter conditioning, a Husker position record for defensive backs. He also has good coverage skills and great leaping ability, making him a prototypical cornerback with the skills to play at the next level. He and junior Cortney Grixby both return to their starting corner positions, giving NU one of the Big 12's top cornerback tandems.

Bowman joined the Husker program as one of the top-ranked junior college prospects in the country last fall, and played in 11 games in 2005. He earned immediate playing time as a nickel back in the secondary, then earned a Blackshirt and moved into the starting lineup for the final five games. After becoming a starter, Bowman played his best football of the 2005 season, capped by an outstanding Alamo Bowl effort.

Bowman finished the year with 27 total tackles, while leading the team with 14 pass breakups, including a Husker bowl record five against Michigan. He registered his first career interception at Baylor, then picked off a Michigan pass in the third quarter of the Alamo Bowl. He sealed the Alamo Bowl victory on the game's final play, assisting on a tackle after a wild sequence of laterals.

The play of Bowman late in the season helped Nebraska improve to 10th nationally in pass efficiency defense. With Bowman in the starting lineup, NU's final five opponents connected on a combined 45.8 percent of their passes. Bowman also played a key role for the Husker special teams.

Bowman joined the Nebraska program after excelling at New Mexico Military Institute. Bowman grew up on an Air Force base in Anchorage, Alaska.

2005 (Junior)

Bowman started the final five games of the season and totaled 27 tackles and a team-high 14 pass breakups. Bowman also ranked second on the team with a pair of interceptions.

Bowman opened the season with one breakup in each of the Huskers' first two games, before missing the Pitt matchup with a leg injury. He returned to action with three tackles and a breakup against Iowa State, then two games later registered his first career interception at Baylor, providing one of three Nebraska takeaways in the fourth quarter.

He made a season-high five tackles, with a tackle for loss and a breakup at Missouri the following week, earning Bowman his first career start the next week against Oklahoma. Bowman had four tackles and a pass breakup against the Sooners, then capped the regular season with two breakups each against Kansas State and Colorado. He closed the season with a Nebraska bowl record five pass breakups in the Alamo Bowl against Michigan. Bowman blanketed the Wolverines' talented receivers throughout the night, and ended a third-quarter Michigan scoring threat with an interception. Bowman was also a key performer on Nebraska's special teams units, serving as a gunner on the punting unit, helping Nebraska to a No. 2 national ranking in net punting.

Before Nebraska (Bartlett HS/New Mexico Military Institute)

Bowman was regarded as one of the nation's top junior college recruits in 2005 after a standout career at New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, N.M. Playing for Coach John O'Mara, Bowman earned junior college All-America honors and was the No. 2 junior college recruit in the nation according to Rivals.com.

In two seasons at the school, Bowman intercepted 10 passes, including six as a sophomore when he scored two touchdowns. Bowman had 18 pass breakups as a freshman, then had just four breakups as a sophomore when teams threw away from his side of the field. He made more than 50 tackles as a freshman, including 40 solo stops, and as a sophomore had two fumble recoveries and two fumbles caused. In addition to his defensive accolades, Bowman also saw spot duty on offense as a wide receiver.

Bowman was a standout at Bartlett High School in Anchorage, Alaska, where he was a three-time first-team all-state selection and the state's player of the year as a senior. Bowman also excelled on the hardwood at Bartlett, where his teammates included Kansas hoops standout Mario Chalmers. He selected Nebraska over offers from Oklahoma, Texas Tech and South Carolina among others.

Personal

Bowman is the son of Zackary and Zelma Bowman, who live at Eielson AFB in Alaska. Zackary was born on Nov. 18, 1984. Bowman has volunteered his time as a speaker during American Education Week, and on Nebraska's team hospital visits. A sociology major, Bowman is on track to pick up his degree in August of 2007.

Stewart Bradley

#34

Linebacker | Senior | 6-4 | 250 | Three Letters | Salt Lake City, Utah (Highland)

- ▶ 2003 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2003 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

Senior Stewart Bradley is one of three members of a talented Husker linebacker corps eager to get back on the field after a season-ending injury in 2005. Bradley missed the final seven games of the 2005 season after he suffered a knee injury against Texas Tech in game five.

Bradley has made steady progress during his rehabilitation, and took part in most non-contact drills during spring practice. Although Bradley did not see contact in the spring, he is expected to be at full speed for the start of fall camp.

The 6-4, 250-pound Bradley provides a physical run-stopping presence at the SAM linebacker spot, while possessing the athleticism to play the perimeter and cover opposing receivers. Bradley is a key component to a Nebraska linebacker unit that could rank among the best and deepest in the nation in 2006. With Bradley out of live action in the spring, junior Lance Brandenburg took the majority of the snaps with the top unit at SAM linebacker and the position should be in great shape for the 2006 campaign.

Bradley opened the 2005 season in strong fashion, collecting 26 tackles, including five tackles for loss and three sacks in the season's first five games. He also reached the end zone for the first time in his career, returning an interception 43 yards for a touchdown in the Huskers' 31-3 win over Wake Forest. Bradley had a pair of seven-tackle efforts before his injury.

Bradley redshirted in 2002, then made a big impression as a Mike linebacker during spring camp in 2003. He was moved to defensive end in the fall of 2003, and played a key role on Nebraska's special teams with six tackles. He had a breakout season in 2004, taking over the starting role at SAM linebacker. Bradley finished second on the team with 67 tackles and 11 tackles for loss.

An accounting major, Bradley is on track to earn his undergraduate degree this December.

2005 (Junior)

Bradley started the year off in impressive fashion, recording 26 tackles in five games before missing the remainder of the season with an injury. Bradley suffered a knee injury against Texas Tech, which required surgery and sidelined him for the year.

While in action, Bradley had three games with six or more tackles, including a season-high seven tackles against both Pittsburgh and Iowa State. Bradley also had six tackles against Maine, when he had three tackles for loss and two sacks for 16 yards. Bradley added his third sack of the year against Iowa State and had five tackles for loss in his abbreviated season.

Bradley was also a key part of a record-setting effort by the Blackshirt defense against Wake Forest. The Huskers scored three defensive touchdowns against the Demon Deacons, including Bradley's 43-yard interception return in the fourth quarter, to cap the scoring in a 31-3 Nebraska victory.

2004 (Sophomore)

In his first year as a starter, Bradley took control of the strongside linebacker position and finished second on the team with 67 tackles, trailing only fellow linebacker Barrett Ruud, who finished as Nebraska's all-time leading tackler. Bradley registered six games with seven or more tackles and tied for second on the team with 11 tackles for loss. He also added five quarterback hurries.

Bradley had a career-high 12 tackles against Kansas, added nine tackles against Missouri and had four seven-tackle efforts (Southern Miss, Baylor, Kansas State, Colorado). Bradley quickly showed he could handle the starting job, recording five tackles, two hurries and a pass breakup in the opener against Western Illinois. Against Baylor, Bradley was named Nebraska's Defensive Player of the Game for his seven-tackle effort, despite leaving the game at intermission with a minor injury.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

Bradley played in all 13 games as a backup defensive end and saw special teams action, finishing the year with six tackles. In limited time at defensive end Bradley accounted for three tackles for loss and four quarterback hurries. He had a season-high three tackles at Southern Miss, including a tackle for loss, and added two hurries against the Golden Eagles.

2002 (Redshirt)

Bradley redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Highland HS)

Bradley battled injuries during his prep career, limiting his football action to just his junior season. Bradley started in the Highland secondary, played some at quarterback, and also returned kicks, helping his team to an 11-2 record and a Class 4A (second largest) state runner-up finish. Bradley also started as a wing on Highland's rugby team that won three straight national championships.

Personal

The son of John and Ann Bradley, Stewart was born on Nov. 2, 1983. A two-time Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll pick, Bradley is on track to graduate with an accounting degree this December. Bradley is involved in Nebraska's community outreach programs, serving as a volunteer in Nebraska's Lincoln and Omaha hospital visits, with the Special Olympics and as a volunteer speaker during American Education Week and "School is Cool" Week.

- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Nebraska place-kicker Jordan Congdon quickly established himself as one of the top kickers in the nation during the 2005 season. Congdon enjoyed arguably the finest debut season of any kicker in Nebraska football history en route to freshman All-America honors. Congdon enters his sophomore year with a firm grasp on Nebraska's top kicking job, and could also handle the Huskers' kickoff duties.

His record-setting freshman season earned Congdon multiple honors. He was selected as a first-team freshman All-American by the Football Writers of America, ESPN.com and Rivals.com. In addition, Congdon was a second-team All-Big 12 selection by the Associated Press and three other major newspapers in the Big 12 region. This fall he is poised to contend for conference and national honors.

A native of San Diego, Congdon established a new Nebraska season record for field goals with 19, breaking the previous record of 18 held by current Houston Texans' place-kicker Kris Brown. Congdon easily broke Nebraska's previous freshman field goals record of 14, held by David Dyches (2003) and Seattle Seahawk Josh Brown (1999).

Congdon displayed composure well beyond his freshman class standing. He kicked at an .826 success rate on 19-of-23 field goal attempts, and made 31 consecutive PATs after missing the first attempt of his career. Congdon ranked first nationally among freshmen place-kickers in field goal accuracy, while he tied for 16th among all kickers in field goals per game (1.58). Congdon was regarded as the nation's top prep kicker when he signed with Nebraska in 2005. He is off to a great start academically in Lincoln, posting a 3.703 grade-point average in secondary education/modern languages.

Congdon had a standout freshman season, connecting on 19-of-23 field goals and 31-of-32 PATs en route to freshman All-America honors. Congdon immediately showed his ability, connecting on all four of his field goal attempts in Nebraska's season-opening victory over Maine. The four field goals were the most by a Big 12 player in 2005.

His success continued throughout the fall. Congdon had a streak of 11 straight made field goals, and closed the season by hitting his final 31 extra-point attempts after missing the first of his career. In addition to his four field goals against Maine, Congdon made three field goals each against Baylor and Colorado.

Congdon delivered when called upon in clutch situations, highlighted by a game-winning field goal in the victory over Kansas State. With the Huskers trailing 25-24 and winds gusting in excess of 35 miles per hour, Congdon calmly connected on a 40-yard field goal with 1:05 to play to give Nebraska a two-point victory over the Wildcats. Against Iowa State, Congdon made a game-tying kick in the fourth quarter to send the game into overtime, then hit a pair of overtime extra points in a 27-20 Husker win.

Congdon was nearly perfect in Big 12 games, hitting 13-of-15 field goals in league play, including connecting on 11 straight field goals before a fourth-quarter miss against Colorado. Congdon also shared Nebraska's kickoff duties, helping the Huskers rank among the league's best teams in kick coverage.

Before Nebraska (St. Augustine HS)

Congdon was one of eight 2005 NU signees from California and one of seven players in the 2005 class to play in the U.S. Army All-America game in San Antonio. He was generally regarded as the nation's top kicking prospect in 2005.

Congdon equaled the section record for career points by kicking with 261 and matched the section best with nine consecutive field goals made. He also led the San Diego Section in kicking points three straight years. Congdon hit on 11-of-13 field goals as a senior for St. Augustine High and Coach Jerry Ralph, with a long field goal of 53 yards and three others of more than 40 yards. He booted 85 percent of his kickoffs for touchbacks and averaged 42.7 yards per punt, en route to earning All-San Diego section honors as both the kicker and punter from the San Diego Union-Tribune.

Congdon hit 7-of-10 field goals and 44-of-45 extra points as a junior and 15-of-18 field goals and 57-of-58 PATs as a sophomore. He earned first-team underclassmen all-state honors in both of his first two seasons kicking for St. Augustine, which won the Eastern League title and was a CIF Division 3 finalist in both 2002 and 2003. Congdon was a two-year starter and three-year letterman in soccer, and was a second-team all-league selection as a junior. Congdon was a standout in the classroom as well. He was the captain of the Union-Tribune's All-Academic Team in 2004, and carried better than a 4.0 grade-point average. He was also member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Personal

Jordan is the son of Scott and Gayla Congdon, and was born on Dec. 15, 1986. He is majoring in secondary education and modern languages at Nebraska and carries a 3.703 grade-point average after two semesters. Congdon has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll each of his first two semesters. Congdon is an active participant in Nebraska's community outreach activities, taking part in Nebraska's team hospital visits and volunteering his time with the Lincoln Public Schools and the YMCA Healthy Heart Day.

Tierre Green

Strong Safety | Junior | 6-1 | 200 | Two Letters | Omaha, Neb. (Benson)

Junior Tierre (pronounced Tee-AIR) Green has proven to be one of the Huskers' most versatile performers during his career. Green began his Nebraska career as a running back in 2003 and 2004, before switching to cornerback last season.

Green excelled at the position, starting the season's first seven games, but moved to strong safety before spring practice and enters fall camp listed atop the depth chart at that position. Green has the tough task of replacing three-year starter Daniel Bullocks at strong safety. Bullocks was a second-round NFL Draft pick this spring.

Green, who possesses some of the best physical tools on the roster, earned a Blackshirt during fall camp in 2005, and started the first half of the year at the weakside corner spot. In addition to his defensive efforts, Green was a key contributor on the Husker special teams, serving as one of Nebraska's top two kickoff returners. He also played on NU's kickoff coverage and punt return teams and served as a gunner on the Huskers' punting unit that ranked second nationally in net punting.

The Omaha native redshirted in his first season at Nebraska, then played in all 11 games in 2004 as a reserve I-back. He used his great speed to average better than six yards per carry, while also sharing kickoff return duties. Green is the cousin of Green Bay Packer running back Ahman Green.

Green played a key role in a re-tooled Nebraska secondary that featured three new starters. He started the first seven games at the weak corner spot before Zackary Bowman moved into the starting lineup. Green was the first defensive back off the bench in the final five games. He finished the year with 29 tackles, including 19 solo stops, and had four breakups. He was one of NU's top kickoff returners for the second straight year, averaging 24.8 yards on nine returns.

Green opened the year with four tackles and a pair of breakups in a win over Maine, then added five tackles in a defensive struggle against Pitt. Green had a season-high six tackles, including five solo stops, in a double-overtime victory over Iowa State. He had five tackles at Missouri and added breakups against Baylor and Oklahoma. In the return game, he had a 43-yard return in the season opener vs. Maine, and added a career-long 45-yard return vs. Iowa State. Six of Green's nine returns went at least 22 yards.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Green played in all 11 games, sharing the No. 2 I-back position with freshman Brandon Jackson. Green earned starts against Pittsburgh, Kansas State and Colorado, when NU opened in multiple-back sets. He finished the year with 44 carries for 284 yards, an average of 6.5 yards per carry. Green also had 26 kickoff returns for 498 yards, an average of 19.2 yards per return.

Green had 112 rushing yards in the opener against Western Illinois, including a 34-yard touchdown, marking the most rushing yards by a Husker in a varsity debut since 1973. He had a season-high six kickoff returns for 148 yards and 66 rushing yards against Southern Miss, giving him 214 all-purpose yards in the contest.

2003 (Redshirt)

Green redshirted and made a strong impression with his scout team play.

Before Nebraska (Omaha Benson HS)

Green earned first-team Class A all-state honors from the Omaha World-Herald as a senior when he had 63 tackles, including 50 solos, for Omaha Benson. He was also a second-team All-Nebraska pick by the World-Herald. He returned one interception for a touchdown and also forced a pair of fumbles. The World-Herald also picked him as first-team All-Metro as a defensive back.

As a running back, Green rushed for 627 yards and averaged nearly six yards per carry for Coach Lonnie Tapp, while scoring eight touchdowns. Green earned postseason recognition despite Benson finishing 2002 with a 1-8 record. Green's top game as a senior came against Omaha North, when he rushed for 158 yards and three touchdowns, totaled 130 kickoff return yards, returned an interception for a touchdown and made eight tackles. He helped the Bunnies to a pair of playoff appearances in his sophomore and junior seasons. In addition to Nebraska, Green received a scholarship offer from Iowa State. Green was also a four-year member of Benson's track team.

Personal

Tierre is the son of Lisa Conway and was born on Feb. 4, 1985. He is majoring in sociology. In addition to Ahman Green, Tierre's uncle, Michael, also played for Nebraska, lettering in 1968 and 1969. Tierre has volunteered his time as part of Nebraska's team hospital visits in Lincoln and Omaha.

- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Cortney Grixby excelled in his first season as a starter at cornerback in 2005, and returns for his junior season looking to help the Blackshirt defense become a dominant unit. Grixby started all 12 games at Nebraska's strong cornerback position and is atop the depth chart at that spot heading into the fall. Grixby and senior Zackary Bowman should give Nebraska one of the top cornerback tandems in the Big 12 Conference.

The 5-9, 170-pound Grixby has outstanding speed and leaping ability. He made 46 tackles and finished second on the team with 10 pass breakups in 2005, while snaring his first career interception at Missouri.

Grixby's speed and elusiveness allowed him to play a leading role in Nebraska's improved special teams. He served as the Huskers' top punt return man and averaged 10.4 yards per punt return, helping Nebraska rank 17th nationally in that category. Grixby's performance earned him honorable-mention All-Big 12 accolades from the Big 12 coaches.

Grixby saw significant action as a true freshman in 2004, serving as the Huskers' top reserve corner for most of the season and earning two starts in place of injured senior Lornell McPherson.

Grixby has also been honored for his work in the classroom, being named first-team academic All-Big 12 in 2005. He is a two-time Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll selection, and carries better than a 3.0 grade-point average while majoring in marketing. Grixby is also an active member of Nebraska's community outreach efforts and was named to the 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team.

Grixby was one of three new starters in the secondary and responded with 46 tackles, including 38 solo stops, 10 pass breakups and an interception. He also caused a fumble and had a fumble recovery. He averaged 10.4 yards on 32 punt returns, with five returns of 20 yards or more. Grixby had five games with four or more tackles, led by a career-high nine, all solo, against Oklahoma. He capped the season with six solo stops in the Huskers' Alamo Bowl victory over Michigan.

In Nebraska's 23-14 win at Baylor, Grixby had a great all-around game, including a pair of tackles and a season-high three breakups. He also recovered a fumble and returned it 33 yards in the fourth quarter to preserve NU's lead. Grixby also had four punt returns for 60 yards, with a 48-yard return in the second quarter that set up a touchdown to give the Huskers a 10-7 lead. Grixby later tied his season-high with three pass breakups against Kansas State. The play of Grixby helped Nebraska to a No. 10 national ranking in pass efficiency defense.

2004 (Freshman)

Grixby immediately ended any talk of a redshirt, playing in all 11 games. He earned significant playing time throughout the year and drew starts against Pittsburgh and Kansas with starter Lornell McPherson sidelined with an injury.

Grixby finished the season with 21 total tackles, including 14 solo stops and added four pass breakups, including two in his first career start at Pittsburgh. He had a tackle for loss against Southern Miss. Grixby made a season-high four tackles, including three solos against Kansas, and had three tackles each against Southern Miss, Pittsburgh and Kansas State.

Before Nebraska (Omaha Central HS)

Grixby was a two-way star for the Eagles, playing quarterback and cornerback. During an injury-plagued senior season, Grixby passed for 474 yards and ran for 344 yards and two touchdowns as the Eagles' quarterback. On defense, Grixby had one interception and 11 pass breakups and his performance earned him second-team All-Nebraska honors from the Omaha World-Herald as a defensive back and second-team Super-State honors from the Lincoln Journal Star.

As a junior, Grixby rushed for 700 yards and 12 touchdowns and passed for another 1,200 yards, while recording two interceptions and 15 breakups on defense. Grixby threw for 220 yards and ran for another 175 yards against Millard West as a junior. He earned second-team All-Nebraska honors from the World-Herald and first-team Super-State honors from the Lincoln Journal Star as a cornerback in 2002. Grixby also lettered as both a freshman and sophomore for Central.

Grixby was also a basketball standout, helping the Eagles to the Class A state tournament his last three seasons, averaging nearly 10 points and four assists per game. He was also a member of Central's 4x100-meter relay team that finished second at state in 2003. Grixby chose Nebraska over Notre Dame, and was also recruited by UCLA, Minnesota and Kansas State among others.

Personal

Grixby was born in Omaha on Feb. 14, 1986, and is the son of Evelyn and Ronald Grixby. He is the younger brother of former Husker DeAntae Grixby, who completed his eligibility in 2003. Grixby was honored as a member of the 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team for his outreach efforts, including serving as a volunteer speaker on the Fall Break Tour of Excellence and during the "School is Cool" Celebration. Grixby owns a 3.033 grade-point average in marketing.

- ▶ Four-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2004, 2005, 2006)

The Nebraska offensive line will have a familiar face in the middle in 2006, as senior Kurt Mann is back after two seasons as Nebraska's starting center. Mann has been in the starting lineup for all 23 games the past two seasons. He and fellow senior Greg Austin are Nebraska's most battle-tested veterans heading into the 2006 season.

Mann should be back to full strength for the start of fall camp after sitting out spring practice to rehabilitate from off-season shoulder surgery. Once back in the lineup this fall, the Grand Island, Neb., native should be a contender for conference and national accolades as a senior. The 6-4, 290-pound Mann was a second-team All-Big 12 pick last fall, and has been named to the Rimington and Outland Trophy Watch List.

Mann helped the NU offense continue to make steady improvement during the 2005 season. The Husker passing attack exploded during conference play, as the line provided the necessary protection for quarterback Zac Taylor, who produced the top two passing days in school history.

Mann took over the starting center position during fall camp in 2004, and started all 11 games. A versatile lineman, he spent the spring splitting time between center and tackle, before settling in the center of the line in the fall. Mann played sparingly in 2003, and redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

The on-field success is only part of the story for Mann, who has distinguished himself off the field. Last season, Mann continued a tradition of excellence in the classroom for the Nebraska center position, becoming the seventh Husker center to be named a first-team academic All-American, and the first since Aaron Graham in 1995. He joined teammate Dane Todd on the first team and both will be strong contenders to repeat the honor this season.

Mann will play the 2006 season as a graduate student after earning his degree in mechanized systems management in May. He completed his undergraduate work with a 3.982 cumulative grade-point average. Mann is also a regular fixture in the community, and has twice been named to the Brook Berringer Citizenship Team.

2005 (Junior)

Mann was one of two Husker offensive linemen to start all 12 games, manning the center position throughout the season. Mann anchored an offensive line that helped Zac Taylor have a record-setting passing season. Taylor threw for a school-record 2,653 yards and had the top two passing games in school history with 431 yards against Iowa State and 392 at Colorado. Mann also helped the offensive line open holes for senior I-back Cory Ross, who moved into the top 10 on the Nebraska career rushing list.

In addition to being selected as a second-team All-Big 12 pick by the Associated Press, he was an honorable-mention all-league choice by the coaches. Mann picked up first-team academic All-America honors, increasing Nebraska's nation-leading total in that category.

Mann's Career Numbers

Games Played—28 (5 in 2003, 11 in 2004, 12 in 2005)

Games Started—23 (11 in 2004, 12 in 2005)

2004 (Sophomore)

Mann started all 11 games at center after winning the job in fall camp, and helped ease the transition to the West Coast Offense. Mann earned honorable-mention All-Big 12 honors for his efforts. The offensive line was a question mark entering the season, but became one of the strengths of the Husker offense.

Mann and his offensive line cohorts helped the Huskers feature a balanced attack that gained 186.9 yards per game through the air and 176.3 per contest on the ground. The offensive line allowed 16 sacks on the season, including six games with one or zero sacks. On the ground, I-back Cory Ross topped 1,100 yards rushing running behind the Nebraska offensive line.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

Mann played in five games as a reserve center behind Josh Sewell, seeing action against Southern Miss, Troy State, Texas A&M, Iowa State and Kansas. The Husker offensive line helped Nebraska average nearly 240 yards rushing per game.

2002 (Redshirt)

Mann redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Grand Island HS)

Mann earned first-team All-Nebraska and Super-State honors from the Omaha World-Herald and the Lincoln Journal Star, respectively, as an offensive lineman in 2001, and was the Journal Star Male Athlete of the Year for 2001-02. A three-year starter on the defensive line, he was a member of the World-Herald's Super Six team, and earned first-team Class A all-state honors from both papers as a junior and senior.

A football team captain, Mann attended the Big Red Football School twice, and also played post for Grand Island's state champion basketball team, averaging 12 points and 10 rebounds per game. In track, Mann won the state shot put title as a senior after finishing second in both his sophomore and junior seasons. He also threw the discus, with a fifth-place showing in 2001. Mann earned academic all-state honors and ranked first in his class of more than 350 students with a 4.03 cumulative grade-point average. He committed in June before his senior year, choosing the Huskers over Iowa State and Stanford.

Personal

The son of Kent and Cindy Mann, Kurt was born on Aug. 17, 1983, in Hutchinson, Kan. His family moved to Nebraska in 1987. He completed his undergraduate work in mechanized systems management in May, finishing with a 3.982 cumulative grade-point average. He is one of four Husker seniors playing the entire 2006 season as graduate students. In addition to his academic All-America honors, Mann is a two-time first-team academic All-Big 12 pick and an eight-time member of the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll.

Mann has taken part in numerous community outreach activities, including Nebraska's hospital visits and as a motivational speaker on Nebraska's Fall Tour of Excellence. He is also active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

- 2005 Sophomore All-American (CollegeFootballNews.com)

Middle linebacker Corey McKeon (pronounced Mc-CUE-in) is poised for a strong junior season in 2006, anchoring a linebacking corps that should be among the nation's best. McKeon had a breakout season for the Huskers in 2005 after replacing Nebraska's all-time leading tackler, Barrett Ruud. McKeon emerged from a spirited battle for the starting MIKE linebacker job, then proceeded to play at an all-conference level in his first year of significant action.

The 6-1, 225-pound McKeon quickly showed a knack for finding the football. He led the Huskers in 2005 with 98 tackles, 22 tackles for loss and three interceptions. His seven sacks also ranked second on the squad. His tackle for loss total was the second-best in school history and the most ever by an NU linebacker, while his seven sacks are second on the Husker linebacker career chart.

McKeon's performance earned him postseason recognition. He was a second-team All-Big 12 pick by the Associated Press, Kansas City Star and Dallas Morning News, while the league's coaches gave him honorable-mention accolades. He has already earned 2006 preseason honors as an all-conference choice by several publications.

The play of the Naperville, Ill., native solidified the Husker defense and was a key factor in the Husker defense ranking first nationally in both sacks (50) and tackles for loss (124). The Blackshirt defense also ranked in the top 30 nationally in total defense, scoring defense, rushing defense and pass efficiency defense.

McKeon played late in the 2004 season opener against Western Illinois and intercepted a Leatherneck pass and returned it five yards. McKeon redshirted in his first season at Nebraska, after starring as a safety in the Illinois prep ranks.

McKeon came from relative obscurity to have a standout sophomore season. He finished with a team-high 98 tackles, including five double-figure tackle efforts, and led the team with 22 tackles for loss. He also finished with three interceptions, eight pass breakups and 11 quarterback hurries. McKeon had at least one tackle for loss in nine of 12 games, including eight games with two or more tackles behind the line.

In his first career start, McKeon had 10 tackles, including three for loss, in the season-opening 25-7 win over Maine.

He also claimed his first career forced fumble while adding one sack to the Blackshirts' school-record-tying total of 11. He ran back an interception 30 yards for a touchdown to open the scoring in a 31-3 victory over Wake Forest, one of three Nebraska defensive touchdowns in the game. Two games later he had another dominant performance in a double-overtime win over Iowa State. He collected 11 tackles, including nine solo stops, and five tackles for loss, setting a single-game Husker linebacker record. He added two sacks, two quarterback hurries and a pass breakup against the Cyclones.

McKeon recorded his fourth double-digit tackle effort against Missouri with 10 stops and had two tackles for loss vs. the Tigers, one of which was an 18-yard sack. Against Kansas, McKeon had nine tackles, including a sack and two tackles for loss. The sack resulted in a safety and was his seventh of the season, while McKeon also ended a Jayhawk scoring threat with his second-quarter interception. He added two more tackles for loss and his team-leading third interception of the season the following week against Kansas State. McKeon capped his sophomore season with 11 tackles, including three tackles for loss in a 32-28 Alamo Bowl victory over Michigan.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

McKeon played late in the season opener against Western Illinois and intercepted a pass and returned it five yards for one of NU's season-high five takeaways.

2003 (Redshirt)

McKeon redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Naperville North HS)

McKeon starred at Naperville North High School, where he had 60 tackles and six interceptions as a safety in 2002. He returned two of the interceptions for touchdowns, including a 98-yarder. McKeon also played a key role on offense as a wide receiver and running back, totaling nearly 1,900 all-purpose yards and 22 touchdowns. Naperville North finished 2002 with a 9-2 record in Illinois' largest class.

McKeon played five positions overall for North in his three seasons. He earned first-team all-state honors from the IHSA, the Illinois High School Coaches Association and the Illinois Gazette. He was a two-time all-conference and all-area pick, and played in the U.S. Army All-American Bowl. McKeon also played basketball for Naperville North, which finished with a 24-7 record. He averaged 21 points, eight rebounds and five assists, and earned all-area honors as a junior and all-conference accolades as a senior. McKeon chose Nebraska after visiting Purdue and Miami of Ohio.

Personal

Corey is the son of Larry and Sandy McKeon, and was born on Aug. 29, 1984. Larry, who is the head coach at Naperville North, played at Illinois, while three of Corey's uncles played Division I football. Corey is a communication studies major.

- ▶ 2004 First-Team Academic All-Big 12

- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)

Senior defensive end Jay Moore is half of an impressive starting end tandem for the Blackshirt defense. While fellow senior Adam Carriker has received more accolades, Moore has quietly produced outstanding seasons each of the past two years.

Moore enters fall practice atop the depth chart at open end and is poised for a strong final season at Nebraska. At 6-4 and 280 pounds, Moore has the size and strength to defend the run, as well as the athletic ability to pressure the quarterback.

Moore started all 12 games at open end in 2005, and recorded 14 tackles for loss to help Nebraska rank as the national leader in sacks and tackles for loss. Moore's 14 tackles for loss tied for third on the team, while his three forced fumbles led the Huskers. He finished the season with 37 total tackles, including 19 solo stops.

The Elkhorn, Neb., native also showed the ability to get to the quarterback, as he produced three sacks and nine quarterback hurries. Moore had at least one hurry in seven games. Moore's solid play in 2005 was recognized as he earned honorable-mention All-Big 12 accolades from the league's coaches.

Moore did not see action as a redshirt freshman in 2003 but came on strong in 2004 when he played in 11 games, including four starts. He recorded 21 tackles, adding seven tackles for loss and 3.0 sacks while pressuring the quarterback on eight occasions. He recorded a career-high six tackles against Kansas in 2004. Moore redshirted in his first season in 2002.

2005 (Junior)

Moore was a fixture at the open end spot and helped Nebraska lead the nation in sacks and tackles for loss. Moore totaled seven tackles in non-conference action, then got off to a great start in conference play against Iowa State. He finished with three tackles, including two tackles for loss and a six-yard sack. He also had a pass breakup and intercepted a pass to thwart a third-quarter Cyclone scoring threat. A week later, Moore recorded a career-high three TFLs for 18 yards against Texas Tech, including a 12-yard sack. For the third straight game, Moore also forced a fumble, which was returned by Bo Ruud deep into Tech territory to set up a Nebraska touchdown.

Moore set up another touchdown at Missouri with a 17-yard fumble return inside the Tiger 10. Against Oklahoma, he matched his career-best with three tackles for loss, then had a hand in a second-quarter sack at Colorado. He capped the year with four tackles in the Alamo Bowl win over Michigan. Moore had at least one tackle for loss in nine of 12 games as a junior.

2004 (Sophomore)

Moore was honored as Nebraska's Most Improved Defensive Player during spring ball, earning him a key role in the fall. He started games three through six, including three on the right side in place of the injured Carriker, while starting on the left side against Baylor. Moore finished the season with 21 total tackles, including 11 solo stops. He had seven tackles for loss (25 yards) and recorded three sacks for 16 yards, while hurrying opposing quarterbacks eight times.

Moore opened the year with a pair of tackles for loss and a fumble recovery against Western Illinois. He made a season-high six tackles against Kansas, including a pair of tackles for loss. Moore made the most of his only tackle against Baylor, causing and recovering a fumble on his seven-yard sack. Moore had a season-high three quarterback hurries against Missouri, while capping his season with three tackles against Colorado.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

Moore was a reserve defensive end, but did not see game action.

2002 (Redshirt)

Moore redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Elkhorn HS)

Moore played fullback and defensive end for Coach Mark Wortman at Elkhorn High School. Moore's senior season was cut short by a knee injury, but he was still regarded as one of the top recruits in the state of Nebraska.

In 2001, Moore had 92 carries for 822 yards (8.9 ypa) and scored 16 touchdowns in five games before suffering an ACL injury that required surgery. A member of the Omaha World-Herald's Super Six team, Moore rushed for 1,742 yards and 31 touchdowns (8.8 ypa) in 2000. His effort earned him second-team super-state honors from the Lincoln Journal Star, while he was the LJS Class B (second largest) Offensive Player of the Year and the Omaha World-Herald honorary Class B offensive captain. He attended the Big Red Football School and committed to the Huskers before his senior year. Moore also earned honorable-mention all-state honors in basketball from the World-Herald in 2001, but did not play as a senior.

Personal

The son of Jim and Marion Moore, Jay was born on Aug. 16, 1983. He is majoring in secondary education and earned first-team academic All-Big 12 honors in 2004. He is also a three-time Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll pick.

- ▶ 2005 Honorable-Mention All-Big 12 (Associated Press, Coaches)

Wide receiver Terrence Nunn established himself as a go-to receiver in 2005, and could flourish this fall as the Husker offense continues to progress. Nunn finished the season as Nebraska's second-leading receiver and tied for the most touchdowns by a Husker in 13 years. Nunn also developed into a dangerous dual threat, ranking among the national leaders in punt return average.

The 6-0, 185-pound Nunn had a strong finish to the 2005 season with at least four receptions in each of the final five games. He carried that momentum into a strong spring camp and is listed No. 1 at the "Z" receiver position heading into the fall. Nunn enters his junior year with a 13-game streak with at least one reception and his 59 career catches are 15th on the Nebraska charts.

Nunn finished 2005 with 43 receptions, tied for second on the team, and the fourth-most ever in a single season by a Husker. The Houston native also tied for the team lead in touchdown receptions with seven. The seven receiving scores were the most since tight end Gerald Armstrong also had seven touchdown catches in 1992.

Nunn teamed with fellow Husker sophomore Cortney Grixby to give Nebraska an excellent punt return unit. NU finished the season ranked 17th nationally in punt returns, averaging 12.9 yards per attempt. Nunn was a major factor in that ranking, as he finished third nationally in punt returns with an 18.3-yard average.

The all-around play of Nunn was recognized with postseason honors. He was a first-team All-Big 12 selection as a punt returner by the Austin American-Statesman and the Kansas City Star. He also earned honorable-mention All-Big 12 honors from the Associated Press as an all-purpose player and was honorable-mention all-conference as a receiver by the Big 12 Coaches.

Nunn started six games as a true freshman in 2004, and finished with 16 receptions for 218 yards. Nunn's play in fall camp earned him a starting role in the season opener, marking the first time since World War II an NU offensive skill player started the first game of his true freshman season.

Nunn started all 12 games at "Z" receiver, and developed into an outstanding receiver. He finished the year with 43 catches for 495 yards, an average of 11.5 yards per catch and caught seven touchdown passes. Nunn was consistent throughout the year, catching at least one pass in all 12 games and recording seven games with four or more catches, including a career-best eight receptions against Iowa State.

After not having a touchdown catch in his first 15 career games, Nunn recorded five touchdown receptions in a five-game stretch during Big 12 play, beginning with his first two career touchdowns against Texas Tech. He added his third touchdown as part of a five-catch effort a week later at Baylor, then had single touchdowns against Oklahoma and Kansas. He added his final two touchdowns in the Alamo Bowl against Michigan, including the game-winning touchdown in the fourth quarter and a season-long 52-yard reception to open the scoring in the first quarter.

Nunn and redshirt freshman Nate Swift developed into a solid receiving duo for the Huskers. In conference play alone, the tandem combined for 75 catches and 11 touchdown receptions. Nunn quickly showed his ability as a punt returner, breaking a 62-yard return in the season opener against Maine to set up a touchdown. He added a 62-yard return against Pittsburgh and finished the season with four returns of 20 yards or more. His 135 punt return yards against Maine were the most by a Big 12 player in 2005.

2004 (Freshman)

Nunn quickly jumped up the depth chart during fall camp and was the starting "Z" receiver in the opener against Western Illinois. He made six starts, also opening in the lineup against Baylor, Missouri, Iowa State, Oklahoma and Colorado. He finished with 16 receptions for 218 yards, with a season-long 55-yard reception at Kansas State to set up a Nebraska touchdown. Nunn finished the 2004 season in strong fashion, registering five-catch efforts against both Iowa State and Colorado. His five receptions against Colorado covered a season-high 69 yards, part of a 300-plus yard passing day for Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Cypress Falls HS)

Nunn played at Cypress Falls High School, where he was a first-team all-district selection his final two years for Coach David Raffield. Nunn hauled in 34 passes for 471 yards and scored five touchdowns as a senior. A preseason second-team All-Greater Houston selection, Nunn was his team's Offensive MVP in 2003. His top game came against Jersey Village when he had a pair of touchdowns.

Nunn caught 27 passes for 623 yards and five touchdowns as a junior, while averaging more than 23 yards per catch in his first varsity season. He had three touchdown catches in one game against Cypress Creek. He was selected to play in the second-annual Bayou Bowl that pitted the top players from Texas against the best from Louisiana. Nunn chose Nebraska over Wisconsin and Oklahoma State.

A speedster on the track, Nunn had a personal-best of 10.6 seconds in the 100-meter dash. He was also a member of the 4x100 and 4x400-meter relay teams and was a four-year track letterman.

Personal

Nunn is the son of Allester and Arlene Nunn and was born on July 25, 1986. He is majoring in communication studies. Nunn has volunteered his time as part of Nebraska's team hospital visits and with the Chalk Talk Youth Football Program.

- ▶ Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005, 2006)
- ▶ Nebraska's Most Improved Offensive Player (Spring, 2005)

Junior tight end J.B. Phillips emerged as a reliable offensive performer for Nebraska in 2005. Phillips started 11 games as a sophomore and provided the Huskers with a powerful blocker and a sure-handed receiver. This fall, Phillips should again play a key role at tight end, a position boosted by the return of fifth-year senior Matt Herian.

Phillips, a 6-3, 245-pound native of Colleyville, Texas, hauled in 15 receptions for 108 yards in his first season as a starter, including a career-high three receptions at Colorado. He had at least one reception in nine of 12 games as a sophomore, including five games with multiple catches. Phillips, classmate Josh Mueller and redshirt freshman Clayton Sievers were pushed to the forefront at tight end with Herian out the entire 2005 season, while rehabilitating from a leg injury.

As a redshirt freshman in 2004, Phillips was a solid situational player at tight end, serving as a lead blocker in many of the Huskers' rushing packages. Phillips' role grew late in the season when Herian was sidelined. Phillips suited up for several games as a true freshman in 2003, but redshirted.

Along with his on-field success, Phillips is a strong candidate for academic honors this season. He earned first-team academic All-Big 12 Conference honors for the second straight season in 2005 and claimed second-team CoSIDA academic All-District VII accolades. He is a strong contender for academic All-America honors this season, as he carries a 3.744 cumulative grade-point average in marketing.

Phillips was named Nebraska's Most Improved Offensive Player during spring practice, and carried his strong performance into the fall. Phillips finished sixth on the team with 15 receptions, including eight catches in the season's final four games. Phillips' career-high three catches covered 21 yards in the 30-3 win over Colorado. He had two catches for a career-high 28 yards in the Huskers' win over Kansas State, including a career-long 22-yard grab. Phillips also had two receptions each against Maine, Pittsburgh and Kansas. He added single catches against Iowa State, Texas Tech, Missouri and Michigan.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Phillips played in all 11 games as a reserve tight end behind junior Matt Herian and senior Dusty Keiser. Phillips had his first career start against Colorado and was a key lead blocker in Nebraska's rushing attack. He did not have a reception.

2003 (Redshirt)

Phillips suited up for several games, but redshirted in his first year at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Colleyville Heritage HS)

Phillips caught 20 passes in 2002 for Colleyville Heritage High School, which featured a run-based offense. He was also dominant as a blocker, helping his team to a 9-2 record and a state playoff appearance in the Texas 5-A ranks. Phillips started on both sides of the ball for Coach Chris Cunningham in 2002, lining up at defensive end and recording eight sacks.

Phillips earned second-team 5-A all-state honors from the Texas Sportswriters Association as a tight end. He was a first-team all-district pick on both sides of the ball as a senior, earning first-team Northeast Tarrant County honors and second-team all-area honors as a tight end. The Dallas Morning News ranked him as the No. 40 player on its list of top 100 area players. As a junior, Phillips played offensive guard and defensive end and earned all-district honors for his play on offense, helping his team to a 10-2 record and a state playoff appearance.

Phillips lettered in track as a junior and senior and also earned a letter in powerlifting. He was a member of the school's National Honor Society, was active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and completed high school with better than a 4.0 cumulative grade-point average. He chose Nebraska over Big 12 schools Kansas State, Oklahoma State and Texas A&M.

Personal

Phillips' full name is James Brian Phillips II. The son of Jim and Kyle Phillips, J.B. was born on May 23, 1985. He is majoring in marketing and owns a 3.744 cumulative GPA. Phillips has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll each of his first six semesters of college. Phillips has volunteered his time with the Ventures in Partnership Program and on local hospital visits.

Bo Ruud

#51

Linebacker | Junior | 6-3 | 235 | Two Letters | Lincoln, Neb. (Southeast)

- ▶ 2005 Honorable-Mention All-Big 12 (Associated Press)
- ▶ Big 12/SBC Defensive Player of the Week vs. Maine, 2005
- ▶ Nebraska LB Record for Tackles for Loss in a Game (5 vs. KSU)
- ▶ 2004 Second-Team Academic All-Big 12
- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2006)
- ▶ 2003 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Linebacker Bo Ruud had a breakout season as a sophomore in 2005 to earn honorable-mention All-Big 12 honors from the Associated Press. Ruud started the Huskers' final 10 regular-season games at WILL linebacker and ranked third on the team with 80 total tackles.

Ruud's 2005 season was cut short when he suffered a broken arm during pre-Alamo Bowl practice in December. Ruud joined fellow linebackers Stewart Bradley and Steve Octavien on the sideline for the bowl game against Michigan. Ruud participated in non-contact drills during spring ball, but did not see action. He is expected to battle with Octavien for the starting job at WILL linebacker during fall camp.

Ruud had 41 solo stops among his 80 tackles, and tied for third on the team with 14 tackles for loss. Ruud also showed big-play potential throughout the season. He recovered a fumble against Maine in the opener, then clinched the Husker victory with an interception return for a touchdown. Ruud recorded his second fumble recovery against Texas Tech, and returned it 46 yards to set up a Husker score.

Ruud played in all 11 games in 2004 and finished the year with 17 total tackles, including 12 solo stops and added two quarterback pressures, while also playing a key role on special teams. A scholarship recruit, Ruud redshirted in his first season at Nebraska in 2003. He is the younger brother of former Husker and current Tampa Bay Buccaneer Barrett Ruud, Nebraska's all-time leading tackler.

Ruud began the year as the backup to Steve Octavien at WILL linebacker, but that changed in the season opener when Octavien was lost for the year with a broken leg. Ruud quickly made the adjustment to the starting lineup, finishing the Maine contest with five tackles, a sack, a fumble recovery and a 27-yard interception return for a touchdown. His performance earned him Big 12 Defensive Player-of-the-Week honors.

He went on to finish the year with 80 total tackles to rank third on the team and was tied for third on the squad with 14 tackles for loss totaling 44 yards. He also led the team with two fumble recoveries on the year, including a 46-yard fumble return against Texas Tech. He added 10 quarterback hurries and six pass breakups.

Ruud had at least five tackles in 10 of 11 games last fall, including a pair of double-figure tackle efforts. His first double-figure tackle performance came at Missouri, where he recorded 12 tackles, including two tackles for loss. He later had a career-best 15 tackles, including 10 solo stops, against Kansas State. Ruud also had a career-best five tackles for loss against KSU, tying the Nebraska linebacker record. In Nebraska's next game, Ruud continued his torrid play with six solo tackles, including three tackles for loss and an eight-yard sack in the Huskers' 30-3 rout at Colorado.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Ruud played in all 11 games and finished with 17 total tackles, including 12 solo stops, and added two quarterback pressures against Baylor. Ruud had three games with a season-high three tackles, including the season opener against Western Illinois, along with games vs. Texas Tech and Baylor.

2003 (Redshirt)

Ruud suited up for several games, but decided to redshirt in his first year.

Before Nebraska (Lincoln Southeast HS)

Ruud was a standout at Lincoln Southeast, and was Nebraska's earliest ever commitment, pledging his intention in June of 2001, 20 months before 2003 signing day. He had a standout prep career, helping the Knights to two Class A state titles. He was a two-way star, playing running back and linebacker. Ruud rushed for 1,385 yards and 15 touchdowns and caught four passes for 125 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Ruud scored four touchdowns in a state semifinal win over Kearney and scored the Knights' only touchdown in a 7-6 title game victory over Millard North. He had 70 total tackles, including 51 solo stops, as a senior. Ruud was named the honorary captain of the Lincoln Journal Star's Super-State team and was a first-team pick as a running back. The Omaha World-Herald named him to its All-Nebraska team as a linebacker and made him the honorary captain on the defense.

Ruud made 49 tackles as a junior, and rushed for nearly 450 yards and scored six touchdowns. Ruud also starred on Southeast's basketball team, which finished as the 2003 Class A state runner-up. He was a two-time honorable-mention all-state pick and earned academic all-state honors, and was a National Honor Society member.

Personal

Bo is the son of Tom Ruud and the late Jaime Ruud and was born on Sept. 2, 1984. Bo will celebrate his 22nd birthday when NU takes on Louisiana Tech in the season opener. A business administration major, Ruud is a three-time Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll member and was a second-team academic All-Big 12 pick in 2004. He has volunteered with local hospital visits and American Education Week.

Ruud's family has a long history with the Husker football program. In addition to his brother Barrett's success as a Husker, Bo's father, Tom, played linebacker for the Huskers (1972-73-74), and earned All-Big Eight honors. Tom spent five seasons in the NFL with Buffalo and Cincinnati. Bo's uncles (Bob Martin, 1973-74-75; and John Ruud, 1978-79) and his great-grandfather Clarence Swanson (1918-19-20-21) also played for Nebraska.

Andrew Shanle

Free Safety | Senior | 6-1 | 210 | Three Letters | St. Edward, Neb. | Academic All-America Candidate

- ▶ Two-Time First-Team Academic All-Big 12 (2004, 2005)
- ▶ Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2005, 2006)
- ▶ Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2004, 2005)

Senior Andrew Shanle (pronounced SHAN-lee) has been a reliable reserve and a special teams standout during his Nebraska career. This fall Shanle's role is expected to increase as he enters fall camp as the front-runner to take over the starting free safety position. Shanle possesses the physical tools to be a presence in the secondary, checking in at 6-1 and 210 pounds and ranking among the fastest players on the Husker roster.

Although Shanle does not have starting experience, he is a veteran player with appearances in 35 games during his Husker career. Shanle was a backup safety behind senior starters Blake Tiedtke and Daniel Bullocks and appeared in all 12 games in 2005. Shanle finished the year with 10 total tackles, including five solo stops and added a pass breakup.

Shanle was the primary backup to Josh Bullocks at safety in 2004, posting 19 tackles with 16 solos, including a career-high seven stops at Kansas State. Shanle saw extensive action in 2003, primarily on special teams, finishing with nine tackles. A scholarship recruit, Shanle redshirted in his first season with Nebraska in 2002.

Shanle is one of Nebraska's leading performers in the classroom. He is one of four seniors who will play the 2006 season as graduate students. Shanle picked up his degree in consumer and family science education in May, and is a two-time first-team academic All-Big 12 Conference selection. Shanle should be a strong contender for academic All-America honors during his senior season.

2005 (Junior)

Shanle appeared in all 12 games as a reserve safety and special teams contributor as a junior and finished with 10 tackles. He posted five tackles in NU's first three games with two against Maine, an assisted tackle against Wake Forest and two stops against Pitt. He added an assisted tackle against Texas Tech, before contributing a solo stop in NU wins over Kansas State and Colorado to close the regular season. He capped the year with two solo stops and outstanding punt coverage in the win over Michigan in the Alamo Bowl.

His performance on Nebraska's punt coverage team helped the Huskers rank second nationally in net punting. He also assisted on a much-improved punt return team that finished 17th nationally in return average.

2004 (Sophomore)

Shanle played in all 11 games as a reserve in the secondary, and as a member of most of Nebraska's special teams units. He finished with 19 total tackles, including 16 solo stops. He also had two tackles for loss, and recorded a 10-yard sack against Kansas State. Shanle played the majority of the game against the Wildcats with Josh Bullocks out with an injury, and responded with a career-high seven tackles.

Shanle also recovered a pair of fumbles (Missouri, Kansas State) and blocked a punt in NU's 24-3 victory over Missouri. Shanle burst through the line on a second-quarter punt attempt for a block that was scooped up for a score by teammate Adam Ickes. Later in the game, Ickes caused a fumble on a Tiger punt and Shanle recovered deep in MU territory. The Huskers converted to take a comfortable 17-3 lead.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

Shanle did not play in the opener, but was on kick coverage for the rest of the year. He finished with nine tackles, including six solo stops. He had three tackles each against Texas A&M and Iowa State, including a 14-yard sack vs. the Cyclones.

2002 (Redshirt)

A scholarship recruit, Shanle redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (St. Edward HS)

Shanle earned first-team All-Class D honors for Coach Rich Lemberg as a senior for St. Edward, which finished with a 9-2 record. Shanle made 90 tackles and picked off seven passes from his safety position on defense. He also played quarterback and threw for more than 1,400 yards, while rushing for 835 more. Shanle was also a standout on the track for St. Edward, placing second in both the 100- and 200-meter dashes as a junior and won the 100 meters as a senior in a time of 10.87 seconds. Shanle picked the Huskers over a scholarship offer from Iowa State.

Personal

Andrew is the son of Roger and Pam Shanle, and was born on March 9, 1983. He is married to the former Sarah Hertzler, a native of Lincoln. Shanle completed his undergraduate work in May with a 3.457 cumulative grade-point average. Shanle has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll six times and has volunteered his time with the Husker E-mail Literacy Program and on local hospital visits. Andrew's older brother, Scott, is a former Husker currently playing with the Dallas Cowboys.

Wide Receiver | Sophomore | 6-2 | 195 | One Letter | Hutchinson, Minn.

- ▶ Nebraska Single-Season Freshman Receptions (45) and Receiving Yardage (641) Record Holder
- ▶ 2005 Honorable-Mention All-Big 12 (Associated Press)
- ▶ 2005 First-Team Freshman All-Big 12 (The Sporting News)
- ▶ 2005 First-Team Academic All-Big 12
- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Nate Swift proved to be one of the emerging stars in the Big 12 Conference in 2005. After playing sparingly in the first three games, Swift became quarterback Zac Taylor's favorite target in conference action and shattered several NU freshman receiving records. His performance earned Swift honorable-mention all-conference honors and he will enter fall camp listed as Nebraska's top "X" receiver.

The 6-2, 195-pound Swift finished 2005 as the team leader in receptions (45) and receiving yards (641), while tying with Terrence Nunn for the team lead with seven touchdown receptions. Swift's 45 pass receptions and 641 receiving yards both easily set NU frosh season records. In addition, Swift put together the top three single-game reception efforts by a Husker freshman with three games with seven or more catches, and his 135-yard receiving effort at Missouri represented the most receiving yards ever by a Husker freshman in a regular-season game.

The numbers posted by Swift put him in elite company. His 45 receptions rank third in school history, trailing only 55- and 53-reception efforts by 1972 Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers. Swift also had back-to-back 100-yard receiving games against Missouri and Oklahoma, becoming the first Husker to accomplish that feat since Irving Fryar in 1983. Swift also became just the third Husker to have three 100-yard receiving games in a season, joining Rodgers and Fryar.

The performance earned Swift postseason attention. He was an honorable-mention All-Big 12 choice by the Associated Press and was a first-team freshman All-Big 12 pick by The Sporting News. Swift was the first player to commit to NU's 2004 class, and was a high school teammate of Husker offensive lineman Lydon Murtha. Swift redshirted in 2004, and was impressive on the scout team. Also strong in the classroom, Swift was a first-team academic All-Big 12 pick in 2005.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Swift had an impressive redshirt freshman campaign, finishing as the team leader in receptions (45), receiving yards (641) and receiving touchdowns (7). His seven touchdown catches came in the final six games, marking the most touchdown receptions in a season by a Husker since tight end Gerald Armstrong grabbed seven touchdowns in 1992. In Big 12 games only, Swift averaged 5.3 receptions per game to rank sixth in the conference, while his 76.3 receiving yards per game ranked fifth in league games only.

Swift did not have a catch in non-conference action, but stepped to the forefront immediately in Big 12 play. He recorded his first five career catches for 81 yards in NU's 27-20 double-overtime win over Iowa State, helping Nebraska pass for a school-record 431 yards.

Swift was at his best in the season's final six games. Swift caught nine passes for 135 yards and his first career touchdown at Missouri. He put together another huge effort the following week against Oklahoma with nine receptions for 116 yards, and two touchdowns. His back-to-back nine-catch efforts tied for fourth-most by a Husker in a single game, and his two-game total of 18 catches tied Dennis Richnafsky's 1967 school record. Swift continued his stellar freshman campaign against Kansas State with seven receptions for 109 yards and two touchdowns, including a season-long 34-yard reception.

He capped the regular season with four catches for 77 yards at Colorado, including his sixth touchdown of the year. In Nebraska's bowl victory over Michigan, Swift had three receptions, including his seventh touchdown of the year.

2004 (Redshirt)

Swift redshirted and was one of the top players on Nebraska's scout team.

Before Nebraska (Hutchinson HS)

Swift and Murtha were the first two Minnesotans to sign with Nebraska since 1995. Swift was a three-year starter on both sides of the ball for Coach Andy Rostberg's team. As a senior he led the state with 2,500 yards rushing and scored 30 total touchdowns, 29 by rush. He averaged 8.6 yards per carry and caught 16 passes for 204 yards to help Hutchinson to a 9-4 record and an appearance in the Class 4A state title game. He topped 200 yards rushing six times, including 329 yards against Northfield High. He caught 11 passes in the season's first two games before moving primarily to the backfield.

Swift was named the Metro Player of the Year by the Minneapolis Star-Tribune and was the Minnesota Player of the Year according to the Associated Press. He also earned first-team all-state and all-metro honors as a running back, and for the third straight year earned first-team All-Missota Conference and all-area honors.

Swift rushed for more than 1,000 yards, with more than 900 receiving yards and 25 total touchdowns as a junior, helping his team to the state semifinals, and earned first-team all-state honors (AP) as a kick returner. He finished his career with 4,396 yards rushing, 1,648 yards receiving and 72 total touchdowns, while adding 16 interceptions. Swift was an honorable-mention all-conference pick as a junior in basketball, and earned all-conference honors in track as a freshman and sophomore. He added two letters as a baseball player. Swift chose Nebraska over Minnesota.

Personal

The son of Jeff and Lori Swift, Nathan was born in Slayton, Minn., on Aug. 24, 1985. He is majoring in construction management, and is a two-time Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll selection. He has been a volunteer with the Lincoln Action Program and as part of local hospital visits.

- ▶ Four-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2004, 2005, 2006)

Fullback Dane Todd has continued Nebraska's tradition of excellence on and off the field and established himself as one of the nation's top scholar-athletes throughout his career. In addition to his on-field contributions where he returns for his second season as the Huskers' starting fullback, Todd has also distinguished himself in the classroom and the community.

Todd completed his undergraduate work in May with a perfect 4.0 grade-point average in biological sciences. The Lincoln native is one of four Husker seniors who will play the 2006 season as graduate students. Todd added to Nebraska's academic tradition last fall, as he joined teammate Kurt Mann as an ESPN the Magazine/CoSIDA First-Team Academic All-American.

Todd and Mann were two of nine juniors on the squad and pushed Nebraska's NCAA-leading academic All-America totals to 85 for football and 229 honorees in all sports. Todd will be a strong candidate to repeat those honors this fall.

On the field, the 5-11, 235-pound Todd possesses the skills to excel in the West Coast Offense, including the flexibility to both run and catch the football out of the backfield, as well as providing outstanding blocking skills. He was Nebraska's No. 1 fullback in 2005, but started only two contests as NU regularly opened in one-back sets. He is expected to return to the top fullback job as a senior this fall.

Todd played in all 11 games as the No. 2 fullback as a sophomore in 2004 and caught two passes out of the NU backfield. He played in five games as a reserve fullback in 2003 when he finished the year with two carries for six yards. Todd redshirted his first season at Nebraska in 2002.

In addition to his on-field achievements and academic excellence, Todd is also heavily involved in Nebraska's community outreach activities. He was named to the 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team, marking the fourth consecutive year he has been named to the squad.

2005 (Junior)

Todd served as I-back Cory Ross' top lead blocker as a junior, and helped pave the way for Ross to gain a team-high 721 rushing yards. Todd provided quarterback Zac Taylor with an additional receiving option out of the backfield, with eight catches for 75 yards. Todd recorded personal-best totals of two receptions for 23 yards against both Missouri and Kansas State, while he posted his career-long catch of 17 yards against Oklahoma. He also added single catches against Maine and Kansas.

Todd also saw time on special teams and finished with seven tackles. He made a key tackle on a punt return in the final minute in the Alamo Bowl win over Michigan.

2004 (Sophomore)

Todd played in all 11 games in Nebraska's balanced offensive attack. He did not have a rushing attempt, but caught two passes, one each against Western Illinois and Kansas, covering a total of four yards. Todd also had an unassisted tackle.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

Todd played in five games as a reserve fullback, and had two carries for six yards, a four-yard run against Troy State and a two-yard gain against Texas A&M.

2002 (Redshirt)

Todd sat out his first season at Nebraska as a redshirt.

Before Nebraska (Southeast HS)

Todd was a Lincoln Journal Star super-state selection and an All-Nebraska pick by the Omaha World-Herald as a linebacker for Lincoln Southeast and Coach Chuck Mizerski. Todd also played fullback for the Knights, who captured the state title during Todd's junior season in 2000. Todd was named the Gatorade Circle of Champions Nebraska Player of the Year, rushing for 453 yards (7.95 per carry) in 2000, despite suffering a late-season injury. He ran for more than 400 yards and 12 touchdowns as a senior, while making 130 tackles from his linebacker position. Todd was named to the PrepStar Midlands Region team and also considered an offer from Duke and received interest from Iowa, Iowa State and Northwestern. Academically, he ranked third in his class of 606 students, was a member of Southeast's Student Council, earned academic all-state honors and made the honor roll every semester.

Personal

The son of Loy and Kim Todd, Dane was born on Aug. 8, 1983. He completed his undergraduate work in biological sciences with a perfect 4.0 grade-point average. In addition to academic All-America honors, Todd is a two-time academic All-Big 12 selection and has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll each of his eight semesters. In addition to his selection to each of the past Brook Berringer Citizenship teams, Todd was a finalist for the inaugural Wuerffel Trophy in 2005, an award combining excellence in athletics, academics and community involvement. Todd has volunteered his time with American Education Week, "School is Cool" Week, the Dads of Kids with Disabilities, the UNL Shadowing Program, and numerous hospital visits and speaking engagements. Todd has been a representative on the Nebraska Student-Athlete Advisory Committee each of the past three years. He is also a Big 12 Community Champion.

Jordan Adams #7

(West Hills/Grossmont College)

Junior Jordan Adams will attempt to earn playing time this fall in the Nebraska secondary after switching to defense prior to spring practice. Adams spent his first two seasons in Lincoln as a backup quarterback, but missed the 2004 season because of injury, then served in a reserve role last fall.

The 6-2, 205-pound Adams played as a reserve at free safety during spring practice, and is expected to provide depth behind fifth-year senior Andrew Shanle at the position. Adams played quarterback at California's Grossmont College before coming to Nebraska after just one season at the school.

Adams was a reserve quarterback, but did not see game action.

2004 (Redshirt)

Adams redshirted after August surgery to remove his spleen.

Before Nebraska (West Hills HS/Grossmont College)

Adams shared time at quarterback in 2003 for Coach Dave Jordan and Grossmont College, which reached the California state championship game, before losing 38-35 to the City College of San Francisco. Adams had an outstanding title game, coming off the bench to throw for 347 yards and three touchdowns. He started just one game, but set school records for completions (30) and passing yards (531), while throwing for four touchdowns in a victory over Antelope Valley (Calif.) College to close a perfect regular season. Adams finished the year with 1,347 yards and 13 touchdowns, while completing 67 percent of his passes.

As a high school senior, Adams led West Hill to a 9-1 record, and earned Grossmont North first-team all-league honors and second-team All-East County honors. He completed 65 percent of his passes for 2,164 yards and 22 touchdowns. He was also his team's place-kicker and punter as a senior, and made eight field goals. He started four games at quarterback for Coach Steve Sutton as a junior. Adams was the East County league's leading passer as a senior, and was the San Diego Union-Tribune's September 2001 Athlete of the Month. Adams was on the San Diego Union-Tribune 2001-02 All-Academic Team.

Personal

Adams is the son of John and Dawn Adams and was born in San Diego on June 7, 1984. He is majoring in communication studies. He has volunteered as part of Nebraska's hospital visits and with the Scouts Under Lights Program.

Jordan Alegria #93

North Platte, Neb.

Place-kicker Jordan Alegria enters fall camp with hopes of contributing to Nebraska's special teams.

The North Platte, Neb., native is among the players vying to back up sophomore Jordan Congdon at place-kicker. Alegria could also be a contender to handle kickoff duties for the Huskers.

2005 (Redshirt)

Alegria redshirted in his first season in the Nebraska program.

Before Nebraska (North Platte HS)

Alegria rounded out his high school career with a stellar performance in the 2005 Shrine Bowl. The North Platte native kicked a Shrine Bowl-record four field goals, including a 52-yarder, to earn offensive player-of-the-game honors. Alegria was 14-of-21 on field goals in his senior season and was 65-of-68 on PATs to earn all-state honorable-mention honors from the Lincoln Journal Star and Omaha World-Herald. He made 112 unassisted tackles and recovered nine fumbles on the defensive side of the ball from his linebacker position, and had a 36-yard punting average. Alegria was also named a KNOP-TV Friday Night Sports Hero.

Personal

Jordan was born on Nov. 26, 1986, and is the son of Connie Alegria. He has not declared a major.

Harrison Beck #3

Quarterback | Sophomore | 6-2 | 215 | One Letter
Clearwater, Fla. (Countryside)

- ▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Sophomore quarterback Harrison Beck will head into fall camp in the middle of a tight battle to serve as Zac Taylor's backup at the quarterback spot. Beck and fellow sophomore Joe Ganz emerged from spring practice as the leading candidates to serve as the top understudy to Taylor, who is entering his senior year in 2006.

Beck's progress during spring practice was limited because of a shoulder injury that required him to sit out much of the final two weeks. The 6-2, 215-pound Beck should be at full speed for the start of fall camp.

A highly regarded prep prospect from Florida, Beck has good mobility and a strong arm and has shown the needed poise to be a successful quarterback. Beck saw limited action as a backup to Taylor in 2005, playing in two games and keying a game-winning drive against Kansas State.

Beck is also off to a strong start in the classroom at Nebraska. A communication studies major, Beck carries a 3.457 GPA through two semesters and is a two-time member of the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll.

2005 (Freshman)

Beck moved up to the backup quarterback position midway through the season, but did not see action until the home finale against the Wildcats. Beck was called upon after Taylor was knocked out of the K-State contest with a concussion. Beck threw an interception that led to the Wildcats' go-ahead field goal, but he responded in the game's waning moments. He connected with redshirt freshman Nate Swift on a 21-yard strike to help put Nebraska in position for Jordan Congdon's game-winning 40-yard field goal with 1:05 to play.

Beck played in the final quarter at Colorado, and directed NU to a field goal to account for the final 30-3 margin. He finished the regular season 1-of-10 passing.

Before Nebraska (Countryside HS)

Beck was a prep standout at Countryside High School in Clearwater, Fla., where he produced outstanding passing numbers for three seasons. As a senior, Beck connected on 65 percent of his pass attempts for 1,695 yards and 11 touchdowns, helping Coach John Davis' team to a second straight district championship. Beck also posted outstanding numbers as a sophomore and junior, throwing for approximately 900 and 2,300 yards, respectively. Beck connected on better than 70 percent of his passes as a junior and threw for 21 touchdowns, while leading his team to the third round of the state playoffs. He passed for 10 scores as a sophomore.

Beck was a consensus choice as one of the nation's top quarterbacks. Rivals.com listed him as the nation's No. 3 pro-style quarterback and the 20th-best prospect in the state of Florida. Recruiting analyst Tom Lemming ranked Beck as the nation's No. 58 player overall and the No. 4 quarterback in the country. Beck was a participant in the 2004 EA Sports Elite 11 Quarterback Camp, the Nebraska Elite Quarterback Academy and participated in the CaliFlorida Bowl at the Orange Bowl. Beck was one of the first players to commit to Nebraska, pledging his services to the Huskers in June of 2004. He chose NU after receiving offers from numerous schools, including homestate schools Florida, Florida State and Miami.

Personal

Harrison's mother is Evelyn Bothwell, and his stepfather is Dave Bothwell. He was born on Sept. 1, 1987. Beck is majoring in communication studies.

Bryan Benzel #52

Long Snapper | Redshirt Freshman | 6-2 | 260
Alliance, Neb.

- ▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Bryan Benzel is in his second season as a member of the Nebraska program, and hopes to contribute the Huskers' special teams success this fall. Benzel is listed as a backup long snapper behind senior Lane Kelly, who is in his fourth season as a starter. Benzel is also a standout in the classroom, boasting a 3.814 grade-point average after two semesters. He has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll each of his first two semesters.

2005 (Redshirt)

A walk-on athlete, Benzel redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Alliance HS)

Benzel earned three letters in football and also showed his talent in track and field, as he qualified for the state meet in the shot put as a junior. On the football field, Benzel was Alliance's starting long snapper. Benzel was a standout in the classroom. He was valedictorian of his senior class, and was also a member of the Honor Roll and National Honor Society.

Personal

Benzel is the son of Trent and Sue Benzel, and was born on April 11, 1987. Benzel is majoring in engineering and owns a 3.814 cumulative grade-point average.

Lance Brandenburg #40

Linebacker | Junior | 6-1 | 230 | Two Letters
Overland Park, Kan. (St. Thomas Aquinas)

- ▶ 2005 First-Team Academic All-Big 12
- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)

▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)

Lance Brandenburg provided excellent depth and versatility in the Husker linebacking corps throughout the 2005 season, and enters the fall looking for extensive playing time. Brandenburg opened fall camp in the middle, then served as a backup WILL linebacker for much of last season. The 6-1, 230-pounder then switched to SAM linebacker this spring, where he will battle with senior Stewart Bradley for playing time in 2006.

Brandenburg excelled when he was thrust into the starting lineup in the Alamo Bowl, making a career-best six tackles in place of the injured Bo Ruud. Brandenburg was slowed early last season with a leg injury.

The Overland Park, Kan., native saw action as a true freshman in 2004, playing in the final 10 games of the season, primarily on special teams. A standout in the classroom, Brandenburg was a first-team academic All-Big 12 choice in 2005, and carries a 3.399 cumulative grade-point average.

Brandenburg missed four of the first five games while battling a leg injury, but came on in the second half of the year. He played in eight games overall and finished the year with 23 tackles, including five tackles for loss, totaling 10 yards. He served as the No. 2 WILL linebacker for much of the season, but responded with Ruud sidelined because of a broken arm against Michigan. Brandenburg made six tackles in the 32-28 win over the Wolverines.

Brandenburg's five tackles for loss came in a four-game stretch, including two tackles for loss at Missouri. He also had a pass breakup in the end zone against the Tigers. In addition to his six tackles vs. Michigan, he had five tackles each against Missouri and Kansas. Brandenburg also started on NU's kickoff return team.

2004 (Freshman)

Brandenburg played in every game except the season opener, primarily on special teams. He made three tackles, one each against Kansas State, Iowa State and Colorado. He was NU's Special Teams Player of the Week at Kansas State.

Before Nebraska (St. Thomas Aquinas)

Brandenburg was a three-year starter on both sides of the ball at Overland Park's St. Thomas Aquinas High School. He racked up more than 500 career tackles and led the offense as a quarterback. As a senior, Brandenburg recorded 123 tackles, three sacks and an interception, and helped Coach Kevin Kopecky's team to a 9-2 record and a state quarterfinal appearance in 2003.

Brandenburg was twice named the Eastern Kansas League Defensive Player of the Year and twice earned first-team all-state honors from the Topeka Capital-Journal. He was also named to the Capital-Journal's all-state Super 11 and earned All-Metro honors from the Kansas City Star his last two years. Brandenburg broke his own school record with 193 tackles, including seven sacks, as a junior. He rushed for more than 800 yards and 11 touchdowns and threw for nearly 600 yards, leading Aquinas to the state semifinals. Brandenburg first established Aquinas' season tackle record as a sophomore, when he had 155 tackles to earn all-county honors. Following his senior season, Brandenburg was awarded the Ronald J. Warren Memorial Linebacker Award by the Greater Kansas City Coaches Association. He also participated in the Kansas-Missouri All-Star game.

Brandenburg played basketball for Aquinas his final three years of high school. He was also a standout in the classroom, producing a 97 percent average and earning recognition as a member of the National Honor Society. He picked Nebraska over Colorado, UCLA and Kansas.

Personal

The son of Chuck and Barb Brandenburg, Lance was born on Aug. 4, 1985. He is majoring in business administration/pre-optometry, and has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll four times. Brandenburg has volunteered as part of Nebraska's hospital visits and as a speaker during "School is Cool" Week.

Chris Brooks #1

Wide Receiver | Sophomore | 6-2 | 200
St. Louis, Mo. (Hazelwood East)

Wideout Chris Brooks enters the 2006 season hopeful of moving into Nebraska's regular rotation at wide receiver. Brooks was hindered by injuries throughout his freshman season and appeared in four games.

The 6-2, 200-pound Brooks has the size and physical tools to be a productive player in Nebraska's offensive attack. Brooks will enter fall camp as a reserve behind sophomore Nate Swift at the "X" receiver spot.

2005 (Freshman)

Brooks played in four games as a true freshman, but did not have a reception. Brooks appeared in games against Maine, Iowa State, Texas Tech and Missouri.

Before Nebraska (Hazelwood East HS)

Brooks was a standout for Coach Corey Johnson at Hazelwood East High School in St. Louis. Brooks had 66 receptions as a senior for 1,200 yards and 14 touchdowns, with a long reception of 77 yards. In the process, he helped Hazelwood East to a 9-4 record and a runner-up finish in Missouri's Class 6A (state's largest classification).

Brooks earned all-city honors in St. Louis each of his final three years of high school. He was ranked as the No. 2 prospect in the state of Missouri according to Rivals.com and the No. 15 wide receiver in the country according to the service. Brooks chose Nebraska over his in-state school Missouri, and also received offers from Florida and Illinois.

Personal

Brooks is the son of Donnie Brooks and Marilyn McClure, and was born on Feb. 5, 1987. He is majoring in business administration.

Titus Brothers #21

Defensive Back | Junior | 5-11 | 195 | One Letter
San Antonio, Texas (Judson)

▶ 2003 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Junior Titus Brothers looks to make a push for playing time in the Nebraska secondary in 2006, after serving in a reserve role over the past two seasons. The San Antonio native is listed as a reserve at cornerback, but has the versatility to also play safety. He could also factor into Nebraska's nickel packages.

Brothers played in 10 games last season, primarily on kickoff coverage and as a reserve defensive back. Brothers finished the season with four tackles, with the final one the most memorable. Brothers teamed with Bowman for a tackle inside the Nebraska 20 to end Michigan's wild scoring attempt on the final play of the Alamo Bowl, clinching a 32-28 victory.

The play against Michigan was the second game-winning defensive play of Brothers' career. At Pittsburgh in 2004, Brothers had a pass breakup on the game's final play to preserve a 24-17 victory. Brothers played in three games overall in 2004. He redshirted during his first season at Nebraska.

Brothers has good size at 5-11, 190 pounds and excellent speed, as evidenced by his off-season work with the Husker track team the past two years.

Brothers played in 10 games, primarily on kickoff coverage. He also saw limited action as a reserve in the secondary. Brothers finished the season with four tackles, one each against Texas Tech and Missouri and two in the Alamo Bowl against Michigan, including the game-saving tackle on the final play.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Brothers played in the first three games of the season. At Pittsburgh, he was called on for significant action with both of NU's starting corners injured. Brothers responded with his only tackle of the year, and two pass breakups, including one on the game's final play that preserved a 24-17 road victory.

2003 (Redshirt)

Brothers redshirted during his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Judson HS)

Brothers played a key role in Judson's 14-1 record and Class 5A (Texas' largest class) state title in 2002. He intercepted two passes, had 18 pass breakups and recorded more than 30 tackles during Judson's title run. Brothers scored two touchdowns as a senior, one on a fumble return and one on an interception return.

Brothers earned second-team all-district honors as a senior for Coach Jim Rackley. Brothers was a three-year letterman for Judson and started at cornerback as a junior. As a sophomore, he returned kickoffs and spent time at running back.

Brothers also racked up honors on the track for Judson. He was the district and regional champion in both the 100 and 200 meters and ran a leg on the school's district championship 4x100-meter relay team as a junior. He finished fifth in the state in the 100 meters and placed seventh in the 200. As a senior, Brothers was on the 4x200-meter relay squad that finished fifth at the Class 5A state meet, and ran a leg on the 4x100 squad that took eighth place at the state meet. He chose Nebraska over TCU and Arkansas, while he turned down an offer to run track at Texas A&M.

Personal

Titus is the son of Sharon and Morris Brothers and was born on June 5, 1985. A psychology major, Brothers was named to the 2003 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll. Brothers is active in Nebraska's community outreach, assisting with local hospital visits. He will also serve as the 2006-07 president of Nebraska's Your Degree First organization.

Brett Byford #59

Offensive Line | Junior | 6-3 | 300
Hartselle, Ala.

▶ 2003 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

2006 Outlook

Junior offensive lineman Brett Byford had a solid spring practice session and hopes to build on that success during fall camp. Byford was the beneficiary of senior center Kurt Mann being out of action during the spring. Mann's absence gave Byford additional repetitions at center. A native of Hartselle, Ala., Byford will enter the fall listed as a reserve center, but he could also figure into the mix at either guard spot.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Byford was a backup on the line, but played only against Western Illinois.

2003 (Redshirt)

Byford redshirted during his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Hartselle HS)

Byford was one of the nation's top offensive line prospects after helping Hartselle High to an 11-3 record and an appearance in the semifinals of the Alabama Class 5-A (second largest) state playoffs in 2002. He finished his senior season with an average of seven pancakes per game and was a first-team all-state selection by the Alabama Sportswriters Association. He was named to the Birmingham News' Super All-State first team, and was also a first-team all-region and all-area pick. Byford was also a member of the Alabama-Mississippi All-Star team.

As a junior, Byford helped Hartselle to a 9-2 record and a state appearance by averaging more than five pancakes per game as a tackle. In addition to Nebraska, Byford took visits to South Carolina, Georgia Tech and Clemson. Byford was Nebraska's first scholarship recruit from the state of Alabama since Dwayne Harris (Bessemer, Ala.) signed with the Huskers in the spring of 1991.

Byford played center on Hartselle's basketball team, which qualified for the state tournament during his senior season. Off the field, Byford served as the president of Hartselle's student council and was the senior class secretary and treasurer of the school's Fellowship of Christian Athletes group.

Personal

Brett was born on Aug. 9, 1984, and is the son of Joe and Cathy Byford. He is majoring in psychology and was named to the 2003 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll.

Wes Cammack #82

Wide Receiver | Redshirt Freshman | 5-11 | 185
DeWitt, Neb. (Tri County)

- ▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Redshirt freshman wide receiver Wes Cammack joined the Nebraska football program during fall camp last season, and provided the Huskers with an excellent scout team performer. Cammack enters the 2006 season looking to add depth to a talented Nebraska receiving corps.

A UNL Regent's Scholar, Cammack earned a perfect 4.0 cumulative grade-point average in mechanized systems management in his first two semesters.

2005 (Redshirt)

A walk-on athlete, Cammack redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska

Cammack was a standout on both sides of the ball at Tri County High School. He rushed for 1,887 yards in his career, including 1,245 as a senior, and scored 21 total touchdowns. He also intercepted 13 passes and had 104 solo tackles on defense. Cammack was rewarded for his efforts with first-team all-state honors by the Omaha World-Herald and all-district accolades as a sophomore, junior and senior.

He also excelled in basketball and track, lettering four times each. Cammack ran to four gold medals at the Nebraska state track meet and also averaged 20.8 points per game as a senior on the hardwood.

Personal

Wes is the son of Troy and Mary Cammack, and was born on Sept. 24, 1986. Cammack was named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll each of his first two semesters.

Andy Christensen #62

Offensive Line | Sophomore | 6-3 | 300
Bennington, Neb.

- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)
- ▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

Sophomore Andy Christensen hopes to make a large impact on the Nebraska offensive line in 2006. The 6-3, 300-pound Christensen was pushing for a starting position last fall before a shoulder injury sidelined him for the entire season and pushed back his playing debut for a year.

Christensen showed his versatility during spring practice, working with the top offensive line at both center and offensive guard. With the return of a healthy Kurt Mann at center, Christensen could push for a starting job at guard. Christensen was one of three offensive linemen who made a strong impression on the scout team as a redshirt freshman in 2004.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Christensen suffered a shoulder injury during fall camp, and the subsequent surgery sidelined him for the entire season.

2004 (Redshirt)

One of five Nebraskans in the 2004 class, Christensen redshirted.

Before Nebraska (Bennington HS)

Christensen was a two-way standout for Coach Greg Bohn at Bennington High School, where he started for three years at offensive tackle and was a four-year starter at defensive tackle. As a senior, Christensen compiled 112 tackles and 10 sacks as a defensive tackle to help the Badgers to a state playoff berth. Christensen was also a dominant blocker for the Badgers, earning second-team All-Nebraska honors from the Omaha World-Herald and first-team Class C-2 honors from the paper.

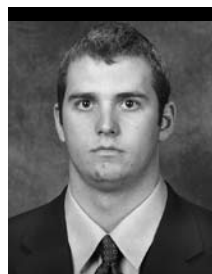

Christensen earned second-team super-state honors from the Lincoln Journal Star and was a first-team Class C-2 pick as an offensive lineman. As a junior, he led Class C-2 with more than 120 tackles, while also recording 10 sacks.

Christensen also starred for Bennington's wrestling team, and captured the Class C heavyweight state title as a senior. Christensen missed his junior season of wrestling because of injury, but finished fourth in the state as a sophomore and was a state qualifier as a freshman. In track, Christensen won the Class C state shot put title by nearly seven feet with a heave of 60-5, the second-best throw regardless of class at the 2004 state meet. He added a third-place finish in the discus with a throw of 157-3.

Christensen produced a 4.1 grade-point average and ranked in the top five percent of his class. He was also a member of the National Honor Society. Christensen chose Nebraska over Iowa, Iowa State and Colorado State.

Personal

The son of Don and Denise Christensen, Andy was born in Omaha on June 24, 1986. He has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll three times, and is majoring in construction management.

Nick Covey #45

Linebacker | Redshirt Freshman | 6-2 | 235
Glendale, Ariz. (Mountain Ridge)

Redshirt freshman Nick Covey is a talented young player who adds depth to a standout Nebraska linebacking corps. The 6-2, 235-pound Covey has the versatility to play both outside positions, and will enter the season as a backup at the SAM linebacker spot.

Covey missed the 2006 spring practice session after undergoing off-season shoulder surgery. A native of Glendale, Ariz., Covey redshirted during his first season in the Nebraska program.

2005 (Redshirt)

Covey redshirted during his first season at Nebraska. With the Husker linebacking corps thinned by injury, Covey was ready for duty, but was not called into action.

Before Nebraska (Mountain Ridge HS)

Covey was the first player to give his pledge to the Nebraska coaching staff for the 2005 recruiting class, committing to the Huskers in June, 2004. He used his outstanding speed to dominate from his linebacker position for Coach Steve Belles at Mountain Ridge High School in Glendale, Ariz. Covey finished his senior year with an average of about 12 tackles per game, and also saw time at tight end on offense, where he scored one touchdown.

Covey helped Mountain Ridge to a Class 5A state runner-up finish, and earned first-team all-area honors. As a junior, Covey caught 17 passes for better than 300 yards and scored three touchdowns, while also posting big numbers from his linebacker spot. His performance as a junior earned him first-team Class 5A all-state honors. Recruiting analyst Tom Lemming ranked Covey as the nation's No. 14 inside linebacker.

Personal

Covey is the son of Glenn and Michelle Covey and was born on May 9, 1987. He has not yet declared a major.

Barry Cryer #94

Defensive Line | Senior | 6-2 | 280 | One Letter
Marrero, La. (John Ehret/Dodge City CC)

▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

Defensive tackle Barry Cryer was instrumental in Nebraska's strong pass rush during his first season in a Husker uniform in 2005. This fall, the 6-2, 280-pound Cryer is expected to play a much larger role for the Blackshirt defense. Cryer has the strength to stop the run, but also possesses speed and athletic ability to rush the passer.

Cryer enters fall camp listed atop the depth chart at defensive tackle, and is the leading candidate to replace Titus Adams, a four-year letterman who started each of the past two years. Last season, Cryer and fellow transfer Ola Dagunduro spelled Nebraska's starting interior linemen, aiding the Huskers in leading the nation in sacks (50) and tackles for loss (124). Cryer joined the Nebraska program in January of 2005 after a standout junior college career at Dodge City Community College in Kansas.

Cryer saw action in all 12 games, serving as Titus Adams' backup at defensive tackle. He finished with six tackles, including four tackles for loss for 16 yards, and two quarterback hurries. Cryer had a season-high two tackles, including a tackle for loss against Wake Forest, then finished the season with sacks in each of the final two games. Against the Buffs, Cryer shared a second-quarter sack with defensive end Adam Carriker, one of Nebraska's four sacks in the game, and then added an eight-yard sack of Michigan's Chad Henne in the first quarter of the Alamo Bowl.

Before Nebraska (John Ehret HS/Dodge City CC)

Cryer had an outstanding 2004 season at Dodge City Community College in Kansas, racking up 9.5 sacks and 56 tackles in just nine games for a 3-8 team. Cryer was a three-star prospect according to Rivals.com and was ranked as the seventh-best junior college defensive tackle according to CollegeFootballNews.com. Cryer transferred to Dodge City CC from Northeast Mississippi CC after signing with UAB out of John Ehret High School in Marrero, La. Cryer chose Nebraska after also visiting Oklahoma State and Toledo.

Personal

Cryer is the son of Barry Cryer Sr., and was born on Sept. 19, 1984. He is majoring in sociology at Nebraska, and is on track to graduate in August of 2007. He was named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll.

Ola Dagunduro #54

Defensive Line | Senior | 6-2 | 300 | One Letter
Inglewood, Calif. (Compton CC)

▶ 2005 Nebraska "Finisher" Award

Senior Ola Dagunduro (pronounced oh-la dog-un-duro) made an immediate impact in his first season in the Husker program in 2005. Dagunduro joined the program in January, and had an outstanding spring practice, and provided key depth in the defensive line.

The powerful Dagunduro finished the 2005 season with 22 tackles, including four tackles for loss and helped Nebraska lead the nation in sacks (50) and tackles for loss (124). The 6-2, 300-pound Dagunduro again performed well during spring practice and will enter the fall atop the depth chart at nose tackle, where he hopes to replace three-year starter Le Kevin Smith.

Dagunduro came to Nebraska after two strong seasons at Compton Community College in California. He is on track to earn his bachelor's degree in sociology this December.

Dagunduro quickly impressed Husker coaches with his effort, and was chosen as the winner of Nebraska's "Finisher" Award after spring ball in 2005. In the fall, Dagunduro played in all 12 games as the top backup behind Smith at nose tackle. He contributed 22 tackles, four tackles for loss, and two sacks, while his eight quarterback hurries were sixth-best on the team. He added a pair of pass breakups.

Dagunduro had a season-best effort against Wake Forest with seven tackles, including four solo stops and two tackles for loss. He recorded his first sack against Iowa State, then had a strong effort against Texas Tech with five tackles and a hurry. He capped the year with an impressive effort against Michigan in the Alamo Bowl. Dagunduro dropped Michigan quarterback Chad Henne for a six-yard sack in the second quarter, then scooped up a Henne fumble in the fourth quarter and returned it 13 yards to the Wolverine 17 to set up NU's game-winning touchdown.

Before Nebraska (Inglewood HS/Compton CC)

Dagunduro played two seasons at Compton CC for Coach Angelo Jackson, and made 72 tackles in his sophomore year, including four sacks. Dagunduro also forced a pair of fumbles en route to all-conference honors. He was rated a four-star prospect by Rivals.com, the No. 50 junior college prospect by SuperPrep and the fifth-best junior college defensive tackle by College Football News.com. As a freshman, Dagunduro earned honorable-mention all-league honors.

Dagunduro was a standout performer at Inglewood High School near Los Angeles. Dagunduro chose Nebraska before taking a visit to the school, choosing the Huskers over San Diego State, Arizona and Colorado.

Beau Davis #15

Quarterback | Sophomore | 6-4 | 185
Venice, Calif.

Sophomore quarterback Beau Davis enters fall camp hoping to get in the mix for playing time as a backup to senior returning starter Zac Taylor. The 6-4, 185-pound Davis redshirted last season, after serving as a backup during the 2004 season, when he saw action at Texas Tech. A native of Venice, Calif., Davis has good arm strength and the ability to handle a variety of throws in the Huskers' West Coast attack.

2005 (Redshirt)

Davis was a backup quarterback, but did not see game action and redshirted.

2004 (Freshman)

Davis played in the second half of NU's loss at Texas Tech. He struggled in the tough situation, connecting on one of eight passes for 12 yards, with four interceptions.

Before Nebraska (Venice HS)

Davis had a standout senior year at Venice High School in Los Angeles for Coach Angelo Gasca, completing 67 percent of his passes for 3,152 yards and 40 touchdowns, against just 10 interceptions. Davis spread the ball around the field effectively, as three of Venice's wideouts topped 1,000 yards receiving in 2003.

Davis led Venice to a 13-1 record and a berth in the sectional championship game where it was defeated by Carson High School, and threw for a season-high 340 yards against Santa Monica. He threw six touchdown passes in just two quarters against Hamilton High School and had a pair of five-touchdown games as a senior.

Davis was the Los Angeles Times Westside Back of the Year as a senior. He also received first-team all-city honors from the AP, and was named the All-Western League Offensive Player of the Year. He became the fourth consecutive quarterback from Venice High to receive a Division I scholarship, joining J.P. Losman (Tulane/Buffalo Bills), Anton Clarkson (Oregon State) and Eddie Miller (Louisville). Davis transferred to Venice from Carson (Calif.) High School. As a junior at Carson, Davis threw for 1,105 yards and 11 touchdowns and guided his team to a state playoff berth. Davis turned down scholarship offers from Utah State and Temple.

Personal

The son of Billy and Sandra Davis, Beau was born in Torrance, Calif., on July 15, 1985. He is a sociology major.

Phillip Dillard #52

Tulsa, Okla. (Jenks)

Sophomore linebacker Phillip Dillard made immediate contributions in his first season in the Nebraska program, providing depth in an outstanding Nebraska linebacking corps in 2005. The 6-1, 255-pound Dillard will enter fall camp listed as the top backup at MIKE linebacker behind returning starter Corey McKeon. The depth at the middle linebacker spot is a key reason Nebraska's linebacking corps is expected to be among the nation's best in 2006.

One of 13 Husker true freshmen to see action last fall, Dillard played in 11 games, missing only the matchup with Pittsburgh. He started at Missouri when NU opened with four linebackers, and finished the season with 11 total tackles. Dillard was one of the nation's top linebacker prospects after earning Oklahoma all-state honors for two consecutive seasons at Jenks High School.

2005 (Freshman)

Dillard played in 11 games and finished the season with 11 total tackles, including a tackle for loss in the season opener against Maine. Dillard had a pair of solo tackles against the Black Bears, then added two more tackles against Wake Forest. Dillard was strong at the close of the year, compiling seven tackles in the final four games. He capped the regular season with a season-high three tackles in the 30-3 win at Colorado, then added two solo stops in the Alamo Bowl win over Michigan.

Before Nebraska (Jenks HS)

Dillard joined the NU program from prep powerhouse Jenks High School in Tulsa, Okla. Dillard led Jenks to a Class 6A state-runner-up finish in 2004, and earned first-team all-state honors for the second consecutive season. As a senior, Dillard racked up more than 120 tackles, including 75 solo stops and three sacks, along with seven pass breakups.

In his final two seasons playing for Coach Allen Trimble at Jenks, Dillard totaled more than 200 tackles. Dillard also caught four passes as a senior, three of which went for touchdowns. In addition to his all-state honors from nearly every media outlet, Dillard was named the Jim Thorpe Association Oklahoma Defensive Player of the Year as a junior in 2003. Dillard was one of seven 2005 Nebraska recruits who played in the U.S. Army All-American game in San Antonio. Dillard helped the West squad to a 35-3 victory with an interception. Rivals.com ranked Dillard as the No. 3 overall prospect in the state of Oklahoma, and the fifth-best inside linebacker in the country. Dillard was one of Nebraska's first commitments, and chose the Huskers after also receiving scholarship offers from Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Kansas State and Texas A&M, among others.

Personal

Dillard's guardians are Tyrone and Ronda Lynne, and Phillip was born on Dec. 10, 1986. Dillard has not declared a major. He has volunteered his time with the Read to Succeed Book Drive.

Ben Eisenhart #46

Safety | Junior | 5-11 | 200 | One Letter
Culbertson, Neb.

▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Junior Ben Eisenhart is expected to play an expanded role in the Nebraska secondary in 2006. Eisenhart was a special teams standout for Nebraska in 2005, while providing valuable depth at the safety positions. After a strong spring, Eisenhart heads into the fall listed as the top backup to Tierre Green at strong safety.

Eisenhart was a starter on both the kickoff return and kick coverage units last season, and helped Nebraska rank among the nation's best in kickoff coverage. He finished his sophomore season with 10 tackles, while appearing in all 12 games. Eisenhart played sparingly as a reserve in 2004, after redshirting in 2003.

Eisenhart played in all 12 games, primarily on special teams. He finished the season with 10 tackles, including six solo stops, and had at least one tackle in eight of 12 games, with a season-high two tackles against Wake Forest and Iowa State.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Eisenhart played in three games in 2004, appearing in NU victories against Western Illinois, Baylor and Missouri. He had an assisted tackle against Baylor.

2003 (Redshirt)

A walk-on athlete, Eisenhart redshirted in his first season in Lincoln.

Before Nebraska (Culbertson HS)

Eisenhart was a two-time all-state selection at Culbertson High School, which played eight-man football. The Bears were a Class D-2 school during Eisenhart's junior and senior seasons, the smallest class in Nebraska. Eisenhart accumulated stellar numbers on both sides of the ball as a running back and a linebacker.

Eisenhart set the state playoffs all-class record with a staggering 445 yards rushing against Banner County in 2002, and tied the D-2 playoff record with seven rushing touchdowns in the game. He finished his senior year with 2,336 rushing yards in addition to 22 career interceptions on defense. Eisenhart showed his all-around athletic ability by lettering four times in basketball and four times in track and field. He closed his prep career by capturing his third consecutive Class D state long jump title. Eisenhart twice earned the all-class gold medal for the top leap at the state meet.

Personal

Eisenhart is the son of Rusty and Annette Eisenhart, and was born on March 10, 1984. A history major, Eisenhart was named to the 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll.

Dan Erickson #26

Safety | Junior | 6-1 | 195 | One Letter
Omaha, Neb. (Papillion-LaVista)

Junior Dan Erickson made a successful switch to the defensive side of the football during spring practice. He enters fall camp hoping to make a bid for playing time as a reserve at the strong safety spot. Erickson also figures to continue to play a role on Nebraska's special teams units.

Erickson played a valuable role in the Nebraska receiving corps in 2005, before making the switch to defense. He appeared in 10 games, and also assisted on special teams, making four tackles. The brother of former Nebraska offensive lineman Mike Erickson, Dan has good size and speed, allowing him to make the transition to defense.

Erickson played in 10 games, including each of the season's final nine contests. He did not have a catch, but was one of Nebraska's top perimeter blockers. Erickson finished with four tackles on kickoff coverage, one each against Oklahoma, Kansas State, Colorado and Michigan.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Erickson saw action in four games, primarily on special teams. He made an assisted tackle against Southern Miss and had a solo stop at Pittsburgh.

2003 (Redshirt)

A walk-on athlete, Erickson redshirted in his first season with Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Papillion-LaVista HS)

Erickson played for Coach Gene Suhr at Papillion-LaVista where Erickson starred as a running back and wide receiver. As a senior, Erickson rushed for 443 yards, had 530 receiving yards and scored 17 touchdowns. He helped the Monarchs to state playoff appearances each of his three seasons, including a Class A quarterfinal berth during his sophomore campaign. In addition to his football accomplishments, Erickson also lettered twice in track.

Personal

Erickson was born on April 26, 1985. He is the son of Dave and Sue Erickson and is majoring in communication studies. Erickson's older brother, Mike, was in the Tennessee Titans' training camp in 2005, and was allocated by the team to NFL Europe in 2006.

Paul Farino #47

Fullback | Redshirt Freshman | 6-0 | 270
East Meadow, N.Y. (Kellenberg Memorial)

2006 Outlook

Fullback Paul Farino redshirted in his first year in the Nebraska program and worked with the Husker scout team. This fall, Farino hopes to push for playing time at fullback behind fifth-year senior starter Dane Todd. At 6-0 and 270 pounds, Farino provides a physical blocking presence at the point of attack.

2005 (Redshirt)

A walk-on, Farino redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Kellenberg Memorial HS)

Farino rushed for more than 1,000 yards in both his junior and senior seasons at Kellenberg Memorial High School while playing for head coach Kevin Harifan. As a senior, Farino led the team to a 7-1 record with 1,200 rushing yards. Along with four letters in football, Farino earned four monograms in baseball and two in wrestling. Farino was a member of National Honor Society and the honor roll in high school.

Personal

Farino, the son of Orlando Farino and Rina Tofani, was born on Nov. 25, 1987. Farino has not yet declared a major.

Isaiah Fluellen #28

Wide Receiver | Senior | 6-0 | 190 | Three Letters
Ramstein, Germany (Ramstein America)

- ▶ 2003 Honorable-Mention All-Big 12 (Coaches)
- ▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2004, 2005)

Senior Isaiah Fluellen hopes to finish his Nebraska career in strong fashion in 2006. The speedy wide receiver has had an injury-plagued career, but when healthy he provides Nebraska with a deep threat in its receiving corps. Fluellen will enter had a healthy spring practice session and will enter fall camp as a reserve behind returning starting receivers Nate Swift and Terrence Nunn.

Fluellen averages nearly 18 yards on his 28 career receptions, and has reached the end zone four times in his career. He enjoyed his best season as a Husker as a redshirt freshman in 2003 with 15 receptions. In the past two seasons, Fluellen has 13 catches as injuries have limited him to participating in just 14 games.

A redshirt in his first season in 2002, Fluellen has also spent time with the NU track team during his career. He joined the football program as the Huskers' first-ever signee from Europe. Fluellen came to Nebraska from Ramstein, Germany, where his father served as a chaplain in the U.S. Air Force. His father is now stationed at Omaha's Offutt Air Force Base. Fluellen is one of four Huskers who will play the 2006 season as a graduate student, after picking up his degree in German in May.

2005 (Junior)

Fluellen played in four games as he was slowed by a leg injury, and finished with four receptions for 52 yards. He had three catches for 40 yards against Iowa State, when NU passed for a single-game record 431 yards. Fluellen added a single catch against Texas Tech in his only start of the year.

2004 (Sophomore)

Fluellen played in 10 games, including starts against Iowa State and Oklahoma, before missing the season finale against Colorado. He finished the year with nine receptions for 158 yards (17.6 ypr), with two touchdowns.

Fluellen was hampered by injury at the outset of year and did not catch a pass in the first five games. He made the most of his first two catches, hauling in touchdown catches of 45 and 27 yards against Baylor. The receptions came on consecutive offensive snaps in the second quarter and extended the NU lead from 17-3 to 31-3 with five seconds remaining in the first half. Fluellen had a season-high four receptions for 64 yards at Iowa State, then added three catches for 22 yards at Oklahoma.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

Fluellen appeared in all 11 games with four starts, and was fourth on the team with 15 catches for 287 yards and two touchdowns. He earned honorable-mention all-conference honors from the league's coaches.

Fluellen's first career catch went for a 43-yard third-quarter touchdown at Southern Miss. Against Texas A&M, Fluellen caught two passes for 42 yards, including a 29-yard touchdown, then finished the season on a strong note. Fluellen caught 12 passes for 202 yards in the final five games, including a 39-yard catch to set up a touchdown at Kansas. He capped the year with a strong outing in the Alamo Bowl against Michigan State. In the contest, Fluellen caught four passes for 84 yards, including a season-long 58-yard catch to set up a second-quarter touchdown.

Fluellen was also a running threat, finishing the season with 12 carries for 120 yards, including a 39-yard touchdown against Iowa State, when he had five carries for a team-high 78 yards. His rushing total was the highest by an NU receiver since Dana Brinson ran for 83 yards against Missouri in 1986. It also marked the first time a receiver had led NU in rushing since wingback Kenny Brown had eight carries for 111 yards against Oklahoma State on Oct. 20, 1979.

Fluellen finished sixth in the 200 meters at the 2004 conference indoor meet, helping Nebraska to the Big 12 indoor crown.

2002 (Redshirt)

Fluellen redshirted in his first season in 2002.

Before Nebraska (Ramstein America HS)

Fluellen played wide receiver and defensive back two years for Coach Robert Ermel at Ramstein America, located at Ramstein (Germany) Air Force Base. He caught 28 passes for 629 yards and nine touchdowns as a senior, and scored twice on punt returns, playing just six games in a season shortened by the Sept. 11 tragedies. In 2000, Fluellen scored 11 touchdowns in eight games and also played cornerback. He had more than 30 tackles and had three interceptions in each of his last two years.

Fluellen was twice selected as the male athlete of the year among students at the Department of Defense Dependent Schools (DODDS) in Europe. He won three gold medals at the Division I track championships, winning the 100 meters in 10.5 seconds, the 200 in 21.2 and the 400 in 46.7 seconds, setting records in each event. He was also named the top performer at the DODDS Track and Field Championships his final two seasons. He broke the 200- and 400-meter records of Alonzo Babers, an Olympic double gold medalist. Fluellen also played basketball and was named the Ramstein Royals' defensive player of the year as a junior. Fluellen earned academic all-conference honors in all three sports. He also considered an offer from Maryland and was recruited by Missouri and Auburn.

Personal

The son of Melvin and Ann Fluellen, Isaiah's father is a chaplain in the U.S. Air Force. He earned his bachelor's degree in May after majoring in German. Isaiah was born in Hameln, Germany, on June 11, 1984. He attended elementary school in Valdosta, Ga., and later lived in South Carolina and Ohio before moving back to Europe in high school. Fluellen has made his mark in the classroom, being named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor four times.

Ryan Ford

#27

Defensive Back | Freshman | 5-11 | 170
Winfield, Ala.

▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

2006 Outlook

Ryan Ford joined the Nebraska program during spring practice after successfully earning a spot through the Huskers' walk-on tryout. Ford will enter fall camp hoping to provide depth at the cornerback position behind projected starters Cortney Grixby and Zackary Bowman. A native of Winfield, Ala., Ford is a standout in the classroom, completing his first two semesters with a 3.477 cumulative grade-point average.

Before Nebraska (Winfield HS)

Ford played receiver and cornerback, and excelled on special teams at Winfield High in Alabama. A four-year starter, Ford helped his team to four straight state playoff appearances. He led his team in interceptions as a senior and ranked fourth in tackles, helping Winfield to a Class 3A state runner-up finish. A three-time all-county pick, Ford was chosen as a member of the West Alabama All-Star team as a senior. Ford also excelled in track, earning conference MVP honors as a junior and senior. He qualified for the state meet in four events three straight years.

Personal

Ryan is the son of Harold and Katie Ford, and was born on Dec. 1, 1986. He is majoring in management and was a Big 12 Spring Academic Honor Roll selection.

Joe Ganz

#12

Quarterback | Sophomore | 6-1 | 200
Palos Heights, Ill. (Amos Alonzo Stagg)

▶ 2004 Nebraska Offensive Scout Team Player of the Year
▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)

▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Quarterback Joe Ganz continued to impress the Nebraska coaching staff during spring practice and enters the fall as one of the leading candidates to serve as Zac Taylor's top backup. Ganz did not see game action as a redshirt freshman in 2004, but was listed as the No. 2 quarterback for the first half of the season. In addition to his quarterback role, Ganz is a top candidate to handle the holding duties.

The 6-1, 200-pound Ganz has shown great poise and command of the offense during his two seasons in the program. In 2004, Ganz's efforts in simulating the opposing quarterback earned him Offensive Scout Team Player-of-the-Year honors.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Ganz was Nebraska's backup quarterback for the first half of the season, but did not see game action.

2004 (Redshirt)

Ganz redshirted and was NU's Offensive Scout Team Player of the Year.

Before Nebraska (Amos Alonzo Stagg HS)

Ganz was a dual threat as a three-year starter at quarterback for Amos Alonzo Stagg High School in Palos Hills, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. He threw for 3,428 yards in his career and rushed for another 1,328 yards. As a senior, Ganz completed 60 percent of his passes for about 1,250 yards and 10 touchdowns. He added 600 rushing yards and 11 touchdowns, while guiding Stagg to a 6-4 record and a second consecutive state playoff appearance. During his junior campaign, Ganz completed better than 60 percent of his passes for 1,400 yards, leading Stagg to a 10-3 record and a state semifinal appearance. He also started three seasons at safety.

Ganz earned Class 7A all-state honors from the Illinois High School Football Coaches Association, was a first-team all-conference (SICA Gray) and all-area pick. A two-time team MVP, Ganz earned second-team all-state as a junior. Ganz chose Nebraska over Eastern Michigan and Northwestern. In addition to football, Ganz also lettered three times in baseball at Stagg. In 2003, he batted .480 with seven homers and 38 RBIs from his shortstop position. He hit .420 with eight homers and 45 RBIs to earn all-state honors as a senior.

Personal

The son of Mike and Debbie Ganz, Joe was born in Palos Heights, Ill., on Dec. 6, 1985. He is majoring in business administration, and has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll three times.

Dan Glassman #39

Omaha, Neb. (Creighton Prep)

2006 Outlook

Before Nebraska (Omaha Creighton Prep HS)

Glassman turned down an offer to walk-on at Nebraska out of high school and also had an opportunity to join the Army football program. He enrolled part-time at UNO for the fall semester and joined the Huskers in January. Glassman played for Coach Tom Jaworski at Creighton Prep, where he was a teammate with Husker sophomore Zach Potter. Glassman helped the Junior Jays to a state title in 2004, playing tight end and defensive tackle.

Glassman was a Lincoln Journal Star academic all-state pick, and also played basketball and participated in track at Creighton Prep. He was a captain on the basketball team, helping Prep to the state finals as a senior, and was a two-time qualifier for the state track meet, once in the shot put and once in the 4x100 meter relay.

Personal

Glassman is the son of Mike and Mary Glassman, and was born on Nov. 8, 1986. Glassman is a pre-chiropractic major who owns a 3.117 cumulative grade-point average.

Sophomore Cody Glenn is one of the leading candidates to replace three-year starter Cory Ross at I-back. Glenn scored four touchdowns as a short-yardage specialist as a true freshman in 2005.

Cody Glenn #34

I-Back | Sophomore | 6-0 | 230 | One Letter
Rusk, Texas

▶ 2006 Spring Football Most Improved Offensive Player

Sophomore I-back Cody Glenn is poised for big things in 2006 after making an immediate impact in the Husker backfield as a true freshman. Glenn had an outstanding spring practice session and will enter fall as a co-No. 1 at I-back with fellow sophomore Marlon Lucky. The 6-0, 230-pound Glenn is a powerful runner who showed the ability to be a complete back during spring ball.

The native of Rusk, Texas, capped his impressive spring by rushing for 98 yards on 16 carries in the Red-White Spring Game. Glenn emerged as a short-yardage back in 2005, as senior Cory Ross was in his third season as a starter and handled the bulk of the running load. One of 13 true freshmen to play for the Huskers last fall, Glenn finished the year with 131 yards rushing and scored four touchdowns.

Glenn finished with 131 yards and four touchdowns on 45 carries. He did not play in the first two games, saw his first action against Pittsburgh and appeared in seven of the final 10 games. A hard-nosed runner, Glenn lost yardage on just one of his 45 carries. Glenn ran for 20 yards on four carries in a 7-6 win over Pitt. He played a huge role in the Huskers' near-comeback against Texas Tech, with 12 carries for 39 yards, including second-quarter touchdowns of one and five yards. He carried 12 times for a season-high 41 yards in a 23-14 win at Baylor. He scored his third touchdown at Missouri, then finished the season with eight carries for 18 yards and a one-yard touchdown at Colorado. He missed the Alamo Bowl with a minor injury.

Before Nebraska (Rusk HS)

Glenn was a star running back for Coach Wayne Mahaffey at Rusk High School for four seasons, rushing for 6,353 yards and 87 touchdowns (both school records) in his four-year career. Glenn's rushing total is the eighth-highest total in Texas Class 3A history and the 27th-most in state history, regardless of class. He capped his prep career by rushing for 1,828 yards on 238 carries and scoring 28 touchdowns as a senior. He also caught 10 passes for 159 yards and a touchdown out of the Rusk backfield and helped his team to a 7-3 record and a berth in the Class 3A playoffs.

Glenn's effort as a senior earned him second-team Class 3A all-state honors, and all-district honors for the fourth consecutive season. Glenn topped the 2,000-yard barrier as a junior, rushing for 2,006 yards and 27 touchdowns on 278 carries. His performance earned him third-team all-state honors in his class. He was an honorable-mention all-state pick as a sophomore when he racked up 1,866 yards and 25 touchdowns on the ground. Glenn was ranked as the nation's No. 28 running back prospect by Rivals.com. He committed to Nebraska after also visiting Kansas, and had offers from Texas A&M and Oklahoma State among others.

Personal

Glenn is the son of Ricy Knowlton and Erma Hamilton, and was born on Oct. 6, 1986. He has not yet declared a major. Glenn has volunteered his time with Nebraska's hospital visitations and with the Read to Succeed Book Drive. He is the 2006-07 treasurer of Nebraska's Your Degree First organization.

Logan, Utah (Snow College)

▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

2006 Outlook

Victory Haines was a key part of Nebraska's 2006 recruiting class that placed a premium on offensive linemen. Haines graduated from Snow College in Utah in December, enabling him to enroll at Nebraska in January and get acclimated to the Husker offense during spring practice. The 6-7, 290-pound Haines is a contender for playing time this fall and enters camp as a reserve offensive tackle.

Haines quickly made the transition in the classroom, earning a 3.468 grade-point average in secondary education/mathematics during the spring semester.

Before Nebraska (Snow College/Logan HS)

Haines played at Snow College in Ephraim, Utah, and was among the nation's top junior college linemen. He was ranked 77th on the Rivals.com Junior College Top 100 and ranked among the SuperPrep JUCO 100. After redshirting his first year at Snow College, Haines embarked on a two-year mission to Hungary in 2002.

Haines was named the team MVP for Coach Steve Coburn at Snow College, the school that recently produced defensive end C.J. Ah You of Oklahoma and offensive tackle Taitusi Lutui of USC. Haines led his team to a 10-2 record and a victory in the Top of the Mountains Bowl, where Snow College defeated Butler, 17-14 at Rice-Eccles Stadium. Snow College finished 2005 with a No. 7 national ranking. Haines also helped Snow College to a Top of the Mountain Bowl win in 2004. He was a 2005 All-Western States Football League first-team honoree, and was named a third-team Junior College Wire All-American in 2005.

Haines graduated from Logan High School in 2001, where he led his squad to a state title in 2000, and then enrolled at Snow College in the fall of 2001. Originally from Logan, Utah, Haines chose NU over Duke, Hawaii, Illinois and New Mexico State.

Personal

Victory is the son of Barbara and Keith Haines and was born on March 3, 1983. He was named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll in his first semester at Nebraska. Haines volunteered his time as a speaker during "School is Cool" Week.

Frantz Hardy #7

Miami, Fla. (Booker T. Washington/Butler County CC)

Frantz Hardy had a productive first season with the Huskers in 2005, and is a key part of a talented group of returning receivers for the 2006 campaign. The 6-1, 180-pound Hardy enters fall camp listed behind sophomore Nate Swift at the "X" receiver position, but figures to get ample playing time as the Huskers regularly rotate multiple receivers.

Hardy was in the starting lineup to open the season, and despite not starting later in the year, he ranked fifth on the team with 25 receptions. Hardy opened his Nebraska career in memorable fashion with 152 receiving yards in the victory over Maine, one of the top five receiving yardage efforts in Nebraska history.

Hardy came to Nebraska from Butler County Community College in Kansas, where he was a teammate of NU quarterback Zac Taylor.

Hardy's 25 receptions covered 349 yards, an average of 14.0 yards per catch. Hardy had three receptions of 20 yards or more, including a team season-long 73-yard reception from Taylor in the opener against Maine. Hardy finished the game with seven catches for 152 yards, the most receiving yards ever in a Husker debut and the fourth-best single-game total in school history.

Hardy added four catches for 29 yards and his only touchdown, a four-yard grab, against Wake Forest. He had two catches each against Pitt, Iowa State, Texas Tech and Baylor. Hardy capped the regular season with a 35-yard second-quarter reception at Colorado. The catch came on a 2nd-and-28 play and put Nebraska in position for a Jordan Congdon field goal to extend NU's lead to 20-3. In the Alamo Bowl against Michigan, Hardy nabbed three catches for 27 yards.

Before Nebraska (Butler County CC/Booker T. Washington HS)

Hardy was one of three players to join the Nebraska program from Butler County Community College in El Dorado, Kan., in 2005. Hardy starred for Coach Troy Morrell in 2004, helping Butler County to the NJCAA championship game. Hardy led the 11-1 Grizzlies with 34 receptions for 820 yards and five touchdowns, earning him second-team junior college All-America honors. Hardy redshirted during his first season on the Butler County CC campus. Hardy was listed as the nation's No. 9 overall junior-college prospect by Rivals.com, and third among receivers.

Hardy originally hails from Miami, Fla., where he attended Booker T. Washington High. As a prep player, he caught 42 passes for 710 yards and eight touchdowns as a senior. Hardy chose NU after also visiting Auburn, Kansas and South Florida.

Personal

Hardy is the son of Frank and Marie Carmelle Hardy and was born on Jan. 6, 1985. Hardy is majoring in sociology. He has volunteered his time on Nebraska's hospital visits and as part of the Read to Succeed Book Drive.

David Harvey #80

Tight End | Redshirt Freshman | 6-4 | 245
La Plata, Md. (McDonough)

2006 Outlook

Tight end David Harvey redshirted during his first season at Nebraska and is hopeful of pushing for playing time in the 2006 campaign. Harvey has the ideal size for a tight end at 6-4 and 245 pounds and should be at full strength for fall camp after battling injuries since arriving at Nebraska.

2005 (Redshirt)

Harvey redshirted during his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (McDonough HS)

Harvey was one of the first players to join the 2005 Nebraska recruiting class, committing to the Huskers in early July of 2004 after attending the Big Red Football School. He was the first Maryland prep player to sign with Nebraska since 1990 when Donta Jones and Duane Wiles came to Nebraska from the state. Jones also came to Nebraska from McDonough High School.

Harvey capped a strong prep career with an outstanding senior season in which he made 59 tackles, including six sacks from defensive end, and caught 15 passes for 249 yards. Harvey played just one season for Coach Dave Bradshaw at McDonough, after moving from South Carolina. As a junior at Sumter (S.C.) High, Harvey had three sacks and helped his team to a 13-1 record and a state runner-up finish. Harvey was also a standout on the basketball court, as he averaged 10 points and 13 rebounds at McDonough as a junior, after transferring to the school at mid-term. Harvey's efforts helped his squad to the state semifinals. Harvey was ranked as the No. 13 overall prospect in the Mid-Atlantic Region by SuperPrep Magazine.

Personal

Harvey is the son of Julia Moore and David Thomas, and was born on May 16, 1987. He has not yet declared a major. Harvey is active in the community, serving as a volunteer with the Lincoln Action Program and the People's City Mission. His efforts earned him a Nebraska 2005-06 Student Leadership Hero Award.

Jacob Hickman #67

Offensive Line | Freshman | 6-4 | 280
Bakersfield, Calif. (Centennial)

2006 Outlook

Jacob Hickman was a member of Nebraska's 2005 recruiting class, but delayed his full-time enrollment until January of 2006. Hickman is a key part of an influx of talent on the offensive line and spent spring practice learning the Huskers' offensive system. The 6-4, 280-pound Hickman is a versatile lineman who could play center or guard for Nebraska, and should add depth in the 2006 season.

Before Nebraska (Centennial HS)

Hickman was a two-way standout for Coach Brian Nixon at Centennial High in Bakersfield, playing defensive tackle and offensive line. Hickman earned second-team CalHi Sports all-state honors as a senior in 2004, and was a first-team all-state underclassman selection as a junior, when he also earned all-area and all-league honors. Hickman had 56 tackles and 13 sacks as a junior in helping Centennial to a 10-3 record.

Hickman was ranked as the 28th-best offensive guard in the nation by Rivals.com in 2005 and the No. 43 overall prospect in California by the service. Hickman only visited Nebraska, but also received offers from Arizona, Arizona State, Colorado, Washington and UCLA.

Personal

Hickman is the son of Bill Hickman and Nancy Smith, and was born on Aug. 14, 1986. He has not yet declared a major.

Sean Hill #86

Lisle, Ill. (Naperville North)

2006 Outlook

Junior tight end Sean Hill has provided valuable depth in the Nebraska tight end corps during the first half of his Nebraska career. This season he will push for playing time in a deep position bolstered by the return of fifth-year senior Matt Herian. Hill has excellent size (6-3, 250) and strength that could make him an imposing blocker from the tight end spot.

Hill did not see action in the 2004 or 2005 seasons after redshirting in his first year at Nebraska.

Career

Hill added depth at the tight end spot in 2004 and 2005, but did not participate in a game. Hill walked on and sat out his first season as a redshirt in 2003.

Before Nebraska (Naperville North HS)

Hill played center and offensive guard at Naperville North High School for Coach Larry McKeon. A high school teammate of NU linebacker Corey McKeon, Hill received all-conference and all-area honors, and was named honorable-mention Naperville player of the year in addition to lettering twice in each football and basketball. He was recognized for his academic success by earning a spot on the all-conference academic team, and was an honor roll student.

Personal

Sean is the son of Mary and Tom Hill and was born on Nov. 12, 1984. He has two older brothers, Andy and Kevin. Andy was a former member of the Husker golf team, and Sean's uncle, Dan, is a former Nebraska football player. Sean is majoring in communication studies. Hill has volunteered his time with the Chalk Talk Youth Football Program.

Mike Huff #61

Ralston, Neb.

Sophomore offensive lineman Mike Huff made outstanding progress during spring practice and enters the fall in position to earn a starting spot. The 6-4, 305-pound Huff worked with the top unit at right guard for the majority of spring practice, a position vacated by the graduation of two-year starter Brandon Koch.

A native of Ralston, Neb., Huff played sparingly as a reserve last season after redshirting in his first year in the program.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

A reserve guard, Huff saw action against Oklahoma, when the Huskers used a power formation with extra offensive linemen.

2004 (Redshirt)

Huff redshirted in his first season in the program.

Before Nebraska (Ralston HS)

Huff was the first Ralston High product to receive a scholarship from Nebraska since 1982 (Brad Johnson, offensive tackle). Huff excelled on the offensive and defensive lines for a Ralston team that finished 2003 with a 5-5 record for Coach Tyler Zahn, a Nebraska letterman in 1991. Huff was a second-team All-Nebraska pick by the Omaha World-Herald as a senior, and earned second-team super-state honors from the Lincoln Journal Star.

Huff earned first-team Class B all-state honors from both publications in 2003. He was a four-year starter at offensive tackle for the Rams, while starting three seasons at defensive tackle. As a senior, Huff made 90 tackles and had 10.5 sacks, as Ralston earned a spot in the Class B playoffs each of Huff's final three seasons, and reached the state title game in 2002. In addition to his on-the-field honors, Huff was chosen as Ralston High's Lifter of the Year each of his last three years.

Huff lettered in track four times and lettered in basketball as a junior. He committed to Nebraska in October of 2003, after drawing recruiting interest from Colorado State, Iowa and Kansas State, among others.

Personal

The son of Michael Sr. and Christine Huff, Mike was born in Omaha on Aug. 23, 1985. Huff is majoring in communication studies.

Brandon Jackson #32

I-Back | Junior | 5-11 | 210 | Two Letters
Horn Lake, Miss.

- ▶ 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team
- ▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Junior Brandon Jackson is expected to be among a group of talented players who will push for the starting I-back job vacated by three-year starter Cory Ross. Jackson was limited by injury in 2005, but still played a key reserve role in the Nebraska backfield. As a true freshman in 2004, the Horn Lake, Miss., native had an impressive rookie season while serving as one of Ross' primary backups.

Jackson will have to play catch up in his push for playing time after missing all of spring practice following off-season shoulder surgery. Jackson was also held back in 2005 because of another shoulder injury suffered during the previous spring. He finished his sophomore year with 18 carries, and played a role on kickoff returns. As a true freshman in 2004, Jackson ran for 390 yards and six touchdowns, and averaged better than 21 yards per kickoff return. A regular volunteer in the community, Jackson was named to the 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team.

Jackson played in nine games and earned starts against Wake Forest and Pitt, when the Huskers opened with two I-backs. Jackson finished the season with 52 rushing yards on 18 carries. He ran for 18 yards on six carries in the opener against Maine and capped the regular season with 25 yards on four carries at Colorado. Jackson was on Nebraska's top kickoff return unit for the first half of the year and returned six kickoffs for 63 yards. He also caught a five-yard pass against Wake Forest.

2004 (Freshman)

Jackson played in 10 games and finished the year with 390 yards and six touchdowns, while averaging 4.6 yards per carry. The 390 yards were the ninth-most ever by a Husker freshman. Jackson quickly established himself as a rushing threat, picking up 79 yards on 13 carries in the opener against Western Illinois. The 79 yards were the most by a Husker true freshman in a season opener since at least 1973.

Jackson scored his first two touchdowns against Baylor, when he rushed a career-high 18 times for a career-best 89 yards. He also had five kickoff returns for 158 yards against the Bears, including a season-long 59-yarder, giving him 247 all-purpose yards, the 10th-most in school history and the second-best ever by an NU freshman. Jackson added two more touchdowns the next week at Kansas State and rushed 11 times for 57 yards. He had just four carries at Iowa State, but crossed the goal line twice. Jackson had double-figure carries five times. He finished the year with 17 kickoff returns for 359 yards, an average of 21.1 yards per return, fifth in the Big 12.

Before Nebraska (Horn Lake HS)

Jackson was the first NU signee from Mississippi since current Philadelphia Eagle running back Correll Buckhalter in 1997. Jackson rushed for 1,200 yards and 11 touchdowns for Horn Lake in 2003, helping Coach Larry Gann's squad to a 6-6 record and a trip to the second round of the Class 5A playoffs (largest class). Jackson also had 200 receiving yards and one touchdown reception. As a junior, Jackson rushed for 1,783 yards and 28 touchdowns, and made 20 receptions for 200 yards and two touchdowns. Jackson's performance helped Horn Lake to a 10-3 record and an appearance in the second round of the state playoffs.

Jackson was chosen as the 5A Offensive Player of the Year by the Mississippi Coaches Association two straight years and was an all-region and all-state selection. He was named to the Dandy Dozen by the Jackson Clarion-Ledger, signifying the top 12 players in the state of Mississippi. Jackson also received all-metro honors in the Memphis area his junior and senior years, and was Horn Lake's MVP as a senior. He played in the Mississippi-Alabama all-star game.

Jackson lettered four times in track, and had a career best of 10.6 seconds in the 100 meters. He was sixth at state in the 100 as a senior, and helped the 4x200-meter relay squad finish third at state in 2004, while aiding the 4x100 relay squad's fourth-place state finish. He was also part of the 4x400-meter relay team that was second at the Class 5A state meet in 2003. Jackson also visited Mississippi State and Memphis.

Personal

Jackson is the son of Barbara Jackson and was born on Oct. 2, 1985. He is a sociology major and was named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll in the fall of 2004. Jackson moved to Mississippi from Chicago in 1996. Jackson was a volunteer speaker for the 2005 Fall Break Tour of Excellence.

Leon Jackson #5

I-Back | Sophomore | 6-1 | 210 | One Letter
Pasco, Wash.

- ▶ 2005 Nebraska Offensive Scout Team MVP

Leon Jackson came to Nebraska as one of the nation's top two-way prospects, starring as both a running back and defensive back in high school. Jackson has continued to show that versatility since arriving on campus, spending time at three positions. The 6-1, 210-pound speedster practiced at I-back this spring and is among a talented group of players who will push for playing time at the position this fall.

One of 13 true freshmen to see action in 2005, Jackson began at running back. However, he quickly switched to free safety where he spent the majority of the year, while also serving on NU's kickoff coverage unit. Jackson also doubled as a receiver on Nebraska's scout team unit, earning scout team MVP honors, and spent pre-bowl practice primarily at receiver.

2005 (Freshman)

Jackson did not play in the season's first two games, but saw action in nine of the final 10 games. A member of the kickoff coverage team that ranked among the nation's best, Jackson made his only tackle on the opening kickoff against Texas Tech. He also provided depth at free safety behind senior starter Blake Tiedtke.

Before Nebraska (Pasco HS)

Jackson was one of the top prospects in the Pacific Northwest at Pasco High School. Jackson starred at both running back and defensive back for Coach Steve Graff, helping the team to a state semifinal appearance in 2004. Jackson racked up huge numbers as a senior, rushing for 1,745 yards and 23 touchdowns on 127 carries. He also caught five passes for 144 yards and a touchdown. He capped his senior season with 189 yards and two touchdowns on 18 carries in the state semifinal loss.

Jackson's performance as a senior earned him first-team all-state honors from both the Seattle Times and the Associated Press. Jackson had similar numbers as a junior, rushing for 1,806 yards and 32 touchdowns on 212 carries, with another two scores among his nine receptions. Jackson's efforts as a junior helped Pasco High to the Class 4A state title, and he earned second-team all-state and Big 9 Co-Offensive Player-of-the-Year honors in the process. In his career, Jackson racked up 4,929 yards and averaged a remarkable 10.7 yards per carry.

Jackson was a USA Today Preseason Super 25 player and was one of seven Husker recruits who played in the U.S. Army All-American game. He also starred in the Pasco secondary and was ranked as the nation's No. 2 safety prospect by recruiting expert Tom Lemming.

Jackson's blazing speed led to honors on the track, as he captured the state title in the 100 meters as both a freshman and sophomore, including a 10.74 clocking as a sophomore. He had nine total letters, earning four in football, three in basketball and two in track. Jackson only made an official visit to Nebraska, but chose the Huskers after also receiving offers from Oregon, Oregon State, Washington, Washington State and California.

Personal

Jackson is the son of Leon Jackson Sr., and Deborah Wright and was born on June 1, 1986. He has not yet declared a major. Jackson has volunteered his time with the Read to Succeed Book Drive.

Andy Kadavy #47

Linebacker | Senior | 6-0 | 220 | One Letter
Seward, Neb.

- ▶ Two-Time Nebraska Defensive Scout Team Player of the Year (2004, 2005)
- ▶ Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005, 2006)

- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)

Andy Kadavy (pronounced KAD-uh-vee) enters his senior season hoping to push for playing time in a deep and talented Husker linebacking corps. A valuable reserve during his Nebraska career, Kadavy has seen action in nine games over the past three seasons. He has made his biggest mark on the Nebraska scout team defense, and his efforts have earned him NU's Defensive Scout Team Player-of-the-Year Award each of the past two seasons.

A native of Seward, Neb., Kadavy began his career on offense as a fullback, but made the switch to linebacker in the fall of 2003. Kadavy is also strong in the classroom having been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll five times. Kadavy carries a 3.214 cumulative grade-point average and is expected to graduate in May of 2007.

2005 (Junior)

Kadavy appeared in games against Maine, Wake Forest, Kansas State and Michigan as a reserve linebacker. He had a pass breakup against Wake Forest.

2004 (Sophomore)

Kadavy played against Kansas, Texas Tech and Baylor, but did not have a tackle.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

A reserve linebacker, Kadavy played against Texas A&M on kickoff coverage.

2002 (Redshirt)

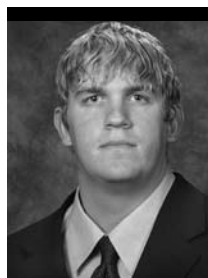

A walk-on fullback, Kadavy redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Seward HS)

Kadavy was a standout as a fullback and linebacker for Coach Greg Welch at Seward High School. As a senior he rushed for about 900 yards and made 147 tackles on defense, helping the Bluejays to the Class B state title. He made nine tackles in Seward's state title victory over Crete. Seward reached the state quarterfinals in Kadavy's junior season and made the state semifinals during his sophomore year. Kadavy was also a standout on the track, and helped Seward to the 2002 Class B state title. Kadavy was a member of three state championship relay teams (4x100, 4x400, 4x800). He was also a three-year starter in basketball.

Personal

The son of Galen and Teri Stuhr, Andy was born on Oct. 10, 1983, and is majoring in elementary education. He has volunteered his time with several hospital visitations, as a speaker at Lincoln's Park Middle School and as a speaker during Nebraska's 2006 Spring Break Tour of Excellence.

Lane Kelly #92

Long Snapper | Senior | 6-4 | 270 | Three Letters
Omaha, Neb. (Creighton Prep)

- ▶ 2004 Second-Team Academic All-Big 12

Lane Kelly has been a fixture as Nebraska's starting long snapper for both punting and place-kicking the past three years. He enters his senior season ready to handle the duties again this fall. Since arriving on campus in 2003, Kelly has snapped for a pair of punters who have moved on to the NFL and a place-kicker who earned freshman All-America honors.

The Omaha native continued his outstanding work as Nebraska's long snapper in 2005, helping Nebraska to great success in both the punting and place-kicking departments. Kelly teamed with senior punter Sam Koch for the second straight season, assisting Koch to a school-record punting average and the Huskers to a No. 2 national rank in net punting. He also smoothed the transition for freshman place-kicker Jordan Congdon, who earned first-team freshman All-America honors.

In 2004, Kelly played in all 11 games, as Nebraska broke in a new starting punter in Koch and alternated place-kickers throughout the season. Kelly played in all 13 games in 2003 and helped freshman place-kicker David Dyches hit on 14 field goals, while snapping for All-America punter Kyle Larson.

Kelly participated in the Snapping Superstars College Invitational at Elmhurst (Ill.) College on July 15-16.

2005 (Junior)

The solid snapping by Kelly helped Congdon connect on 19-of-23 field goals, and 31-of-32 PAT attempts. Congdon's 19 field goals established a new Nebraska single-season record. In the punting department, Nebraska finished second nationally in net punting, averaging 39.85 yards per attempt.

2004 (Sophomore)

Kelly was Nebraska's long snapper for the second straight year. The execution between Kelly and Koch helped Nebraska rank 16th nationally in net punting. The Huskers also connected on 6-of-12 field-goal attempts and 34-of-35 extra-point tries. Kelly also made four tackles on the punt coverage team, including unassisted stops against Missouri and Iowa State.

2003 (Freshman)

Kelly was the only walk-on freshman who was part of Nebraska's 105-man fall camp roster. He won the short snapping job immediately and by mid-season handled the punt chores. His efforts were a key part of the success of freshman place-kicker David Dyches, who connected on 14-of-21 field goal attempts and all 32 of his extra points. Kelly's efforts helped Nebraska to a 40.1-yard net punting average, tops in the Big 12 and ninth nationally. Kelly made an unassisted tackle on a punt return at Missouri.

Before Nebraska (Creighton Prep HS)

Kelly came to Nebraska from the tradition-rich football program at Omaha Creighton Prep where he played tight end and defensive end in addition to handling the Junior Jays' snapping chores.

A four-year letterman, Kelly earned All-Metro honors from the Omaha World-Herald as a senior for his play at tight end. Kelly helped the Junior Jays to a state title in his freshman season, was part of a runner-up team as a sophomore and played on state semifinal teams his final two seasons. Kelly also earned three letters in basketball and helped Prep to the state tournament in his junior season.

Personal

Kelly is the son of Doug and Kristi Kelly and was born on April 12, 1984. Kelly is majoring in criminal justice and was a second-team academic All-Big 12 pick in 2004. He is on track to graduate in May of 2007.

Tyler Kester #19

Punter | Junior | 6-1 | 200
Clearwater, Neb.

2006 Outlook

Tyler Kester has served in a backup role at punter the past two seasons, but is poised to battle for the starting punting job during fall camp. Kester is one of the leading candidates to replace graduated senior Sam Koch, along with sophomores Dan Titchener and Jake Wesch. A year ago, Koch established a Nebraska single-season punting record in 2005 by averaging 46.5 yards per attempt, and also helped Nebraska rank second nationally in net punting.

Career

Kester served as a backup punter in both 2004 and 2005, but did not see game action. Kester walked on to the Husker program and redshirted in his first season in 2003.

Before Nebraska (Clearwater HS)

Kester was a four-year letterman in football, basketball and track at Clearwater High School. He was a first-team all-state performer in football and qualified for the state track meet on four occasions. Kester holds Clearwater school records for total career offensive yards and career touchdowns with 5,279 yards and 87 touchdowns. He averaged 41.6 yards per punt during his prep career.

Personal

The son of Bill and Sandy Kester, Tyler was born on March 20, 1985. He is an animal science major, and has volunteered his time with Chalk Talk Youth Football, the American Cancer Society, Relay for Life, the Lincoln Action Program and as a speaker at Belmont Elementary.

Colton Koehler #40

Fullback | Redshirt Freshman | 6-1 | 225
Harvard, Neb. (Nebraska Wesleyan)

2006 Outlook

Colton Koehler joined the Nebraska program for the spring semester and participated in spring drills with the Huskers. Koehler spent his first semester of college at Nebraska Wesleyan before transferring for the second semester, and will sit out the 2006 season because of NCAA transfer rules.

Before Nebraska (Nebraska Wesleyan/Harvard HS)

Koehler spent the 2005 season playing for Coach Brian Keller at Nebraska Wesleyan. Koehler played in eight games and finished with one reception and one tackle. Koehler was a multi-sport standout at Harvard High School, which played Eight-Man football. Koehler played quarterback for Harvard, and earned Class D-1 honorable-mention all-state honors. He also played in the Nebraska-Oklahoma eight-man All-Star game and the 28th annual Sertoma Eight-Man All-Star game.

On the hardwood, Koehler was a Class D-1 first-team all-state selection and also earned all-league honors in the Twin Valley Conference. Koehler was also selected to the Lincoln Journal Star Academic All-State team.

Personal

The son of Jerry and Karen Koehler, Colton was born on Feb. 25, 1987. Koehler is majoring in accounting and carries a 3.443 cumulative grade-point average.

Thomas Lawson #36

I-Back/Fullback | Sophomore | 6-0 | 230 | One Letter
Parker, Colo. (Ponderosa)

2006 Outlook

Sophomore Thomas Lawson provides Nebraska with excellent depth in the offensive backfield. The 6-0, 230-pound Lawson spent the majority of spring practice at I-back, but also has the ability and size to play fullback. Lawson will be joined in the NU program this fall by his brother, Adrian, a freshman walk-on who played at Lincoln North Star High School.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Lawson backed up both the I-back and fullback, and played at Colorado.

2004 (Redshirt)

Lawson was a walk-on and redshirted in his first season with the Huskers.

Before Nebraska (Ponderosa HS)

As a running back at Ponderosa High School in Colorado, Lawson helped his team to a state title as a senior in 2003. Lawson rushed for 1,800 yards for Coach James Woodruff and was named the MVP of the state championship game. Along with earning three letters in football, Lawson claimed three letters on the track, and also earned a spot on the principal's honor roll.

Personal

The son of Thomas and Paulainga Lawson, Thomas was born on April 14, 1986 in Evanston, Wyo. He is majoring in communication studies.

Newt Lingenfelter #74

Offensive Line | Senior | 6-5 | 280 | One Letter
Plainview, Neb.

- ▶ Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2002, 2004, 2005)
- ▶ Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005, 2006)

Senior Newt Lingenfelter has made steady progress throughout his career and enters 2006 looking to earn playing time on the offensive line. Lingenfelter served as a backup tackle last season and has the ability to play multiple positions. Lingenfelter missed all of 2006 spring drills when recovering from a shoulder injury, but should be at full speed for fall camp. Lingenfelter is majoring in mechanized systems management and is on track to graduate this December. Originally a walk-on, Lingenfelter was placed on scholarship at the end of spring practice in 2005.

Career

Lingenfelter has served in a backup role on the offensive line each of the past three years. He made his first appearance in a game in NU's win at Colorado in 2005, after not appearing in a game the previous two seasons. A former walk-on, Lingenfelter redshirted in his first season at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Plainview HS)

Lingenfelter was a standout for co-coaches Dean Boyer and Bob Green at Plainview High School. Lingenfelter played offensive tackle and defensive end and earned honorable-mention all-state honors. His performance helped Plainview to the state playoffs in his freshman and sophomore seasons. Lingenfelter earned 11 total letters at Plainview, four each in football and track and three in basketball.

Personal

The son of Bob and Julie Lingenfelter, Newton was born on Sept. 8, 1983. Lingenfelter carries a 3.163 cumulative grade-point average in mechanized systems management. He has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll six times in his career. His father, Bob, was an offensive lineman for the Huskers and lettered three seasons from 1974 to 1976.

Marlon Lucky #20

North Hollywood, Calif.

Sophomore Marlon Lucky will enter fall camp as one of the leading candidates to fill the starting role at I-back, replacing three-year starter Cory Ross. In 2005, Lucky showed flashes of the ability that made him one of the most coveted prep prospects in the country, serving as a top backup to Ross, while also excelling on kickoff return duty.

Lucky finished strong in the spring, and he and fellow sophomore Cody Glenn are at the top of a talented group of I-backs entering fall camp. The 6-0, 210-pound Lucky has the speed to be a breakaway threat both as a back and a kickoff return man. He also has excellent receiving skills out of the backfield, making him an ideal fit in the Huskers' offense. Lucky joined the Nebraska program after earning Parade All-America honors by scoring 40 touchdowns as a senior at North Hollywood (Calif.) High.

Lucky was one of 13 true freshmen to see action in 2005, and played in all 12 games. He was Nebraska's third-leading rusher with 129 yards on 43 carries, and also played a key role on Nebraska's kickoff return unit. He became a starter in that area midway through the season and averaged 20.9 yards on 15 returns, including a season-long 57-yard return at Kansas. He also had a 100-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against the Jayhawks nullified by penalty.

Lucky made his debut against Maine, rushing 13 times for 44 yards. Against Texas Tech, Lucky rushed three times for 23 yards and he added 18 yards on seven carries at Baylor. In the regular-season finale at Colorado, Lucky provided a spark for the Nebraska running game, picking up 33 yards on 10 carries. Lucky also caught two passes on the season.

Lucky's 2005 Game-by-Game

Kansas State	2	7	0	4
at Colorado	10	33	0	10
Michigan	1	3	0	3
Totals	43	129	0	11

Before Nebraska (North Hollywood HS)

Lucky was one of the nation's most sought-after prep prospects in 2005. A Parade All-American, Lucky racked up huge rushing numbers at North Hollywood High for Head Coach Brad Ratcliffe. As a senior, Lucky rushed for 2,036 yards and 40 touchdowns on 222 carries, capping a prep career in which he rushed for 4,881 yards and 81 touchdowns in three seasons. Lucky also caught 23 passes for 443 yards and six touchdowns as a senior. His performance as a senior earned him selection as the most valuable player in his league and first-team CalHi Sports all-state honors. As a junior, Lucky had 1,778 yards and 28 touchdowns, while also catching a pair of touchdown passes.

Lucky was an all-league, all-city and all-area selection as a junior, and also received first-team underclassmen all-state honors. A second-team All-America selection by USA Today, Lucky played in the U.S. Army All-American game in San Antonio, and ran for a touchdown in the second half of the game. Every recruiting service in the country ranked Lucky among its top backs, including Rivals.com, who ranked Lucky as the No. 2 back in the country and the second-best player in California. Lucky was a standout at the Nike Training Camp in San Diego the summer before his senior season, ranking in the top 10 at the camp in the 40-yard dash, shuttle run, bench press and vertical leap.

Lucky was also a four-year letterwinner in track and field, while he played basketball during his junior year. He only visited Nebraska, but also received scholarship offers from USC and Washington, among others.

Personal

Lucky lived in Dallas through seventh grade, then moved to the Los Angeles area where his uncle and a guardian currently reside in North Hollywood. Lucky was born on Feb. 28, 1986, and has not yet declared a major. Lucky has volunteered his time with the Read to Succeed Book Drive.

Kevin Luhrs #89

Defensive Line | Junior | 6-1 | 260 | One Letter
Omaha, Neb. (Creighton Prep)

- Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2004, 2005)
- Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005, 2006)

Defensive end Kevin Luhrs provided outstanding depth for the Huskers at defensive end in 2005, playing behind All-Big 12 selection Adam Carriker. This spring, Luhrs tried his hand on the inside, lining up at defensive tackle. He will enter fall camp listed as a backup at the position behind senior Barry Cryer, but has the versatility to move back to end if called upon.

The 6-1, 260-pound Luhrs is a product of Nebraska high school powerhouse Omaha Creighton Prep, and has distinguished himself in the classroom at Nebraska, earning Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll selection six times at Nebraska.

Luhrs was a reserve behind Adam Carriker at base end and played against Iowa State, Texas Tech and Kansas, and made an assisted tackle against the Cyclones.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Luhrs was a reserve at defensive end, but did not see game action.

2003 (Redshirt)

A walk-on, Luhrs redshirted in his first season with the Huskers.

Before Nebraska (Creighton Prep HS)

Luhrs was part of a strong football tradition at Omaha Creighton Prep High School. He was a member of four state qualifying teams, including the 2000 state runner-up squad. Luhrs played five different positions for Coach Tom Jaworski, and earned all-state and All-Metro honors from the Omaha World-Herald and Lincoln Journal Star, and was voted Metro Coaches Defensive Lineman of the Year.

Luhrs' final high school game was at Memorial Stadium, when he served as the team captain for the North squad at the 2003 Shrine Bowl. He was also a team captain for the Bluejays in 2002, and went on to receive the U.S. Army Scholar-Athlete Award and Mid-City Bank Award. He was also named academic all-state and an academic All-Metro team captain as a senior. Luhrs is one of four Huskers out of Creighton Prep, joining Dan Glassman, Lane Kelly and Zach Potter.

Personal

The son of Robert and Susan Luhrs, Kevin was born on Sept. 29, 1984. Luhrs is majoring in nutritional science and dietetics and carries a 3.467 cumulative grade-point average. Luhrs has volunteered his time with hospital visits in the Lincoln and Omaha area and at Legacy Retirement Center.

Nathan McBride #55

Scottsdale, Ariz. (Chaparral)

Redshirt freshman Nathan McBride enters his second season at Nebraska with hopes of pushing for playing time on Nebraska's special teams. McBride redshirted in his first year in the program and this fall is expected to be a backup to senior Lane Kelly, who is entering his fourth season as Nebraska's starting long snapper.

2005 (Redshirt)

A walk-on athlete, McBride redshirted in his first season with the Huskers.

Before Nebraska (Chaparral HS)

McBride played on a state championship team at Chaparral High School in 2002, and added an East Sky Region championship his junior year. McBride lettered all four years in football and once in track. Former Nebraska nose guard John Reinhardt, who lettered at NU in 1983 and 1984, was defensive coach at Chaparral from 1999 to 2001, including McBride's freshman year.

Personal

McBride is the son of Steve and Cathy McBride, and was born on March 27, 1987, in Phoenix, Ariz. He is majoring in business administration.

Dontrell Moore #19

Linebacker | Senior | 6-2 | 240 | One Letter
Thibodaux, La. (Coffeyville CC)

Dontrell Moore returns for his senior season as part of a deep, versatile and talented Nebraska linebacking corps. Moore played in all 11 regular-season games last season, and also assisted on Nebraska's outstanding special teams. Moore has the versatility to play any of the linebacker positions, as well as at defensive end.

The 6-2, 240-pound Moore spent time at all three linebacker spots in 2005, and also saw action at rush end in passing situations late in the year. A native of Thibodaux, La., Moore was an imposing pass rusher at Coffeyville (Kan.) Community College before coming to Nebraska.

2005 (Junior)

Moore played in all 11 regular-season games before missing the Alamo Bowl. He finished with three tackles, including a solo stop against Wake Forest and assists against Texas Tech and at Missouri. He played an enhanced role at Colorado as a pass rusher, and registered a hurry on CU quarterback Joel Klatt. Moore also contributed on special teams, serving as a starter on the kickoff squad, while being a backup on the punt, punt block, field goal/PAT and kickoff return teams.

Before Nebraska (Thibodaux HS/Coffeyville CC)

Moore led the Coffeyville Community College defense with more than 50 tackles, including 18 tackles for loss and 7.5 sacks. His performance helped Coach Jeff Leiker's team to a 10-2 record in 2004, a victory in a bowl game in Scottsdale, Ariz., and a No. 3 national ranking. Moore also had 13 quarterback hurries, five pass breakups, a pair of forced fumbles and one fumble recovery.

Moore was the 12th-ranked junior college linebacker in the country according to College Football News. He came to Nebraska from Coffeyville CC, which also produced former Husker defensive end Wali Muhammad and Nebraska's 1983 Heisman Trophy winner Mike Rozier. Moore had a standout prep career at Thibodaux High School in Louisiana. Moore received scholarship offers from several other schools, including Arkansas and South Carolina.

Personal

The son of Rosalind Moore, Dontrell was born on Sept. 17, 1984. He is majoring in sociology and is expected to graduate in May of 2007.

Josh Mueller #81

Tight End | Junior | 6-5 | 265 | Two Letters
Clearwater, Fla. (Countryside)

▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)

Junior Josh Mueller is a key part of a talented group of Nebraska tight ends. Mueller worked his way into the Huskers' regular tight end rotation in 2005, and is coming off an outstanding spring practice session. The 6-5, 265-pound Mueller is expected to see significant action this fall, along with fellow junior J.B. Phillips and fifth-year senior Matt Herian, who returns after missing last year with a broken leg.

A native of Columbus, Neb., Mueller has ideal size for a tight end and also has excellent athletic ability and good hands. Mueller joined the Nebraska program in 2003 as one of the nation's top tight end prospects. Mueller played in nine games as a redshirt freshman in 2004, then appeared in all 12 games last fall and made his first career reception against Kansas State.

Mueller appeared in all 12 games, including starts against Iowa State, Missouri and Kansas State when the Huskers opened with multiple tight ends. Mueller, Phillips and redshirt freshman Clayton Sievers were asked to fill the void at tight end with Herian out for the entire 2005 season with a leg injury.

Mueller made his first career catch, an 18-yard reception, against Kansas State. In addition to his work at tight end, Mueller contributed as a member of the field goal and PAT teams, as well as being a reserve on the kickoff return team.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Mueller played in nine games, including duty as a blocker on NU's PAT and field goal units. His playing time increased after starting tight end Herian was sidelined. Mueller was called on as a blocker when NU went to two and three tight end sets in short-yardage areas. He had an unassisted tackle at Iowa State.

2003 (Redshirt)

Mueller redshirted in his first year at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Columbus Lakeview HS)

Mueller was one of the nation's premier tight end prospects despite missing most of his senior year at Columbus Lakeview with shoulder and knee injuries. After his injuries, Mueller moved to wide receiver for the remainder of the 2002 season and finished the year with 10 receptions. As a junior, he played running back for Lakeview and finished the season with 851 yards and caught four passes on his way to honorable-mention all-state honors. He started at tight end for the Vikings as a sophomore and lettered for four years. Mueller was selected to play in the U.S. Army All-American Bowl, but did not participate because of injury.

Mueller was a multi-sport athlete at Lakeview, lettering three seasons in basketball, including his sophomore season when Lakeview won the Class C-1 state title. He helped the Vikings to a runner-up finish as a junior in 2002, but did not play basketball as a senior because of shoulder surgery. Mueller also earned two letters in track, and was a member of the National Honor Society.

Personal

Mueller was born on Aug. 28, 1984, and is the son of Con and Marla (Lichty) Mueller. He is a finance major with a 3.046 cumulative grade-point average, and has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll four times. Both of Josh's parents are UNL graduates, and his mother played volleyball, earning three letters from 1978 to 1980. Mueller's younger sister, Janae, is a member of the Husker track team. Mueller volunteered his time during American Education Week and with local hospital visits.

Lydon Murtha #76

Hutchinson, Minn.

▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Sophomore Lydon Murtha made significant contributions to a youthful Husker offensive line during the 2005 season and will enter fall camp with hopes of earning a starting job. Murtha had a solid spring camp and is part of a group of talented young tackles that also includes junior Chris Patrick and sophomore Matt Slauson.

Murtha played in nine games last season with three starts at left tackle. At 6-7 and 315 pounds, Murtha has the prototypical size and strength to play the tackle position. Murtha was hit by injuries and redshirted in 2004, after being one of the nation's top prep offensive line prospects out of Hutchinson High School in Minnesota, where he was a high school teammate of Nebraska receiver Nate Swift.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Murtha played in nine games, including three starts at left tackle. Murtha provided depth behind Comealius Fuamatu-Thomas before moving into the starting lineup against Oklahoma. Late in the season, Murtha split time with Chris Patrick after Fuamatu-Thomas was lost for the year with an injury. The play of the offensive line helped Nebraska post the top two passing efforts in school history in 2005.

2004 (Redshirt)

Murtha was looked at to possibly play as a true freshman, but suffered a leg injury early in fall camp and subsequently redshirted.

Before Nebraska (Hutchinson HS)

Murtha joined Hutchinson High School teammate Nathan Swift in becoming the first players from Minnesota to sign with Nebraska since 1995. In 2003, Murtha helped Hutchinson and Coach Andy Rostberg to a 9-4 record and a state runner-up finish in Class 4A (second-largest). Murtha helped pave the way for Swift to rush for more than 2,000 yards as a senior tailback. Murtha was a first-team all-state selection by several outlets, including Associated Press. He was an all-metro pick in the Minneapolis area each of his final two seasons and was named the Minnesota Gatorade Player of the Year in 2003. A three-year starter, he helped Hutchinson to the state semifinals as a junior in 2002, after making a trip to the playoffs as a sophomore in 2001.

Murtha was ranked as the nation's No. 1 offensive tackle prospect by ESPN recruiting analyst Tom Lemming. Murtha was one of three 2004 Husker recruits who participated in the U.S. Army All-American Game.

Murtha was also one of Minnesota's top shot putters. In his first year of track competition in 2003, he finished third at the state meet with a throw of 57-6, before finishing fifth in 2004. Off the athletic fields, Murtha was an Honor Roll member his final two years and was a youth leader at his church.

Personal

The son of Bill and Kim Murtha, Lydon was born in Homestead, Fla., on Nov. 13, 1985. He is majoring in economics, and was named to the 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Honor Roll. Murtha has volunteered his time with local hospital visits and at the Legacy Retirement Center.

Matt O'Hanlon #33

Defensive Back | Sophomore | 5-11 | 200
Bellevue, Neb. (Bellevue East)

▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Sophomore Matt O'Hanlon redshirted in his first season in the Nebraska program and is expected to provide depth in the secondary this fall. O'Hanlon is listed as a reserve behind junior Tierre Green at strong safety heading into fall camp.

O'Hanlon joined the program in January of 2005, after a standout prep career at Bellevue East High School. O'Hanlon has started his college studies on a strong note, as he owns a 3.216 cumulative grade-point average in secondary education.

2005 (Redshirt)

O'Hanlon redshirted after joining the program in January.

Before Nebraska (Bellevue East HS)

O'Hanlon was a quarterback at Bellevue East as a sophomore and junior before moving to running back as a senior for Coach Jerry Lovell. On defense, O'Hanlon played cornerback and free safety, while returning punts and kickoffs. A team captain, O'Hanlon led Bellevue East to two state playoff berths, including reaching the quarterfinals as a senior. He was an all-district and honorable-mention all-state pick for his performance on the gridiron, and was also an honorable-mention academic all-state pick. He participated in the 2004 Nebraska Shrine Bowl, starting at strong safety.

O'Hanlon also participated in powerlifting, winning a state title in 2003 and finishing as a runner-up in 2004. He earned four varsity soccer letters and helped the Chieftains to the state playoffs in 2003.

Personal

The son of Joe and Becky O'Hanlon, Matt was born on Oct. 5, 1985. He is majoring in secondary education/social sciences and has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll twice.

T.J. O'Leary #82

Omaha, Neb. (Millard North/New Mexico State)

2006 Outlook

Sophomore T.J. O'Leary is eligible for his first action at Nebraska after sitting out the 2005 season as a redshirt under NCAA transfer rules. An Omaha native, O'Leary began his collegiate career at New Mexico State in 2004, but transferred back to his home state after one season. O'Leary enters fall camp as a backup at long snapper behind senior Lane Kelly, who is entering his fourth year as a starter.

2005 (Redshirt)

O'Leary redshirted after transferring from New Mexico State.

Before Nebraska (Millard North/New Mexico State)

O'Leary played in every game for New Mexico State in 2004 and made three tackles on special teams, while serving as the long snapper. O'Leary was a member of the 2003 Class A state title team at Millard North, as well as the 2002 state runner-up squad. He was a first-team all-state selection and was selected for the 2004 Shrine Bowl. In addition to three letters in football, O'Leary earned two letters in baseball.

Personal

T.J.'s full name is Timothy John, and he is the son of John and Peggy O'Leary, and was born on Dec. 20, 1985. John O'Leary played for Nebraska from 1971 to 1975. T.J. is majoring in communication studies.

Mark O'Shea #50

Linebacker | Senior | 5-11 | 235
Dallas, Texas (Jesuit College Prep/Iona)

▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)

2006 Outlook

Senior Mark O'Shea is hopeful of earning playing time as a reserve in the Nebraska linebacking corps during the 2006 campaign. O'Shea sat out last season as a redshirt after transferring from Iona College. O'Shea will enter fall camp as a backup to All-America candidate Corey McKeon at MIKE linebacker. O'Shea is majoring in finance and is on track to earn his degree next May.

2005 (Redshirt)

O'Shea redshirted after transferring from Iona College.

Before Nebraska (Jesuit College Prep/Iona)

O'Shea spent two seasons at Iona College in New Rochelle, N.Y., where he played middle linebacker and served on special teams for Coach Fred Mariani. O'Shea started at middle linebacker for Coach Bob Wonderlick at Jesuit College Prep in Dallas. A two-year letterman, O'Shea was also a standout on the track, as he was named the school's top athlete in field events his senior year.

Personal

The son of Arthur A. and Patty O'Shea, Mark was born on May 25, 1984. O'Shea carries a 3.026 cumulative grade-point average. He has twice been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll. O'Shea has volunteered his time with the Lincoln Action Program and "School is Cool" Week. His older brother, Matt, was a defensive lineman for Nebraska and completed his eligibility in 2005.

Steve Octavien #15

Linebacker | Junior | 6-0 | 240
Naples, Fla. (Lely/William Rainey Harper College)

▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

The standout play of junior linebacker Steve Octavien was one of the top stories to come out of Nebraska's 2006 spring practice. Octavien gave the Nebraska offense fits with his play-making ability, and showed little effect of a leg injury that sidelined him for all but one quarter of one game during the 2005 season. Octavien capped his spring with two tackles and an interception in the Red-White game.

One of five returning linebackers with starting experience, Octavien will enter fall camp expected to battle fellow junior Bo Ruud for the starting WILL linebacker job. Octavien was the starter at WILL linebacker to open last season, but suffered a broken leg early in the second quarter in the opener against Maine. The injury required surgery, and Octavien also underwent subsequent shoulder surgery.

The 6-0, 240-pound Octavien joined the Nebraska program in January of 2005, and made an immediate impression. He quickly became a disruptive force for the Husker defense and made five tackles in the Red-White game.

2005 (Injured-Redshirt)

Octavien showed his play-making ability in his brief time on the field against Maine. Octavien made four tackles against the Black Bears, including two tackles for loss, beginning with a four-yard TFL on the game's first play.

Before Nebraska (Lely HS/William Rainey Harper College)

A native of Naples, Fla., Octavien played in only four games for William Rainey Harper College in 2004 because of injury, after a standout first season at the school. Despite the limited action, Octavien was ranked as the No. 4 junior college linebacker prospect by College Football News. In 2003, Octavien finished with 124 tackles, including 15 tackles for loss, helping Coach John Eliasik's team to a 10-1 record. Octavien also had eight sacks, three interceptions, two blocked field goals and a blocked punt in 2003, and helped his team to a 19-3 record over two years. In addition to his talents on the football field, Octavien was a track standout for Harper College. He ran the second leg on the school's 2004 national champion 400-meter relay team and won the Division III junior college discus title with a throw of 164-7.

Octavien originally signed with Illinois out of Naples Lely High School, where he started for three seasons. He started at linebacker as a sophomore, then was a two-way standout each of his final two seasons. He won the state title in the discus in his junior year in 2002 and finished second as a senior. Octavien's personal-best throw of 193-7 was the 10th-best prep mark in the nation in 2003. He also visited Iowa, North Carolina and Central Florida, before enrolling at Nebraska.

Personal

Octavien was born on Nov. 25, 1984, and is the son of Philmene and Stephen Octavien, who were both born in Haiti. He is majoring in sociology and was named to the 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll. Octavien's sister, Dayana, was a three-time track All-American in the discus and hammer throw at South Florida and competed in the 2004 U.S. Olympic Trials.

Will Otto #45

Fullback | Senior | 5-11 | 235
Fullerton, Calif. (Troy/Fullerton College)

▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

2006 Outlook

Senior fullback Will Otto joined the NU program in the spring of 2005, after previously playing at Fullerton College in California. The 5-11, 235-pound Otto will enter fall camp with hopes of earning playing time behind fellow senior and returning starter Dane Todd. Otto is expected to pick up his degree in sociology in December, one of 12 Huskers slated to graduate by the conclusion of the fall semester.

2005 (Junior)

Before Nebraska (Troy HS/Fullerton College)

Otto spent two seasons at Fullerton College before coming to Nebraska. He rushed for 800 yards and 17 touchdowns as a senior at Troy High School and also recorded four sacks and 80 tackles as a defensive end. He lettered all four years and was named a team captain, and also earned second-team all-league honors and the Desire and Dedication Award, while helping with the Special Olympics all four years. At Fullerton Junior College, Otto's team was Mission Conference, State Final Four and Beach Bowl Champions. He was also a team captain for Fullerton.

Personal

The son of Bill and Margaret Otto, Will was born on Oct. 5, 1983. He is majoring in sociology.

Steve Octavien is expected to play a key role at linebacker this fall after missing nearly all of last season with a broken leg.

Brock Pasteur #78

Offensive Line | Junior | 6-6 | 290
Orlando, Fla. (University/Mesabi Range College)

2006 Outlook

After sitting out as a redshirt in his first season at Nebraska, Brock Pasteur (pronounced pas-TOUR) is hopeful of earning playing time on the offensive line this fall. Pasteur will enter fall camp listed as a reserve on the offensive line, and has the versatility to play both guard and tackle. Pasteur has the frame to fit Nebraska's offensive line profile at 6-6 and 290 pounds and is one of the strongest players on the Nebraska roster. He came to Nebraska after two seasons at Mesabi Range College in Minnesota.

2005 (Redshirt)

Pasteur sat out the season as a redshirt and worked with the NU scout team.

Before Nebraska (University/Mesabi Range College)

Pasteur was one of two junior college offensive line prospects in the 2005 recruiting class. He spent two seasons at Mesabi Range Central and Technical College in Virginia, Minn. Pasteur started at left tackle each of his two seasons for Coach Jeff Weisner at Mesabi Range, and helped his team to a 19-2 record over two seasons. Pasteur earned honorable-mention NJCAA All-America honors in 2004, and was a JC Gridwire Preseason All-American.

A native of Orlando, Fla., Pasteur starred at University High School. He received three letters for weightlifting and two in track and field. He originally committed to Central Florida out of high school. He only visited Nebraska, but also received strong interest from North Carolina State, East Carolina and Central Florida.

Personal

Pasteur is the son of Marie Pasteur, and was born on Nov. 23, 1983. He is majoring in sociology.

Chris Patrick #54

Offensive Line | Junior | 6-4 | 290 | One Letter
Ithaca, Mich.

▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)

Chris Patrick emerged on the Husker offensive line late in the 2005 season and played a key role in a season-ending three-game winning streak. Patrick started the final two games at left tackle, aiding Nebraska to wins over Colorado and Michigan. He backed that performance up with an outstanding spring session where he continued to show the necessary tenacity to man the left tackle position. Patrick will enter the fall as a leading candidate to return to that position, and has the versatility to play either tackle spot.

The former defensive end was listed as a top backup at right offensive guard heading into 2005 fall camp, but did not see action during any of the Huskers' first nine games. He then backed up both tackle spots against Kansas State, before moving into the lineup in the final two games. Patrick came to Nebraska in 2003 as a highly touted defensive end, but moved to offense in the spring of 2004 and spent his first year adjusting to his new position, playing in just one game.

Patrick emerged late in the year and played a significant role in Nebraska winning its final three games. Patrick made his first start in the 30-3 win at Colorado, when Nebraska threw for 391 yards, the second-best total in school history. He also started against his home state school, Michigan, in the Alamo Bowl.

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Patrick played in the season opener against Western Illinois and served as a reserve offensive tackle during the season.

2003 (Redshirt)

Patrick practiced at defensive end and redshirted in his first year at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Ithaca HS)

Patrick was just the second Husker recruit from the state of Michigan since 1974. He was Ithaca's second-leading tackler as a senior, making 102 stops as a defensive end, while adding eight sacks, four fumbles caused, two blocked kicks and six hurries. Ithaca finished 7-3 in his senior year and captured its third straight conference title and the school's first-ever district title under Coach Jim Ahearn. Patrick also played offensive tackle and graded out at better than 80 percent.

Patrick was named to the Detroit News and Saginaw News Dream Teams, earned first-team AP all-state honors and was the Mt. Pleasant Morning Sun's area Defensive Player of the Year. He had 95 tackles, 20 tackles for loss and eight sacks as a junior for an 11-1 squad, earning honorable-mention all-state honors. He also had five receptions for 110 yards and two touchdowns as a tight end in 2001.

A three-year starter as a basketball center, Patrick averaged nearly 12 points and 13 rebounds for Ithaca's district title team in 2003. A two-time all-league and all-area pick, Patrick pulled down a school-record 275 rebounds. He also lettered two years in track. Patrick chose Nebraska over Purdue.

Personal

Chris is the son of Philip and Marie Patrick and was born on Aug. 22, 1984. His older brother, Joe, started eight games as an offensive lineman at Michigan State in 2002. Chris is majoring in criminal justice and was named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll in the spring of 2005. He has volunteered his time with local hospital visits and the Scouts Under Lights program.

Todd Peterson #17

Wide Receiver | Sophomore | 6-4 | 210 | One Letter
Grand Island, Neb. (Central Catholic)

▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)

▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)

Sophomore wide receiver Todd Peterson was an unknown heading into the 2005 campaign, but by mid-season he had developed into a solid receiving threat for the Huskers. The 6-4 Peterson gives Nebraska a tall receiving target with outstanding hands. Originally a walk-on, Peterson has been on academic scholarship since his arrival in Lincoln. However, his quick progress on the field led Head Coach Bill Callahan to place Peterson on football scholarship over the summer.

Peterson will enter fall camp as a part of the Huskers' regular receiving rotation at the "Z" receiver. He played in 10 games last season and finished with nine catches, including a pair of touchdown grabs. Peterson also has spent practice time at punter and is a candidate to take over the punting duties vacated by graduated senior Sam Koch.

The Grand Island, Neb., native is a standout in the classroom. Peterson carries a 3.720 cumulative grade-point average in nutritional science and dietetics and was a first-team academic All-Big 12 selection in 2005.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Peterson played in 10 games with a start at Colorado, and had at least one catch in five of the last eight games. He finished with nine receptions for 150 yards and a pair of touchdowns. After not recording a reception in his first three games, Peterson made his first career catch a memorable one when he hauled in a 21-yard pass for a touchdown against Baylor, giving Nebraska a 20-7 lead. His second catch came in the following game at Missouri and went for 34 yards and another score. Peterson had three catches for a season-high 65 yards against the Tigers.

Peterson finished strong, as he recorded catches in each of NU's last three games. In his first career start at Colorado, Peterson tied his season high with three receptions for 54 yards, including a season-long 38-yarder that set up a second-quarter touchdown. In the Alamo Bowl, Peterson caught a two-point conversion from Zac Taylor to pull Nebraska within 28-25 in the fourth quarter. He also threw an incomplete pass against Kansas State.

Originally a walk-on, Peterson redshirted in his first year at Nebraska.

Before Nebraska (Grand Island Central Catholic HS)

Peterson was an outstanding three-sport athlete in high school, lettering four times in football, basketball and track. He earned Class C-1 all-state honors in football, and was also a second-team All-Nebraska selection, while claiming all-conference and all-district accolades. He was a three-time member of the Grand Island Independent's Heartland Super Squad. He set Grand Island Central Catholic career records for receptions and receiving yards, while also setting the single-season receiving yardage mark. He also tied the school mark for career interceptions with 10.

In basketball, Peterson finished as the second-leading scorer in school history. He also qualified in four events at the state track meet his senior year. He set the school record with a high jump of 6-8 1/2, while adding a school-best mark in the 55-meter intermediate hurdles. He was a member of a school-record 4x100-meter relay squad, and set the school mark for career points scored on the track. Grand Island Central Catholic won the Class C-1 state title in 2004. Peterson also excelled in the classroom, earning academic all-state honors in all three sports. He finished his senior year with a perfect 4.0 grade-point average and ranked first in his class.

Personal

The son of Ron and Becky Peterson, Todd was born Oct. 26, 1985, in Grand Island, Neb. In addition to being a first-team academic All-Big 12 pick in 2005, he has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll each of his first four semesters. Peterson is a member of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee.

Jordan Picou #68

Offensive Line | Junior | 6-2 | 300
Rialto, Calif. (Eisenhower/Mt. San Antonio CC)

Junior offensive lineman Jordan Picou is hopeful of pushing for playing time for the Huskers in 2006.

Picou missed all of spring practice after off-season surgery, but is expected to be at full speed for fall camp. The 6-2, 300-pound Picou is capable of playing either center or guard, and is currently penciled in as a backup to senior Kurt Mann in the middle. Picou sat out last season as a redshirt after spending two years at Mt. San Antonio Community College in California.

2005 (Redshirt)

Before Nebraska (Eisenhower HS/Mt. San Antonio CC)

Picou earned All-Mission Conference honors in 2004 for Coach Bill Fisk at Mt. San Antonio CC. His effort helped his team to an 8-3 record. Picou also earned first-team California all-state junior college honors in 2004. In addition to his offensive line duties, the athletic Picou lined up at tight end early in the season and scored a rushing touchdown from the fullback spot.

Picou played his high school football at Eisenhower High School in Rialto, Calif., where he was an all-state selection. He also excelled in basketball as the starting center on a team, coached by his father, that won the National Junior Basketball Association tournament in 1999.

Personal

Picou is the son of Danny and Alicia Picou, and was born on Oct. 2, 1985. He is majoring in sociology.

Zach Potter #98

Defensive Line | Sophomore | 6-7 | 280 | One Letter
Omaha, Neb. (Creighton Prep)

- ▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

A consensus choice as the top player in the state of Nebraska in 2004, Zach Potter made an impact on special teams and as a reserve defensive lineman in 2005. Potter appeared in all 12 games for the Huskers in 2005, and recorded one assisted tackle against Wake Forest. Potter will enter fall camp listed as a top backup to All-America candidate Adam Carriker at base end.

The 6-7, 280-pounder made his greatest impact on special teams, blocking a field goal in Nebraska's 7-6 victory over Pittsburgh, before adding NU's only PAT block of the season in a 27-25 victory over Kansas State. Potter is off to a strong start in the classroom, carrying a 3.291 grade-point average in business administration.

2005 (Freshman)

Potter saw limited action on the defensive line and had a tackle against Wake Forest. He was a major contributor on special teams, and literally had a hand in a pair of victories. He blocked a field goal in NU's 7-6 win over Pittsburgh in the third game of the year, before blocking a Kansas State PAT in NU's 27-25 win over the Wildcats. As a team, Nebraska blocked seven kicks on the season.

Before Nebraska (Omaha Creighton Prep HS)

Potter had a standout prep career at Omaha's Creighton Prep High School, where he helped the Junior Jays to the Class A state title as a senior. Potter was a two-way standout, starting at both tight end and defensive end for Head Coach Tom Jaworski. In helping the Junior Jays to a 12-1 record in 2004, Potter was the honorary captain of both the Omaha World-Herald All-Nebraska offense and the Lincoln Journal Star Super-State defense. On defense Potter made 97 tackles, including 48 solo stops and six sacks. Offensively, he caught 24 passes for 501 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Potter also produced outstanding numbers as a junior, catching 14 passes for better than 300 yards, including four touchdowns. He also made 61 tackles, with 10 sacks and 11 pass breakups at the line of scrimmage. His performance as a junior earned Potter first-team all-state honors. Rivals.com ranked Potter as the No. 1 prospect in the state of Nebraska and the sixth-best strongside defensive end recruit in the nation.

Potter also starred in basketball where he averaged 19 points and 11 rebounds per game from his center position. He led the Junior Jays to the Class A state title game and was a first-team all-state selection by both of the state's major newspapers. His all-around athletic performance earned him co-Boys High School Athlete-of-the-Year honors from the Lincoln Journal Star. Potter was named the Bert Render Award-winner as the state's top male athlete from the B'Nai B'rith organization. Potter attended Nebraska's Big Red Football School and also considered Notre Dame and Kansas State before selecting Nebraska.

Personal

Potter is the son of Dave Potter and Karen Sanden, and his stepmother is Lynne Potter. Zach was born on May 4, 1986, and was selected to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll each of his first two semesters. Potter volunteered his time as a speaker during the Fall Break Tour of Excellence and American Education Week.

Andy Poulosky #86

Ponca, Neb.

Junior Andy Poulosky enters the 2006 season with hopes of earning playing time behind senior starters

Adam Carriker and Jay Moore at defensive end. Poulosky will enter fall camp listed as a reserve behind Carriker at the base end spot. A walk-on athlete from Ponca, Neb., Poulosky played in one game in 2004.

Career

Poulosky was a reserve end in 2005, but did not see game action. He appeared in the 2004 season opener against Western Illinois, but did not record a tackle. Poulosky redshirted in his first season at Nebraska in 2003.

Before Nebraska (Ponca HS)

Poulosky attended Ponca High School, and finished second in team tackles and first in receiving as a senior for Coach Mitch Elbert. Poulosky was a four-year letterwinner, and qualified for the state football playoffs in his freshman and senior years. On the basketball floor, Poulosky was part of a state runner-up team his freshman year, and qualified for the state tournament again as a senior. He also qualified for the state track meet in the shot put and discus as a senior.

Personal

Andy is the son of Mark and Fran Poulosky, and was born on May 14, 1984 in Sioux City, Iowa. He is majoring in psychology and has been active in the community, volunteering with "School is Cool" Week, the Dads of Kids with Disabilities Program, local hospital visits and as a speaker at Lincoln's Elliott Elementary School.

Thomas Rice #85

Lincoln, Neb. (East)

▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

2006 Outlook

Junior Thomas Rice enters the 2006 campaign expecting to add depth at defensive end, one of Nebraska's deepest and most talented positions. Rice is listed as a backup at the open end spot behind senior Jay Moore and 2005 freshman All-American Barry Turner. The Lincoln native has yet to appear in a game at Nebraska, but has provided valuable depth on the defensive front.

Career

Rice has been a reserve defensive end each of the past two seasons, but has yet to appear in a game. Rice walked on and redshirted in his first season at Nebraska in 2003.

Before Nebraska (Lincoln East HS)

Rice earned all-conference, academic all-conference and academic all-state honors as a two-sport star at Lincoln East High School. He played offensive lineman and defensive end on the football field, and was a part of two state championship wrestling teams on the mat. Rice was named an All-American in wrestling following a sixth-place finish at the Greco Roman National Championships. He was a three-year letterwinner in football, wrestling and track, and also lettered twice in music, and was a National Honor Society Member.

Personal

Rice is the son of Donlynn and Patrick Rice, and was born on Jan. 15, 1985. He is majoring in civil engineering at Nebraska, and was a member of the 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Honor Roll. He has volunteered his time at Lincoln's Belmont Elementary School and with local hospital visits.

Brandon Rigoni #24

Defensive Back | Senior | 5-6 | 185 | Two Letters
Lincoln, Neb. (Southeast)

▶ 2006 Nebraska Lifter of the Year
▶ Two-Time First-Team Academic All-Big 12 (2004, 2005)
▶ 2004 Nebraska Special Teams Most Valuable Player

▶ Nebraska's Most Improved Special Teams Player (Spring, 2004)
▶ Four-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2004, 2005, 2006)
▶ Four-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2002, 2003, 2004, 2005)

Senior Brandon Rigoni (pronounced Rih-GO-nee) continued his career as a special teams standout for the Huskers in 2005. Rigoni is a big hitter on Nebraska's coverage units, and in 2006 he will also look to earn playing time at free safety behind fellow senior Andrew Shanle. One of the most dedicated and hard-working Huskers, Rigoni was named Nebraska's 2006 Lifter of the Year for his standout work in the Huskers' offseason strength and conditioning program.

The Lincoln native has appeared in 22 games in his Nebraska career, and has 22 total tackles. He was Nebraska's 2004 Special Teams Most Valuable Player, after first making an impression on the Husker coaching staff during spring practice in 2004, when he was named the Most Improved Special Teams Player. In 2003, Rigoni served as a reserve safety and played in one game. A walk-on to Nebraska, Rigoni redshirted in his first season with the Huskers in 2002.

Rigoni is majoring in psychology and earned first-team academic All-Big 12 honors for the second straight season in 2005. Rigoni owns a 3.80 cumulative grade-point average, including a 4.0 spring semester, and is on track to graduate in December.

Rigoni continued his stellar special teams play as a junior. He played in all 12 games and led Nebraska's special team units with 15 tackles, including seven solos. He had a career-high four tackles, including two solos and his first career tackle for loss of 18 yards on a botched field goal attempt by Oklahoma.

He added three tackles in NU's season-opening win over Maine, and recorded at least one tackle in each of the Huskers' final six games. He also forced two fumbles on coverage units. With Rigoni's assistance the NU kickoff coverage unit ranked as the Big 12's best, and the Huskers were also No. 2 nationally in net punting.

2004 (Sophomore)

Rigoni played in nine games and finished the year with seven tackles on special teams. He made a season-high three tackles against Kansas and had two tackles at Pittsburgh, with one tackle each against Texas Tech and Baylor. He was hampered by injury late in the season and missed the Missouri and Colorado contests.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman)

Rigoni was a reserve safety, and appeared late in Nebraska's victory over Texas A&M, but did not have a tackle.

2002 (Redshirt)

A walk-on, Rigoni redshirted in his first season with the Huskers.

Before Nebraska (Lincoln Southeast HS)

Rigoni was a standout defensive back, receiver and running back for Lincoln Southeast, a powerhouse in the Nebraska prep ranks. His efforts helped Coach Chuck Mizerski's team reach the state semifinals during Rigoni's senior year, after the Knights captured the Class A title in 2000. For his efforts, Rigoni earned super-state honors from the Lincoln Journal Star. Rigoni also earned a spot in the 2002 Shrine Bowl. In addition to earning four football letters, Rigoni picked up one letter each in basketball and track.

Personal

The son of Chuck and Monica Rigoni, Joseph Brandon Rigoni was born on March 8, 1983. He has been selected to the past two academic All-Big 12 teams and is an eight-time Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll selection. Rigoni has volunteered his time with the LPS Ventures in Partnership Program, Madonna Rehabilitation Hospital, as well as local hospital visits.

Craig Roark #55

Ada, Okla.

- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

2006 Outlook

Redshirt freshman Craig Roark (pronounced RO-ark) joined the Nebraska program in 2005 as a highly regarded offensive line prospect. Roark spent the 2005 season on Nebraska's scout team, then switched to defense during spring practice. He enters fall camp listed as a backup at nose tackle.

2005 (Redshirt)

Roark spent the 2005 season as a redshirt and worked with the scout team.

Before Nebraska (Ada HS)

Roark was one of three Oklahomans in Nebraska's 2005 recruiting class, and one of seven 2005 Husker signees who played in the U.S. Army All-America Game in San Antonio. Roark was a fixture on the Ada offensive line for Coach Steve Dean, helping his team to an 11-2 record and a state semifinal appearance in 2004. Roark was credited with 208 pancakes as a senior and earned first-team Class 4A all-state honors from the Oklahoma Coaches Association and all-state honors from the Tulsa World.

Roark also contributed to the Ada defense, making 58 tackles in 2004 from his defensive tackle spot. Roark was ranked as the No. 13 offensive guard in the country and the fifth-best prospect in the state of Oklahoma by Rivals.com. Roark also lettered three times in track and once in wrestling. He competed in his first Oklahoma state track meet as a senior, earning third in the Class 5A shot put. Roark was a member of the Superintendent's Honor Roll, received an Army All-American Scholar Award and was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students. Roark only visited Nebraska, but also had scholarship offers from Arizona, Missouri, Florida State and Ohio State, among others.

Personal

Roark is the son of Bryan and Christy Roark, and was born on Oct. 15, 1985. He is majoring in management and was a Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Roll pick last fall.

Andy Sand #48

Tight End | Junior | 6-2 | 225
Lincoln, Neb. (Southeast)

- ▶ Three-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005, 2006)
- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)

Career

Sand was a reserve tight end in 2004 and 2005, but did not appear in a game. A walk-on, Sand redshirted in his first season with the Huskers.

Before Nebraska (Lincoln Southeast HS)

Sand helped Lincoln Southeast to a state title as a tight end and defensive end in 2002. He played alongside fellow Huskers Brandon Rigoni and Bo Ruud. A two-way player, Sand earned Lincoln Journal Star Super-State honors as a defensive end his senior year. Sand added 15 receptions for 450 yards for Coach Chuck Mizerski. Sand also lettered two seasons in basketball and two times in track and field, and was a member of the National Honor Society.

Personal

The son of Ben and Nancy Sand, Andy is majoring in business administration. Sand has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll five times, and has volunteered as a speaker during "School is Cool" Week and has also visited local hospitals.

Matt Senske #42

Fullback | Junior | 6-3 | 235
Bellevue, Neb. (East)

- ▶ 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team
- ▶ 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll

2006 Outlook

Junior Matt Senske is a gifted athlete who had a strong spring camp and will push for playing time at fullback this fall. The 6-3, 235-pound Senske doubled as a track and field athlete early in his Nebraska career, but has turned his attention to football. Senske originally joined the football team through a walk-on tryout in the fall of 2004, and served on the scout team as a reserve linebacker before moving to fullback in 2005. Senske previously competed for the Nebraska track team, throwing the javelin and discus. Senske is active in Nebraska's community outreach activities and was named to the 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team.

2005 (Sophomore)

2004 (Redshirt Freshman)

Senske joined the football team during the fall and was a backup linebacker. He continued his track career, throwing the javelin and discus for the Huskers.

Before Nebraska (Bellevue East HS)

Senske was a dual-sport standout at Bellevue East High School. In football, Senske was a force for Bellevue East on both sides of the ball. He played tight end and defensive end, and led his team in nearly every category in his senior year.

Senske earned academic all-state honors as a junior and senior, and was named All-Metro in 2001 and to the all-district team in 2001 and 2002. Senske earned honorable-mention all-state honors in 2000, 2001 and 2002. He was also a strong performer for Coach Daryl Berg's Chieftain track team, qualifying for the state meet in the discus in both 2002 and 2003, and played basketball as well.

Personal

The son of Robert and Denise Senske, Matt was born on April 19, 1985. He is majoring in business administration, and was named to the 2005 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll. Senske has volunteered his time with Holmes Lake Manor, as a speaker during the Spring Break Tour of Excellence and on National Student-Athlete Day, while also participating in local hospital visits.

Clayton Sievers #86

Tight End | Sophomore | 6-4 | 240 | One Letter
Elkhorn, Neb.

- ▶ 2005 Second-Team Academic All-Big 12
- ▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Sophomore Clayton Sievers emerged for Nebraska as a key player at tight end in 2005, and will push for significant playing time again this fall. Sievers is one of four Nebraska tight ends with extensive experience, joining fifth-year senior Matt Herian and juniors J.B. Phillips and Josh Mueller.

Sievers provided a sure-handed receiver throughout 2005, with his most extensive playing time early in the season. The Elkhorn, Neb., native and younger brother of former Husker academic All-American Chad Sievers, Clayton had six receptions for 39 yards, including five catches in NU's first four games. A talented performer in the classroom as well, Sievers earned second-team academic All-Big 12 honors as a communication studies major.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Sievers played in all 12 games, including starts against Pittsburgh, Missouri and Oklahoma. Sievers established a career high with two receptions for 12 yards in his first career game in the opener against Maine. He added single receptions against Wake Forest, Pitt, Iowa State and Oklahoma. His catch against the Sooners was a season-long 11-yard grab. Sievers added one tackle on the season, and was a member of NU's kickoff return team.

2004 (Redshirt)

Sievers redshirted in his first season with the Huskers.

Before Nebraska (Elkhorn HS)

A versatile two-way performer for Coach Mark Wortmann at Elkhorn, Sievers starred at outside linebacker, defensive end and tight end in 2003. He finished his senior year with 70 tackles, including seven sacks. He played fullback on offense and averaged more than five yards per carry, while serving primarily as a lead blocker. His performance helped the Antlers to a 6-4 record in 2003. Sievers made 65 tackles and five sacks as a junior, and played tight end for the Antler offense, helping Elkhorn reach the Class B quarterfinals in 2002.

Sievers was a second-team super-state selection as a defensive lineman by the Lincoln Journal Star, and a second-team All-Nebraska pick as a defender by the Omaha World-Herald. He earned first-team Class B all-state honors from both publications. Sievers, who began his prep career at Valley High School, was one of five in-state players in Nebraska's 2004 newcomers. Sievers chose Nebraska over Iowa, Iowa State, Colorado State and Wyoming.

Personal

Clayton is the son of Scott and Karen Sievers, and was born on Jan. 13, 1986. He is a communication studies major and owns a 3.039 grade-point average. He has volunteered his time with the Lincoln Action Program and on local hospital visits.

Matt Slauson #70

Colorado Springs, Colo. (Air Force Prep)

2006 Outlook

A late addition to Nebraska's 2005 incoming freshman class, Matt Slauson made an immediate impact on the Husker offensive line last fall. Slauson started the final three games of the season at right tackle, helping Nebraska to three straight victories. He will enter his sophomore season penciled in as the starter at right tackle after an outstanding spring session. The 6-5, 335-pound Slauson could also play guard for the Huskers if called upon.

Slauson joined the Nebraska program after a standout career at Air Force Preparatory School in Colorado Springs.

2005 (Freshman)

Slauson was one of a school-record 13 true freshmen to see action in 2005, appearing in nine games. He was a regular on Nebraska's extra-point and field goal units throughout the year, then entered the offensive line rotation late in the season. Slauson started at right tackle against Kansas State, Colorado and Michigan after senior Seppo Ewvaraye was slowed by a foot injury. The play of Slauson and the offensive line helped Nebraska post the second-best passing game in school history with 392 yards at Colorado.

Before Nebraska (Air Force Prep School)

Slauson played one season at Air Force Prep School in Colorado Springs, lining up at offensive tackle. Slauson spent the 2003 season at Air Academy High in Colorado Springs, after moving from Oregon before his senior season.

Slauson began his high school career at Sweet Home High in Oregon, where he starred on the offensive line for Coach Rob Younger. Overall, Slauson lettered three times in football, twice in basketball and four times in track during his prep career.

Personal

The son of Rob and Nancy Slauson, Matt was born on Feb. 18, 1986. Slauson has not yet declared a major.

Tyrell Spain #18

San Diego, Calif. (Hoover/Mesa College)

2006 Outlook

Wide receiver Tyrell Spain is set to make his long-awaited Husker debut this fall. Spain originally signed with the Huskers as part of Nebraska's top-ranked recruiting class in February of 2005. However, Spain had to complete eligibility requirements at Southeast Community College in Lincoln last fall and did not join the Husker program until January.

The 6-3, 190-pound Spain brings outstanding size and athletic ability to the Husker receiving corps. Spain was impressive during spring ball and is expected to contend for playing time at receiver this fall.

Before Nebraska (Mesa College/Hoover HS)

Spain was one of the final pieces in Nebraska's 2005 recruiting class, but sat out the 2005 season and enrolled in community college. Spain was one of eight native Californians in NU's 2005 recruiting class. He spent the 2003 and 2004 seasons at Mesa College in San Diego, where he starred for Coach Martin Moss. Spain caught 46 passes for 858 yards and eight touchdowns in 2004, helping Mesa to a 6-4 record. Spain ranked second in the Foothills Conference in receiving yards and was fourth in receptions, helping him to first-team All-Foothills Conference honors. Spain posted similar numbers as a freshman at Mesa, hauling in 46 catches for 724 yards and seven touchdowns.

Spain originally signed with New Mexico State out of San Diego's Hoover High School. At Hoover High, Spain was a three-year starter, including the last two seasons at quarterback. As a senior, Spain was voted his team's offensive MVP, and was a first-team all-conference pick. In his final high school season, Spain threw for 1,200 yards and 17 touchdowns and also ran for nine touchdowns. In his junior season, Spain helped Hoover High to a 9-4 record and a berth in the CIF San Diego Section semifinals. He was a three-star prospect in the Rivals.com ranking system.

Personal

Spain is the son of Michael and Moni Spain, and he was born on July 29, 1984. He is majoring in sociology.

Ty Steinkuhler #43

Defensive Line | Sophomore | 6-3 | 280 | One Letter
Lincoln, Neb. (Southwest)

- ▶ 2006 Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll
- ▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

2006 Outlook

Sophomore Ty Steinkuhler is a versatile defensive lineman who expects to play a large role on the Nebraska defensive front this fall. The second generation Husker played in eight games as a reserve defensive end in 2005 as a backup behind Adam Carriker at base end. With the loss of both interior tackles, Steinkuhler spent the spring playing defensive tackle, and could play either inside or at end this fall.

A product of Lincoln Southwest High School, Steinkuhler is the son of 1983 Outland and Lombardi Award winner Dean Steinkuhler.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Steinkuhler played in eight games, including the final three wins against Kansas State, Colorado and Michigan, when his playing time increased on the defensive line. Steinkuhler registered five tackles and was in on a pair of tackles for loss during the season. He totaled a career-high three stops during the win against Wake Forest, including a tackle for loss. His second tackle for loss came against Kansas State.

2004 (Redshirt)

Steinkuhler redshirted in his first season and worked on the scout team.

Before Nebraska (Lincoln Southwest HS)

Steinkuhler excelled on both sides of the ball as a senior for Lincoln Southwest and Coach Mark King. The Journal Star named him a first-team super-state selection as a linebacker. The World-Herald honored his offensive play, naming him a first-team All-Nebraska pick as an offensive lineman, but listed him as a first-team Class A all-state pick at linebacker. Steinkuhler totaled 163 tackles, including 98 unassisted tackles, with an interception and a fumble recovery as a senior. He also played on the offensive line and helped Southwest make one of the state's biggest improvements with a 5-5 record and the school's first-ever trip to the state playoffs.

Steinkuhler helped build the Lincoln Southwest football program from the ground up. The Silver Hawks struggled to an 0-9 record in their inaugural season in 2002. Despite the winless season, Steinkuhler racked up 134 tackles, including 72 solo stops, to earn second-team super-state honors and first-team Class A honors from the Lincoln Journal Star. An outstanding all-around athlete, Steinkuhler added three letters in basketball and earned four letters in track. He committed to the Huskers in June of 2003, nine months before signing day.

Personal

Ty is the son of Dean Steinkuhler and Sue Steinkuhler. He was born in Missouri City, Texas, on Sept. 11, 1985. He is a criminal justice major, and has twice been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll. Ty adds to a long line of father-son combinations in Nebraska football history. Dean Steinkuhler won the 1983 Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award in helping Nebraska to one of the most prolific offensive seasons in college football history. Dean's No. 71 is one of 16 retired Husker jerseys.

Ndamukong Suh #93

Defensive Line | Sophomore | 6-4 | 315
Portland, Ore. (Grant)

Sophomore Ndamukong Suh (pronounced En-dom-ah-ken Soo) was limited by injuries in his first season at Nebraska, but is expected to make a large contribution in 2006. The 6-4, 315-pound nose tackle, Suh played in Nebraska's first two games last season, but missed the remainder of the year after undergoing arthroscopic knee surgery.

Suh will enter fall camp as a backup behind senior Ola Dagunduro at nose tackle, but is expected to be in the regular defensive line rotation. Suh was a standout prep player in Oregon before joining the Nebraska program.

2005 (Freshman)

Suh played in the first two games and had an assisted tackle against Wake Forest. He did not play the remainder of the year after knee surgery.

Before Nebraska (Grant HS)

Regarded as one of the top players on the West Coast, Suh was a two-way star at Grant High School in Portland, Ore. He was the first player from the state of Oregon to ever sign a National Letter of Intent with Nebraska in football. Only two walk-on players from the state have earned letters in Nebraska football history. Suh was one of seven 2005 Husker signees who played in the U.S. Army All-American Game, where he lined up on the offensive line.

Suh earned Parade All-America honors and was voted the 2004 Portland Interscholastic League Defensive Player of the Year and the state Class 4A Defensive Player of the Year. As a senior, Suh had 65 tackles, including 10 sacks and recovered four fumbles. He also starred on the offensive line for Coach William Griffin, helping the Generals to a 9-3 record and a berth in the state quarterfinals. Suh earned first-team all-league honors on both offense and defense, and in addition to his defensive accolades was a first-team all-state pick on offense by at least one media outlet. Suh also earned first-team All-PIL honors on both offense and defense as a junior and was an honorable-mention all-state pick as a junior.

Rivals.com listed Suh as the No. 1 prospect in the state of Oregon, the sixth-best defensive tackle in the country, and the 51st-best overall prospect in the country. Suh, who began playing football as a sophomore, also played basketball and was a track standout for Grant High. He earned honorable-mention all-league honors in basketball as a junior and senior. In track he was the district shot put champion in 2004, and won the OSAA Class 4A shot put title in 2005 with a school-record throw of 61-4. For his all-around athletic accomplishments, Suh was a finalist for the Portland Tribune's Athlete of the Year. Suh chose Nebraska over California, and also visited Miami, Oregon State and Mississippi State.

Personal

Suh's mother, Bernadette, is from Jamaica, while his father, Michael, hails from Cameroon. His sister, Ngum Suh, plays soccer at Mississippi State. In the Ngema tribe in Cameroon, Ndamukong means "House of Spears." Suh was born on Jan. 6, 1987, and is majoring in construction management.

Wahoo, Neb. (Bishop Neumann)

- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2003, 2004)
- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)

Junior Tony Sullivan has provided depth at defensive end each of the past two seasons and hopes to do the same again in 2006. Sullivan's attempt to earn playing time was slowed this spring as he sat out after off-season shoulder surgery. A native of Wahoo, Neb., Sullivan has yet to see game action in his Husker career. He is an outstanding student-athlete, carrying a 3.262 cumulative grade-point average in business administration.

Career

Sullivan provided depth at defensive end, but did not play in a game in 2004 or 2005. A walk-on, Sullivan redshirted in his first season in the program.

Before Nebraska (Bishop Neumann HS)

Sullivan was a standout lineman on both sides of the football for Class C-1 powerhouse Bishop Neumann High School in Wahoo. A team captain as a senior, Sullivan was voted the most outstanding lineman on both sides of the ball as a senior in 2002. His performance for Coach Tim Turman helped Bishop Neumann to an impressive record during Sullivan's years at the school. Neumann won the C-1 state title in his senior season, after reaching the semifinals in 2001 and posting a runner-up finish in 2000, Sullivan's sophomore year. Sullivan earned honorable-mention all-state honors from both the Lincoln Journal Star and the Omaha World-Herald for his efforts. A three-year letterman in track, Sullivan was also a member of Neumann's chapter of the National Honor Society.

Personal

The son of Mike and Sandy Sullivan, Tony was born on July 12, 1985. Sullivan is majoring in business administration and has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll four times. Sullivan has been active in community outreach efforts, assisting with the Lincoln Action Program and local hospital visits.

Hunter Teafatiller #89

Kingsburg, Calif. (San Joaquin Memorial)

2006 Outlook

Sophomore Hunter Teafatiller was one of the school-record 13 true freshmen to see action in 2005 after walking on to the team during fall camp. He served as a blocker for NU's punt return team that ranked among the best in the Big 12 Conference, and also saw action on kickoff returns. In addition to continuing his special teams contributions, the 6-3, 220-pound Teafatiller is also hopeful of pushing for playing time at tight end.

2005 (Freshman)

Teafatiller played in each of the final seven games of the season on the Huskers' punt return unit after sitting out the first half of the year. He also saw action on Nebraska's kickoff return unit.

Before Nebraska (San Joaquin Memorial HS)

Teafatiller played primarily tight end and defensive end for Coach Anthony Ghoston at San Joaquin Memorial. He helped his team to the 2004 Valley championship. In the process, Teafatiller earned NYL Defensive Player of the Year honors, and was also a first-team NYL selection at tight end and defensive end.

Personal

The son of Guy and Jill Teafatiller, Hunter was born on Oct. 30, 1986. He has not yet declared a major.

Dan Titchener #97

Punter | Sophomore | 6-0 | 200
Cheyenne, Wyo. (East)

- ▶ 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team
- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)

- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)

Sophomore punter Dan Titchener enters fall as a leading candidate to earn the job as Nebraska's starting punter. Titchener served as a backup behind Sam Koch last fall, but did not play in a game. The Huskers' starting punter in 2006 will have large shoes to fill as Koch set a single-season school record by averaging 46.51 yards per punt and helping Nebraska rank second nationally in net punting, before being the first punter selected in the 2006 NFL Draft.

Titchener is a standout in the classroom and the community. He carries a 3.519 cumulative grade-point average and has been on the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll each of his four semesters. Titchener was also named to the 2006 Brook Berringer Citizenship Team for his part in Nebraska's outreach efforts.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Titchener served as a backup, but did not play in a game.

2004 (Redshirt)

A walk-on, Titchener redshirted and backed up Sam Koch at punter.

Before Nebraska (Cheyenne East HS)

Titchener attended Cheyenne East High School, where he played for Coach John Schroff. He played tight end, defensive end and punter for his high school. He was awarded for his efforts on defense and special teams, earning honorable-mention All-America honors from USA Today as a senior. He was an all-state selection as a punter in both his junior and senior seasons. He added all-state recognition as a defensive lineman as a senior in 2003, when he helped Cheyenne East to the conference title. He was also involved in the National Honor Society and served as an Eagle Scout.

Personal

The son of Mark and Jaci Titchener, Dan was born on Jan. 24, 1986, in Scottsdale, Ariz. Titchener is majoring in marketing. He has been a fixture in Nebraska's outreach activities, volunteering his time regularly as a speaker and on hospital visits.

Justin Tomerlin #10

Tight End | Sophomore | 6-6 | 265
San Clemente, Calif. (Butler County CC)

2006 Outlook

Tight end Justin Tomerlin had a strong spring camp and enters the fall hopeful of earning playing time at one of Nebraska's deepest positions. The 6-6, 265-pound Tomerlin possesses the physical tools to be an outstanding receiving and blocking presence for the Husker offense. A talented player on both sides of the ball, Tomerlin spent 2005 at defensive end, but sat out the year as a redshirt. Tomerlin joined the Husker program in 2005 after one season at Butler County Community College.

2005 (Redshirt)

A reserve defensive end, Tomerlin sat out the year as a redshirt.

Before Nebraska (Butler County CC/San Clemente HS)

Tomerlin was one of three 2005 Nebraska signees from Butler County CC, joining Frantz Hardy and Zac Taylor. The threesome helped Butler County and Coach Troy Morrell to an 11-1 record and the NJCAA championship game in 2004. Tomerlin started at defensive end with 57 tackles, including 24 tackles for loss and 15.5 sacks during his only season of action. He earned second-team all-conference honors at Butler County CC, and also earned junior college academic All-America honors. Tomerlin was a four-star recruit in the Rivals.com five-star ranking system and was the No. 43 overall junior college recruit according to SuperPrep Magazine.

Tomerlin originally signed with Florida State out of San Clemente (Calif.) High School, but never played at the school. In high school, Tomerlin was a dominant force. He had 19 sacks and 28 tackles for loss as a senior, earning him first-team all-state honors. During his junior season at San Clemente High School, Tomerlin had 58 total tackles, including a single-season record 26 sacks. Tomerlin chose Nebraska after also visiting Michigan State.

Personal

Justin is the son of Mike and Lynn Tomerlin, and was born on Dec. 27, 1982. He is majoring in communication studies.

Barry Turner #99

Defensive End | Sophomore | 6-3 | 250 | One Letter
Antioch, Tenn. (Brentwood Academy)

- ▶ 2005 First-Team Freshman All-American (Football Writers, ESPN.com, Rivals.com)
- ▶ 2005 Second-Team Freshman All-American (CollegeFootballNews.com)

- ▶ Tied for National Lead in Sacks Among Freshmen (6)
- ▶ Nebraska Single-Season Record for Sacks by a Freshman (6)

Sophomore Barry Turner made a huge impact for the Nebraska defense as a pass rushing specialist in 2005. Turner was a key factor in Nebraska ranking first nationally in sacks and tackles for loss, as he finished the year with six sacks and eight tackles for loss. The 6-3, 250-pound Turner continued his strong play in the spring and will enter fall camp listed behind senior Jay Moore at the open end, but Turner will see extensive action in passing situations.

Turner was honored for his excellent work as a true freshman, being named a first-team freshman All-American by the Football Writers of America, ESPN.com and Rivals.com. Turner's six sacks in 2005 tied for the national lead among freshmen and were the best in school history by a Husker freshman. His sack total helped Nebraska lead the nation with 50 sacks, the second-best total in school history. Turner joined the Nebraska program after an outstanding multi-sport prep career at Brentwood Academy in Antioch, Tenn.

Turner played in every game in 2005, and his six sacks tied for third on the team. He finished the year with 14 overall tackles, including 13 solo stops, six hurries and a pair of blocked field goals.

Turner quickly made his presence felt with a nine-yard sack in the opener against Maine. He added a four-yard sack in the Huskers' 27-20 double-overtime win over Iowa State. Turner recorded personal bests of four solo tackles, three for a loss, and two sacks during NU's win at Baylor. Against Missouri, Turner recorded his fifth sack of the season and forced a fumble by Mizzou's Brad Smith that set up a Nebraska touchdown. Turner recorded his sixth sack of the year against Kansas State.

Turner was a key member of a productive Nebraska kick-blocking unit. The Huskers blocked seven kicks on the season, with Turner providing blocked field goals against Oklahoma and Kansas State, and helped the Huskers block two field goals in a 7-6 win over Pitt. Turner also played on Nebraska's kickoff return unit.

Before Nebraska (Brentwood Academy)

Turner was a standout defensive end for Coach Carlton Flatt at Brentwood Academy in the Nashville, Tenn., area. He was the first Nebraska scholarship recruit from the state of Tennessee since Daniel and Josh Bullocks signed with the Huskers in February of 2001. A USA Today second-team All-American, Turner was a force from his defensive end spot, racking up more than 90 tackles, including 10 sacks as a senior. He also hurried the quarterback more than 25 times, and helped Brentwood to a 9-4 record and a trip to the state championship game for the second consecutive year.

Turner also played tight end and caught 20 passes for 290 yards and three touchdowns. He earned all-state honors from the Associated Press and The Tennessean for his performance, and was a finalist for Mr. Football honors in the state. He was also a finalist for the Division II Class AAA Lineman of the Year as presented by the Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association. As a junior, Turner had 105 tackles and 15 sacks. Turner was ranked as the No. 5 defensive end in the country and the 51st-best overall prospect according to Tom Lemming.

Turner was also a key performer for Brentwood's basketball team, and helped the school to three consecutive state titles in Tennessee's Division II. After averaging 16 points and nine rebounds as a junior, Turner helped Brentwood to a 29-3 record as a senior. Turner earned all-region and all-district honors on the hardwood as a junior. Turner chose Nebraska over Tennessee and Vanderbilt.

Personal

Turner is the son of Betty Tate, and was born on Jan. 7, 1987. He is majoring in finance.

Jake Wesch #98

Place-Kicker | Sophomore | 6-1 | 200 | One Letter
North Bend, Neb.

- ▶ Two-Time Brook Berringer Citizenship Team (2005, 2006)
- ▶ 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll

Sophomore Jake Wesch found a key role for Nebraska in 2005, serving as Nebraska's top kickoff specialist for the second half of the season. His strong leg helped the Huskers limit opponents to an average starting position of their own 29-yard line. The Husker kickoff coverage team was among the nation's best, allowing just over 18 yards per return.

Wesch is expected to again contend for kickoff duties in 2006, while providing depth behind Jordan Congdon at place-kicker. Wesch could also be a candidate to take over the punting duties after the graduation of Sam Koch. Wesch has distinguished himself off the field, being named to the Brook Berringer Citizenship Team each of the past two years for extensive community outreach work.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Wesch shared kickoff duties for the Huskers and played in nine of the season's final 10 games. His kickoff performance helped Nebraska rank among the Big 12 leaders in kickoff coverage. He was also a backup place-kicker.

2004 (Redshirt)

Before Nebraska (North Bend Central HS)

An outstanding all-around athlete, Wesch played multiple positions in high school at North Bend, including punter, free safety and quarterback. He excelled as a punter by averaging 41.6 yards per punt during his senior year. As a quarterback, he rushed for more than 500 yards and passed for another 500 during his team's 5-4 season. Wesch was an all-state kicker during his sophomore and junior years and an all-state punter during his senior year.

Personal

The son of Jim Wesch, Jake was born on Oct. 1, 1985. He is majoring in communication studies and was named to the 2004 Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll. Wesch has done extensive outreach work while at Nebraska, including volunteering with "School is Cool" Week, at Holmes Lake Manor and local hospital visits and as a speaker at Lincoln's Belmont Elementary School and Fremont Middle School. Wesch was also the recipient of an inaugural 2005-06 Student Leadership Hero Award.

Bryan Wilson #28

Defensive Back | Junior | 6-1 | 200
Granada Hills, Calif. (Pierce College)

2006 Outlook

Junior Bryan Wilson joined the Nebraska program last season and served as a reserve cornerback. The 6-1, 200-pound Wilson has the size and ability to play either corner or safety and will enter the fall listed as a backup behind senior Andrew Shanle at free safety. Wilson came to Nebraska after two seasons at Pierce College in his homestate of California.

2005 (Sophomore)

Wilson played in NU's season-opening victory over Maine, but did not have a tackle. He did not play the remainder of the season.

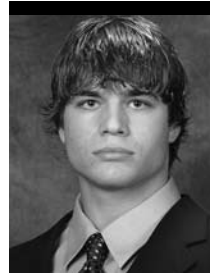

Before Nebraska (Pierce College/Granada Hills HS)

Wilson was a standout cornerback prospect who starred in 2004 at Pierce College in Los Angeles. One of eight Californians in Nebraska's 2005 class, Wilson was a key performer for Coach Dave Banuelous, making 39 tackles to go along with nine pass breakups, one sack and one fumble recovery. Wilson sat out the 2003 season because of injury at the College of the Canyons. Wilson chose Nebraska after also visiting Texas Tech and Portland State.

Following a standout prep career at Granada Hills High School, Wilson was ranked as one of the nation's top 25 cornerbacks according to Tom Lemming. Wilson finished his high school career with six interceptions, playing in just two games during his senior season due to an injury. He also had outstanding numbers on offense in high school, with better than 70 receptions, including six touchdowns between his sophomore and junior seasons. He also ran for 756 yards and 11 touchdowns as a junior. He was an All-Del Rey League defensive back in 2001, and earned All-West Valley honors as a junior. He originally committed to Oregon State out of high school and received offers from Arizona State and Washington State.

Personal

Wilson is the son of Bryan and Judy Wilson, and was born on May 9, 1984. He is majoring in sociology.

Tyler Wortman #53

Linebacker | Sophomore | 6-3 | 230
Grand Island, Neb. (Central Catholic)

- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Spring Academic Honor Roll (2005, 2006)
- ▶ Two-Time Big 12 Commissioner's Fall Academic Honor Roll (2004, 2005)

Sophomore linebacker Tyler Wortman is part of Nebraska's deepest and arguably most talented unit. Wortman has provided depth in the linebacking corps each of the past two years and hopes to push for playing time this fall. He will enter camp listed as a backup at the WILL linebacker spot.

Wortman is one of Nebraska's leaders in the classroom, compiling a nearly-perfect 3.982 cumulative grade-point average after two years of college.

2005 (Redshirt Freshman)

Wortman served as a backup linebacker and scout team player, but did not play in a game.

2004 (Redshirt)

A walk-on athlete, Wortman redshirted in his first season in the program.

Before Nebraska (Grand Island Central Catholic HS)

Wortman played both defensive end and tight end at Grand Island Central Catholic, while also excelling in wrestling and track. Wortman earned all-state, all-conference and all-district honors during his prep football career. He was also selected to the All-Heartland Area team. Wortman set school records for season and career sacks, while also establishing the school record in career tackles for loss.

On the wrestling mat, Wortman medaled twice at the state meet, and was a conference and district champion. He ended his high school career by winning a pair of gold medals at the state track meet. He was a member of GICC's gold medal 4x800 relay, helping his team capture the Class C team title. Wortman also earned a third-place medal in the 4x400 relay. Wortman ranked first in his class with a 4.0 grade-point average and earned academic all-state honors in all three sports.

Personal

The son of David and Janet Wortman, Tyler was born on June 13, 1986. He is majoring in mechanical engineering and has been named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll each of his first four semesters.

#95

Denver, Colo. (Thomas Jefferson HS)

Defensive end Pierre Allen joins the Huskers from Thomas Jefferson High School in Denver, Colo., the same school that former Husker I-back Cory Ross attended.

Allen, a 6-5, 222-pound speedster, runs a 4.6 40-yard dash and earned three stars from Rivals.com. He helped Coach Dan Trumble's Spartans into the Class 5A state football playoffs the past three seasons, including a 6-5 record in 2005. Rivals.com ranked Allen as the 34th-best weakside defensive end in the country. He was named to the SuperPrep All-America 277. Allen earned two stars from Scout.com, while Scouts, Inc. ranked him among the Top 100 defensive end prospects in the country. A tremendous athlete, Allen also played basketball for Thomas Jefferson, and helped lead the team to a 4A (second-largest classification in Colorado) state basketball title as a junior, earning MVP honors in the state tournament. He posted a triple-double in the championship game. Allen was the 4A state player of the year as a junior, averaging more than 20 points per game and led class 4A in rebounding (14.3) and blocked shots (5.3). In 2006, Allen helped Thomas Jefferson repeat as state champions, earning tournament MVP honors, and leading the Spartans with 13 points, 17 rebounds and five blocked shots in the championship game. Allen also earned Rocky Mountain News/CBS 4 Mr. Basketball honors for the second year in a row. On the football field, Allen led his team in tackles and was named team defensive MVP as a junior. Allen only visited Nebraska, but also had offers from Colorado, Colorado State, Michigan State, Syracuse, Washington and Wyoming. Allen earned Denver Post first-team All-Colorado honors as an athlete. The son of Tara Jenkins and Destrory Allen, Pierre was born on Nov. 18, 1987.

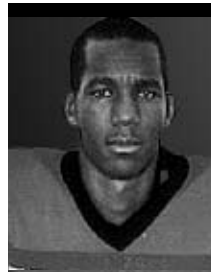

Cruz Barrett

#66

Offensive Lineman | Freshman | 6-4 | 320
Daytona Beach, Fla. (Mainland HS)

Offensive lineman Cruz Barrett of Daytona Beach (Fla.) Mainland High School is one of two recruits from the state of Florida to sign with Nebraska. The two signees in 2006 give the Huskers six commits from the Sunshine State in the past two years. The 6-4, 315-pound Barrett was ranked as the 36th-best offensive guard prospect in the nation according to Rivals.com, and was listed as the 60th-best player in the state of Florida. Barrett earned three stars from both Rivals.com and Scout.com. Barrett also received scholarship offers from Florida, Florida State, North Carolina, Oklahoma and West Virginia. PrepStar placed Barrett on its All-Southeast region team. Barrett was ranked among the SuperPrep Florida Top 96. Barrett was a two-year starter for Coach John Maronto at Mainland, which finished 8-3 in 2005 in Florida's second-largest classification. Mainland currently has 41 players in college football at all levels. Barrett was ranked as the 55th-best prospect in the state of Florida on the Tallahassee Democrat's Sunshine 75. Barrett also played basketball for Mainland. Born on April 30, 1988, Barrett lives with his guardian Janice Wilson.

Will Henry

Wide Receiver | Freshman | 6-5 | 195
El Paso, Texas (J.M. Hanks HS)

Will Henry adds impressive size and speed to the wide receiver position for Nebraska. The tallest receiver to sign with the class, Henry stands 6-5 and weighs in at 195 pounds. He also runs a 4.5 40-yard dash. The 6-5 Henry matches Wilson Thomas (1998) as the tallest receiver to sign with the Huskers since at least 1974. Henry played for Coach Ron Durks at J.M. Hanks High School in El Paso, Texas, and chose Nebraska after also receiving offers from Missouri, New Mexico State and UTEP. As a junior, Henry caught 16 passes for 273 yards and three touchdowns. Henry enjoyed a breakout season as a senior, totaling 52 receptions for 917 yards and 12 touchdowns while earning Class

5A first-team all-state honors from TexasHSFootball.com and Honorable-Mention Class 5A All-State honors from the Associated Press. Playing defense as a junior, Henry recorded 35 total tackles and intercepted two passes. Henry was ranked among the SuperPrep Texas Top 102. Henry also ran track for Hanks. He is a commissioner of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. He is co-author of 'Intellectual Property and Unfair Competition' (5th edition, 1998) and co-reporter for the 'Restatement of Unfair Competition' (1994). In February 2002, Perlman was named a Life Fellow of the American Bar Foundation. Fellow status denotes an individual who has demonstrated outstanding dedication to the welfare of his or her community and is committed to the highest principles of the legal profession. Only the top one-third of one percent of the legal profession is eligible for nomination as a Fellow.

At the University of Nebraska, he was chair of the search advisory committee for chancellor in 1991, chairs the Nebraska Bioethics Advisory Panel, and is a member of the Nebraska State Fair Board and the Bowl Championship Series Presidential Oversight Committee.

Perlman and his wife, Susan, an NU alumna, are the parents of two daughters. Anne, who earned degrees from UNL and the University of Nebraska Medical Center, practices medicine in Lincoln. Amie, who graduated from UNL in May 2002, graduated from the UNL School of Law in Spring 2006. He and Susan enjoy the company of two grandchildren, Will and Ava.

Josephine Potuto, J.D.

Faculty Athletics Representative

Josephine (Jo) R. Potuto, the Richard H. Larson Professor of Constitutional Law, has been Nebraska's faculty representative to the NCAA and Big 12 Conference since May 15, 1997.

In January 2003, Potuto was appointed to hold one of the Big 12 Conference's three seats on the NCAA Division I Management Council, the chief administrative and legislative body of Division I. She also has been a member of the Division I Committee on Infractions (COI) since 1998 and serves as the committee chair. The COI meets six times annually to conduct hearings, make findings of culpability and impose sanctions on institutions for violations of NCAA bylaws.

Potuto also serves as a member of the executive committee of the Division IA

Faculty Athletics Representatives and serves on a committee to review NCAA rules governing enforcement, infractions and waiver processes. Among her Big 12 Conference committee responsibilities, Potuto serves on the Conference Administrative Committee. She is the conference liaison to the Faculty Athletics Representatives Association (FARA), where she also served as the Division I representative on the executive committee. In 2002, Potuto was named Outstanding Faculty Athletics Representative by the All-American Football Foundation.

Potuto is an expert on issues related to gender equity in collegiate sports and generally on the NCAA enforcement and infractions process. In Fall 2004 Potuto testified before the House Subcommittee on the Constitution regarding due process in NCAA infractions hearings. With regard to other current issues in sports, Potuto is a past adviser to the Uniform Law Commissioners Committee to draft a sports agent statute, and she also drafted rules governing search and seizure and hearings for the Nebraska Racing Commission.

At Nebraska, Potuto is an ex officio member of the academic senate's intercollegiate athletics committee and of the subcommittee to evaluate academic support services. She also served on Nebraska's NCAA site certification steering committee. Potuto was project director and a drafter of the Uniform Law Commissioners Sentencing and Corrections Act, as well as the drafter for the Nebraska Supreme Court Committee to Draft Criminal Jury Instructions. She is the author of three books and numerous articles.

Potuto teaches constitutional, procedural and criminal law as well as a course in sports law. She joined the Nebraska law faculty as an assistant professor in 1974 and was named to the Larson professorship in 1988. Potuto has been a visiting professor of law at the University of Arizona, Rutgers University, the Cardozo College of Law at New York's Yeshiva University, the University of Oregon, the University of North Carolina, and Seton Hall University. While on sabbatical during the 1983-84 academic year, Potuto was an assistant prosecutor in the Essex County (Newark, N.J.) prosecutor's office. She also spent five summers working in the prosecutor's office in Morris County, N.J.

Potuto earned her bachelor's degree in journalism at Rutgers' Douglass College and her master's degree in English literature at Seton Hall in 1971. She received her juris doctorate at the Rutgers Law College in 1974. She is a member of the bar of the U.S. Supreme Court, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and the U.S. District Courts for Nebraska and New Jersey.

Steve Pederson

Athletic Director | Fourth Year | Nebraska, 1980

- ▶ All-American Football Foundation General Robert R. Neyland Athletic Director Award (2002)
- ▶ NCAA Football Issues Committee Member

Tradition, Teamwork, Integrity. These are the core values of the Husker Nation and the principles of champions.

Steve Pederson was named his alma mater's 12th athletic director on Dec. 20, 2002, and quickly established these ideals as the driving force to guide Nebraska back to the pinnacle of collegiate athletics.

Pederson's first priority was improving Nebraska's facilities, an important step in providing the Huskers with another way to attract the best student-athletes in the country. In November of 2003, Pederson announced the Husker Nation Championship Drive, a $50 million fund-raising project to support the creation of the Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex, which will open this fall. The project includes the Hawks Championship Center and new outdoor practice fields to benefit each of NU's 23 varsity programs.

The final piece to the project is an expansion of Memorial Stadium that will boost capacity above 80,000 for the first time in the building's history. Nebraska will continue its NCAA-record streak of sellouts this season, extending the mark to an amazing 282 straight games in the regular-season finale.

Pederson's vision has made the Osborne Athletic Complex the showcase piece of the project. The complex will benefit all Nebraska student-athletes as it will include the finest training, sports nutrition and athletic medicine facilities in the nation in the Charles and Romona Myers Performance Center. The new football offices will overlook the mammoth weight facility while the adjacent athletic medicine areas provide high-tech rehabilitation services, including a state-of-the-art hydro-therapy pool used by only a handful of colleges in the country.

The improvements in Nebraska's facilities will not be felt only by student-athletes, as Pederson has ensured the Husker Nation a fan-friendly environment at Memorial Stadium. Improved fan amenities this year include increased numbers of concessions stands and restrooms, improved seating options for the disabled and a concourse-level connector that brings the North Stadium together with the East and West. Fans will also be able to enjoy one of the nation's largest big screens during the Tunnel Walk, one of college football's most grand entrances.

The new facilities will benefit some of the top athletic squads in the country. During the 2005-06 seasons, 15 of Nebraska's 23 varsity sports finished the year ranked in the national top 25.

The Huskers' nationally renowned volleyball team led the way, as it reached the NCAA title game for the fifth time in school history. The volleyball team's runner-up finish tied the rifle program for the best national team placing on the year, while the women's outdoor track and field (fourth) and women's gymnastics (fifth) teams each finished in the top five.

Individually, Nebraska student-athletes have flourished in recent years, including 37 Huskers earning 48 All-America certificates last season. Arturs Abolins won both the men's indoor and outdoor long jump national titles and Dace Ruskule won a title in the discus, while Kristina Fehlings (air rifle) rounded out the Huskers' trio of national champions. Christina Houghtelling (volleyball) and Lindsay Baker (bowling) were named national player of the year following outstanding seasons in their respective sports, and John Cook (volleyball) was named the national coach of the year by his peers.

Pederson has pushed the Huskers to uphold their unparalleled tradition and remain at the forefront in the classroom as well as on the field.

Last year, 11 Cornhuskers earned CoSIDA Academic All-America honors, raising Nebraska's NCAA-leading total to 233, 59 more than the closest school. Over two semesters last year, 479 student-athletes earned Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll accolades with a 3.0 or better grade-point average, while 126 Huskers claimed academic All-Big 12 honors and 111 earned their degree.

Pederson is an award-winning athletic director with experience at four prominent Division I schools. A tireless worker with a contagious winning attitude, Pederson has implemented his vision for the future of Nebraska, which includes three vital components to success: a staff that will outwork the competition; enhancing facilities in order to attract the nation's best student-athletes; and a unified approach to enable student-athletes to succeed in all facets of life.

"Steve has worked hard to revitalize the tradition that has made Nebraska one of the best athletic programs in the country," said Mike Devaney, son of Hall of Fame Coach and Athletic Director Bob Devaney. "My dad felt that you had to have fun and enjoy what you are doing to be successful, and Steve has made it fun again. At the same time, he is not afraid to make tough decisions. I believe my dad would agree with Steve's vision of the future."

Nebraska's championship tradition has been built by outstanding student-athletes and coaches over the years, but Pederson believes the foundation of Nebraska's success is its fans – not only the 1.7 million people who call the state home, but also fans who support NU from around the nation.

Since December 2002, Pederson has worked hard to integrate Husker fans into the NU athletic program. He declared the 2003-04 season the "Year of the Fan" and conceptualized the first Husker Nation Tour, where football coaches, players and staff blanketed the state. The event was an instant success, and reached more than 35,000 fans across the state over three years.

Pederson developed the Husker Nation Pavilion for football fans to enjoy a family-friendly, fan-fest atmosphere before home football games. He also worked to keep ticket prices down, as tickets increased just $1.25 in his first two seasons at Nebraska and prices the last two years have risen at a much lower rate than most other Big 12 schools. He also made single-game football tickets available in an on-line pool, and in 2006, 1,000 new season ticket holders were added to the expanded North Stadium without a donation.

From creating the nation's first comprehensive strength program to its nationally renowned academic support system, Nebraska has always been at the forefront in providing unmatched resources for its student-athletes. Pederson is continuing that tradition as he has shown the foresight and vision needed to ensure long-term success for athletic programs, both at Pittsburgh and Nebraska.

Pederson's efforts have the interests of the student-athletes in mind. He has implemented support programs to aid student-athlete's academic, athletic,

"Steve has infused our athletic program with energy and optimism that will provide great momentum in years to come."

▶ Football Coach Bill Callahan

With Athletic Director Steve Pederson's announcement (above) of the availability of 6,500 new season tickets in the Memorial Stadium expansion, 15,000 Husker fans placed deposits on those possible seats. The requests were put into a successful ticket lottery distribution system, and the Husker Nation's enthusiasm assures Nebraska continues its NCAA-record 275-game consecutive sellout streak.

personal and professional development. In order to assist student-athletes with their postgraduation pursuits, he worked with Assistant Athletic Director for Student Life Keith Zimmer to enhance Nebraska's nationally recognized Life Skills program. They created the Life Skills Award for the team that demonstrated the strongest commitment to all phases of the life skills program, including outreach, education and leadership.

According to Pederson, one crucial area in building an athletic department is to have coaches who not only possess strong leadership skills and the vision to run a program, but also the integrity to follow Big 12 and NCAA rules.

In January of 2004, Pederson hired Bill Callahan to guide the Husker football program back to elite status. Recognized nationally as one of the brightest minds in football, Callahan came from the NFL's Oakland Raiders, where he led the franchise to an AFC title and a berth in Super Bowl XXXVII in his first season as head coach.

A firm believer in the philosophy that hard work pays off, Pederson was given his first chance at leading a Division I program when he was hired as athletic director at the University of Pittsburgh in 1996. A young and relatively unknown commodity at the time, Pederson returned the Panthers to the national spotlight in just six years.

Pederson is credited with turning around the Pittsburgh athletic program. As a result of his hard work and effective leadership style, Pederson was named the recipient of the 2002 General Robert R. Neyland Athletic Director Award, annually presented by the All-American Football Foundation for outstanding administrative achievement.

Pederson helped construct several new facilities at Pittsburgh, including shaping the vision of the Petersen Events Center, a convocation center that provided Pittsburgh with one of the finest college basketball arenas in the country. Behind Pederson's efforts, the Panther football team was blessed with the Duratz Athletic Complex and the UPMC Sports Performance Complex, a practice venue that opened in 2000. In 2001, the Panthers debuted Heinz Field, a new facility the football team shares with the Steelers. Pederson also oversaw major upgrades to several Olympic sport facilities.

During his tenure at Pittsburgh, Pederson hired six coaches who combined to earn Big East Coach-of-the-Year honors in football, men's basketball, women's basketball, volleyball, baseball and track and field. Under Pederson's head coaching hires, the football team made three straight bowl appearances, including two victories, while the men's basketball team went on to gain back-to-back Sweet 16 berths.

In his first stint at Nebraska, Pederson helped negotiate the original football contract with adidas in 1995 and oversaw the recent completion of a new contract that will supply all Husker teams with adidas apparel through 2010.

If it seems that Pederson has a passion for the Huskers, he does. In fact, although Pederson lived outside the state for 13 years while gaining valuable experience at three major Division I institutions, Pederson's love of Nebraska has never wavered.

Pederson and his wife, Tami, both earned degrees from the University of Nebraska. Steve earned his bachelor's degree from Nebraska in business administration in 1980 and began his career at Nebraska, first as a sports information assistant (1980-81) and then as football recruiting coordinator (1982 to 1986). He returned as the associate athletic director for football operations from 1994 to 1996.

As the Husker associate athletic director for football, Pederson oversaw the refurbishment of the football administrative offices, and the construction of a new halftime meeting room, postgame interview room and players and coaches locker rooms. He reorganized the program's administrative wing and played a definitive role in Nebraska's three national championships in the 1990s (1994, 1995 and 1997) under Head Coach Tom Osborne.

Pederson left the state in 1988 to serve as Ohio State's recruiting coordinator until 1991, then moved on to the University of Tennessee to devote three years as the athletic administrator for football. In three seasons at UT, the Volunteers' recruiting classes were regarded among the nation's top three nationally by several publications. He was promoted from recruiting coordinator to assistant athletic director for recruiting in 1992, and then was elevated to associate athletic director for football operations in 1993.

Pederson has been active on several committees. He is currently a member of the NCAA Football Issues Committee and Post-Season Bowl Licensing Sub-Committee, as well as the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame District Screening Committee. While at Pittsburgh, he served as the chairman of the Big East Conference Executive Committee.

A native of North Platte, Neb., Pederson has experience in the non-athletic business sector, spending one year as Ak-Sar-Ben's Public Relations Director (1981-82), and two years in private business in Nebraska (1986 to 1988), before returning to college football in 1988 at Ohio State.

Pederson and his wife Tami Osborne Pederson have three children: Mark (23), Kari (20) and Kristin (17).

Tami earned a bachelor's of music education degree and a master's of music degree from the University of Nebraska. She is a violinist with the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra and teaches violin at Nebraska Wesleyan University. She has performed with professional orchestras and string quartets in Nebraska, Ohio, Tennessee and Pennsylvania and has taught at Capital University and the University of Tennessee.

In 2004-05, Tami, along with Janelle Boehm and Lisa Miles, organized SHARE (Spouses of Husker Athletics Reaching and Embracing), which has done tremendous charitable work within the state. It has involved 30 spouses of Husker athletic department coaches and staff and six local organizations.

Marc Boehm

Executive Associate A.D.

Marc Boehm (pronounced BAME) was hired in May of 2003 to serve as Nebraska's Executive Associate Athletic Director. Boehm is the top assistant to the athletic director and fulfills the director's responsibilities in his absence.

Boehm serves as the department's COO and oversees the efforts of several areas within athletics, including marketing, media relations, athletic medicine, strength and conditioning, events and facilities. He also provides guidance to HuskerVision and NU's Internet presence, Huskers.com, and assists the athletic director on special projects, including television and radio contracts.

As primary administrator for the men's and women's basketball programs, Boehm has persevered to create a fan-friendly atmosphere at the Bob Devaney Sports Center. He has also worked tirelessly with Fox Sports Net and the Big 12 Conference to provide the men's team with its most extensive television package in program history. Boehm's efforts have led to an increase of more than 20 percent in attendance at women's games over the past three seasons.

Under Boehm's guidance, the teams have combined for five postseason appearances in the past three years. The women's team advanced to the second round of the WNIT each of the past three seasons, while the men have reached postseason play twice during Boehm's tenure.

Boehm's efforts to enhance NU's gameday atmosphere were not restricted to the basketball programs. He was instrumental in conceptualizing and developing the Husker Nation Pavilion, which quickly became the premier pregame event around home football games. The area, which is free to the public, includes a video board, interactive games, autograph sessions with current and former athletes, professional music groups and vendors. It also serves as the location for the Pinnacle Sports Network pregame show, giving fans a family-friendly venue.

Boehm also took the lead role in obtaining First National Bank as a premier sponsor for the Nebraska Athletic Department for nearly $3 million over a three-year period. First National Bank joined ALLTEL, Pepsi and adidas as premier corporate sponsors for Husker athletics.

Boehm held the same position under Steve Pederson at Pittsburgh from 1997 to 2003. Boehm assisted in the rise of the Panthers' basketball program with the men's team posting back-to-back Sweet 16 appearances in the NCAA Tournament.

During construction of the Panthers' new athletic facilities, Boehm played a central role, including serving as principal planner for the football team's move into the UPMC Sports Performance Complex and Heinz Field. He also played a key role in various aspects of the Petersen Events Center, the new basketball arena.

Boehm served as interim athletic director at Pittsburgh for nearly five months before coming to Nebraska. During that time, he hired new men's (Jamie Dixon) and women's basketball (Agnus Berenato) and soccer (Sue-Moy Chin) head coaches for the Panther program. Under Dixon's direction, the Panthers have advanced to five straight NCAA Tournaments, while Berenato has rejuvenated the women's program, which recently set a school record for victories.

Joe Starkey of the Pittsburgh Tribune Review praised Boehm for the outstanding basketball hires, writing in a 2006 article, "Credit Marc Boehm with a key assist here. ... He was Pitt's interim athletic director after Steve Pederson left, and it was under his watch that Berenato and men's basketball coach Jamie Dixon were hired. That's a pretty good legacy."

Boehm spent five years as associate executive director of the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, where he was instrumental in building community and marketing programs. Boehm directed and managed a 125-member fund-raising committee of Arizona business leaders that was responsible for generating more than $4.5 million in cash and in-kind partnerships.

Before joining the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl staff, Boehm spent four years as associate executive director and public relations director of the Sun Bowl from 1987 to 1991. He went to the Sun Bowl after one year as a sports information intern at Florida.

Born in Grand Island, Boehm earned his bachelor's degree in communications from Kansas State University in 1984 and added a master's degree in sports management from St. Thomas (Fla.) University in 1985. Boehm and his wife, the former Janelle Broderick of Minot, N.D., have three boys, Broderick, Christian and Lukas John.

Husker Football History

Over a Century of Winning Tradition

By Mike Babcock, Freelance Journalist

Fans celebrated by waving banners of old gold. "The score stood 10 to nothing in the state university's favor and great and loud were the yells that filled the atmosphere," a newspaper account said.

The date was Nov. 27, 1890. The state university was Nebraska, which had just defeated a team representing the Omaha YMCA. The game, composed of a 35-minute first half and a 43-minute second half, was played in Omaha. So began Nebraska's rich football tradition.

It was an abbreviated opening "season." Nebraska's first football team played only one other game, in February of 1891, an 18-0 victory against Doane College in Crete, Neb. Whether or not Dr. Langdon Frothingham, the team's "coach," was still at Nebraska when the team traveled to Crete is unclear. Frothingham, a new faculty member from Harvard, was made the coach primarily because he had brought a football with him. He returned to Boston in 1891, probably before that second game.

Nebraska didn't actually have a football coach until 1893, when Frank Crawford was hired for an amount reported to have been between $300 and $500. His salary included room and board. Crawford also played quarterback in at least one game during his brief tenure as coach.

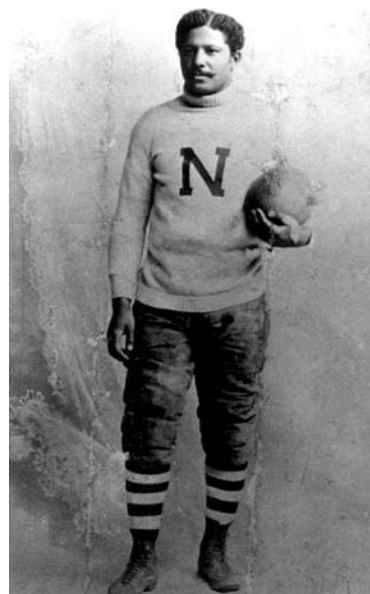

Nebraska's first game against an opponent from outside the state was in 1891, when Iowa won a game played in Omaha, 22-0. The first victory against an out-of-state opponent came in 1892, when George Flippin led Nebraska past Illinois at Lincoln. The score was 6-0.

with Alexander the Great because they have no more teams to conquer."

Booth coached Nebraska from 1900 to 1905, with his teams compiling a 46-8-1 record. In 1902, a team featuring Johnny Bender and Charles Borg went undefeated, untied and unscored upon. Booth's teams produced a 24-game winning streak — 27

The 1905 Nebraska Cornhuskers.

George Flippin, 1891-94.

Sherman, who later gained national prominence as the sports editor of The Lincoln Star, was known as the "father of the Cornhuskers" and was made an honorary member of the Nebraska letterman's club.

Nebraska was an independent football power in the Midwest by then, under the direction of Coach Walter C. "Bummy" Booth.

"Nebraska occupies a unique position in western football," a newspaper account in 1903 said. "Too strong to find fearful competitors, the Cornhuskers can almost weep Flippin was the first African-American athlete at Nebraska and only the fifth black athlete at a predominantly white university. Because of Flippin's presence on the roster, Missouri refused to play a scheduled game with Nebraska at Omaha in 1892. The result was a 1-0 forfeit.

In the early years, Nebraska's football team had several nicknames, including Tree-planters, Rattlesnake Boys, Antelopes, Old Gold Knights (which didn't work well after the school colors were made scarlet and cream around 1900) and Bugeaters. The team was first called Cornhuskers in 1899. Charles "Cy" Sherman, sports editor of the Nebraska State Journal at the time, assigned the nickname.

counting exhibition victories against Lincoln High School. The 24-game winning streak stood as a school record until the 1995 season, when a 62-24 victory against Florida in the Fiesta Bowl game extended a Cornhusker winning streak to 25.

The streak reached 26 before ending at Arizona State in 1996.

Booth, a Princeton graduate, "raised Nebraska from a second-rate team among those of the Missouri Valley to a position where even the leaders of the Conference look upon her as an opponent to be feared," according to the university's student newspaper in 1905.

Booth's coaching success was soon overshadowed when Ewald O. "Jumbo" Stiehm was hired as coach in 1911. Stiehm's teams, the "Stiehm Rollers," were a combined 35-2-3 in five seasons. He remains the winningest football coach by percentage (.913) in school history.

The "Stiehm Rollers" won five Missouri Valley Conference championships and had a school-record 34-game unbeaten streak. In 1914, they were 7-0-1 and argued that they were deserving of a mythical national title. In 1915, they were even better, going 8-0 and again claiming the right to be called national champions. The Cornhuskers were considered to play in the Rose Bowl game after the 1915 season, but the university's athletic board voted to turn down any such invitation.

During Stiehm's tenure as coach, Nebraska produced its first official All-America players — Vic Halligan and Guy Chamberlin, "The Champ." Chamberlin, who came from Blue Springs, Neb., played two years at Nebraska Wesleyan before being enticed to transfer to Nebraska.

Stiehm left NU after the 1915 season because the university turned down his demand that he be paid an annual salary of $4,250 to serve as football coach and athletic director — he also coached the basketball team. The Cornhuskers quickly overcame his departure and continued to enjoy national respect. After Coach Fred Dawson's first team defeated Pittsburgh (coached by Pop Warner) 10-0 in 1921, an Eastern newspaper described the mighty Cornhuskers as "Mankilling Mastodons."

As with everything else in this country, Cornhusker football felt the profound effects of World War I. But the end of the war ushered in the Roaring '20s, a time not only of prohibition, flappers and Model T Fords but one in which Nebraska and Notre Dame regularly played football against each other. An 11-game series involving the schools began with a 20-19 Cornhusker victory in Lincoln in 1915 and ended with Nebraska's 17-0 victory at Memorial Stadium in 1925.

The Cornhuskers' only loss in 1921 was against the Fighting Irish, 7-0 at Lincoln. NU handed Notre Dame its only defeat in 1922, winning at South Bend, 14-6, and setting the stage for what was probably the greatest drama of Cornhusker football during the Roaring '20s. On Nov. 10, 1923, before what one newspaper called "the greatest crowd ever assembled in the Missouri Valley to witness a football game" at Memorial Stadium, Nebraska defeated Knute Rockne's "wonder team." The score was 14-7, and the Cornhusker star was Ed Weir, a sophomore from Superior, Neb., who would earn All-America recognition in both 1924 and 1925. Weir led the way to a similarly impressive 14-0 victory against Illinois and Red Grange in the 1925 season-opener at Champaign, Ill.

On Oct. 13, 1923, Nebraska played its first game in Memorial Stadium, which replaced a field that ran east and west just to the south of what is now the South Stadium offices. The Nebraska Athletic Field had been used since 1909. It could accommodate, at most, approximately 10,000 fans, which wasn't enough, given the growing popularity of Nebraska football. The Cornhuskers defeated Oklahoma 24-0 that day in 1923. It would have been an appropriate way to dedicate the stadium. The problem was, the Cornhuskers' new home wasn't officially dedicated until a week later, with a scoreless tie against Kansas. A newspaper account attributed the tie to a "stadium dedication jinx." A year earlier, Nebraska had spoiled the dedication of a new stadium at Kansas by defeating the Jayhawks 28-0.

Dawson, whose teams won three Missouri Valley Conference titles, was succeeded as coach by E.E. Bearg in 1925. Four years later, D.X. Bible arrived.

Bible, who came from Texas A&M, wasn't Nebraska's first choice to replace Bearg. Nebraska tried to lure Rockne from Notre Dame. He declined and suggested the Cornhuskers approach Bible, who had turned A&M into a Southwest Conference powerhouse.

Bible coached the Cornhuskers from 1929 to 1936. His teams won six Big Six titles and featured a number of All-Americans, among them Ray Richards, Hugh Rhea, Lawrence Ely, George Sauer and Sam Francis. Bible's best team probably was the one in 1933, the year Sauer earned All-America recognition. The Cornhuskers finished 8-1, their only loss coming at Pittsburgh.

After the 1936 season, in which Nebraska ranked No. 9 in the first Associated Press poll, Bible left in the same direction from which he had come, accepting a job at Texas. Bible was quickly replaced by Major Lawrence McCeney "Biff" Jones, who had coached at Army, LSU and Oklahoma.

Cornhusker football was important to the state in the late 1930s. With the Great Depression coming to an end, it gave Nebraskans something in which to take pride. Bowl games are taken for granted by Nebraska fans now. The Cornhuskers made an NCAA-record 35 consecutive bowl trips from 1962 to 2003. But Nebraska had never been to a postseason bowl when Jones' fourth team accepted an invitation to play in the Rose Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1941.

The celebration that followed the acceptance of the school's first bowl bid lasted 24 hours in Lincoln, according to newspaper reports. University classes were canceled, and students stormed the state capitol, demanding that the governor lead the singing of the school song, "There Is No Place Like Nebraska."

The 1940 team featured All-Americans Warren Alfson and Forrest Behm. Though it lost, 21-13, to a Stanford team that featured quarterback Frankie Albert and the innovative T-formation offense, it retains a special place in Cornhusker history. Hall of Fame Coach Bob Devaney used to joke that he'd been in the state several years before he found out the Cornhuskers had lost the 1941 Rose Bowl game.

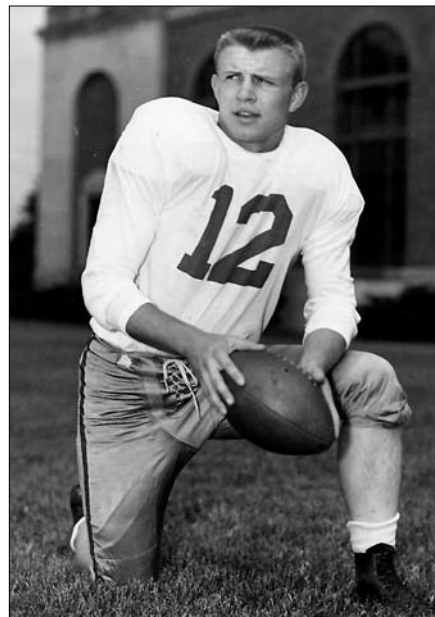

Jones left for military service after a 4-5 season in 1941, the first in a string of losing seasons that didn't end until 1950. After Jones' departure, Nebraska had six head coaches in the next eight years. Among the six was A.J. Lewandowski, a four-sport Cornhusker letterman who, at one time, served not only as head football coach but also head basketball coach, athletic director and athletic department business manager. One of the few bright spots, during an otherwise glum period, was Tom "Train Wreck" Novak, who earned All-America recognition as a senior on a 4-5 team in 1949. Novak's jersey number (60) was the first to be retired by Nebraska.

The 1949 team was the first to be coached by Bill Glassford, who produced three winning seasons in his seven years. Glassford's best team was the one in 1950, which featured Bobby Reynolds, a sophomore from Grand Island, Neb., who rushed for 1,342 yards and scored 157 points. The 1950 Cornhuskers were 6-2-1 and finished second in the Big Seven Conference.

Reynolds was hampered by injuries as a junior and senior and couldn't duplicate the offensive statistics that earned him national recognition and the nickname "Mr. Touchdown" as a sophomore.

Glassford's 1954 team also finished second in the conference and earned a trip to the Orange Bowl because Big Seven champion Oklahoma, in the midst of an NCAA-record 47-game winning streak, wasn't allowed to make a return trip to the bowl under a "no-repeat" rule. Nebraska, which had lost to Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners 55-7, didn't fare much better in Miami, losing to Duke 34-7.

All-America halfback Bobby Reynolds.

Glassford resigned, after considerable controversy and a player revolt, following the 1955 season. Six losing seasons, the last five under Coach Bill Jennings, followed. Jennings was a popular assistant under Pete Elliott, who spent only one season as head coach.

Though Jennings' teams never produced winning records, they had a knack for dramatic upsets, the most notable being a 25-21 Homecoming victory against Oklahoma on Halloween in 1959. The victory ended the Sooners' record of 74 consecutive conference games without defeat. They had won 44 consecutive conference games.

The Cornhuskers opened the 1960 season by defeating fourth-ranked Texas in Austin, 14-13. But such upsets couldn't salvage Jennings' job, and he resigned after a 3-6-1 record in 1961.

Devaney was hired by Athletic Director William H. "Tippy" Dye after a search based on Dye's stated goals of Nebraska's being No. 1 in the nation in football and getting the best football coach in the country, regardless of who he was or where he was. Both goals were achieved.

Jennings was an excellent recruiter, and Devaney inherited talented players when he arrived from Wyoming in 1962. That was apparent from the beginning as Devaney turned the program around immediately. Despite a 47-8-0 record and five bowl appearances in his first five seasons at Nebraska, Devaney had detractors following 6-4 records in 1967 and 1968. The Cornhuskers' recruiting efforts fell off, and some boosters wanted Devaney and his staff fired.

In 1969, the offense was redesigned. The Cornhuskers went to an I-formation with a balanced line, at the suggestion of then-assistant coach Tom Osborne, and recruiting picked up because of the change in offensive philosophy. Nebraska began an NCAA-record streak of nine-win seasons in 1969 (which reached 33 before ending in 2002) and set the stage for back-to-back national championships in 1970 and 1971.

The Cornhuskers won their final seven games in 1969, including a victory against Georgia in the Sun Bowl, to initiate a 32-game unbeaten streak that didn't end until the first game of the 1972 season, Devaney's last year as head coach. He had planned to retire as coach after the 1971 season but was convinced to stay one more year to try to win an unprecedented third consecutive national title.

The first championship season, in 1970, came on the heels of a 17-12 victory against Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl. Nebraska went into the game ranked No. 3 in the Associated Press poll, but both teams ahead of the Cornhuskers lost that day. There was no such suspense in 1971. Nebraska began the season ranked No. 2 by the Associated Press and moved up to No. 1 after a 34-7 victory in its opener against Oregon. The Cornhuskers remained atop the AP poll all season, as they defeated second-ranked Oklahoma in what was, and still is, called the "Game of the Century" on Thanksgiving Day in Norman, Okla., and wrapped up the title by defeating second-ranked Alabama 38-6 in the Orange Bowl game on New Year's night.

Big Eight Conference teams finished an unprecedented first (Nebraska), second (Oklahoma) and third (Colorado) in the final AP poll for the 1971 season. The Cornhuskers' Larry Jacobson was voted the Outland Trophy winner. The 1971 Nebraska team is widely regarded as being among the best in college football history.

Cornhusker All-Americans became commonplace during Devaney's tenure as coach. Among the 18 who received such recognition were Johnny Rodgers, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1972, and Rich Glover, who won the Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award that same season.

leg. In Frazier's absence, Brook Berringer became the starter. Berringer had problems of his own, suffering a partially collapsed lung, which led to walk-on Matt Turman taking his turn as the starter. Through it all, a dominating offensive line led by Outland Trophy winner Zach Wiegert, and a punishing defense carried the Cornhuskers and allowed them to claim the school's first national championship in 23 seasons.

In 1995, Nebraska became only the ninth major program to win back-to-back national championships since the Associated Press established its rankings in 1936. The Cornhuskers overwhelmed every opponent, including No. 2 Florida in the Fiesta Bowl game, with an offense that averaged 399.8 rushing yards per game and an aggressive and opportunistic defense.

According to the computer rankings of Jeff Sagarin, published regularly in USA Today, the 1995 Nebraska team was the best in modern collegiate history (post-1956). The 1971 Cornhuskers were a close second in Sagarin's rankings, and the 1972 team, despite finishing 9-2-1, was 10th.

The 1995 national championship might have been an unprecedented third in a row for Nebraska if Byron Bennett's 45-yard field goal attempt with one second remaining in the 1994 Orange Bowl game had been successful. The kick sailed wide left and heavily favored Florida State escaped with an 18-16 victory against a Cornhusker team that had gone through the regular season undefeated and untied.

A restructured defense, which included Butkus Award-winning outside linebacker Trev Alberts, helped put Nebraska in a position to play for the 1993 season's national championship.

The last time an Osborne-coached team had been in a position to win a national title was in 1983, when the Huskers began the season in the first Kickoff Classic ranked No. 1. After 12 consecutive victories, a missed two-point conversion at the end of the Orange Bowl game against Miami cost Nebraska the national title, 31-30. But Osborne's decision to go for two points, instead of settling for an almost-certain tie, earned him national respect. The 1983 team, nicknamed "The Scoring Explosion," featured a backfield that included the "Triplets" — Turner Gill, Mike Rozier and Irving Fryar.

Rozier set the school record for rushing yards in a season, gaining 2,148 to lead the nation, and was awarded the second Heisman Trophy in Cornhusker history. Offensive guard Dean Steinkuhler became Nebraska's third winner of both the Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award in 1983. Dave Rimington won both awards (the Outland was his second) in 1982, playing for a team that probably was more balanced, overall, than the 1983 team. The 1982 Cornhuskers also finished with a 12-1 record, but their loss came early in the season, 27-24 to Penn State at State College, Pa. That Nebraska team was ranked No. 3 in the final national polls of both major wire services.

Hall of Fame Coach Bob Devaney.

Devaney, who succeeded Dye as athletic director, picked his own successor as coach — Osborne. And the success continued, uninterrupted. Under Osborne, the Cornhuskers won or shared 13 conference championships and won national championships in 1994, 1995 and 1997.

The 1994 season began in late August at the Kickoff Classic and concluded with a dramatic, come-from-behind, 24-17 victory against Miami in the Orange Bowl game to clinch Osborne's first national championship. The season was full of memorable moments, including a much-publicized quarterback situation, with three different quarterbacks starting games during the season. At the start of the year, Tommie Frazier led the Huskers. But he was sidelined in midseason by a blood clot problem in his Hall of Fame Coach Tom Osborne.

Nebraska won three consecutive Big Eight championships from 1981 to 1983 and shared the title with Oklahoma in 1984. The Cornhuskers entered the Big 12 as winners of the last five Big Eight titles and reached the first Big 12 Championship Game in St. Louis. Had they not been upset by Texas, they would have played for yet another national championship in the 1997 Sugar Bowl game.

Nebraska returned to the Big 12 playoff in 1997 and defeated Texas A&M for its first title in the new conference on the way to becoming only the second major college program since national rankings were first established by the Associated Press to win three national titles in four seasons. Notre Dame won national championships in 1946, 1947 and 1949.

A 27-14 victory at Washington, which was ranked No. 2 or No. 3 in the nation depending on the poll, certified the Cornhuskers as national championship contenders. A 45-38 overtime victory at Missouri kept their title hopes alive. And a 42-17 victory against No. 3 Tennessee in the Orange Bowl boosted them to the top of the USA Today/ESPN coaches' poll.

The Missouri game was the most memorable. The Cornhuskers trailed 38-31 with 1:02 remaining, no timeouts and a first down at their own 33-yard line. Quarterback Scott Frost took them down the field in seven plays, all passes, the last deflected by Shevin Wiggins and caught by Matt Davison.

Davison's cradling of the ball in the end zone, with no time remaining, immediately went down among the greatest plays in Nebraska football history, along with Rodgers' punt return for a touchdown in the 1971 "Game of the Century" and Jerry Tagge's stretch for a touchdown in the fourth quarter of the 1971 Orange Bowl game to give the Cornhuskers their first national championship.

But the 1997 season's most significant event occurred on Dec. 10, when Osborne announced he would step aside after the bowl game, to be replaced by long-time assistant Frank Solich, a three-year Cornhusker letterman as a fullback for Devaney and a co-captain as a senior in 1965.

Osborne was head coach for 25 years, the longest tenure in school history. He was Nebraska's 25th head coach, not counting Frothingham, who was probably the "coach" of the 1890 team in name only. Under Osborne's direction, the program achieved remarkable success, exceeding any in its rich history. The Cornhuskers were 255-49-3 under Osborne, a winning percentage of .836. The 255 victories are the sixth-most all-time among major college football coaches. The winning percentage ranks fifth all-time. His achievements are such that the National Football Foundation waived its three-year waiting period so that he could be inducted into its Hall of Fame in December of 1998.

In Osborne's final five seasons, Nebraska was a combined 60-3.

"I want to make sure when I leave this program I leave it in the best shape I possibly can," an emotional Osborne said at the news conference to announce he would be retiring. "So I'm very anxious that anybody who is thinking about going to the University of Nebraska understands that there probably isn't a whole lot (that's) going to change. One guy's moving out. But in terms of the overall program, in terms of stability, in terms of our ability to get the job done, not much is going to change."

To that end, Osborne, with Athletic Director Bill Byrne's sanction, picked long-time assistant and former Cornhusker fullback Frank Solich as his replacement. Despite being beset by injuries, Solich's first team in 1998 managed nine victories and Nebraska's 30th consecutive bowl trip. His second team went 12-1, avenging its only loss to Texas in the Big 12 Championship Game and defeating Tennessee in the Fiesta Bowl game to finish No. 2 (ESPN/Coaches) and No. 3 (AP) in the national rankings.

The 1999 team would be Solich's best, even though the 2001 team, led by the Cornhuskers' third Heisman Trophy winner Eric Crouch, played for the BCS national championship in the Rose Bowl game, against a Miami team laden with NFL talent. The trip to Pasadena for the "granddaddy" of all bowl games was Nebraska's first since its first-ever bowl trip, following the 1940 season.

Defining plays in Crouch's Heisman Trophy dash included a 95-yard touchdown run against Missouri and a 63-yard touchdown reception in a 20-10 upset of No. 2-ranked Oklahoma.

Solich coached for two more seasons, making dramatic changes on his staff following a 7-7 record in 2002, and his final team went 9-3 in the regular season. The Huskers went on to add a victory over Michigan State in the Alamo Bowl to finish with 10 wins in 2003.

Despite Solich's 58-19 record (.753), first-year Athletic Director Steve Pederson was concerned about the program's direction. In announcing his decision to replace Solich, Pederson said, "I don't apologize for having high expectations. They're part of a great athletic program, and the most disappointing thing you can ever deal with are no expectations."

Among his expectations were that Nebraska would be playing for or gaining on the national championship "on a consistent basis. This is the best job in the country," he said, "and anybody who doesn't want to win the national championship shouldn't bother applying."

Pederson chose Bill Callahan, who had coached the NFL's Oakland Raiders to Super Bowl XXXVII less than 12 months earlier. His introduction came 41 days after Pederson fired Solich, ushering in a new era of Cornhusker football.

Callahan credits former Cornhusker Barry Alvarez, for whom he once served as an assistant at Wisconsin, with being "integral in my development as a coach." And he shares Pederson's expectations. "I'd tell the Husker Nation that the goal, the No. 1 goal and objective, is to win the national championship," Callahan said at his introductory news conference. "I'm fully committed to that responsibility, and that's one that I, again, take very seriously as a football coach and as an administrator."

The program hasn't gone through such sweeping changes since Dye hired Coach Devaney, who began Nebraska's streak of 35 bowl games and 42 winning regular seasons.

Callahan, who brought the pass-oriented West Coast Offense to a program that has been noted for its running game, wasn't available when the search for Solich's successor began. But "if you started out and said, 'What are you looking for?'" said Pederson, "you're looking for Bill Callahan."

Bob Devaney

Head Coach | 1962-1972
101-20-2 (.829), 11th All Time

- ▶ Hall of Fame Coach
- ▶ Two National Titles (1970, 1971)
- ▶ Athletic Director (1967-93)

One man tops the list of people responsible for the success of the University of Nebraska athletic teams—Bob Devaney. For 35 years he was the driving force behind the University of Nebraska championships, first as a Hall of Fame football coach (1962-72), then as Athletic Director (1967-93) and Athletic Director Emeritus (1993-96).

Devaney retired in 1996 and lived in Lincoln until he passed away at the age of 82 on May 9, 1997.

Although Devaney no longer has a physical presence at Nebraska, his mark will remain forever. The memories of the storybook national championship seasons of 1970 and 1971 will inspire generations of Husker fans for years to come. His commitment to building one of the nation's best all-around athletic programs is reinforced with every athletic and academic honor earned by Husker student-athletes. And his legacy continues with the passing of each successful season.

From the time he took over athletic director duties for Tippy Dye in 1967, to his final year as athletic director in 1993, his vigor, enthusiasm and administrative excellence earned him a reputation as one of the nation's outstanding athletic directors. Those same characteristics helped make him a football coaching legend. A 1981 inductee into the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame, under Devaney's leadership Nebraska developed one of the nation's most successful all-around athletic programs.

Devaney arrived in Lincoln in 1962, after posting a 35-10-5 (.750) five-year record at Wyoming. During his 11-year stint as Husker football coach, Devaney's teams won 101 games, lost only 20 and tied two for an .829 winning percentage. His career mark of 136-30-7 (.806) ranked him as the nation's winningest active coach at the time of his retirement in 1973, and he ranks 11th on the all-time list today, six spots behind the man he tabbed as his replacement, Tom Osborne.

In all, his Husker gridiron teams won eight Big Eight titles and two national championships (1970, 1971) and went to nine bowl games. He wound up with three straight Orange Bowl wins, two Outland Trophy winners, a Lombardi Award winner and a Heisman Trophy winner. Twice his teams won four consecutive Big Eight titles, 1963-66 and 1969-72.

Tom Osborne

Head Coach | 1973-1997
255-49-3 (.836), 5th All Time

- ▶ Hall of Fame Coach
- ▶ Three National Titles (1994, 1995, 1997)

The words were inscribed on Memorial Stadium's northwest corner some 14 years before he was born; "Courage; Generosity; Fairness; Honor; In these are the true awards of manly sports." How fitting then, that the field inside that historic stadium is now called Tom Osborne Field, in honor of a man, who in 25 seasons on the Husker sideline built a total program based on more than winning.

His era of excellence receives another lasting tribute when the new Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex opens in 2006.

Osborne's coaching career came to a poetic end in the 1998 Orange Bowl. In his final game, the Huskers defeated No. 3 Tennessee, 42-17, giving him a share of a third national title in his final four seasons. The victory left Osborne as the first coach in college football history to retire as a reigning national champion, along with the nation's best active winning percentage (.836, 255-49-3), which ranked fifth all-time among Division I coaches.

Osborne guided the Huskers to back-to-back titles in 1994 and 1995, then capped his career by sharing the 1997 title with Michigan. Nebraska's back-to-back national titles in 1994-95 made Osborne the first coach to accomplish that feat since Bear Bryant led Alabama to titles in 1978-79. Under Osborne, NU became just the second school all time and the first since Oklahoma in 1955-56 to post back-to-back perfect national championship seasons. In fact, Osborne's last five Nebraska teams put together the best five-year run in collegiate football history with an amazing 60-3 record, including five consecutive 11-win seasons.

Osborne-coached Nebraska teams captured 13 conference crowns, including six of his last seven seasons on the sideline. All 25 of his Husker teams won at least nine games and went to a bowl, while 15 won 10-or-more games. Achievements of that magnitude earned Osborne an immediate ticket to the College Football Hall of Fame in December of 1998, after it waived the customary three-year wait for entrance into the hall. He is one of only two coaches (along with Eddie Robinson of Grambling) to have the three-year waiting period waived.

A Hastings, Neb., native, Osborne served Nebraska for three terms in the U.S. House of Representatives as a congressman from the third district.

Osborne on Devaney

"He was the one who gave me a chance to be a graduate assistant, an assistant coach and a head coach at Nebraska. Most everything I know about coaching, I learned from him. He was exceptional at handling players, always had a great sense of humor, and the players enjoyed playing for him."

Devaney on Osborne

"He's the finest football coach in the country. If I were hiring a coach and I could get him, I'd take him. Since we're lucky enough to have him here, I wouldn't trade him for anybody."
 -- Devaney said near the end of his tenure as Athletic Director (1967-93)

Nebraska's Heisman Trophy History

Mike Rozier I-Back (1983)

The greatest running back in Nebraska history, Mike Rozier ran away with the 1983 Heisman Trophy. After finishing 10th in Heisman voting as a junior, Rozier brought home the award as a senior by setting a school record with 2,148 yards on 275 carries and a school-record 29 touchdowns.

Rozier averaged 179 yards per game, while tying an NCAA record by reeling off 11 straight 100-yard performances, including a career-best 285 yards on 31 carries against Kansas on Nov. 12, 1983. Rozier's effort against the Jayhawks was one of seven 200-yard games in his career.

Rozier helped the Huskers to the national title game in the 1984 Orange Bowl, losing to Miami, 31-30. Despite scoring 49 regular-season rushing touchdowns in his career, Rozier never ran for a score in three Nebraska bowl games. However, he did throw a 25-yard pass to Anthony Steels in the Huskers' 22-15 loss to national champion Clemson in the 1982 Orange Bowl and he hauled in an 11-yard touchdown reception from Turner Gill in NU's 21-20 win over LSU in the 1983 Orange Bowl.

The No. 1 pick of the USFL's Pittsburgh Maulers in the 1984 draft, Rozier was also the No. 1 pick of the Houston Oilers in the supplemental phase of the 1984 NFL Draft.

He was voted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2006.

Johnny Rodgers Wingback (1972)

Johnny "The Jet" Rodgers helped the Huskers win the first two national titles in school history in 1970 and 1971, before becoming Nebraska's first Heisman winner in 1972.

Rodgers owns Nebraska records for receptions (143) and receiving yardage (2,479) to go along with his 26 career touchdown catches.

A two-time All-American as a wingback, Rodgers was one of the top punt returners in college football history, racing to 1,515 career punt return yards and seven regular-season touchdowns. He added 847 yards and one score as a kickoff returner, and 745 career rushing yards with 11 touchdowns.

After winning his Heisman Trophy, Rodgers put his all-around game on display in a 40-6 win over Notre Dame in the 1973 Orange Bowl. Rodgers had a hand in all five of Nebraska's touchdowns against the Fighting Irish, rushing for three touchdowns, while adding one touchdown reception. He pitched in a 52-yard pass to Frosty Anderson for another score.

Rodgers was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2000.

Eric Crouch

Quarterback (2001)

Eric Crouch became Nebraska's third Heisman Trophy winner by earning a spot as one of the greatest rushing quarterbacks in college football history.

Nebraska's career total-offense leader with 7,915 yards, Crouch smashed the school's career quarterback rushing mark with 3,434 yards on the ground in his four years as a starter. The only player in school history to lead the team in total offense four straight years, Crouch also passed for 4,481 yards to rank third in NU history.

As a senior, Crouch struck for a then-school record 2,625 total-offense yards, with 1,115 yards rushing and 1,510 yards passing, leading NU to the national title game in the 2002 Rose Bowl.

Crouch became just the third quarterback in NCAA history to rush for 3,000 yards and pass for 4,000 yards in his career. He also eclipsed the NCAA record for rushing touchdowns by a quarterback with 59, shattering fellow Heisman winner Mike Rozier's previous school record of 49 rushing touchdowns.

Crouch finished his career 35-7 as a starter, accounting for 88 total-offense touchdowns. In a win over California as a sophomore in 1999, Crouch tied an NCAA record by throwing for a touchdown, rushing for a touchdown and catching a touchdown pass in the same game.

Novak's 60, Brown's 64 Retired at NU
Following the 1949 season, the N Club voted to retire jersey No. 60 in honor of Tom "Train Wreck" Novak's stellar career with the Cornhuskers. Novak, the first Nebraska player to earn this honor, was a four-time All-Big Seven choice and a 1949 All-American.

Bob Brown joined Tom Novak as the only other Husker with the honor of having his No. 64 permanently retired by Nebraska in 2004, after Brown became just the third Husker in history to earn a spot in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. All major national award winners will have their jerseys retired; however, the number will still be available to active Huskers. Novak's No. 60 and Brown's No. 64 are the only permanently retired numbers at Nebraska, as voted by the school's varsity letterman's group, the N Club.

Overall 16 players have had their jerseys retired at Nebraska, beginning with Novak in 1949. Heisman Trophy winners Johnny Rodgers (1972), Mike Rozier (1983) and Eric Crouch (2002) count themselves among this elite group of Nebraska football players.

Tommie Frazier (above) won the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award in 1995, while finishing second in Heisman Trophy balloting. Frazier led the Huskers to back-to-back national titles in 1994 and 1995.

National Academic Honors

Grant Wistrom, a two-time All-American on the field and in the classroom, won the Lombardi Award and the NCAA Top Eight Award in 1997. He was also named a National Football Foundation/College Football Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete. Wistrom is entering his eighth season in the NFL and has played in three Super Bowls.

Huskers Lead Nation with 15 NCAA Top Eight Award Winners

The highest honor the National Collegiate Athletic Association can bestow on a student-athlete is The Top Eight Award. The award is based not only on outstanding athletic accomplishments, but on excellent academic records and leadership ability in community and campus activities.

The University of Nebraska earned its NCAA-leading 15th Top Eight Award last January, when gymnast Richelle Simpson was honored at the NCAA honors dinner. Simpson, the NCAA All-Around Champion in 2003 and a nine-time All-American, was Nebraska's first Top Eight Award honoree since 2002.

The Husker football program has nine of Nebraska's 15 Top Eight Award winners, most recently All-America rush end Grant Wistrom who was a 1998 honoree. Wistrom's selection gave Nebraska nine Top Eight honorees in the 1990s. Two Huskers received the award in both 1990 and 1991, the only times that a school had more than one student-athlete honored. Nine of Nebraska's Top Eight picks were football players, making the Husker grid program the most decorated in the country.

A two-time first-team academic All-American, Wistrom set the school record for tackles for loss (58.5) and was second with 26.5 career sacks. A two-time Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year, Wistrom was a consensus All-American and won NU's fourth Lombardi Award in 1997. Wistrom joined fellow Top Eight award winners Dave Rimington and Trev Alberts as NFL first-round draft picks, as Wistrom was selected by the St. Louis Rams with the No. 6 pick in the 1998 NFL Draft. Off the field, Wistrom received postgraduate scholarships from the National Football Foundation/College Football Hall of Fame and the NCAA.

In the 1990s, six Husker football players were awarded the Top Eight honor, including Aaron Graham (1996), Rob Zatechka (1994), Alberts (1994), Pat Tyrance (1991) and Jake Young (1990). Randy Schleusener (1981) was the first Husker to win the award, followed by Rimington (1983) and Mark Traynowicz (1985).

Nebraska's success in the classroom also extends to other sports. Along with nine football players who have won the Top Eight Award, three Husker volleyball players (Virginia Stahr-1990, Janet Kruse-1992, Nancy Metcalf-2002), two men's gymnasts (Tom Schlesinger-1989, Patrick Kirksey-1991) and Simpson (2005) have also claimed the honor.

Huskers in the College Football Hall of Fame

12 Players, 6 Coaches Honored in Hall of Fame

The University of Nebraska is well represented at the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame in South Bend, Ind. With 12 former NU players and six former coaches, 18 Huskers have been honored with induction and a 19th, 1983 Heisman Trophy-winning I-back Mike Rozier (pictured at right), will join the Husker contingent in 2006. Rozier will be formally inducted into the Hall of Fame at the 49th Annual Awards Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City on Dec. 5, 2006. He will be officially enshrined in the Hall of Fame in the summer of 2007. Three former Huskers were inducted into the hall of fame in 1951, with former All-America tackle Ed Weir claiming the honor as the first Husker player enshrined, while coaches Fielding Yost and Dana X. Bible were also inducted that year. Coach Tom Osborne, inducted in 1998, is the most recent Husker coach enshrined in the hall.

Mike Rozier, the 1983 Heisman Trophy winner, will become the 13th Nebraska player inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in South Bend, Ind. Rozier is Nebraska's all-time leading rusher with 4,780 yards and 49 touchdowns.

Huskers in NFL History

With his induction in 2004, Bob Brown became the most recent Husker in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Bob Devaney's first All-American at Nebraska in 1963, Brown spent 10 seasons in the NFL with the Philadelphia Eagles, the Los Angeles Rams and the Oakland Raiders. Brown (No. 64), who also had his jersey retired by NU in 2004, joined Tom Novak (No. 60) as just the second player in Nebraska history to have his number permanently retired.

Huskers in the Pro Football Hall of Fame (3)

Three former Huskers have earned places among the greatest football players of all time in the hallowed halls of the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.

A legend at Nebraska, Guy Chamberlin became the premier end of the NFL during the 1920s. He was a player-coach on four NFL championship teams (1922-24, 1926). He concluded his six-year coaching record with a 56-14-5 (.780) record.

Chamberlin, who was affectionately referred to as "The Champ," earned All-America honors at Nebraska in 1915, before playing and coaching professionally from 1920 to 1927.

Roy "Link" Lyman pioneered a more sophisticated defensive play with a shifting, sliding style. He starred on four title teams (1922-23, 1924, 1933), and played on one losing team in 16 seasons of college and professional football.

Lyman, who played professionally for Canton, Cleveland, Frankford and Chicago from 1922 to 1934, lettered as a tackle at Nebraska in 1918, 1919 and 1921.

Nebraska's most recent addition to the Pro Football Hall of Fame celebrated his induction in 2004. Bob Brown, who joins Chamberlin as the only Huskers in both the College and Pro Football Halls of Fame, was the first All-American to play for Bob Devaney at Nebraska in 1963.

Brown spent 10 years in the NFL, including five seasons with Philadelphia, three with the Los Angeles Rams and two with the Oakland Raiders.

Huskers in the Super Bowl (45 players, 58 appearances)

Nebraska has had 45 former Huskers make 58 appearances in the Super Bowl dating back to Super Bowl II following the 1967 season. Huskers have appeared in 28 of the 40 Super Bowls, including 13 consecutive NFL championship games dating back Super Bowl XXIII after the 1993 season.

Nebraska Letterman List

1892-2005

NOTE: The following list is as complete and accurate as historical records allow. Corrections and additions will be made if documentation is provided. In each entry, the year is listed for each letter won. For example in the listing for Willard Burnham, the years are 1924-26, meaning Burnham lettered in 1924 and 1926 but not in 1925. Lettermen lists are not available for the 1890, 1891 and 1895 seasons. Players are listed by hometown and the last position they played at Nebraska.

Elmer Dohrmann Top Nebraska Letterman

Elmer Dohrmann, named to Sports Illustrated's 1962 Silver All-America team, is Nebraska's all-time letter champion. Dohrmann won 11 letters from 1935 to 1938. Dohrmann won monograms in football in 1935-36-37, in track, 1936-37, in basketball, 1936-37-38 and in baseball, 1936-37-38.

Multiple Letter Leaders

Athlete	Years	Total Letters
Elmer Dohrmann	1935-38	11 letters
Bob Russell	1919-23	9 letters
John Rhodes	1923-25	9 letters
Steve Hokuf	1929-33	9 letters

Lee Kunz	1975-80	7 letters
Steve Elliott	1978-82	7 letters
Keyuo Craver	1998-01	7 letters

Huskies who have won six letters during their careers since Dohrmann include: Lloyd Cardwell, Bob Mills, Ray Prochaska, Vic Schleich, Ken Hollins, Herb Reese, Bob Reynolds, Charles Bryant, Bill Hawkins and Adrian Fiala.

The top letterwinner at Nebraska since World War II is Cerv, who lettered four years in basketball and baseball. The last Husker to match Amen by lettering in three sports during a single year as a Husker was Hollins. "Buzz" tripled in football, basketball, and track during the 1943-44 and 1944-45 campaigns. The most recent addition is Keyuo Craver, who earned four letters in football and three in track and field, becoming the first NU male athlete to earn seven letters in 20 years.

Memorial Stadium History/Records

Nebraska's continuing NCAA record of consecutive home sellouts reached 275 with seven home sellouts in 2005. The Huskers closed the season with their 275th consecutive sellout against Kansas State on Nov. 12.

On Nov. 2, 2002, Nebraska set a single-game home attendance record with 78,268 fans watching the Huskers battle Big 12 rival Texas. That record is expected to fall in the season opener against Louisiana Tech, as 6,500 new seats were added to Memorial Stadium raising capacity beyond 80,000 for the first time in 2006.

In 2001, Nebraska set a single-season home attendance record by totaling 622,436 fans. It was the second-best average home attendance in school history with 77,804 fans per game, trailing only the 77,878 fans per game in 2000. Home attendance has averaged more than 75,000 fans per game for each of the past 33 years.

The streak of consecutive sellouts started on Nov. 3, 1962, when 36,501 attended the Homecoming game against Missouri. The last non-sellout came Oct. 20, 1962, when NU and Kansas State drew 30,701.

In the fall of 1922, a drive for $430,000 in stadium construction funds was undertaken by faculty, students, alumni and friends of the University. The quota was over subscribed. The stadium was named Memorial Stadium to honor all Nebraskans who served in the Civil and Spanish-American Wars; the 751 Nebraskans who died in World War I; the 3,839 in World War II; the 225 in Korea; the 422 in Vietnam; and those in Iraq. Construction was completed in a few more than 90 working days and Memorial Stadium was dedicated on Oct. 20, 1923, at the Homecoming game in which Nebraska was held to a scoreless tie by Kansas.

Inscribed on the four corners of the stadium are the following words, written by former UNL professor of philosophy Hartley Burr Alexander:

Southeast: "In Commendation of the men of Nebraska who served and fell in the Nations Wars."

Southwest: "Not the victory but the action; Not the goal but the game; In the deed the glory."

Northwest: "Courage; Generosity; Fairness; Honor; In these are the true awards of manly sport."

Northeast: "Their Lives they held their countrys trust; They kept its faith; They died its heroes."

As part of the continuing improvement of athletic facilities at the University of Nebraska, several major projects have been completed throughout the past 80 years enhancing the facility. The $1 million Hewit Center dining/study hall area was opened in March of 1985, underneath the West Stadium adjacent to the strength complex. The weight room and the Hewit Center were expanded and remodeled in 1989.

Before the fall of 1994, NU installed two 17 feet high, by 23 feet wide replay boards, now known to Nebraska faithful as HuskerVision screens.

Following the 1997 season, construction began on a $36-million improvement project completed in 1999. The project included the Don Bryant Media Facility and 42 suites, each of which house 25 fans. Club seating rose from approximately 350 to 1,500 per game. The improvement project tripled the number of restrooms on both the East and West sides of the stadium, doubled the number of concessions in both East and West concourses and included concrete repair and waterproofing throughout the stadium. FieldTurf was also introduced at Memorial Stadium in 1999. The renovations raised the capacity of Memorial Stadium from 72,700 to 73,918.

Construction on the new Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex began in the summer of 2004, and was completed this summer. The complex on the North end of Memorial Stadium includes a new football locker room, new weight room and athletic medicine facilities, new coaches offices for the football staff, as well as offices for athletic department administrative staff. The project also provide NU with a second indoor workout facility, the Hawks Championship Center, as well as a new instant replay board above the North Stadium. The project also increases the stadium's capacity to more than 80,000.

Memorial Stadium has been the home of the Huskers since 1923. Nebraska, which owns an impressive 352-106-13 record and a .761 winning percentage at Memorial Stadium, enters its 84th home season at the historic stadium. Memorial Stadium has been sold out for an NCAA-record 275 straight games entering 2006.

83 Years In Memorial Stadium

For the past 83 years, Nebraska football teams have gladly called Memorial Stadium home with an impressive 352-106-13 (.761) record posted by the Huskers in their home since it was opened in 1923.

Under the Lights

Nebraska's first night football game was Nov. 30, 1951, at Miami's Orange Bowl when the Huskers lost to the Miami Hurricanes, 19-7. Ironically, NU's first night football home game came in the 1986 opener against another team from the "Sunshine State," Florida State. Nebraska is 61-20-3 all time under the lights, including 21-2 at home.

Memorial Stadium Improvements

Achronological listing of Memorial Stadium expansion and improvement from the original 31,000-seat structure built in 1923:

- 1946—Completed North Field House (construction began in 1941, but was interrupted by World War II).
- 1964—South end zone section installed, making the stadium a horseshoe, raising capacity to 48,000
- 1965—Center portion of north end zone section added, raising capacity to more than 53,000.
- 1966—Both wings of the north end zone added, raising capacity to more than 65,000 and making Memorial Stadium into a bowl.
- 1967—New press box and guest section added.
- 1970—Installed new AstroTurf playing surface.
- 1972—South end zone extended, 9,400 seats added, raising capacity to 73,650.
- 1973—Athletic office building completed with dressing and training facilities for varsity football.
- 1977—Replaced AstroTurf and added new scoreboard over the North Stadium.
- 1981—New West Stadium weight room and new visitor's locker room in the North Field House.

1982—Expanded North Field House indoor practice area.

1984—Artificial All-Pro Turf installed.

1985—Completed Hewit Center (dining area/study hall) in West Stadium.

1989—Expansion of strength complex and Hewit Center.

1992—New AstroTurf-8 artificial turf installed.

1994—Installed Mitsubishi Instant Replay boards and completion of Michael Grace production studio (HuskerVision) in West Stadium. Remodeled Section 14 for disabled, reduced seating to 72,700.

1995—South Stadium training room remodeled and new interview room and player lounge completed.

1997—Groundbreaking began on a $36-million stadium improvement project to take place over a two-year period. East concourse was renovated with new restrooms and concessions and stadium lights were installed on the east side.

1998—Stadium was rededicated on April 24, and the football field was named in honor of Hall of Fame Coach Tom Osborne, who retired as the winningest active coach in college football with a 255-49-3 career record. Lights installed on the west side.

1999—Stadium Improvement project completed with 42 suites, club seating, stadium view lounge, new press box and renovated concourses, concessions and restrooms. Seating raised to 74,056. FieldTurf installed in August, making NU the first Division-I program to use the synthetic surface.

2000—Increased club seating reduces capacity to 73,918.

2001—Expanded team meeting room/players' lounge in South Stadium. Expanded HuskerVision and Hewit Center in West Stadium.

2004—Additional lockers added to South locker room to house entire football squad during construction of Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex on north end of stadium. North Field House torn down in summer 2004, and work on new project begins.

2005—Replaced FieldTurf, changing subsurface of field.

2006—Completion of the Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex and the Hawks Championship Center on the North end of Memorial Stadium. Addition of Skyline Suites and seating for the disabled in North Stadium and addition of giant HuskerVision screen in North end zone. Tunnel Walk entrance of Huskers moves from South end zone to North end zone.

*Start of 33 straight years Nebraska was ranked in the final AP poll until 2002.

116 Years of Cornhusker Football

Notes on the Associated Press Poll: The rankings indicated in all instances below are at game time, with Nebraska's to the left of the slash and the opponent's to the right. If a slash is alone, neither team was ranked at game time. Early-season games from 1936 to 1949 have no slash because the first polls in those seasons were not taken until after the season began. From 1936 to 1960 and 1968 to 1988, AP ranked the top 20 teams, from 1961 to 1967 the top 10, and since 1989, the top 25. The source for the weekly rankings from Oct. 19, 1936, through Jan. 3, 1984, is Football Rankings, College teams in the Associated Press Poll, 1936-1984, compiled by Lowell R. Greunke (Jefferson, N.C.; McFarland & Co., Inc., 1984).

Coach Dr. Langdon Frothingham (Harvard)

2-0-0 (1.000), 1890

A faculty member, Langdon Frothingham helped the first squad become one of only two in the history of NU football to go unscored upon, outscoring opponents, 28-0, in two games. Dr. Frothingham broke his leg while scrimmaging with the team in preparation for the Doane game and may have coached on the sideline with crutches.

Coach Fielding H. Yost (Lafayette, 1897)

8-3 (.727), 1898

Fielding Yost led the Huskers to an impressive 11-10 road victory over the Denver Athletic Club, a team described as "a gang of pros." He left NU to become head coach at Kansas the following season and later won a national championship as head football coach in 1901 at Michigan. He later became Michigan's athletic director in 1921 and is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

W.C. "King" Cole took over the reins after playing football under Fielding Yost at Michigan. Cole coached Nebraska to an 85-0 win over Doane in the last game on the field that preceded the Nebraska Athletic Field. His final season as coach marked NU's first unshared Missouri Valley Conference title. His last game as coach was a 119-0 win over Haskell, which still ranks as the most points a Cornhusker team has ever scored.

Coach Ewald O. "Jumbo" Stiehm (Wisconsin, 1909)

35-2-3 (.913), 1911-15

Under Ewald O. "Jumbo" Stiehm's direction, Nebraska won or tied for the Missouri Valley Conference championship every season. His winning percentage of .913 ranks as the highest in school history. His teams recorded a 34-game unbeaten streak, the longest in school history. Also Nebraska's basketball coach, he was the only coach in Big Eight history to win football and basketball titles in the same academic year. He was the first year-round coach in school history, but he went to Indiana University after NU refused to increase his salary to $4,250.

 (Illinois)

23-7-3 (.742), 1925-28

Ernest E. Bearg won Nebraska's first Big Six title in 1928 when his team went 7-1-1. Despite fielding powerful teams during his four years, fans criticized him for not using strategy and deception, which eventually led to his resignation. Bearg also spent one year as men's basketball coach (1926) and posted an 8-10 record.

Nebraska in the AP Poll

The Associated Press poll began in 1936, and Nebraska came in at No. 15 in the first-ever regular-season poll on Oct. 24. The Huskers finished with a No. 9 final national ranking that year. From 1936 through 1949, the AP polls did not come out until October. Beginning in 1950, AP polls were issued weekly throughout the entire regular season. Until 1964, all final rankings are based on regular-season finishes and do not include bowl game results. In 1965, the AP final rankings became post-bowl rankings (with the exception of 1966). In 1974, the UPI final ranking also became post-bowl, and since then all final rankings have included bowl results.

Coach Lawrence McCeney "Biff" Jones (Army, 1917)

28-14-4 (.652), 1937-41

Lawrence McCeney "Biff" Jones, a former Army major, took over the team after Dana X. Bible recommended Jones as his successor. Nebraska appeared in its first bowl game, the 1941 Rose Bowl, and lost 21-13 to Stanford. Jones relinquished his coaching position after he was called to serve in World War II.

Bob Devaney won back-to-back national titles in 1970 and 1971 and eight Big Eight crowns. He retired in 1973 with a career record of 136-30-7 (.806), which left him as the winningest active coach in the nation. In 1971, he was named coach of the year by the Walter Camp Foundation, the Football Writers of America, Football News and the Washington Touchdown Club. Devaney was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1981 and into the Orange Bowl Hall of Honor in 1976. His 11-year stint as head football coach is the second longest in school history behind only Tom Osborne. He was Nebraska's athletic director from 1967 to 1992 and served as athletic director emeritus for four years, before retiring June 30, 1996. Devaney passed away on May 9, 1997.

Coach Tom Osborne (Hastings, 1959)

255-49-3 (836), 1973-97

Tom Osborne was hand-picked by Bob Devaney as his successor and served as assistant head coach in 1972. Osborne is credited as the offensive genius behind Devaney's national championship teams and served as a full-time assistant from 1967 to 1972.

Osborne won back-to-back national championships in 1994 and 1995, and a third national title in 1997.

During his 25 seasons, Nebraska won 13 conference championships and went to 25 consecutive bowl games, including 17 "major" bowls.

His teams won nine or more games every year and 11 national rushing titles.

His athletes won six Outlands, three Lombardis, one Heisman, one Butkus and one Johnny Unitas Award.

He was the fastest coach in college football history to win 200 games, doing it in just 21 seasons, and the fastest coach to reach 250 wins, accomplishing the feat in only 25 years.

In his last five seasons, Osborne's teams posted a 60-3 record, the most wins in a five-year span by any team in collegiate history.

Nebraska Winning Streak

The Huskers unleashed a school-record 26-game winning streak beginning with a 31-0 win over West Virginia on Aug. 28, 1994 and ending with a 19-0 loss at Arizona State on Sept. 21, 1996. Nebraska has posted four winning streaks of longer than 20 games in school history.

Coch Frank Solich
(Nebraska, 1966)
58-19 (.753), 1998-2003

Frank Solich was named Tom Osborne's successor on Dec. 10, 1997. Solich was a part of the NU coaching staff for 25 years. He guided NU to a 12-1 record, Big 12 Championship and No. 2 final ranking in the coaches poll in 1999. In 2001, Solich led the Huskers to an 11-2 record and an appearance in the BCS title game in the Rose Bowl. In 2003, Solich coached Nebraska to a 9-3 regular-season record, but did not coach NU in the Alamo Bowl, as defensive coordinator Bo Pelini served as interim head coach. Originally from Cleveland, Ohio, Solich was a member of Bob Devaney's first recruiting class in 1962. As a fullback, Solich earned All-Big Eight honors in 1965 and was the first Husker to rush for 200 yards in a game.

Coch Bill Callahan
(Illinois Benedictine, 1978)

13-10 (.565), 2004-present

Bill Callahan came to the University of Nebraska less than one year after leading the Oakland Raiders to Super Bowl XXXVII. The 27th head coach in Nebraska football history, Callahan became one of just five coaches in history to return to college football after leading an NFL to the Super Bowl. He also led the Raiders to the 2002 AFC title in his rookie season as an NFL head coach.

Callahan led Nebraska's conversion from an option-based rushing attack to the West Coast Offense. Along with his NFL experience, Callahan spent 12 seasons coaching in the Big Ten Conference at Illinois and at Wisconsin under former Husker Barry Alvarez. During his time in the Big Ten, Callahan earned a reputation as one of the top 10 recruiters of all time, as named by recruiting expert Tom Lemming.

Pinnacle Sports Productions

Pinnacle Sports Productions enters its 11th year producing and marketing live broadcasts of University of Nebraska football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball, baseball and softball games in 2006-07. Pinnacle was first awarded the rights on Feb. 9, 1996. The University renewed the Pinnacle contract in the fall of 2003, which extends the contract to July 31, 2011.

In addition to broadcasting Husker games, Pinnacle Sports also provides Sports Nightly, a daily, live call-in show focusing on NU athletics and other area sports. The show runs from 6 to 8 p.m. (central) on Pinnacle's statewide network. Pinnacle Sports Productions is owned by Paul Aaron of Elkhorn, Neb., and Dale Jensen of Phoenix, Ariz.

As of early June, there were 36 in-state stations on the Pinnacle Broadcast Network along with stations in 18 out-of-state markets. The anchor affiliates for 2006 are KFAB-AM 1110 (Omaha), KLIN-AM 1400 (Lincoln) and KRVN-AM 880 (Lexington). Fans can also hear all of the pregame and postgame commentary along with live game action on Sirius Satellite and on the Web at Huskers.com.

Jim Rose and Adrian Fiala return for another season in the football broadcast booth, bringing Nebraska football broadcasts to fans throughout the Husker Nation and the world. Rose is in his fifth year serving as the Huskers' play-by-play announcer for football, and also calls the action for the baseball team. Fiala adds color commentary and has been a part of the Pinnacle broadcast team since 1996. Joining Rose and Fiala again this season will be Randy Lee, Matt Davison and Lane Grindle.

Nebraska Media Services

Nebraska Media Relations

The NU Media Relations Office is available to assist you with coverage of the Nebraska football program. Husker Media Relations Director Keith Mann, Director of Media Relations Operations Jeff Griesch and assistants Jerry Trickey and Shamus McKnight will be happy to serve you during the 2006 season.

The Media Relations Office is located on the third floor of the Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex in the North end of Memorial Stadium.

For information regarding credentials, interviews, statistics, press conferences, etc., please call the Media Relations Office (402) 472-2263, visit Huskers.com or e-mail Mann at kmann@huskers.com or Trickey at jtrickey@huskers.com.

To assist you during the season, please take time to read the media information found on this page. Briefly, interviews must be arranged through the media relations office at least one day in advance. Photographers and videographers are allowed to shoot stretching drills at the beginning of practice only on designated days. Contact the Media Relations Office for the exact time and place of each day's practice. After the stretching period, practices are closed.

Media Credentials

Nebraska will again utilize an on-line credentialing system in 2006. Directions to apply will be sent to media members. Out-of-state media can contact Vicki Cartwright in the Nebraska Media Relations Office at 402-472-2263 for further assistance.

As a general rule, working space in the Nebraska Press Box is allotted on the following basis: (1) daily newspaper writers covering for Sunday publication; (2) sports editors of Nebraska daily newspapers; (3) radio personnel for broadcast originations; (4) official school student daily newspaper, one seat and/or sideline only; (5) approved special coverage; (6) press and TV working photographers; (7) weekly press representatives; non-originating radio representatives of AM news stations; and Internet writers for sites affiliated with established, nationally recognized media outlets will be considered on a game-by-game basis as space allows. Visiting freelance and amateur photographers are not eligible for media credentials, except by approval of MRD.

Media Access

Memorial Stadium access for the media is at the Media Gate entrance on street level on the west side of the stadium. The working press area is on Level 6 (Don Bryant Media Facility) with the photo and television deck on Level 7. Level 3 (West Stadium Club) and Levels 4 and 5 (Skybox Suites) are not open to the media or public.

Media Parking

Parking at Memorial Stadium is always at a premium, with a limited number of spaces allocated to the media. Media parking is divided among several lots around Memorial Stadium. Early arrival is strongly suggested. No cars will be admitted to the media lot directly south of the stadium later than 90 minutes before kickoff.

Contact the Media Relations Office for specific directions to assigned lots.

Tuesday Media Luncheon

Each Tuesday during the football season (except weeks of open dates), Nebraska hosts a media luncheon. Press luncheons will be held on Level 6 of the press facility. A light lunch buffet is served at 11:15 a.m., followed by Coach Bill Callahan's weekly news conference at noon.

Requested Husker players will also be available pending class schedules. Generally, player interviews will be held after Coach Callahan's press conference until 1:15 p.m., however some players may be made available before noon, depending on individual class schedule.

Media requesting Nebraska players for the press conference should do so by 2 p.m. Monday to the Media Relations Office. Excerpts from Coach Callahan and Husker players will be uplinked on Tuesday afternoon, following the Big 12 satellite feed. Transcripts of Callahan's press conference comments will be available Tuesdays on Huskers.com.

Out-of-town media wishing to participate in the weekly Bill Callahan news conference may do so via telephone by dialing 1-877-229-1563 and entering the weekly passcode. The passcode may be obtained by contacting the Nebraska Media Relations Office (402) 472-2263 no later than 11 a.m. Tuesday morning. Lines are limited.

Stadium Directions

Memorial Stadium is located on the east side of Stadium Drive, between T Street on the south and Holdrege on the north. See the Memorial Stadium information on page 201 for specific directions from Lincoln's Municipal Airport and Omaha's Eppley Airfield.

Interview Policy

During the season, Coach Bill Callahan is available in person for media interviews at the Tuesday news conferences and on the field after practice on Wednesday and Thursday. Coach Callahan is also available each Monday on the Big 12 teleconference (11:50 a.m.-Noon). Please contact the Big 12 office at (214) 742-1212 for details. Any other interviews must be arranged through the Media Relations Office at least one day in advance.

Nebraska players are available for interviews in person or by telephone after practice on designated days until two days before a game during the season (i.e., through Wednesday for a Saturday game). Players who appear at the Tuesday press conference will NOT be available following Tuesday's practice. Player interviews can occasionally be set up for other times before practice with at least two days advance notice to the Media Relations Office. All requests for player and coach interviews must go through the Media Relations Office (402) 472-2263. No player interviews will be granted the two days before a game, or before the game on game day. No interviews are to be conducted in the locker room, training room, weight room or Hewit and Boekel Centers. Interviews with assistant coaches must be arranged in advance through the Media Relations Office. Redshirting players are not required to do interviews.

All interview requests for Husker staff and players must be made at least one day in advance.

Daily Practices

During the season, practices are normally conducted either in Memorial Stadium or on the grass practice field northeast of the stadium, beginning at approximately 3:30 p.m. All practices are closed to the media and public. Media wishing to interview Coach Bill Callahan or Nebraska players after practice should come to the Media Relations Office shortly before the end of practice and be escorted to the field. Please contact the Media Relations Office at (402) 472-2263 to verify practice times.

Postgame Interviews

Nebraska's locker room is closed after games, both home and away, but Coach Bill Callahan and requested players and assistant coaches will be available for interviews following a brief cooling-off period. For home games, only coaches, players and staff members will be admitted to the tunnel and locker room after the game, but Coach Callahan and requested personnel will be brought to the interview room (North Stadium). Admittance to the interview area will be by media credential only. For away games, the best available interview area will be used. Requests for player and assistant coach interviews, home and away, will be taken by Keith Mann at the end of the third quarter. Non-requested players making significant plays in the fourth quarter will be added as a matter of course.

The visiting locker room has been relocated to the lower level of South Stadium. The visiting team interview area will be in close proximity to the opponent's locker room.

Broadcast Rights and Restrictions

Nebraska, its opponent and the respective conference designate the broadcast rights for all games. Nebraska follows the guidelines established by the NCAA Championship Events Committee. Radio and television stations and Internet sites that have not purchased rights shall not carry any broadcast report from the stadium on a live basis or any live description/footage of any game action while it is still in progress. No pregame and/or postgame live coverage shall be permitted for two hours before and one-half hour after the sporting event without the express permission of the University. Per NCAA guidelines, stations are limited to three minutes of highlights per news show. Television stations also are prohibited from selling, loaning or giving away footage to any individual or agency for use on any non-sports-news program produced or aired by the station. Games that are broadcast by television networks may have additional restrictions. Also, per NCAA regulations, footage and photos of players with eligibility remaining, may NOT be used to commercially promote any product, service or media outlet and may not be sold/loaned to other individuals/agencies for this purpose. Disrespect of credential privileges will result in withdrawal of all future credentials.

Telephone/Fax/Internet

Nebraska provides telephones for media use in the Memorial Stadium media facility. All long-distance calls must be credit card, collect or billed to a third number. Any media sources that want to install a private telephone in the media facility should contact Nebraska Telecommunications (402) 472-2000 at least two weeks before the game. Please call ahead to reserve one of a limited number of Ethernet connections.

The Nebraska Media Relations Office has a fax machine that is available on request in the Media Facility after the game free of charge. Information such as statistics, postgame quotes, play-by-play, etc., will be available on a more timely basis at Huskers.com. If arrangements are made in advance, postgame notes, quotes and game statistics may be e-mailed. Please contact Assistant Media Relations Director Jerry Trickie during game week or before the start of the game to request e-mail service.

Media will have use of the Internet in the Memorial Stadium press box. Hardwired Ethernet ports are available in the press seating area and the photographer's area. Contact the Media Relations Office before the start of the season for information regarding cost of Ethernet ports at a specific seat or the possible use of wireless Internet in the press box.

Satellite Feeds

Videotape highlights of Nebraska football games are available weekly during the football season via the Big 12 Conference satellite uplink. The half-hour feed runs each Tuesday at approximately 3:30 p.m., central time. For satellite coordinates and times (unavailable at press time) please contact the Nebraska MRD Office (402) 472-2263 or the Big 12 at (214) 742-1212. Following half time of non-televised home games, first-half highlights of the game will be available via satellite in the second half, with a second feed to follow shortly after the conclusion of the game. Please contact the NU Media Relations Office for coordinates.

Big 12 Sideline Policies

The Big 12 Conference maintains a strict sideline control policy in an effort to keep the playing area as safe as possible. All sideline photographers must have a sideline armband and a media pass, and both must be clearly visible. Armbands can be picked up in the Press Box before game time—providing photographers have made prior arrangements. The Big 12 sideline control policy: (1) Only those photographers on assignment from a newspaper, magazine, television station or a participating institution, are given credentials. Each student publication shall be limited to one press and/or one sideline photo pass. (2) Only those newspapers with Sunday and/or daily editions are eligible for sideline passes. (Special requests shall be submitted to the Media Relations Director for review). (3) Outline writers, equipment carriers, and/or other so-called "assistants" will not be allowed on the sideline. (4) Photographers must display their credentials (media pass and armband) at all times. (5) University personnel are to be deployed on the sideline to ensure that all credentials are properly displayed. Those possessing bench passes (60 maximum) must remain inside the team bench area (between the 25-yard lines). (6) Photographers may not enter the bench area at any time. (7) Photographers are not permitted to congregate in the writers' section of the media facility during half time or after the game.

Facility Use Restrictions

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln has an interest in protecting its facilities, property and reputation associated with its intercollegiate sports. Therefore, no person shall be permitted to access or use the arenas, facilities and other University of Nebraska intercollegiate athletic venues without first securing the permission of the Athletic Director or his/her designee. The only exception is an individual who records an image (e.g. photograph, videotape) for his/her non-commercial personal use. In no case shall any person be permitted to use these venues for the purposes of promoting the sale or manufacture of alcohol or tobacco or the promotion of any venture associated directly or indirectly with legal or illegal gaming or gambling.

Memorial Stadium Information

Campus Map

From Lincoln Municipal Airport:

From Omaha Eppley Airfield:

Follow the signs from downtown Omaha and Interstate 480. Take I-480 west to Interstate 80, then take I-80 west approximately 60 miles to I-180. Exit south (downtown) on I-180, which turns into one-way, southbound Ninth Street in downtown Lincoln. Turn left at P Street (just past the Lincoln Journal Star Building), go one block and turn left on 10th Street, then keep to the right for four blocks to Memorial Stadium (DO NOT enter I-180 north).

The Big 12 Conference

Fresh off its 10th anniversary season, the Big 12 Conference begins its second decade of competition in 2006-07. While there have been many proud accomplishments through the first 10 years, the conference and its members anticipate continued success.

Through its first 10 years, the Big 12 claimed 28 team and 310 individual NCAA titles. In 2005-06, conference programs captured national championships in football (Texas), women's indoor track & field (Texas), wrestling (Oklahoma State) and men's golf (Oklahoma State). In addition, 12 individual event titles were also won by Big 12 student-athletes.

The previous season marked the most successful in conference history with six NCAA championships. Baylor won the crown for women's basketball in 2005, becoming the first Big 12 squad to win in that sport. Colorado won both the 2004 men's and women's cross country trophies, just the fourth school in NCAA annals to win both in the same year. Oklahoma State regained the top spot in wrestling, winning the national title for the 33rd time and Texas captured its fourth women's outdoor track and field crown, along with its sixth baseball title.

The Big 12 leads all conferences with five appearances in the BCS national championship game. A Big 12 team has played for the football national championship five of the last six years, and each of the last three. In basketball, an unprecedented eight men's and women's basketball teams have advanced to their respective Final Fours in the past five seasons as the Big 12 continues its place among the elite intercollegiate athletic conferences.

The Big 12 and its member institutions are committed to a competitive environment where sportsmanship and fair play take center stage. Whether on the field, in the classroom, or within the community the student-athletes, administrators, coaches and game officials of the Big 12 support the highest ideals in sportsmanship.

Competitive excellence, scholarships and sportsmanship are all equal components of the Big 12's philosophy. All-Big 12 teams and academic All-Big 12 squads are recognized for each sport. At the end of each academic year, the conference honors its top male and female student-athletes with the Big 12 Athlete of the Year and Big 12 Sportsperson of the Year awards.

Institutions can also nominate student-athletes for the prestigious Dr. Prentice Gautt Postgraduate Scholarships at the end of each academic year. A total of 153 scholars have received more than $845,000 in postgraduate financial aid through the first nine years of the program.

The Big 12 sponsors 21 sports. Men's squads include baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, swimming and diving, tennis and wrestling. Women's teams are fielded in basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, soccer, softball, swimming and diving, tennis and volleyball.

The conference consists of 12 institutions that have shared many traditional rivalries throughout their histories. Member schools include - Baylor, Colorado, Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech. The institutions created a league that encompasses seven states, over 42 million people and more than 18 million television households within its geographic footprint.

The conference conducts championships for 20 of its 21 sports. Each championship helps to determine teams and/or individuals that will represent the Conference in national postseason competition. The winner of the Big 12 football championship game earns the league's berth into the prestigious Bowl Championship Series.

The Big 12 is under the direction of its third commissioner, Kevin L. Weiberg, who took over the reigns in December 1998. Weiberg has led the Big 12 into additional football bowl agreements and expanded television opportunities for all sports through contracts with ABC/ESPN, FSN, TBS and CSTV.

In its 10-year history, the conference has distributed $807.2 million to its 12 member institutions.

The Big 12 staff administers to over 4,600 student-athletes in 21 sports. The conference headquarters will move to Irving, Texas, from Dallas in August 2006.

Big 12 Championship Game

The 2006 Dr. Pepper Big 12 Football Championship returns to Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City on Dec. 2. The 11th edition of the battle for the league title will be played at the home of the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs for the fourth time in league history in a venue that seats more than 75,000 fans.

Oklahoma has won two of the three matchups played in the City of Fountains. The Sooners won the last contest there, posting a 42-3 victory over Colorado in 2004. Other conference title games at Arrowhead Stadium were played in 2003 (Kansas State 35, Oklahoma 7) and 2000 (Oklahoma 27, Kansas State 24).

OU has won the most Big 12 title games with four championships. Nebraska and Texas are the only other squads to win multiple crowns with two each, while Kansas State and Texas A&M have one apiece. The Sooners have the most title game appearances with five, followed by Texas (4). Colorado, Kansas State and Nebraska are next with three appearances apiece.

The winner of the Dr Pepper Big 12 championship game earns the league's automatic berth into the Bowl Championship Series.

Nebraska Game Day

Marching Red Among Nation's Most Renowned Collegiate Bands

The Cornhusker Band was founded in 1879 and is one of the oldest marching bands in the nation. The Marching Red has received many honors throughout its 126-year history including a "Distinguished Recognition Trophy" presented by John Philip Sousa in 1927. The band received the John Philip Sousa Foundation's Sudler Trophy, the highest honor bestowed on a college band, in 1996 for high musical standards and innovative marching routines.

The band performed in the Kennedy Center Honors ceremony in Washington, D.C., for Nebraska native Johnny Carson in 1993. It was also featured in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Dublin, Ireland, in 1996 and 2000. The Marching Red is the only collegiate ensemble that has performed in all the major postseason bowls: Rose, Orange, Fiesta, Cotton and Sugar, as well as the Holiday, Citrus, Alamo, Sun, Astro-Bluebonnet, Liberty and Independence.

Anthony M. Falcone is the associate director of bands and the Director of the Cornhusker Band. In addition to directing the marching band, Professor Falcone's responsibilities include serving as conductor of the University Symphonic Band, coordinator of the athletic bands and teaching courses in music education. He was previously the assistant director and percussion instructor for the Marching Red.

Douglas W. Bush is the assistant director of bands and assistant director of the Cornhusker Band, while Dr. Carolyn Barber is the director of bands at the University of Nebraska. Other band staff members include graduate teaching assistants Erin Bejot, Nick Spath and Lindsey O'Connor; Nate Campbell, percussion instructor; Lindsey Richmond, color guard instructor; Rose Johnson, administrative assistant; Jan Deaton, secretary; Craig Falls, instrument technician; and Nolan Schmit, announcer.

Brooke Walter is the feature twirler and Adam Killham, Joseph Manglitz and Chris Watson are the drum majors.

Yell Squad and Scarlets Dance Team

The Nebraska Spirit Squad's involvement in the community and the athletic department make it one of the most high-profile programs in the nation. Members of the Spirit Squad include Yell Squad (cheerleaders), Scarlets (dance team) and Lil' Red and Herbie Husker (mascots).

The Spirit Squad consists of 24 Yell Squad members, 12 Scarlets and seven mascots. Academics are a top priority for squad members, with the squad holding a 3.3 grade-point average last year.

Alongside academics and athletic events, Spirit Squad members participate in strength and conditioning workouts, practices, leadership training and team meetings about 10 hours a week. Last year, the squad made more than 200 philanthropic appearances at community and state events.

Tryouts for the Spirit Squad are held during the spring semester. Criteria for selection includes academic scores, an interview and essay and technical ability.

From Bugeaters to Huskers, NU Athletes Carry on Tradition

Before 1900, Nebraska football teams were known by such names as the Old Gold Knights, Antelopes, Rattlesnake Boys and the Bugeaters. In its first two seasons, Nebraska competed as the Old Gold Knights, but beginning in 1892 adopted Scarlet and Cream as its colors and accepted the Bugeaters as its most popular nickname. Named after the insect-devouring bull bats that hovered over the plains, the Bugeaters found their prey in the Midwest, enjoying winning campaigns in every year of the 1890s until a disappointing season in 1899.

After its first losing season in a decade, it must have seemed only fitting that Nebraska move in a new direction, and Lincoln sportswriter Charles S. (Cy) Sherman, who was to gain national renown as the sports editor of the Lincoln Star and helped to originate the Associated Press poll, provided the nickname that has gained fame for more than a century. Of course, the name caught on and became a Nebraska byword, eventually becoming the official nickname for the state.

There is no official symbol of a Cornhusker, and various cartoonists have caricatured the mystical something that typifies Nebraska football—some winning fan approval and others arousing fan ire.

The cartoon character "Herbie Husker" evolved out of Nebraska's trip to the 1974 Cotton Bowl in Dallas. Artist Dirk West of Lubbock, Texas, designed a Cornhusker cartoon for the Cotton Bowl press headquarters that caught the eye of former Husker SID Don Bryant. Later, Bryant contacted West for permission to use the cartoon, and West expressed a desire to refine his original cartoon and improve some of the character's features. As a result, West was commissioned to draw an original Cornhusker cartoon character to serve as mascot for all NU athletic teams.

"Herbie" is the registered logo of the Cornhusker Athletic Department, which controls its use. West's concept of Nebraska football is appropriate—a burly, rugged and confident fellow who is proud of both the athletic and the agricultural traditions of the University of Nebraska.

In 2003, "Herbie" underwent a makeover, helping him better portray Nebraska's "image of strength and power," according to Athletic Director Steve Pederson. A new and improved "Herbie" was unveiled Aug. 30, 2003.

Lil' Red, the Cornhuskers' contemporary mascot, was unveiled in 1994. Lil' Red has been commonly seen on the sideline of all Nebraska athletic teams in recent years and remains NU's official mascot along with "Herbie."

The University has also used the Cornhuskers' football helmet superimposed on a script "Huskers" for a football logo. Other registered trademarks of the Athletic Department include the widely used block N logo similar to the one on NU football helmets and one with a script 'Huskers' imposed over a block N logo. The newest addition to the athletic department's logo sheet is the Husker Nation mark.

Compliance Guidelines for Nebraska Fans

The University of Nebraska Athletic Department takes great pride in abiding by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the Big 12 Conference rules and guidelines that govern Division I competition. For the benefit of the many alumni, fans and booster club members who are so active in supporting and assisting the Huskers throughout the year, we would like to remind everyone of a few definitions and rules that apply to all athletic representatives and boosters.

NCAA Principles

Institutional Control

It is the responsibility of the University of Nebraska to control its intercollegiate athletic program in compliance with the rules and regulations of the NCAA.

Responsibility

The University of Nebraska's responsibility for the conduct of its program includes responsibility for the actions of its staff members and for the actions of any other individual, booster or organization engaged in activities promoting the athletic interests of the institution.

Compliance

The University of Nebraska must monitor its program to assure compliance and to identify and report to the NCAA instances in which compliance has not been achieved. An institution found to have violated NCAA rules is subject to disciplinary and corrective actions as determined by the NCAA.

NCAA Definitions

Athletic Representative/Booster

You are considered to be a University of Nebraska athletic representative if you:

- ▶ Are a present or past member of a University of Nebraska booster club or agency that promotes the Huskers' intercollegiate athletic program;
- ▶ Have made financial contributions to the athletic department or to an athletic booster organization of the University of Nebraska;
- ▶ Are, or have been, providing benefits (e.g., summer jobs, meals etc.) to enrolled student-athletes, their family members or friends;
- ▶ Are, or have been involved in any manner of promoting the University of Nebraska intercollegiate athletic program.

Please note: Once an individual is identified as an athletic representative, that person retains that identity indefinitely. The University of Nebraska is ultimately responsible for the acts of all "representatives of athletic interests" in relation to NCAA rules and regulations.

The Devaney Society

Achieving greatness in both the classroom and on the playing field has long been a goal of the University of Nebraska. Our nation-leading 233 academic All-Americans and 22 team national titles reflect the manner in which we strive to achieve to the highest level.

Rising costs has made funding these athletic scholarships increasingly difficult. To help offset the expenses, the University of Nebraska established an athletic scholarship endowment fund to honor Hall of Fame Football Coach Bob Devaney.

Follow in the footsteps of Coach Devaney and commit to the long-term success of Nebraska Athletics. We are sincerely grateful to those who committed to our future stability and established a Devaney Society Scholarship for male and female student-athletes.

The following scholarships have been established through the Devaney Society: Bill and Betty Cook Jr. Scholarship (football), Given by Bill and Betty Cook, Beatrice, Neb.; Harley and Marcia Bergmeyer Scholarship (football), Given by Harley and Marcia Bergmeyer, DeWitt, Neb.; Russell and Elouise Brehm Scholarship (football), Given by Russell and Elouise Brehm, Lincoln, Neb.; Donald Swanson Scholarship (football), Given by Donald Swanson, Lincoln, Neb.; Brook Berringer Memorial Scholarship (football), given by friends and family of Brook Berringer; Jake Young Memorial Scholarship (football), given by friends and family of Jake Young; Dennis and Connie Dailey Scholarship (football), Given by Dennis and Connie Dailey, North Platte, Neb.; Robert and Dorothy Metcalf Scholarship (football), Given by Robert and Dorothy Metcalf, Lincoln, Neb.; Lance and Betsy deStwolinski Scholarship (football), Given by Lance and Betsy deStwolinski, Omaha, Neb.; Richard and Peggy Herman Scholarship (football), Given by Richard and Peggy Herman, Omaha, Neb.; Jon J. and Marianne R. Rhine Scholarship (football), Given by Jon J. and Marianne R. Rhine, Freeland, Wash.; Jon J. and Lyle F. Rhine Scholarship (football), Given by Jon J. and Lyle F. Rhine, Freeland, Wash.; William A. Henry Scholarship (football), Given by William F. Henry and Lynne Henry Coyne, Omaha, Neb.; Dave Noble Scholarship (football), Given by Bob and Joanne Berkshire, Omaha, Neb.; David L. Prospective Student-Athlete

A prospective student-athlete is a student who has started classes for the ninth grade or above, including students in prep schools and junior colleges as well as students who have officially withdrawn from a four-year institution and plan to transfer to another institution. In addition, a student who has not started classes for the ninth grade becomes a prospective student-athlete if the institution or a Nebraska booster provides the individual or the individual's relatives or friends with any financial assistance or benefits that the institution does not provide to prospective students in general. A good rule of thumb is to treat ALL STUDENTS as prospects.

Student-Athlete

A student-athlete is a student whose enrollment was solicited by a member of the Nebraska athletic staff or other representative of athletic interests with a view toward the student's ultimate participation in the intercollegiate athletic program.

Contact

A contact is any face-to-face encounter between a prospect, or the prospect's parent or legal guardian, and a Nebraska staff member or athletic representative during which any dialogue occurs.

Recruiting

Recruiting is any solicitation of a prospect or a prospect's family member (or guardian) by an institutional staff member or by athletic representative of the institution, for the purpose of securing the prospect's enrollment and ultimate participation in Nebraska's intercollegiate athletic program.

Guidelines and Reminders for Boosters

- ▶ A booster may not contact the prospect, prospect's coach, principal or counselor in an attempt to evaluate or recruit the prospect.
- ▶ A booster may not expend funds to entertain or provide transportation for a prospective student-athlete, the prospect's family members or friends.
- ▶ A booster may not become directly or indirectly involved in making arrangements for a prospect, or the prospect's relative or friends to receive money or financial aid of any kind.
- ▶ A booster may not contact a prospective student-athlete through letter writing, e-mail, telephone calling, text messaging, other forms of communication, etc.

However, here are a few ways that a Husker booster may be involved:

- ▶ You may discuss summer employment opportunities with a prospect after he/she has signed a National Letter of Intent with the University of Nebraska.
- ▶ You may attend high school athletic events without contacting prospective student-athletes.
- ▶ You may continue existing friendships with families and friends of prospective student-athletes.
- ▶ You may send recommendation letters, newspaper clippings or similar information about prospective student-athletes to Husker coaches.

Extra Benefit Guidelines and Reminders for Boosters

Extra Benefit

An extra benefit is any special arrangement by a Nebraska employee or an athletic representative to provide a student-athlete or the student-athlete's relative or friend a benefit not expressly authorized by NCAA legislation.

Boosters may not provide any special arrangement considered to be an extra benefit by NCAA definition. Examples of extra benefits include but are not limited to:

- ▶ Providing cash or loans of any amount;
- ▶ Signing or co-signing for a loan or other forms of financial assistance;
- ▶ Providing use of a telephone or calling card to make local or long distance calls;
- ▶ Transporting a student-athlete or providing the use of a vehicle;
- ▶ Providing free or reduced rent housing;
- ▶ Giving gifts of any kind (i.e. birthday, Christmas, Valentine's Day);
- ▶ Promising a student-athlete postgraduate education or employment;
- ▶ Offering free services (i.e. clothing, airline tickets, laundry, car repair, haircuts, restaurant meals);
- ▶ Providing payment to a student-athlete for a booster club speaking engagement;
- ▶ Providing employment for a prospect's relatives or friends.

Here are a few ways that a Husker booster may help:

- ▶ Do invite a student-athlete to participate in non-profit, charitable or educational events, but make sure to contact the compliance office for approval before the event.
- ▶ Do invite a student-athlete into your home for an occasional meal.
- ▶ Do pay a student-athlete the commensurate rate for actual and legitimate employment.

If you choose to assist in any of the ways described above, please contact the compliance office to receive prior approval.
